

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

10 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

NOVEMBER, 1906

Ninth Year
No. 1

Security Safe Deposit & Trust Company

MAIN OFFICE, BERGENGREN BLOCK, CENTRAL SQUARE, LYNN
BRANCH OFFICE, 25 MARKET SQUARE, WEST LYNN

BENJAMIN F. SPINNEY, President
LUTHER S. JOHNSON—Vice-Presidents—SAMUEL J. HOLLIS
HARRISON P. BURRILL, Treasurer

INTEREST PAID on DAILY BALANCES subject to CHECK.
CERTIFICATES of DEPOSITS issued on favorable terms.
MONEY ORDERS and TRAVELERS' CHECKS issued and available in all parts of the world.
SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES to rent from $5.00 to $25.00 per year

FALL CLOTHING

¶ If you've got $20.00 to spend for a FALL SUIT or OVER-COAT, and are looking for the very best that you can possibly get for your money, come take a look at what we'll give you at $20.

¶ You will find that every Suit and Overcoat is made of All-Wool materials of fine quality. This is not merely say-so, but, IT IS SO, as you can prove to your own satisfaction before buying.

¶ Shall we show YOU?

¶ Men's New FALL FURNISHINGS in endless varieties.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

VOTERS OF
Swampscott, Nahant, and the First Essex District in Lynn

VOTE FOR
MICHAEL
F. PHELAN

For Senator

For the reason that he is the best equipped man for the position.

He will act in the interest of the great public by his votes, and not be bound down to special interests.

During the past two years Mr. PHELAN has represented a Republican district in the lower branch of the Legislature, and his votes have shown him to be always mindful of the public interest, and not allied with those who seek special privilege.

The independent mind and broad views carried into public life by this candidate makes it consistent for men of all parties to vote for him. Vote for

Michael F. Phelan

SENATOR, FIRST ESSEX DISTRICT

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
On sale at news stands.

NOVEMBER, 1906 NINTH YEAR
No. 1

Will Mr. Eugene N. Foss please subside!

John B. Moran as a candidate for president! "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad!"

All well wishers of the Lynn public schools view with satisfaction the work of the school department in re-arranging the salaries of teachers in the high schools. The salaries paid are now more in line with those prevailing in other cities the size of Lynn, and will make it much easier for this city to retain the services of experienced and desirable teachers.

A correspondent, writing to the REVIEW, states that, in his opinion, it would be much better for this community "if present streets and avenues were placed in proper and safe condition before the extension of new streets is contemplated." He further states that "Western avenue between Market square and Congress street, is in very bad condition, and at some points positively unsafe." Probably it would take one million dollars to put the streets of Lynn in desirable condition.

The parking of sidewalks is all right where the abutters take care of the area. On some streets where the city has gone to the expense of parking, the abutters neglect the grass plot between the sidewalk and the street and it presents a bad appearance. The city should have a very clear idea before parking is done that the abutters will give proper care to the space. When this is not done the anticipated results are not secured. Instead of being made a place of beauty, the parking creates contrary results.

The city is justified in doing what it has done toward extending Market street. Not to take this action would give the appearance of insincerity. Whether the extension can result is a matter for time to settle. If it can be done for $250,000 it would be a great investment for Lynn. Some say the cost will be $1,000,000. If so, then the improvement is out of the question. It is problematical how much support (if any) the state and county would give to the project. Lynn pays about one-sixth of the county tax, therefore it might be a good investment for Essex county to help along the work.

Lynn will be found on the right side in the gubernatorial contest. We mean by the "right side" the re-election of Governor Guild. It is our belief that he has been a stronger governor than people imagined he would make. Speaking of him in 1905 the REVIEW remarked as follows:

"Curtis Guild, Jr. in his busy life has been a man of achievement. As a youth in college he was easily among the foremost in his classes and graduated from Harvard with the highest honors. As a business man he has published a commercial paper of wide influence for the best interests of the community. As a military man he has served the state in time of peace and the nation in time of war, and as a public man his best efforts have always been directed along the highest plane of citizenship."

And the argument is good today.

It is the feeling among the Lynn Board of Trade and city officers that they will secure considerable satisfaction from the railroad commissioners in the formulating of the grade crossing report. It has been the general opinion, ever since the special commissioners' plans were given out, that they did not serve public convenience, safety and necessity. The decision by the railroad commissioners that they had authority under the new law to decide whether the plans recommended by the special commissioners were in the public interest, is very much in favor of the city of Lynn, and will probably result in justice being done to this community.

Now what the city largely desires is the placing of bitulithic pavement on Washington street, the laying of a double railroad track, and in return for this accommodation the railroad to pay for the new pavement between the rails. With the Glenmere, Peabody, Myrtle and Walnut street cars now running through Washington street, the riding public is held up to a considerable extent, and the only relief is a double track. Through trunk line avenues, like Washington street, there should be double tracks to properly accommodate the public. It is hoped that the 1907 city government will arrange for this work on Washington street. Existing conditions urgently call for its being done.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance. I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions,
A BOSTON VARIETY
AT LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

Everything for the Table.

Porter, Pearson & Co.

Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime,
Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

PURE WATER

The Boston Water Purifier will give you absolutely clean, clear, germ-free water at all times of day. Attached to the wall of your kitchen or butler's pantry, and connected with the main water supply, without interfering in any way with your present faucets. You can always obtain water that is really filtered and purified by simply turning the filter faucet. The company exchange the soiled porcelain filter tubes each month for a clean, sterilized set. They lease for $1.00 a month. See them in operation at our store.

WE ARE THE AGENTS

J. F. Morgan & Son

66 Munroe Street

WANTED

MEN AND WOMEN

who are anxious to make money at their own homes, to write today for our money making proposition. On your part a little inclination to draw is all that is required. Experience unnecessary. Full particulars free. Better write NOW before you forget.

Correspondence Institute of America

Box 750, SCRANTON, PA.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

First Essex District Senator.

Republicans in the first Essex district are doing much thinking. The chances are that hundreds of them will vote for M. F. Phelan, the Democratic nominee.

They will do this because they believe Mr. Phelan to be a better man for the public service than Mr. Salter. He has proven this by his service the past two years in the house, where he represented a Republican district.

Mr. Phelan is not a narrow partisan. Broad-minded, of independent thought, and a strong worker for Lynn and its best interests, it is believed that his election would be best for this city.

Mr. Phelan comes from good stock, he was born and bred in Lynn, was educated at Harvard College and the Harvard Law School, and in character, strength among men, and knowledge of the public service, is to be preferred for senator.

So far as Lynn's interests are concerned, and the proper solution of every question coming before the senate, Mr. Phelan may be relied upon to render honest, intelligent, thorough and painstaking service. His career in the house gives that promise.

It may be brought forward that he would not vote for Republican caucus nominees. As the senate will very likely consist of thirty Republicans and ten Democrats it will be seen that Mr. Phelan's vote in this direction would not be important, from a Republican party standpoint.

It is felt that the first Essex district would be most ably and desirably represented by the election of Michael F. Phelan.

The 8.38 a. m. Boston train provided by the new time table of the Boston & Maine railroad gives great satisfaction to Lynn men who do business in Boston. For many years Lynn people have been agitating for this train and they are much pleased that the Boston & Maine has provided the accommodation.

Be kind and polite to everybody.

Improved Methods.

It used to be when I was bad my mother'd surely spank me,
 She'd say, "This hurts me worse than you, but some day you will thank me."
 But now she's joined a mothers' club and goes 'most every day,
 To find out how to train me in just the proper way.
 It used to be when I would get real impudent or pert,
 I'd have to go upstairs to bed, or do without dessert;
 But now she lets me go ahead, and says that it will teach
 Not only independent thought, but fluency of speech.
 It used to be when I would yell she'd take me well in hand,
 But now she lets me go ahead to make my lungs expand.
 Just once when I got mad and kicked, she showed some slight surprise,
 But finally said that kicking was a healthful exercise.
 To train me mother used to strive with all her might and power,
 But now she lets my soul unfold just like a spring-time flower;
 She says the club's a splendid thing: I'm sure that's very true,
 But, oh, I wish my father soon would join that same club too.

—Elsie Duncan Yale.

Oran McCormick, of the Illustrated Footwear Fashion, announces that the first world shoe and leather fair will be the largest and most interesting exhibit, representing a single industry, ever opened to the public. He shows pictures of a main building, which will have 250,000 feet of floor space, and which will have five domes, one each to represent America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. It will have a circle theatre, an entirely new idea. Mr. McCormick makes this announcement as president of the first World's Shoe and Leather Fair Co. and states that the fair will open July 1, 1908 and close July 31, 1908.

Two women were strangers to each other at a reception. After a few moments' desultory talk, the first said rather querulously: "I don't know what's the matter with that tall, blonde gentleman over there—he was so attentive a while ago, but he won't look at me now." "Perhaps," said the other, "he saw me come in. He's my husband."—Ladies' Home Journal.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.L.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET

LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

The Popular Shades of the Season can always be seen in the windows of

Hall's Millinery Store

Hundreds of Ready-Trimmed Hats to select from at this place.

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 42.

Peddlers of Ice Cream.

No person shall sell or offer for sale in the city of Lynn, any ice cream or preparation similar thereto, until the place of manufacture of the same, the utensils and receptacles used, and the wagon or other means of carrying the same, shall have been examined by an inspector of the Board of Health. Such inspector when satisfied as to the cleanliness of all articles used, shall provide such person with his certificate to that effect.

Inspectors shall examine all articles used in the business as often as they may deem necessary, and whenever an inspector shall certify that proper cleanliness is not observed, either in the place of manufacture, in the implements, materials or manner of making ice cream, etc., or in the manner of carrying or selling the same, no further sales of such ice cream shall be allowed until the objectionable features are removed and the inspector so certifies.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906.

WILLIAM M. COWAN, Chairman.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.
32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list. Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

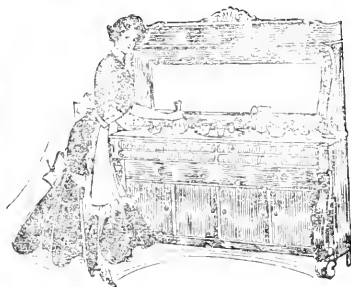

356 Broad St., foot of Market
Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

Thanksgiving Day Dinner

IS bound to go off with more satisfaction to yourself and everyone, if the Dining Room is adequately and properly furnished. This is a specially good time to come and look, while there is so complete a stock of Dining Room Furniture displayed on our floors.

Whether you need a complete outfit, or only a single piece, you will find every article as suitable as skilful designers can make it, as durable as best workmanship will insure, and handsome and artistic as well. To merely look, is something of an education in the art of design as applied to Furniture.

DINING TABLES, . . . $6.00 to $50.00
BOX SEAT DINING CHAIRS, . . . $1.98 to $10.00

SIDEBOARDS, . . . $15.00 to $35.00
DINNER SETS, . . . $3.00 to $25.00

D. B. H. POWER,

Agent for Glenwood Ranges

Central Square, Lynn

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

November.

This is the treacherous month when autumn days
With summer's voice come bearing summer's gifts
Beguiled, the pale down-trodden aster lifts
Her head and blooms again. The soft, warm haze
Makes moist once more the sere and dusty ways,
And, creeping through where dead leaves lie in drifts

The violet returns. Snow noiseless sifts
Ere night, and icy shroud, which morning's rays
Will idly shine upon and slowly melt,
Too late to bid the violet live again.
The treachery, at last, too late, is plain;
Bare are the places where the sweet flowers dwelt.
What joy sufficient hath November felt?
What profit from the violet's day of pain?

—(H. H.)

The Commonwealth Savings Bank is soon to be located in its new quarters in the Strout building, 325 Union street. Here they have better facilities for accommodating the public and are on the line of travel to a much greater extent than in the old quarters on Exchange street. This institution has met with a large degree of success, and well deserves the patronage and support of the Lynn public. The bank is growing most substantially. At the present time there are about 2000 open accounts with deposits of close on to $700,000. When it is taken into consideration that this savings bank has been in operation only about six years this statement regarding its condition most certainly indicates enterprise, forcefulness and intelligent management.

It is refreshing to now read the Boston Herald. While this paper has been very ably conducted from an editorial stand point for many years, the public did not at all times appreciate the sentiments. This is to be expected to a greater or less extent, but the Osborne Howes style of writing was offensive, because it showed personal feeling. It will be a great relief to the readers of the Herald to be relieved of the Henry Loomis Nelson and Osborne Howes style of journalism. This great newspaper should be stronger with the masses, and we believe that it will be, now that the changes have been made in the editorial department.

Be frank, open and truthful.

LYNN FIVE CENTS SAV-INGS BANK HAS MONEY
TO LOAN ON MORTGAGES
OF REAL ESTATE. . . .

Dining Room Furniture

for the Holidays

Complete Line

TABLES, Round or Square
$4.50 to $35.00

CHAIRS, Leather or Hardwood Seat, 75c to $6.00

SIDEBOARDS and BUFFETS
$12.50 to $50.00

DINNER SETS

just arrived. in pretty, neat Patterns.
Good, Serviceable Wear, $9 to $18

W. B. GIFFORD

97-99 Market Street

The Lynn theatre attractions continue to be of a high order, and some of the best shows upon the road are now being seen in this city, thanks to the Lynn theatre management. It should be the desire of Lynn people interested in first class dramatic attractions to give the theatre good support in carrying out its new and progressive policy. Probably never was there given in Lynn a more expensive theatrical production than that of the Fritz Scheff company last month. The show was just as complete as when given in New York and Boston, and the patronage was most encouraging. The November bookings are of a high order, and include several of the most popular attractions.

Most everybody can sympathize a little with the missionary who returned home from China in a very despondent mood. A Chinese convert stole this missionary's watch and then came back to him the next morning to learn how to wind it up.

A local wag once remarked that the carrying of a cane denoted one of two things—physical or mental inability.

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 41.

Care of Meat, Poultry and Vegetables.

Section 1. No person or corporation, individually or by agents, servants or employees, shall transport meat or poultry of any description through the public streets or ways of the city of Lynn, except in wagons or vehicles which have been thoroughly washed at least once in every twenty-four hours. All meat or poultry transported through the streets and public ways must be thoroughly covered in such a manner as to preclude infection or injury from flying dust or other causes. No meat or poultry shall be exposed uncovered in any public street or way, or by the side of same.

Section 2. No vegetables intended to be used as food shall be exposed or displayed in any street or way, or in front of any place of business, unless the bottom of the box or other receptacle containing such vegetables, is raised at least twelve inches above the sidewalk, platform or landing upon which such receptacle rests.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

GREEN & SON

PIANO NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICEE. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market StreetThere is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy and sureHEAD-CURO POWDERS

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents

Send stamps

A Successful Caterer.

We have been asked by quite a number of persons who attended the Representative convention last week at the Revere Town hall as to the caterer who served the banquet on that occasion. His success in managing the affair was quite marked, and he received much praise from all those who were present.

We are pleased to inform those interested that the spread was served under the direction of Mr. Andrew Schlehuber, of Exchange Street, Lynn, the leading caterer of that city. He makes a specialty of catering for clubs and organizations, and is particularly well known in Masonic circles.

—The Revere Journal.

85c. GAS

The price of Gas is now 85c. net per thousand cubic feet

All who want gas in their buildings would do well to leave orders at once.
No charge is made for this when the distance is not unusually long.

Lynn Gas & Electric Co.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review

My Persian Prayer-Rug.

Made smooth some centuries ago
By praying Eastern devotees,
Blurred by those dusky naked feet,
And somewhat worn by shuffling knees,
In Ispahan,

It lies upon my modern floor,
And no one prays there any more.
It never felt the worldly tread
Of smart bottines, high-heeled and red,
In Ispahan.

And no one prays there now, I said?
Ah well, that was a hasty word.
Once, with my face upon its wool,
A fiercer prayer it never heard
In Ispahan.

But still I live who prayed that night
That death might come ere came the light.
Did my soul in black despair
Breathe, kneeling here, that reckless prayer
In Ispahan?

Perhaps, I trust that Heaven lent
A kinder ear than late to me,
If some brown ancient, weeping, begged
To have his suffering soul set free
In Ispahan.

I fancy I shall like to meet
To-day who prayed here, and whose feet
Once made this rich old carpet frayed.
Peace to your souls, my friends, who prayed
In Ispahan!

—Anne Reeve Aldrich.

The fame of Keith's theatre for giving big shows, greater even than those offered in the variety theatres in the larger cities, is spreading all over the country, and the amusement seekers of New England can congratulate themselves on the fact that there is nothing novel or original in the world of vaudeville that they are not afforded an opportunity of witnessing, quite often in advance of any other theatre-goers in America. Many of the leading vaudeville artists will appear at Keith's during the present month.

As the Lynn News remarked:—"It is perfectly proper and right that the mayor should send the common council a message urging the removal of the water board, if he sees fit, and it seems to us to be proper and right that whatever the water board has to offer should be given to that body for consideration."

The death last month of Ann M., widow of Edwin Walden, called to a higher life a much esteemed and respected woman. She took a deep interest in the better things of life, and had done much in church and charity work. Edwin Walden, who was formerly mayor of Lynn, was one of the ablest and most public spirited men this city ever developed.

The average adult head has a circumference of fully 22 inches. The average adult hat is fully 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ size. The sizes of men's hats are 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ and 6 $\frac{7}{8}$ generally. "Sevens" hats are common in Aberdeen, and the professors of our colleges generally wear 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 8 sizes. Heads wearing hats of the sizes 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ and smaller or being less than 21 inches in circumference, can never be powerful. Between 19 and 20 inches in circumference heads are invariably very weak, and, according to this authority, "no lady should think of marrying a man with a head less than 20 inches in circumference." People with heads under 19 inches are mentally deficient, and with heads under 18 inches "invariably idiotic." —The Young Woman.

When Alexis Caswell was president of Brown University a student by the name of Betterly came to him one day. After conversing with him a moment upon the object of his visit the president asked him his name, and, upon being told, said jovially, "Your name would be better without the last syllable, wouldn't it?" "Yes," replied the student, with a laugh, and wouldn't yours be as well without the C?"

All things come round to those who wait,
But it's a surer way
To get up steam and pull your freight
And meet good things half-way.
—Wakefield Item.

Amos B. Chase never before showed such substantial values in women's furs as this season. He has an extra large stock and they are representative of the best lines it is possible to secure. The women of Lynn and vicinity will be much interested in an examination of these furs and even if they are not ready to buy, Mr. Chase solicits an inspection of the stock at 123 Munroe street.

Teacher—I have explained to you, children, what the fabrics we wear are made of. Now, Johnnie, tell me what your suit is made of.

Johnnie—Father's old trousers. —Meg-gendorfer Blatter.

CALL AND EXAMINE MAGEE'S IMPERIAL RANGE, 1906 LATEST PATTERN Smooth and Plain. Up to Date. Warranted a good water heater and baker H. F. POOL, 5 Market Street
--

NEW BANKING ROOMS  No. 325 UNION STREET

COMMONWEALTH

SAVINGS BANK

NEW BANKING ROOMS

AFTER NOVEMBER 1

STROUT BUILDING
325 UNION STREET

DIVIDEND RATES, : : 3 1-2 PER CENT.

Commonwealth Savings Bank,  325 Union St.

JOS. G. PINKHAM, PRESIDENT

WM. M. BARNEY, TREASURER

NEW LOCATION  No. 325 UNION STREET

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

See the Eye

ANALYSIS OF LOVER'S LEAP SPRING WATER

Recent analysis of Lover's Leap spring water shows it to be of one the first-class spring waters of New England. Lover's Leap Spring No. 2 is located at the corner of Linwood and Cliff Streets, Newhall Heights, 140 feet above sea level. The watershed of this spring is uninhabited woodland adjoining the Lynn public park. The water is collected in a cemented reservoir three feet in diameter and 14 feet in depth, built on a ledge foundation. To preclude the possibility of any surface water entering the spring, another concrete wall 16 inches thick is built around three feet from the cement reservoir, which is covered with a glass and galvanized iron top. Covering all is a two story wooden building, where the water is bottled in five-gallon carboys. The process of filling the bottles is conducted with care and every precaution is taken to prevent the pollution of the water.

Following is the complete sanitary analysis of Lover's Leap spring water taken Oct. 13, 1906, by Herbert L. Sherman, analytical chemist, 220 Devonshire street, Boston.

"All results are given in parts per 100,000 :

Odor, cold	0.0
Odor, hot	0.1
Color (Hazen's standard)	0.00
Turbidity	0.1
Nitrogen as free ammonia	0.0008
Nitrogen as albuminoid ammo.	0.0032
Nitrogen as nitrites	0.000
Nitrogen as nitrates	0.007
Chlorine	0.806
Hardness	2.21
Alkalinity	1.45
Residue on evaporation (dissolved)	5.0
(Suspended)	0.1
(Total)	5.1
Iron	0.000

"The normal chlorine as given by the State Board of Health is 0.630 parts per 100,000 for your locality, so you will see that yours is very low, as it always is above the normal. In short the water is of very good quality, and there can be no doubt of its safety for use."

(Signed) HERBERT L. SHERMAN.

The above analysis shows Lover's Leap spring water to be an excellent drinking water. The water shows no evidence of having received drainage of either sewage or surface origin, the chlorine being about normal, nitrate being present in but a trace, and nitrite being absent. The water is a soft one, there being no iron present. There is no color and but a very slight trace of turbidity. This water ranks with the first-class waters of New England.

The Plains of Trouble.

There is strife on the Plains of Trouble, strife and hunger and cold;
For brothers are ranged against brothers, eager for justice and gold.
Women are weeping in anguish, children are crying for bread;
But hearts are aflame with hatred, and souls are turned to lead.

Yonder in quiet and sunshine lie the Fields of Plenty and Peace,
Where the warring blare of the trumpet and the tumult of conflict cease;
And yet, from the Plains of Trouble, from the desert of famine and drought,
Of its thousand tracks and highways there is only one way out.

Who travel these time-worn courses, these avenues paved with pride,
Come back to the Plains of Trouble by the curves that ever misguide;
There's but one way out of the contest—Oh, hearts that are proud and blind!
To the fields where brothers are brothers, and man unto man is kind.

To enter this narrow pathway all must incline the head,
But, oh, the shivering mothers! and the children that go unfed!
Yon Fields of Peace and Plenty, rich in the joy from above, Open free to the path called Kindness and the low-linted gate called Love.

—Emma C. Dowd.

A solicitor in a provincial town, who openly prided himself on his knowledge of the law, was one day proceeding to the local court with several ponderous law books under his arm, when he met a friend.

"Why, P—," exclaimed the latter, pointing to the books, "I thought you carried all that stuff in your head."

"I do," quickly replied the lawyer, with a knowing wink; "these are for the judges."—Exchange.

Two men were introduced to each other. One, failing to catch the other's name, asked him to repeat it. "My name is rather hard," said No. 2. "Well," said No. 1, "I don't believe it is any harder than mine." "I'd be willing to bet $10 it is," No. 2 replied. To this No. 1 assented without hesitation, and the bet was made. Then No. 2 said, "My name is Stone, F. W. Stone." "I'm sorry, but you lose," said the other. "My name is Harder, T. B. Harder."

VOTE FOR whom you will, but if you want reliable Rubber Goods of any kind—Rain Coats, Rubbers, Water Bottles, etc., the popular verdict is, you'll find them at HOWE'S, 52 Central Square, Lynn

TELEPHONE RATES

THE telephone of Prof. Bell, which made possible the transmission of the human voice, with all those inflections and modulations which denote the personality of the individual, not only over short distances but to distances of nearly two thousand miles, is, and will always remain, one of the most wonderful of human inventions.

The marvelous development of the application and use of this instrument, vastly greater in this country than that accomplished in other countries, the building up of a system over which each day tens of millions of conversations are held, has been due, in principal degree, to the faith and courage, the ability and energy of men of our own state, some of whom, now living, were instrumental in the establishment of the first telephone exchange and the building of the first toll line ever operated in the world.

The use of the telephone has now become so general in the city of Lynn, as an important agent for the transactions of manufacturing and commercial houses and the offices of professional men, and for household convenience as well, that the subject of telephone service, and telephone rates in our city, to which reference has been made in an earlier number of THE LYNN REVIEW, becomes one of general interest to this community.

In no business relation is the principle more clearly established than for the successful development and prosecution of an industry, the interests of the purchaser and the seller or producer must be mutual in the long run, than in the business of supplying telephone service.

In the interest of both the subscriber and the company the service, and the plant by which the service is operated, must be kept at a high standard of efficiency. To that end the rates must be wisely adjusted for the various classes of service. If those for any one class of service are too high, the growth of the exchange is so far retarded; if too low, the plant and the service cannot be properly maintained, and poor service will result, unprofitable both to the company and the telephone user.

The question by what means the system can be operated to produce the best results for those who employ it, both as to quality of service and the increase of the number of subscribers, rendering that service of constantly increasing value to each subscriber, and the adjustment of reasonable rates, fairly adapted to each class of service, has been the constant study for many years of those connected with the management of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. The results of this study and effort are found in a great enlargement of the number of subscribers, improvement of lines, apparatus, and consequently, of the efficiency of the service, and above all a marked reduction in the schedule of rates, which has been made possible through this improvement of lines and equipment, a greater skill and efficiency in management and operation.

Some of the principles, which have to be considered as a guide in the adjustment of telephone rates, may be of interest to the reader of the REVIEW.

The Basis of Telephone Rates.

While the computation of the costs of telephone service is complex in detail and involves intricate scientific problems, yet the method adopted is that of an equitable business proposition.

The purpose of the telephone rates is to provide an income which shall balance the following disbursements:

First, to pay the labor engaged in operating the plant day and night without cessation.

Second, to defray the expenses necessary to maintain the plant in good order, as against wear and tear, the destruction by storms and the substitution of new and improved apparatus for that which has become obsolete as the result of subsequent invention. This is the largest single expense, requiring on the average one third of the amounts now received for telephone rates.

In addition to these expenses, must be added the cost of engineering, supervision, taxes, rents, directories, accounting and collecting and numerous other items which enter into the expense of operating a telephone system.

Third, to yield a dividend to the stockholders, which in the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is six per cent.

All of these expenditures are essential to provide telephone service to its patrons on a sound business basis.

Cost of Telephone Service.

The logic of figures discloses the precision with which this line of policy, in fixing the telephone rates so as to provide a dividend of six per cent on the investment, and to give to subscribers the benefit of further reduction of cost by an equivalent diminution in the price of telephone service, has been carried into practice, as may be ascertained by an analysis of the last report of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The income both from local and toll service from its average of 149,291 telephone installations in 1905 was $51.58 for each subscriber instrument, while the expenses as outlined above were $50.61, leaving only 97 cents a contribution toward the surplus, which is a source which may be called upon for unusual conditions, such as the extraordinary storms which occur at not infrequent intervals and vastate lines and poles in their course.

S AND SERVICE.

The close approximation of income and expenditure shows that there is not in that ninety-seven cents a year much opportunity for a general reduction in telephone rates.

Financing Increase of Telephones.

Beyond these disbursements, its obligation as a public utility enterprise imposes upon it the duty to furnish service to new subscribers who have been increasing the number of telephones at the extraordinary rate of twenty-five per cent. for several years, until they have now reached a quarter of a million including those of rural lines and sub-licensees in the four states which comprise the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Vast expenditures are required to provide telephones, lines, buildings and switchboards with their subsidiary plant.

It should be clearly understood that the money for these extensions has not been obtained from the rates paid by telephone subscribers, but from funds realized by sale of additional capital stock, such as naturally seeks investment in carefully and conservatively managed companies.

If these funds for enlargement had been obtained from the revenue, it would have required that the charges for telephone service should have been proportionately greater.

General Reduction in Telephone Rates.

Although there has been within the past few years a material increase in the cost of labor and the price of copper, of which each new telephone in the four states traversed by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company represents about 180 pounds as its share of aerial and underground line, yet the cost of operation has been reduced, partly through more systematic methods of operation, and especially on account of improved switchboards. As this cost of service has been diminished, in like manner the rates to subscribers have been reduced to amounts which will merely assure the six per cent dividend.

As a concrete example of these reductions which have prevailed throughout the territory whenever the improvements have accomplished a diminution of the cost of service, the rates in Lynn have been changed as follows within the past few years:

Reduction of Rates in Lynn.

In the case of the Lynn exchange, the comparison will be made with the rates for unlimited service on a circuit having one telephone, as being typical of the reductions which have been made on other classes of service.

In January 1900, the price for this service was $102 a year for business telephones, and this rate has been voluntarily reduced on six different occasions, until it is now $66 a year.

In like manner, the corresponding rate for residence telephones, which was $84 has been reduced to $42 a year.

The six-party line for unlimited residence service has remained unchanged at $25, and has doubtless proved a service of great convenience and advantage to many subscribers, becoming of increasing value as the central office equipment has been improved, long distance transmitters substituted for those of the older type, and the number of stations with which connection can be had more than trebled within the past six years.

The numerous party line contracts have been modified by reductions similar to those of the above examples which have been cited to indicate what has been done throughout the whole telephone system.

While the cost of telephone service has received the benefit of these enormous reductions, its value has been augmented in the measure that it is now worth more in 1906 to have the privilege of speaking to 4,173 telephones connected to the Lynn exchange than it was in 1900 to be able to connect to 1,330 telephones.

Rates in Suburban District Greater Than in Lynn.

The rates through this district are necessarily greater than those in the Lynn exchange, while the toll charge is the same to Metropolitan Boston as it is from Lynn.

The exchange rates in these suburban towns are about 28 per cent. higher than those of Lynn, being for unlimited service with a single telephone on a line, $84 a year for business and $54 for residence, while the corresponding charges in Lynn, as has already been stated, are $66 and 42.

There is not any rate to correspond with the $25 telephone at Lynn, as the six-party contract is not now written in Boston or the suburban district.

While Boston subscribers can telephone to the suburban district, the rates are $162 for business and $116 for residences for the unlimited service already cited as a basis of comparison.

Lynn a Metropolitan Center.

A comparison is sometimes made with the telephone limits of the Lynn exchange, and those of the towns surrounding Boston and constituting the suburban district where the conditions are different and the cost of service greater.

To a degree far exceeding any of the other cities in the vicinity of Boston, the city of Lynn stands as a place of large commercial and business activity and importance, the largest center of one of the great industries of the country.

With the growth of the city in population and business, the telephone is constantly brought into greater use, and steadily increases in value to those who employ it.

All this growth and development make a busier exchange and a relatively greater amount of traffic, for which the telephone company must provide.

This the company has undertaken, keeping always in view the purpose to render its subscribers more and better service, and to do its part to advance the interests of its patrons and the city.

Variable Costs of Telephone Service.

Conditions of density of population as well as its aggregate numbers, the relation of business houses and residences and even the prevalence of the "telephone habit" modify the costs of telephone service and make each community a law unto itself to a material extent in the rates which a telephone company can fix in the district.

It is not contrary to the natural prudence which impels humanity to seek the cheapest markets, that the telephone company finds that its patrons recognize that in the long run, the lowest telephone rates will result from a policy which fixes those rates on the equitable basis of a defined advance upon their cost.

Visitors Welcome at Telephone Offices.

The officers of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company are always ready to meet inquirers on this subject of rates, and subscribers are always welcome at the central telephone offices, where they will be shown the apparatus and methods of operation required to give service to their patrons.

The amount of time and travel supplanted by the use of the telephone may be comprehended by the fact that the aggregate distance over which these conversations are transmitted throughout the United States amounts to forty-five million miles a day, one third of which extends beyond the exchange districts where the calls originate, being toll or long distance service.

—C. J. H. WOODBURY.

Lynn Theatre

F. G. HARRISON, MANAGER

COMING ATTRACTIONS

October 29 — The Student King.
November 2 and 3 — Mayor of Laughland.
November 5-9 — Bennett-Moulton Company.
November 10 — Just Out of College.
November 12-13-14 — Cape Cod Folks.
November 15-16-17 — Shepherd King.
November 20-24 — Cook-Church Company.
November 26-Week — Clara Turner Company.

E. A. HORNE

Upholstering and Repairing.
Household Repairs

349 WASHINGTON ST., LYNN Tel. 868-3

Reduce your GAS BILL and Get MORE LIGHT for LESS COST

The Lindsay Light Saves more than four times its cost

Price $1.00

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS, 74 Exchange St.

THE FINEST DISPLAY EAST OF BOSTON and just as good variety and value as seen in

New York and Boston in

WOMEN'S HIGH-GRADE

F-U-R-S

Come in and see, even if you do not want to buy now

FUR LINED GARMENTS

In Good Variety

AMOS B. CHASE

123 MUNROE ST.

Hats, Caps, Gloves, Trunks, Bags

Not much is heard of Congressman Roberts' campaign. Probably Republicans thought they talked enough about it in September. It is the general feeling that Mr. O'Keefe, the opponent of Congressman Roberts, has not found it necessary to arrange for apartments in Washington. It is the feeling that Mr. Roberts will be elected by an old time majority. Republicans hereabouts were in favor of a Lynn man for congress, but they do not want him if he is not in favor of the tariff and other important national questions, which should be settled according to the Republican platform. Were Mr. O'Keefe to be elected the Democrats would have a strong and able partisan in Washington.

Through love to light! O wonderful the way
That leads from darkness to the perfect day!
From darkness and from sorrow of the night
To morning that comes singing o'er the sea.
Through love to light! Through light, O God, to thee,
Who art the love of love, the eternal light of light!
—Richard Watson Gilder.

Many encomiums have been extended toward George W. Brown, treasurer and general manager of the United Shoe Machinery Co., for his splendid contribution to the Lynn hospital. Mr. Brown establishes the Florence E. Brown $5000 fund, and the income from this will do a vast amount of good for Lynn's sick and unfortunate. Such action by a non-resident, but who, indirectly, is much interested in Lynn's prosperity and welfare, is to be highly commended.

IF you want good JOB PRINTING done at a fair price, drop a postal card or telephone 1026-3—THE LYNN REVIEW, 333 Union street, Lynn.

The Lingerer.

Every night until half past ten
He hangs on the gate and talks with Jen;
They linger there in the moonlight beams—
Both are doped with the same old dreams.
He takes out his watch and looks aloft,
And says in a whisper low and soft:
"I think it is time for me to go—"
But he doesn't, though.

Next they adjourn to the old front stoop;
Cupid casts his rose-love loop
Over the pair as they sit and chat;
Sometimes they giggle, sometimes they spat;
He takes out his watch and says "Do you know
Jen, what the time is? I'd better go—"
But he doesn't, though.

The front door squeaks and they glide in;
Twice he was off—but that's too thin.
Jen lights the lamp on the table and brings
In from the pantry cookies and things,
Such like as cheese and blackberry pies.
He takes out his watch and squints his eyes:
"Darned old turnip is slow—I'll go—"
But he doesn't, though.

—Horace Seymour Keller.

Ethel's mother was very ill and, calling the little miss to her bedside, she said: "Ethel, what would you do if I should die?"

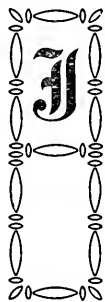

"Oh," answered Ethel, who did not realize the gravity of the situation, "I s'pose I'd have to spank myself."—Chicago Daily News.

The "Hallowe'en" window of W. F. Newhall, Market street, was a pretty conceit. The mind originating it was clever. If retailers would now and then depart from the beaten tracks their window displays would prove more profitable advertising.

Take a genuine interest in other people.

If I knew you and you knew me —
If both of us could clearly see,
And with an inner sight divine
The meaning of your heart and mine,
I'm sure that we would differ less
And clasp our hands in friendliness;
Our thoughts would pleasantly agree
If I knew you and you knew me.

312 Union St.

Delville

Tel. 1807

Annual November Sale

NOW GOING ON

Stylish Suits and Garments at Reasonable Prices

DO NOT FAIL TO SEE

Our Holiday Stock

Next...
Month

EVERYTHING in WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, TABLE WARE, Etc.
at greatly reduced prices over those charged in Boston for like quality goods

OUR OPTICAL DEPARTMENT Does a Large Business
EYES TESTED FREE OF CHARGE

Headquarters for WEDDING GIFTS of Every Description. A Special Line of CUT GLASS GOODS.
Bear us in mind when there is a WEDDING PRESENT to be bought.

JAMES H. CONNER

81 Pearl Street. near Union. Lynn

The Fugitive.

I met a certain fugitive
 As I walked down the street
 His clothes were torn and tattered
 With scars from the strife.
 "The Women's Club," he said,
 "Are doing it all right."
 And then he said to me
 "They haven't yet released
 They've stolen Brown's
 I leave it to you
 We've got to do better
 And we'll do it all right."
 "They're not yet released
 I'm not yet released
 My name is not yet released
 I'm not yet released."
 —Malden and Everett.

Goddard Brothers are continuing their growth in the direction of Market street. It would not be surprising if before many years they were beside the old Y. M. C. A. building. Some time ago they secured considerable land along that side of Market street and last month they arranged to take the building next adjoining. They are to take that portion of the building formerly occupied by W. D. Brown, pianist. Their store front will be carried along in the same style as at present, with the attractive plate glass windows, brass lights, etc., giving one of the largest and most attractive stores in the city. The new store will be arranged with steel ceilings, and every modern store-keeping convenience, and will give the firm 100 square feet additional floor space. The new building will add to the extension of the suit, garment, ready-to-wear garment section, and other departments in the present store, and the new section will also be used for the sale of muslin underwear, corsets, laces, veils, etc. There has been a splendid growth in the Goddard Bros. business during the past year or two, and it is encouraging to note that their progressive business methods are so much appreciated by women in Lynn and vicinity.

The women's club
 The women's club
 The women's club
 The women's club

It should be remembered in favor of the candidacy of Benjamin N. Johnson for the congressional nomination, that he secured more votes than any Republican (with the exception of Congressman Roberts this year) who ever contested for the office. "Something happened" in Malden and Everett, and this prevented the nomination of Mr. Johnson.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD Lynn and Boston Trains

Lynn Lynn	Lynn Lynn	Lynn Lynn	Lynn Lynn	Lynn Lynn	Lynn Lynn
A.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00
9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15
9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30
9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45
10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00
10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15
10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30
10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45
11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00
11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15
11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30
11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45
12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00
12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15
12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30
12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45
1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00
1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15
1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30
1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45
2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00
2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15
2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30
2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45
3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00
3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15
3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30
3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45
4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00
4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15
4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30
4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45
5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00
5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15
5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30
5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45
6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00
9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15
9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30
9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45
10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00
10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15
10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30
10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45
11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00
11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15
11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30
11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45
12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00
12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15
12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30
12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45
1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00
1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15
1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30
1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45
2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00
2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15
2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30
2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45
3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00
3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15
3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30
3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45
4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00
4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15
4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30
4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45
5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00
5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15
5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30
5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45
6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00
9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15
9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30
9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45
10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00
10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15
10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30
10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45
11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00
11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15
11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30
11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45
12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00
12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15
12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30
12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45
1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00
1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15
1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30
1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45
2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00
2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15
2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30
2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45
3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00
3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15
3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30
3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45
4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00
4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15
4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30
4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45
5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00
5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15
5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30
5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45
6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00
9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15
9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30
9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45
10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00
10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15
10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30	10:30
10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45	10:45
11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00	11:00
11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15	11:15
11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30	11:30
11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45	11:45
12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00	12:00
12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15	12:15
12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30	12:30
12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45	12:45
1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00	1:00
1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15	1:15
1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30	1:30
1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45	1:45
2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00	2:00
2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15	2:15
2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30	2:30
2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45	2:45
3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00	3:00
3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15	3:15
3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30	3:30
3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45	3:45
4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00	4:00
4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15	4:15
4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30	4:30
4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45	4:45
5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00	5:00
5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15	5:15
5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30	5:30
5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45
6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00
9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15	9:15
9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30	9:30
9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45	9:45
10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00	10:00
10:15	10:15	10:15	10:15	10

CITY OF LYNN.

STATE ELECTION.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE, October 23, 1906.

In accordance with the Revised Laws, Chapter 11, notice is hereby given that meetings of the qualified voters of the City of Lynn will be held on Tuesday, the sixth day of November, 1906, in the several polling places heretofore designated by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen. The polls will be opened at 6 o'clock in the morning, and closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. And said voters may, in the several precincts in which they are entitled to vote, between said hours, give in their votes, on one ballot for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney-General, Representative in Congress, Councillor, one Senator for the First Essex District, one Senator for the Seventh Middlesex District, two Representatives for each of the Representative Districts numbered 12, 13, 14, and 15; also for County Commissioner, Clerk of Courts, Register of Deeds, and County Treasurer.

Attest:

JOSEPH W. ATTWILL,
City Clerk.

RARE

is the word to apply to our Bargains. Don't lose the chance of inspecting them.

IRISH POINT CURTAINS

$2.50 value are selling at $1.49 per pair.

FINE MUSLIN CURTAINS at 39c. per pair.

Our Line of Drapery and Upholstery Goods is Complete.

Fine Rugs Woven from Old Carpetings.

ALBION K. HALL, 39 Market St.

Agent for LEWIS BATTING CO.

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026-3.

The Wife—What luck?

The Husband (wearily)—None whatever.

"Were there no servants in the intelligence office?"

"Lots of them; but they had all worked for us before."—Woman's Home Companion.

THE SMALL DEPOSITOR.

gets the RIGHT KIND of service here. No matter how small the account. Get in touch with us, and see how we can help you. Deposit your money in the Bank, and pay your household expenses by check, which is a receipt for payments.

Manufacturers' National Bank

ITEM BUILDING

B. W. CURRIER, President

W. B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice President

CLIFTON COLBURN, Cashier

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

How to be Happy Though Married.

A Chicago wife who had just celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of a happy marriage gives the following advice as the way to do it.

"If you want to have a happy married life," says an expert,

"And of course, that's what each woman's aiming for,

Now let me pour into your ears, young women, just a bit

Of the sixty years of wisdom I've in store.

Don't think a stock of knowledge will increase his love for you;

Of beauty he'll get tired a little bit;

So after you have got him, if you want to hold him fast,

Just feed him well and make him think he's 'It.'

"Don't try for a career to make his name a famous one,

And cause the world to stare in awed surprise;

To advertise that you're the senior partner in the firm

Won't make you any sweeter in your husband's eyes.

Don't join the women's clubs and take a part in politics,

So men will say, 'Your wife, Smith, made a hit.'

He won't be half as happy, as contented and as proud

As if he gets good grub and thinks he's 'It.'

"Don't go against the grain of human nature when it's male,

If you marry, girls, to have a happy life;

No man may be a hero, as saws hold, to his valet,

But each man expects to be one to his wife.

It isn't all your beauty and your talents that will charm;

He won't come home soon just to hear your wit;

So after you have got him, if you want to hold him fast,

Just feed him well and make him think he's 'It.'—Baltimore American.

The store of Geo. C. Melville & Co., 312 Union street, is unusually attractive at this season. Women are much interested in the new suits, habits, furs, waists, etc., all in exclusive styles that are being shown this season. Important changes have been made in the decoration of the store, and the entire front has been almost wholly rebuilt and redecorated along Colonial lines. The panel effect with a top of diamond trelis work is most attractive, and is original with this store. It is so arranged that the panels may be changed to a color which harmonizes with the window display. The entire effect is very tasty and pleasing to the eye. The gown and cloak display in the Melville store is very much ahead of any previous season, and the women of Lynn and vicinity should understand that the styles here displayed are not to be had in any other Lynn store because they are exclusively controlled for this city by Melville & Co.

Do not bore people by telling them long, tedious stories; or by continually dilating on your own affairs.

Moon's Changes.

Last Quarter, Nov. 9, 4h 45m. morn. E.

New Moon, Nov. 16, 3h 36m. morn. E.

"IT was the Princeton Tiger, we believe, aided and abetted by the New York Sun, which started the remarkable series of adventures of Nan, the first being:

There once was a man in Nantucket,

Who kept all his cash in a bucket;

But his daughter named Nan

Ran away with a man;

And as for the bucket, Nantucket.

This was followed by another scribe who added:

Paw followed the pair to Pawtucket—

The girl, and the man, and the bucket.

He overtook Nan

With her runaway man

And as for the money, Pawtucket.

Other papers took up the strain, Manchester and other Rhode Island metropolis being the scene of further adventures, enough to make a long though slightly disconnected story, in which the original bone of contention, after various vicissitudes, is practically lost sight of. All of these "Limericks," with their proper sources accredited, have been collected with a few more very good ones, under the title, "Nan, and Some Others" being edited by Ralph A. Lyon, and excellently printed in a little booklet by the Ridgeville Press, of Evanston, Ill., in a most artistic manner, fully up to the standard of the Paul Elder Company, of San Francisco. ("Nan, and Some Others," by Ralph A. Lyon; 3½ x 4 in.; the Ridgeville Press, Evanston, Ill.; 25 cents.)

'Tis not in the highest stars alone,
Nor in the cups of budding flowers,
Nor in the redbreast's mellow tone,
Nor in the bow that smiles in showers,
But on the mud and scum of things
There always, always, something sings,
—Emerson.

It will be strange not to think of N. Everett Silsbee in the real estate and insurance business. After forty-nine years' service he is to retire from the firm of Silsbee, Baker, Geer & Ingalls. He has earned a vacation by long and faithful service. No man ever carried more geniality and good fellowship into his work than Everett Silsbee.

"The Lord loveth a cheerful liver—" "You've quoted that wrong; it's 'cheerful giver.'"

"Oh, well, it amounts to the same thing; the man with a cheerful liver can't help being a cheerful giver."—Houston Post.

ONLY ONE MARKET—NO BRANCH STORES

FISH FRESH FROM THE SEA

Our buying facilities surpass most others—we maintain a Wholesale Department in Boston.

Our selling facilities have been pronounced practically perfect, by experts.

Our experience covers an actual fish selling period of twenty-two years.

Don't this prove to you we can supply your Fish wants better than anyone else.

Try us to-day, and be convinced.

WILLIAMS BROS.

Lynn's Leading Fish Dealers

213-217 UNION ST.  ONLY ONE STORE

'PHONES 28 AND 29

ONLY ONE MARKET—NO BRANCH STORES

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

THE WATER BOARD INQUIRY.

THE commissioners appointed to investigate the public water board have made their report. It was not wholly unexpected. It was the general belief that if the board was acquitted of any willful wrongdoing that it would be covered with mud, and such was the result.

The request was made for the appointment of disinterested Lynn men to make the investigation. This request was denied, and out of town men, who could not get into the atmosphere of the situation, selected. They proceed to tell us that honest and respected business men, who stand high in Lynn, did their work honestly and were justified in changing from concrete to bowlder construction and the driving of sheet piling, the two most important indictments filed against the board by the politicians who were the cause of the investigation.

When a matter like this gets into politics it is small chance of those accused securing justice. The commissioners wanted to justify their appointment and after acquitting the members of the water board of dishonesty, they proceed to apply the muck rake.

We will agree, with the aid of three out-of-town men, appointed as "investigators" to go into the fire, police, school or any other city department, and in six months' time do even a more thorough job of smooching than the inquisitors put up against the public water board—yes, and even analyze the actions, this year, of high-up officials who undoubtedly acted honestly, but who, nevertheless, expended city money extravagantly, needlessly and wastefully, "in a way that might open the door to graft!"

The report of the commissioners does more injury to the city of Lynn (among people who view it from the outside) than to the members of the water board, because Lynn people whose opinion is worth anything well understand that the water board members did not profit to the extent of one cent by the work done in extending the water system.

The water board has been persecuted, prosecuted, and maligned, for political purposes, and to serve personal spite. Nothing like it has ever been known in this city since the days of Hon. Edwin Walden, who instituted the Lynn public water system, and who was the victim of more odious talk than any recent member of the public water board. Mr. Walden was charged with the most serious offenses when he was engaged in developing Lynn's water system, but he survived all of the charges, and was afterwards pointed out as a benefactor to the city.

And so it is with the recent members of the water board. They may have their shortcomings, (possibly they do not possess the ability of the great minds which have been pursuing them) but those people of Lynn whose opinion is desirable are today firm believers in the honesty and integrity of those members of the public water board whom the commissioners first acquitted and then maligned.

Under all of the circumstances we should think it would be far from an easy proposition for the city of Lynn to hereafter secure worthy men to serve upon its governing boards.

Our sincere sympathy goes out to future members of the public water board. The muck rakers have triumphed, and they will keep at it, because it is for them both business and politics.

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

The "Trade in Lynn" motto adopted by the Lynn Merchants' Association for the members to use upon their printing.

Elbridge Souther, who died last month, was much esteemed and respected by those who had the pleasure of his intimate acquaintance. Mr. Souther was a sharp critic and was in the habit of speaking strongly, but beneath his emphatic talk he carried a good heart and kindly feeling. He was a charitable man, but had no general reputation as such, not desiring to have his many good deeds known. He had a strong individuality and scored a great success in the business world, from which he retired many years ago. Hosts of strong friends are left behind.

The Certain Victory

Why should I sit in doubt or fear? If I
Awake some morning from that dreaded sleep
To find myself new-born and lifted high.
Then I will turn, and, looking o'er the deep
That lies beneath me, shout for glee and throw
A last good-bye at Pain and Fear, below.

But what if, at the last, no light shall break—
If this is all—if when I fall asleep
No angel's voice shall sweetly cry "Awake,"
And there shall be but nothing, dark and deep—
Ah, well, I shall not care if it be so,
I'll triumph still, for I shall never know.

—S. E. Kiser.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past month are: Coniston, The Awakening of Helena Richie, The Jungle, Pam Decides, Lady Baltimore, and The Fighting Chance.

The Venus of Milo explained. "I twisted 'em off trying to fasten the three middle buttons in the back," she announced. From this it was easily inferred that she had no husband.—New York Sun.

Always be considerate of the rights and feeling of others.

Thanksgiving.

Let us be thankful—not only because
Since last our universal thanks were told
We have grown greater in the world's applause,
And fortune's newer smiles surpass the old.
But thankful for all things that come as alms
From out the open hand of Providence:—
The winter clouds and storms—the summer calms—
The sleepless dread—the drowse of indolence.
Let us be thankful—thankful for the prayers
Whose gracious answers were long, long delayed,
That they might fall upon us unawares,
And bless us, as in greater need, we prayed.
Let us be thankful for the loyal hand
That love held out in welcome to our own,
When love and only love could understand
The need of touches we had never known.
Let us be thankful for the longing eyes
That gave their secret to us as they wept,
Yet in return found, with a sweet surprise,
Love's touch upon their lids, and smiling, slept.
And let us, too, be thankful that the tears
Of sorrow have not all been drained away,
That through them still, for all the coming years,
We may look on the dead face of To-day.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Councilman Munroe was unjustly criticised. What he did was perfectly proper and legitimate. He was a "victim of circumstances." It was not a sham call. He was really wanted on business at the station. He figured on decent action, and that the water report would not be railroaded through before the council had time to digest the report. As in every other instance, the spiteful water board opponents proceeded to cast all discredit possible upon Councilman Munroe. Those who know him, however, well understand that he is not a dodger, and fights squarely.

A little girl came in from school one day very indignant because she had been kept in to correct her problems after the others had been dismissed. "Mamma," she said, "I'll nevur, nevur speak to Edna Bates again as long as I live!" "Why, dear," asked her mother. "Because," pouted the little maid, "because I copied all my 'zamples from her, and every one of 'em was wrong."—Christian Intelligencer.

West Lynn and Saugus Republicans are working hard for the election of George M. Lambert, as a member of the general court. Mr. Lambert has done much work for the party and his friends believe that with loyalty to the ticket he will be elected this month.

Be ambitious and energetic, but never benefit yourself at the expense of another.

SEA SHORE LOTS

Within the Reach of All, on

Castle Road, Nahant

Beautifully Situated on the
Water Front

From $400, Up

ONLY 17 LOTS REMAINING UNSOLD

Suitable Restrictions to Prevent Anything Objectionable on This Property

APPLY TO

EDWARD E. STROUT

CASTLE ROAD { or } 319 UNION STREET, LYNN
SUNDAYS { } WEEK DAYS

FALL, 1906

"Room Rugs"

Velvet Rugs

(Small and Carpet Sizes)

Tapestry Rugs

(All Sizes)

WOOL ART SQUARES

Titus & Buckley Co.

UNION STREET

HOUSE FURNISHERS

There's a Feast of Bargains at GODDARD BROS.' Store, because of general Rebuilding

This enterprising and successful firm has taken the store next door, and is to incorporate into it their present establishment. Carpenters are already at work.

To reduce their stock to the minimum, and to begin business in their enlarged store with a complete new stock, deep price-cuts have been made in almost every department. The Item is telling about these offers in detail. Better watch GODDARD BROS.' ads. closely these days Ladies, and, better still, visit the store.

GODDARD BROS.

90-92 MARKET STREET

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

60 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

DECEMBER, 1906

Ninth Year
No. 2

No Store East of Boston will have such a

Christmas Display

as we shall show. Gifts of PRACTICAL VALUE

for everybody in the family. Make a note to come to our store.

BURROWS & SANBORN UNION AND SILSBEE STS

House Coats

House Coats in all the desirable materials and patterns.

Bath Gowns, Smoking Jackets, Dressing Gowns, everything for man's comfort and relaxation.

A very acceptable gift.

Prices from $3.50 to $10

Alfred Cross & Co.
323 Market St.
LYNN

Telephone
1807

McLellan

312
Union Street

Advance Sale of High Grade FURS At Reasonable Prices

Select your Christmas Furs NOW, and avoid paying the usual advanced prices during the Holidays.

Furs selected now will be reserved until Christmas week, if so desired.

To Large and Small Depositors

Where do you do your BANKING ?

'Tis the SMALL depositor who interests us, because he is the LARGE depositor tomorrow.

The small depositor should see the advantages to be had here.

Women should pay all bills by check — the most business-like way.

Call and let us open your account

MANUFACTURERS' NATIONAL BANK

R. W. CURRIER, Pres. W. B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice Pres.
CLIFTON COLBURN, Cash.

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOM OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
On sale at news stands.

DECEMBER, 1906

NINTH YEAR
No. 2

All up for Mayor Barney!

Do all your Christmas shopping in
Lynn.

There was no need of a re-count in the case of Congressman Roberts. His plurality was the largest given any Massachusetts congressman, who had any real opponent. A plurality of 11,875 in a total vote of about 40,000 will hold Mr. Roberts for at least two years. For an off-year the plurality was phenomenal.

The election of Governor Guild was not a Republican victory. It was a contest between conservatives and radicals. The conservative element won, thanks to the Democratic party. It was very hard for some of the Democrats to leave their party, but when they realized that Mr. Moran was not a Democrat the task became easier. After all is said and done, the individual who did the most to win last month's election for decency and good government was Theodore Roosevelt. His tremendous personality was a great influence in favor of the conservative element all over the country.

Those Republicans in Swampscott who voted blanks for senator and for the Prohibitionist candidate would have carried out their ideas to better advantage had they voted for Mr. Phelan. Their evident desire was to repudiate the tactics of the Republicans in refusing a second nomination to Mr. Grosvenor, but they were deluded when they thought that a blank vote or voting for the Prohibitionist candidate would do the business. Mr. Salter was elected in spite of their action, but if they had gone completely across the bridge they would have accomplished the evident purpose they had in mind when voting.

Senator-elect Salter has shown considerable ability in public place and his friends believe that he will be a strong and valuable member of the senate. Nobody has ever questioned the ability of Mr. Salter. That has never been in dispute by those who know him. There were other reasons which led fully 1,200 Republicans in the first Essex Senatorial District to cut his name. It was a curious contest. The Democratic vote elected Mr. Salter, and the Republican vote came within about fifty votes of electing the Democratic candidate for senator. The lesson gleaned from this is that party ties are binding less tightly.

As we intimated, last month, there are other departments in the city which can stand the fine tooth comb application as well as the water department. This thought comes to mind because of the action of the committee on finance of the city council in having expert accountants go through department accounts. The water department is probably susceptible to improvement in this direction just the same as the fire, police, school and other departments. Everybody understands that it is not possible, under the circumstances, to conduct the municipal business on the same basis as an individual enterprise. Much of the talk concerning municipal "extravagance and wastefulness" is overstated.

It will be interesting in the future to consider the following figures as a result of the last election:—Senator, First Essex District, Salter, Republican 4,556; Phelan, Democrat 4,501; State Auditor, First Essex District, Turner, Republican 5,797; Hisgen, Democrat, 3,927. The vote for State Auditor is given because that best illustrates the regular party vote, both Democrat and Republican. It will be seen from this that Mr. Salter was over 1,200 behind the auditor vote and that Mr. Phelan run about 600 ahead, showing a political strength for the young Democratic candidate not altogether expected. It was anticipated that Representative Phelan would make a good run, but nothing like this was anticipated. In spite of it he was defeated by about fifty votes. Lynn has not been served up with any more interesting election figures for some time past, and it clearly indicates that the party label is growing to be less of a factor each year. Independent voting has wonderfully increased since the introduction of the Australian ballot law.

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 41.

Care of Meat, Poultry and Vegetables.

Section 1. No person or corporation, individually or by agents, servants or employees, shall transport meat or poultry of any description through the public streets or ways of the city of Lynn, except in wagons or vehicles which have been thoroughly washed at least once in every twenty-four hours. All meat or poultry transported through the streets and public ways must be thoroughly covered in such a manner as to preclude infection or injury from flying dust or other causes. No meat or poultry shall be exposed uncovered in any public street or way, or by the side of same.

Section 2. No vegetables intended to be used as food shall be exposed or displayed in any street or way, or in front of any place of business, unless the bottom of the box or other receptacle containing such vegetables, is raised at least twelve inches above the sidewalk, platform or landing upon which such receptacle rests.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

PURE WATER

The Boston Water Purifier will give you absolutely clean, clear, germ-free water at all times of day. Attached to the wall of your kitchen or butler's pantry, and connected with the main water supply, without interfering in any way with your present faucets. You can always obtain water that is really filtered and purified by simply turning the filter faucet. The company exchange the soiled porcelain filter tubes each month for a clean, sterilized set. They lease for $1.00 a month. See them in operation at our store.

WE ARE THE AGENTS

J. F. Morgan & Son

66 Munroe Street

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END
BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

Fairy Guesses.

Whence do you guess the fairy came?
 Out of the heart of a dear old dame,
 Whose ruffled cap is clouds and skies,
 Mother Nature we call her name.
 Where do you guess the fairy stood?
 Under the shade of an autumn wood,
 Into an aster's dying eyes
 Smiling sweet as a fairy could.
 What do you guess the fairy wore?
 Her grass-green silk was frayed so sore
 That she hid the rents from the butterflies
 With a tidy, hoarfrost pinafore.
 What do you guess the fairy ate?
 Out of a curious, cobweb plate
 She tasted in a dainty wise
 A frozen dew-drop delicate.
 What do you guess the fairy said?
 When the falling oak leaves all turn red,
 When the lonely swallows southward flies,
 'Tis time for fairies to go to bed.
 What do you guess the fairy did?
 She kissed her hand and down she slid
 Where all the beautiful summer lies
 Under a snowy blanket hid.
 How do you guess the fairy sleeps?
 Well: for whenever her blue eye peeps
 An old nurse soothes her with lullabies,
 And she will not wake till the old nurse weeps.
 —Katherine Lee Bates.

The people of Lynn are certainly favored beyond those of many cities by the presence of many progressive and up-to-date retail merchants. There is nothing in reason which cannot be bought cheaper in Lynn than anywhere else, and after the splendid opportunities for earning money given by the Lynn factories, the money should go to the retailers who are showing such extensive and attractive stocks at the most reasonable prices. There is nothing from a hairpin to the complete furnishing of a house which cannot be purchased to better advantage in Lynn than in Boston. An inspection of the Lynn stores will make no further argument necessary. Do your Christmas trading in Lynn.

James E. Jenkins, cashier of the Lynn National Bank is now in California where he will probably remain for some time. Mr. Jenkins has taken a long vacation on account of his health and his many friends hope for a speedy and sure recovery.

Rejoice as genuinely in another's success as in your own.

LYNN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK HAS MONEY
TO LOAN ON MORTGAGES
OF REAL ESTATE. . . .

FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS

WE HAVE

BABY ROBES of all kinds
RUGS of all kinds and sizes
DRAPERIES and LACE CURTAINS
ODD CHAIRS,
MORRIS CHAIRS and CHAIRS
 of every description.
BUFFETS, DESKS
SIDEBOARDS
PICTURES, and Lots of Odd Pieces of Furniture especially designed for

HOLIDAY GIFTS

We invite you to come and inspect them

W. B. GIFFORD

97-99 Market Street

The December issue of the American Monthly Review of Reviews is more than ordinarily interesting. There is a frontispiece of Hon. Oscar S. Straus, of New York, one of the new members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet. There are interesting articles on California and the Japanese, the President at Panama, the Republican Congress, Mr. Hearst's defeat, elections in the east, Our Relations with Canada, the Opening of Parliament, with portraits, cartoons and other illustrations which give this Review its decided pre-eminence over all other publications in its class.

The general opinion is that Alderman Charles H. Ramsdell of Ward Two will be re-elected by a substantial majority. Conservative, reliable, and not given to clamor, Mr. Ramsdell is the type of citizen of which more should be represented in the board of aldermen.

Generally speaking, the aldermanic ticket named by the Republicans is stronger than usual, while the Democratic ticket is weaker, if possible, than ever before. It would not be surprising if the entire Republican aldermanic ticket was elected.

CHRISTMAS DELICACIES

EVERYTHING
YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions,
A BOSTON VARIETY
AT LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

Everything for the Table.

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

Christmas Suggestions

Rain Coats
Mackintoshes
Rubber Coats
Rubbers
Rubber Boots
Overshoes
Leggings
Gaiters
Water Bottles
Clothes Wringers
Door Mats
Foot Balls
Striking Bags
Fountain Pens
Rubber Toys
Whitely Exercisers

HOWE'S
RUBBER STORE
52 Central Square.

The Patrician "Habit"

No habit is formed without some real or imaginary benefit or pleasure derived from it.

The satisfaction and delight conferred by the PATRICIAN Habit has been found very "real" by thousands of women. From the strong welted sewed walking boot to the lightest hand-turned evening shoe, the comfort given is unequalled by any but the best custom-made grades.

Their great pleasing qualities are those of beautifully finished leathers, fine workmanship and exclusive styles.

An examination of the extensive line of Patrician Shoes makes many women each day adopt the PATRICIAN HABIT.

Boots, $3.50 and $4.00

Thomas P. Feeley ⁵⁰
Central Square

Parents of school children in Ward Five have good cause to recollect Dennis F. Collins, Democratic candidate for the Common Council in Ward Five, and James J. Martin, one of the Ward Six Democratic candidates for alderman. They did everything in their power to promote the placing of the Cobbet School in proper condition, so far as the health of the children was concerned. At every stage of the debate on the question, Messrs. Collins and Martin were in favor of the work, which has done so much to promote the health and welfare of Ward Five children. Voters in that district would be nothing less than ingrates if they did not vote to support those members of the city council who aided in this necessary school house improvement. Mayor Barney should also be remembered, because, as chairman of the committee on finance, he helped along the good work, as did also Alderman Charles H. Ramsdell, who is a candidate for reelection. We speak of the two latter, because they particularly aided the improvement from their position as members of the finance committee.

There are 15 daily newspapers of general circulation in the city of New York, with an aggregate daily sale approximating 2,000,000 copies. The metropolitan district, with a population of 5,000,000, relies upon these newspapers for its daily news. Fifty dollars will purchase a ten line advertisement in all these newspapers for one day.

The police need to keep the streets in the centre of the city more thoroughly cleaned up between 7 and 11 p. m. The police department and the court should co-operate on more earnest work in this direction, in the interest of the general public.

The election of Dr. Emil F. Ruppel, as a member of the school board, seems to be well assured. The presence of a medical gentleman upon the board is in the public interest.

[For the LYNN REVIEW.]

Verses.

I send you, dear, these rosebuds,
In each one, hidden deep,
Nestles a tiny bit of love
That is your own to keep.
They'll open wide, don't marvel,
The love's so cramped for room
That—don't you understand, sweetheart?
The buds just have to bloom.
—Florence J. Clark.

Another movement for biennial elections and sessions of the Legislature is being organized. Massachusetts and Rhode Island are almost the only states that cling to annual elections. The only other states having annual sessions are Georgia, New Jersey, Rhode Island, South Carolina and New York. The only important argument for annual elections is that the yearly consideration of political issues may have some educational value. But it does not appear that the effect in this direction is of sufficient importance to offset the strong objections says the Greenfield Gazette and Courier. One great trouble with off year elections is that they attract comparatively little interest, so that the public verdict is apt to be hasty and ill considered. Annual elections assist incessant rotation in office, and please the smaller political fry. Biennial elections and sessions would tend to continuity of administrations, and would make election to the Legislature and other positions seem less onerous to the ablest men in the state, since less time would be taken both by legislative work and in fighting the battles at caucuses and polls. The biennial struggle would seem more important, and the concentration of attention ought to lead to a more intelligent verdict.

Holiday weeks demand shows of a somewhat different type from other weeks—such is the conclusion arrived at by the Keith management as a result of their years of experience. The programs must be of a lighter character, with comedy and "Sight acts" predominating, for these are the acts the children like, and every week with a holiday in it is "Children's Week" at Keith's. The Christmas week attractions will be the most elaborate ever offered at this popular playhouse.

It looks like what a politician calls a "cinch" the election of Charles H. Baker as a member of the Board of Public Works.

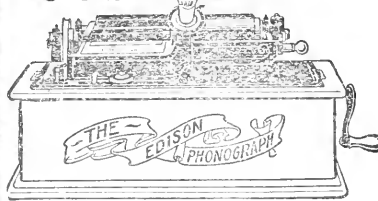

Always Remember—

GOODWIN FLOWERS

Telephone 278-3

TRADE MARK
Thomas Edison

Edison Phonographs

$10, $20, $30, $50

$1.00 a Week

All the RECORDS now published, numbering 1300, 35c each

We have fitted up this department, which is on the first floor, with comfortable chairs, and we cordially invite you to call and hear the Records.

Xmas Furniture

If Furniture is on your list of Christmas Gifts then it will be to your advantage to come here. We have:

Morris Chairs	from $ 4 98	Hall Racks	from $ 6 50
Toilet Tables	" 10 00	Students' Desks	" 7 50
Clothes Poles	" 75	Chiffonieres	" 5 00
Rockers	" 3 00	Brass Beds	" 16 00
China Closets	" 13 50	Sewing Tables	" 1 00
Sideboards	" 15 00	Book Cases	" 6 50
Shaving Stands	" 3 00	Hall Seats	" 5 00
Parlor Tables	" 2 25	Hall Mirrors	" 3 00
Library Tables	" 9 00	Pictures	" 75
Smoking Tables	" 2 00	Parlor Cabinets	" 5 00
Pedestals	" 3 00	Tabourets	" 50
Folding Screens	" 1 00	Dining Tables	" 6 00
Dining Chairs	" 1 12½	Couches	" 10 00
Combination Desks	" 15 00	Parlor Mirrors	" 5 50
Medicine Cabinets	" 1 75	Cellarettes	" 10 00
Folding Card Tables	" 1 50	Smoking Cabinets	" 5 00
Rugs	" 50	Rattan Rockers	" 3 00
Princess Dresser	" 16 00	Turkish Rockers	" 22 50
Music Cabinets	" 5 00	Children's Iron Cribs	" 4 98

Everything you'd expect to find in a Furniture Store, and lots of things you wouldn't

D. B. H. POWER

CENTRAL SQUARE, LYNN

December.

Dear month that gave us Christ! Ring sweet, ring strong,

O bells of Christmas! Quickened by your chime,
Our eager wishes, like swift birds that climb
Far-reaching heights, soar up to catch the song
The wondering shepherds heard. Will it be long,
Before the sweetness of that strain sublime
Shall set itself to earth?—poor, rugged rhyme
To mate such music!

Shepherd-souls that throng
Beneath the starry silence, keeping guard,
Tending your patient hopes, like flocks by night,
Have ye not, sometimes, from your heavenly height,

Caught faintest whispers of that advent-word
Heralding Christ once more, "Peace and good will, Peace upon earth?" O shepherds, keep watch still.
—Caroline A. Mason.

John F. Caswell, the veteran salesman, so many years with the Boston branch grocery store, Wallace Osborne and Youland & McManus, wishes to say to his many business and fraternal friends that he has recovered from his severe illness, is out again, and can be found at the People's Butter Store, 232 Union Street. Mr. Caswell has made a complete change in the appearance of the establishment. A full line of new goods has been added and he has increased the trade more than double since taking hold of the up-to-date pure food store. A visit to the store will convince one that it is the place to get quality and economy. It is a pleasure to do business with Mr. Caswell, he is so genuinely hearty and so helpful to patrons. Especially clever is Mr. Caswell as a window dresser, and his ideas in this direction attract much attention from the public.

A number of reasons have been suggested to explain the fact that all the United States postage stamps for 1907 to be issued from the Lynn and remaining 6,000 Presidential post offices will bear each the name of the State and city in which the post office is situated. Twenty-six of the 6,000 post offices will have these names engraved upon their stamps, while in the case of the other post offices the names will be printed across the face of the stamps after they have been engraved.

All those in favor of William R. Meldon as assessor—Unanimous!

Do you know how little it costs to obtain a fire insurance policy on your furniture?

ASK US FOR PRICES.

ROBERT S. SISSON & SON
302-303 Item Building, Lynn

A SPLENDID TRIBUTE TO LYNN.

IT has been my good fortune of life that my home has been in the city of my birth, a town with unequalled diversity of natural attractions. It is the only city on the Atlantic seaboard which boldly juts into the ocean; it was the first city in the country to buy woodland for forest preservation, our forbears in their wisdom reserved for all time these tracts whose beauty passes description, that the people may call the delightful scenery all their own. In the secure past, the men of Lynn have made their contribution towards placing Essex in its position of record, as the most historic county of America.

If the percentage of grammar school graduates entering the High School is a measure of the intelligence and thrift of parents who provide that their children shall have advantages in life not vouchsafed themselves, then statistics show that Lynn is the most intelligent city in the Commonwealth. As boy and man, I have seen the little shoe shop supplanted by the manufactory, and the cordwainer has been replaced by the more prosperous operative. With these changes are other mutations in this growing city whose substantial buildings and better clothed and housed people show that the changes have been for the better.

Amid all the varied economic changes which have accompanied this prosperity there has been one consistent fact in the growth of the commercial unit. The old-time cordwainer toiled alone on his shoes, and sometimes left his work to sell them pair by pair; his successor makes a fraction of a shoe with the greater skill of specialization, as the results show in the finished goods, whether measured by quantity or quality of product. This individual skill in the specialized occupations is obtained in so much shorter time than what is required to learn a whole trade that the economic loss of an old-time apprenticeship has been saved to the man and added to the community.

—Charles J. H. Woodbury.

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 42.

Peddlers of Ice Cream.

No person shall sell or offer for sale in the city of Lynn, any ice cream or preparation similar thereto, until the place of manufacture of the same, the utensils and receptacles used, and the wagon or other means of carrying the same, shall have been examined by an inspector of the Board of Health. Such inspector when satisfied as to the cleanliness of all articles used, shall provide such person with his certificate to that effect.

Inspectors shall examine all articles used in the business as often as they may deem necessary, and whenever an inspector shall certify that proper cleanliness is not observed, either in the place of manufacture, in the implements, materials or manner of making ice cream, etc., or in the manner of carrying or selling the same, no further sales of such ice cream shall be allowed until the objectionable features are removed and the inspector so certifies.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906.

WILLIAM M. COWAN, Chairman.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

E. A. HORNE

Upholstering and Repairing.
Household Repairs

340 WASHINGTON ST., LYNN

Tel. 868-3

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston

WILLIAMS BROS.

215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

When dealing with advertisers please mention the Lynn Review.

MONEY deposited on or before Wednesday, Dec. 5th,
will draw interest from that date.

DIVIDEND RATE

3½ per cent.

COMMONWEALTH Savings
Bank

325 Union Cor. Almont Street.

JOS. G. PINKHAM, President.
WM. M. BARNEY, Treasurer.

W. F. Newhall, the Market street jeweller, now has a store front which would do credit to a New York establishment. There has been a doubling of the stocks in all departments, and Mr. Newhall has more than the usual variety of Christmas gifts. Quite a number of new things are in stock and it won't take the owner of a lean or slender purse long to decide, because there are gifts which fit every pocket-book. There is an especially good showing of silver and table ware, the display never having been so fascinating in this direction in the Newhall store. There are appropriate and seasonable gifts for men, women and children and patrons are requested to buy early, because if they do not wish to take the goods at the time of purchase, Mr. Newhall will set them aside for customers, when a small deposit is paid. It is a pleasure to trade in this store, because such a large variety of goods is available in every department.

I asked her what she was doing:
After yawning she turned about,
And said, as a matter of course,
"Why, I'm letting the tired out!"
—Will P. Houlden, in Little Folks.

There appears to be no law in Lynn against boys "catching on behind" cars and vehicles. One day, recently, the writer observed a one-legged boy, with a crutch, catching on to a street car in West Lynn. There were a dozen boys, just out from the Cottage Street school doing the same thing. It was a most risky performance. This recklessness of children should be stopped by the authorities even if a special ordinance has to be framed.

Do all your Christmas shopping in Lynn.

Before Christmas.

'Tis the week before Christmas and all through the store

Is trouble and tumult and bustle and roar,
And mother seems weary, and father is vexed,
And sister is wondering what to buy next;
There's the rattle of drums and the squeal of the fife;

To reach the toy counter, you venture your life,
The salesgirl smiles weakly, 'most ready to drop,
As the crowd surges by, still determined to shop;
The street cars are crowded, the ladies must stand,

And packages loom up on every hand,
And people are figuring hard 'midst their woe
On how far a $10 bill ought to go;
You are jostled and pushed, you are crowded and jammed,

You are caught in the door injudiciously slammed,
And you envy the people so wise as to go
On their Christmas excursion some two months ago,

And when on your couch you at last lay your head,
A nightmare of toys comes to fill you with dread,
And you long for the day of the reindeer and sleigh,

When Santy came 'round in the old-fashioned way.

Under the new management the Boston Herald is to be congratulated on the marked increase in efficiency noted in its dramatic department. The change is very much for the best, denotes higher caliber, finer discrimination and in every way to the greater advantage of the reader. We hear many kind words extended toward the sporting department of the new Herald, so cleverly managed by Walter S. Barnes, but it is in every department that the Herald is making gains with the public, from the editorial page to the handling of the news of the day, in the dissemination of which the Herald has always been at the front. Its recent "scoop" in an interview with Peary gives evidence that the Herald possesses its old time vitality, when the news of the day is under consideration.

The General Electric Company was forced to change the pay-day from Friday to Saturday. On one Saturday forenoon, recently, 1,700 hands did not report for duty. They get their money on Friday, and most of them "celebrated" on Saturday. Now that pay-day is Saturday they are more regular at work on that day. There are 9,500 people employed in Lynn by the company, and the weekly pay-roll is about $115,000.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past month are: The Fighting Chance, Coniston, The Tides of Barnegat, The Awakening of Helena Richie, Jane Cable and The Treasure of Heaven."

Keeping Christmas.

BY HENRY VAN DYKE

THIS is a good thing to observe Christmas day. The mere marking of times and seasons when men agree to stop work and make merry together is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity.

But there is a better thing than the observance of Christmas day, and that is, keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background and your duties in the middle distance and your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but what you are going to give to life; to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear on their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want, without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

Shopping for Christmas.

The time has come when every shop
 Sets forth in smart array
 All kind of wares that makes us stop
 And loiter on our way,
 And as we gaze we think we ought
 To buy our presents now,
 And not to wait until we're caught
 When time will not allow.
 All other years we've waited till
 The last minute, and
 Our slender purses then we'd fill,
 And rush to beat the band.
 We never found what we desired;
 We took what we could get,
 And wended home all cross and tired;
 But not this year, you bet.
 No surging, pushing, striving throng
 We'll have to struggle in,
 But leisurely we'll stroll along,
 The while we spend our tin.
 We'll take our time and make our choice,
 Select judiciously,
 And those who get them will rejoice,
 When they their presents see.
 But, after all, there's no great rush,
 There's yet two weeks or more
 Before there's any awful crush;
 Oh, yes, there's time galore.
 To-day is—what? Well, never mind,
 It doesn't matter. I'm
 For shopping not just now inclined—
 And then, there's lots of time,
 —Chicago News.

We presume many people will mortgage the future, as in past years, to buy Christmas presents for family members and friends. It is too bad that such a disposition should be manifested at holiday time because people go beyond their means and put themselves in misery to follow the well ingrained habit of giving presents. It is not carrying out the true Christmas spirit to show such a disposition, and it is hoped that people who have not control of their faculties in this direction will not be influenced by the "easy to buy", "easy to pay", "no money down" announcements of credit houses. Some of our legislators should take hold of this credit house evil, in favor of legitimate merchants.

Dr. George H. Chase, of Lynn, assistant professor of classical archaeology at Harvard, had a much interested audience in Lynn Public Library hall, last month, when he delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Excavations at Delphi."

Edmond B. Kiely is on the Democratic ticket for the common council for Ward Four. Mr. Kiely is of the shoe manufacturing firm of T. J. Kiely & Co., and he keeps in close touch with public questions, and his friends believe that he would make an enterprising and progressive member of the common council.

Public Sentiment Against the Proposed Railroad.

Those who are in a position to know, state that the projected new electric railroad from Beverly, through Salem and Lynn to Boston, is a genuine proposition, and that New York capitalists stand ready to back it to the extent of $8,000,000 or more.

The scheme does not look practical to the untutored mind. The state railroad commissioners will pass upon the question from the standpoint of public convenience and necessity. If they do not require the road it will not be constructed.

It is not exactly clear how Lynn people can secure quicker transportation by the suggested route than at present provided by the Boston & Maine railroad.

It is understood that the proposed road will connect with the elevated in Charlestown, where a transfer will have to be made. From Charlestown to Park Square consumes about fifteen minutes, and with the running time from Lynn to Charlestown fifteen minutes, about as long a time would be consumed going from Lynn to Park Square as at present.

Surely, the saving in time would not warrant the defacing of Lynn for the construction of the proposed railroad.

The Lynn public awaits new light and information before it will consent to the railroad being constructed through this city.

Naturally, the promoters want to go through the populous center of Lynn, because if they go upon the outskirts they will not get the traffic.

The Boston & Eastern electric road may be practical and desirable from an engineering standpoint, but information is not yet at hand which will convince the Lynn public of its necessity or desirability.

It seems strange to hark back to the time when the high school building was constructed, because the claim was then made that the building "was altogether too large, and never would be filled with children." The building is now greatly overcrowded with nearly one thousand pupils in both the English and Classical schools. To-day the high school building, with all of the additional rooms that have been arranged since the building was constructed, is not sufficiently large for the English department. The school committee believes that a new building should at once be erected.

Christmas Suggestions

Ladies', Misses' and Children's FURS

Sable and Isabella Fox Sets, $22 to $50

Marten Sets, $25 to $50

MINK SCARFS and MUFFS IN GREAT VARIETY

Muffs, $25 to $60. Scarfs, $20 to $75

Squirrel, Lynx, French Marten, Etc., in Scarfs and Muffs, at Low Prices

Our MISSES' SETS have Good Sized Muffs and Scarfs

CHILDREN'S SETS, $1.62 to $6.98

Men's Fur, Felt and Silk Lined Gloves.  See our Line of Suit Cases, Travelling Bags and Travelling Cases before buying

Amos B. Chase

HATTER and FURRIER

123 MUNROE ST.

Mayor C. Neal Barney was splendidly endorsed by the Republican voters. It is a most difficult operation to defeat a mayor for a second term, and we look for Mayor Barney's re-election, by a plurality ranging from 1,500 to 2,000.

The voters generally look upon Mayor Barney with much regard and satisfaction. They may differ with him on some questions, and feel that he has not handled certain matters as he should have done, but that does not disguise what appears to them to be a fact—that Mayor Barney is a progressive official and means to do what is best for Lynn.

That being the state of the public mind, there is no defeating him for a second term. We believe that the past year's experience will be of vast benefit to Mayor Barney in 1907, and we anticipate an administration that will do much for the material welfare, growth and prosperity of Lynn.

Lynn Theatre

F. G. HARRISON, Manager

Dec. 10, Week
COSGROVE STOCK CO.

Dec. 17, Week
AVERY-STRONG CO.

Dec. 24, Two Weeks
FENBERG STOCK CO.

The Patrician winter style shoes for women, exclusively handled in Lynn by Thomas P. Feeley, Central avenue, show most excellent taste and judgment in shoemaking. They are thoroughly well made—none better in the country at the price—and women who want “smart” footwear, without going to extremes, will be interested to see the new winter styles in Patrician. These shoes are standard all over the world, probably being as largely sold in London as in Boston. Also in misses' and children's shoes, Mr. Feeley has the finest makes. Do not go to Boston for fine shoes—consult Mr. Feeley. He thoroughly well understands fitting the feet.

Send for our

X-RAY CARD

(Free upon application)

Interesting to both old and young

Frank L. Payrow, 155 Central Ave.

Wedding and Christmas Gifts

An up-to-date and very beautiful JEWELRY STORE, filled with the newest and daintiest stock, awaits your critical inspection

Newhall's Jewelry Store

52 MARKET STREET

Established 1872

LYNN

Telephone 1047-3

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS IN ABUNDANCE

EASY FOR YOU TO SELECT SOME THING FROM THIS LIST

Scissors	Ink Stands	Sterling Silver Hand
Forks	Toilet Bottles	Mirrors
Bon-Bon Spoons	Table Bells	Tea Sets
Sugar Tongs	Hair Receivers	Opera Glasses
Paper Cutters	Salt and Pepper Bottles	Clocks
Match Boxes	Hat Pins	Women's Chatelaine and
Toilet Jars	Mustard Spoons	Gold Watches
Velvet Brushes	Sugar Spoons	Bracelets
Tooth Powder Bottles	Butter Knives	Rings
Bonnet Brushes	Cigar Jars	Studs
Pocket Combs	Sterling Silver Comb	Cuff Buttons
Mucilage Bottles	and Brushes

In fact, everthing you would expect to find in the best stocked Jewelry House east of Boston

Make purchases early. They will be set aside for you

JAMES H. CONNER

JEWELER AND OPTICIAN

81 Pearl Street

Near Union

Lynn, Mass.

LONGEST ESTABLISHED LYNN JEWELRY STORE

Politics Smirching the City.

Those politicians who stole the Democratic thunder and who have successfully applied it to local politics, must realize the result of their action when they see speeches of Democrats, who give the public to understand that "the present city government has sold out the tax payers time and again," also that "the men in office at city hall have been fattening their own purses, and other officials and departments are simply impregnated with favoritism."

The board of public works has been seriously assailed by one of its members and a speaker says: "The investigation of the water board, prompted by Democratic demands, was a coat of whitewash, liberally spread."

One of the speakers also states that "the water department is $36,000 shy in receipts by reason of rebating to favored individuals," giving the impression that the public has been swindled to this extent, and much more of this sort of talk, all of which should go to the credit of those who have brought disgrace upon the city by stating that there was dishonesty in the water board management.

The charge of dishonesty was not even hinted at or in any way proven by the out of town commission, but, not withstanding all this, the city continues to be covered with mud by those who hope to profit by such action in the political arena.

It is another case where politics must be served and the city maligned.

It was serious action for the Republicans to take up Democratic thunder, and ride into office upon it, and the time is coming when the Republicans of Lynn will have to pay a dear price on account of this lack of foresight, and playing to passion and prejudice and making charges of dishonesty which did not have a thread to stand upon, as proven by the honorable commissioners who investigated the water department.

Errors of judgment, and lack of method, such as might possess any human being, were the findings of the commission, but no dishonesty was unearthed.

So long as people desire to secure office, and politics continue to be an industry, the city of Lynn will be covered with mud and slime to aid those who aspire to public place.

Do all your Christmas shopping in Lynn.

CITY OF LYNNCITY ELECTION

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE, Dec. 3, 1906.

In accordance with the provisions of the Revised Laws, Chapter 11, notice is hereby given that meetings of the male voters of Lynn will be held on Tuesday, the 11th day of December, 1906, in the several polling places heretofore designated by the Board of Aldermen.

The polls will be open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and all such citizens will, in the several precincts in which they are entitled to vote, between said hours, give in their votes all on one ballot, for Mayor and Aldermen, one Assessor for three years, four members of the School Committee for three years, one member of the School Committee for two years to fill vacancy, one member of the Board of Public Works for three years, from the city at large, one member of the Common Council from Ward 1, two members each from Wards 2 and 7, five members each from Wards 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Also, Yes or No, in answer to the question:— "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquor in this city?"

Also, that meetings of the women voters of the city will be held the same day, and in the same places, for the election of School Committee.

Attest:

*JOSEPH W. ATTWILL,
City Clerk.*

"A theatre of perpetual sunshine," is the editorial comment of a noted critic after spending an evening at Keith's, and the many thousands of amusement seekers who find pleasurable entertainment there each week will gladly re-echo his sentiment. It is the one place in Boston that is not allowed to grow old or tarnished, and the claim of the management that it is "more than ever before one of the sights of Boston" is quite within the truth. There will be many high-class vaudeville artists appear at Keith's this month and the attractions around Christmas will, as usual, be of much pleasure and intellectual value to the children. The strong point with Keith's is the ability of the management to steadily interest the old and young.

The new Republican city committee appears to be "the goods." We should think more life and vitality would be appreciated when we ponder over the vote for governor at the recent election.

Moon's Changes.

Last Quarter, Dec. 8, 8h 15m, eve, E.
New moon, Dec. 15, 1h 54m, eve, W.
First Quarter, Dec. 22, 10h 4m, morn, E.
Full Moon, Dec. 30, 1h, 44m, eve, E.

$29

The "New Domestic"

$29

is the up-to-date model of the famous "Domestic" of a generation ago. The workmanship that made the old model "Domestic" famous for its wearing qualities is combined with all the latest ideas in sewing machine making. The "New Domestic" is ball-bearing and runs so easily a thread may be substituted for the usual leather belt. It is the only vibrating shuttle machine to make both the chain and the lock stitch on the one machine. All parts are adjustable, and will not wear loose. In operation, The "New Domestic" is very simple, and does not require a machinist to use it. We are offering to introduce The "New Domestic" to our customers in Lynn and vicinity, the No. 8 machine, listed for $65, for $29. This is the most popular style, having four roomy drawers, drop-head, and automatic bobbin winder. When open there is ample room for the knees, and when closed the head is positively protected from all dust or interference. This machine makes both the chain and lock stitch; really two machines for the price of one. An experienced lady is in charge of this department. Call, and let us talk over Sewing Machines with you.

At a Special Price

$29$29

We are the Only LYNN Agents

Munroe
Street

Hill, Welch & Co.

Oxford
Street

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

11 & 13 MARKET STREET

ALL STREET CARS PASS OR TRANSFER TO OUR DOORS

Guide to Holiday Shoppers

WHERE TO BUY, AND WHAT TO BUY, will be the all-important question from now on. Below we list the more important of the useful and acceptable Xmas gifts that may be found here in great variety, and, as usual, the best possible quality at the price:

Kid Gloves
Golf Gloves
Made Veils
Shell Goods
Aprons
Umbrellas
Silk Waists
Silk Petticoats
Towels

Kimonas
Stationery
Lamson Prints
Handkerchiefs
Neckwear
Long Scarfs
Ribbons
Silks
Dress Goods

Furs
Lawn Waists
Napkins
Wrappers
Fancy Goods
Xmas Cards
Belts
Leather Goods
Boxed Hosiery

Toilet Goods
Percales
Lawns
White Goods
Fancy Linens
Wool Blankets
Bath Robes
Petticoats
Dolls

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

D. B. H. Power has arranged a most interesting, cozy and convenient Edison phonograph department. Over 1,300 records are here kept in stock and the latest selections are constantly on hand. The latest Edison phonographs are carried by Mr. Power and furnish a most pleasing entertainment. The machines and records have been perfected to such an extent that they are very clear and life-like, the guttural sounds now having been eliminated. Those who are considering the purchase of phonographs and who want the latest Edison records should pay a visit to the D. B. H. Power store. The public is cordially invited to the concerts at the store, and at any time parties will be "treated with melodies while they wait." Women are invited to arrange parties, and they will be favored with the most up-to-date concerts any time between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. If you want a concert programme served at the Power store for yourself and friends, telephone (1716) and a programme will be arranged of the very latest selections. Do not overlook this suggestion.

CITY OF LYNN.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Examination of Candidates for Teachers' Certificates of Qualification.

Candidates for primary and grammar school certificates will be examined in room 12, Cobbet School, on Friday, Dec. 28, and Saturday, Dec. 29, 1906, at 9 o'clock, A. M. on each day.

All candidates for these certificates must present certificates of good character and health, and of at least two years of successful experience in teaching and governing schools.

The names of those who secure the above certificates will be placed on an APPROVED LIST for appointment as REGULAR TEACHERS in the primary and grammar schools of the city of Lynn, and persons on the approved list will be given PREFERENCE for appointment as regular teachers over all except normal school graduates who have satisfactorily completed the course under supervision in the Eastern Avenue School.

SUBSTITUTES now employed in the schools, who have not completed the above course, MUST PASS THIS EXAMINATION before they can become eligible for a regular position.

IT IS NECESSARY FOR CANDIDATES TO BE PRESENT ON BOTH DAYS.

GEORGE S. BURGESS, Secretary.

The voters will make no mistake if they elect Roy F. Bergengren as a member of the School Board. His education and general experience well fit him for the position.

Do all your Christmas shopping in Lynn.

CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES

in Ices, Cakes Pastry, etc.

ORDER EARLY for CHRISTMAS

SCHLEHUBER

Baker — Caterer — Confectioner
78 EXCHANGE STREET

GREEN & SON

PIANO NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

The Pure Food Store

ENTIRE CHANGE IN OUR ESTABLISHMENT

New Fixtures! New Goods! New Clerks!

STRICTLY PURE FOOD

QUALITY IS ECONOMY

NEW TEAS—Straight Formosa, Ceylon, English Breakfast, Japan and Mixed Teas (No cheap blend or stamp Teas)

FRESH ROASTED AND CUT Pure Java and Mocha Coffee (none better)

PURE BUTTER from Our Creamery (Only Butter Store in Lynn). Large variety of PURE CHEESE, Strictly FRESH EGGS every day

FINE GROCERIES, FANCY TABLE DELICACIES, CRACKERS and CEREAL Departments

SPECIAL Tea, 20 cents; Coffee, 19 cents; Butter, 27 cents; Cheese, 18 cents; Eggs, 30 cents

PEOPLE'S BUTTER STORE

232 UNION STREET

NEXT EAST BAPTIST CHURCH

Table Lamps for Christmas

Every Style, Variety and Price.
You will be liable to find just what you are looking for.

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS, 74 Exchange St.
Gas and Electrical Contractor

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list. Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

"Opened by mistake" was what the surgeon said when called to treat a patient for appendicitis when the affliction was bronchitis!—Selected.

Christmas

brings to mind a long line of thought on expensive things.

WHAT WE CARRY

is sensible presents at reasonable prices. And just here we will give you the list:

Pillow Tops	Carpets
Lace Curtains	Utility Boxes
Muslin Curtains	Bed Puffs
Draperies	Blankets
Window Curtains	Costumers
Art Squares	Folding
Rugs	Screens

Everything new for Christmas. Call in and give us an inspection.

ALBION K. HALL

39 Market St., Lynn

Christmas Hymn.

Sing, Christmas bells!
 Say to the earth this is the morn;
 Whereon our Saviour-King is born;
 Sing to all men,—the bond, the free,
 The rich, the poor, the high, the low,
 The little child that sports in glee,
 The aged folks that tottering go,—
 Proclaim the morn
 That Christ is born,
 That saveth them and saveth me!
 Sing, angel host!
 Sing of the star that God has placed
 Above the manger in the east;
 Sing of the glories of the night,
 The virgin's sweet humility,
 The Babe with kingly robes benight,—
 Sing to all men where'er they be
 This Christmas morn;
 For Christ is born
 That saveth them and saveth me!
 Sing, sons of earth!
 O ransomed seed of Adam, sing!
 God liveth, and we have a king!
 The curse is gone, the bond are free—
 By Bethlehem's star that brightly beamed,
 By all the heavenly signs that be,
 We know that Israel is redeemed;
 That on this morn
 The Christ is born
 That saveth you and saveth me!
 Sing, O my heart!
 Sing thou in rapture this dear morn
 Whereon the blessed Prince is born!
 And as thy songs shall be of love,
 So let my deeds be charity,—
 By the dear Lord that reigns above,
 By him that died upon the tree,
 By this fair morn
 Whereon is born
 The Christ that saveth all and me!
 —Eugene Field.

It was announced last month that practically all the great railroad and industrial corporations of the country have decided to increase the wages of their employees. It was predicted that the action of the Pennsylvania Railroad in increasing the wages of its 185,000 men near $12,000,000 would soon be followed by all the important railroad and industrial corporations of the United States and many corporations have already done so.

Mr. McCutcheon has beaten his own record. He says so himself; the critics say so; everyone who reads Jane Cable will say so. This is the simple, wholesome girlish title which he has given to his latest novel. The very name attracts; the story holds you to the finish. Buy the book and forget the world altogether for two or three evenings. All of the Lynn book stores have Jane Cable.

"What day was I born on, mother?"
 "Thursday, child."
 "Wasn't that fortunate! It's your day at home."—Harper's Weekly.

While the Christmas season obtrudes as it goes has its incongruities, the making of gifts is probably as deeply rooted a social custom as is to be found in modern life. It may be objected that it often tends to worry, unnecessary work, a practical swapping of presents. Yet it all appeals to the heart of childhood as do few other festivals, and the spirit of giving is a reflection of the teachings of Him who was humanity's best gift. Some people think they can discern a tendency toward the making of more sensible presents and it is to be hoped that they are right. A vast amount of riff-raff has been sold for this purpose, and the merchants are not so much to blame as the people who have demanded the useless gimcracks that nobody knows what to do with, and which represent so much waste money and labor. A gift to possess real value must carry with it a careful study of the needs and taste of the recipient. In such a way giving is not merely a pleasure to the one who receives, but it broadens and enlarges the sympathies in its effort to understand and meet the desires of other people.

Ex-Mayor Ramsdell recently remarked, "while mayor of the city during the years 1897 and 1898, I secured the first installment of modern smooth pavement in the brick pavement around the postoffice, something for which I was sharply criticised, but something that has since proved its worth and been the forerunner of more pavement in Lynn, such as other less prosperous cities of the country exhibit to a much greater extent." All credit should be given Mr. Ramsdell for this smooth and well wearing paving job, but those who are compelled to (try to) sleep near it unanimously say the noise made by horses going over the street is something fearful.

Judging by the following estimate of Mr. Hearst by District Attorney Jerome it is a fair inference that the "yellow peril" is not on Mr. Jerome's calling list:—

"It is sufficient reason why every self-respecting man should vote against Hearst that Hamilton's characterization of Burr is exactly applicable to Hearst—namely, that he has no principles, public or private, could be bound by no argument, will listen to no monitor but his ambition and for this purpose will use the worst portion of the community as a ladder to climb to permanent power and an instrument to crush the better part. He is sanguine enough to hope everything, daring enough to attempt everything, wicked enough to scruple nothing."

WHY MAKE A CHANGE?*VOTE YES*AS PER ARGUMENT IN the FOLLOWING TABLES

If you want money available for public improvements you should vote YES. The large and small property owners are vitally interested. A YES vote yields a revenue which is only to be had from about FIVE MILLION ($5,000,000) dollars' worth of taxable property.

November 28, 1906Statement of the Account of Liquor Licenses for the past Ten Years, 1897 to 1906 inclusive.CREDIT$1,094,821.70*Receipts*EXPENDITURES*273,705.50

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Transferred to School Department	$309,238	81
Police Department	98,500	00
Fire Department	87,000	00
Health Department	68,057	26
Lighting Streets	64,950	16
Highway Department	44,230	01
Poor Department	36,007	75
Contingencies	29,564	80
Drainage	15,000	00
Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief	12,200	13
Incidental Expenses	7,543	03
Little River & Strawberry Brook Improvem'ts	5,000	00
Repairs on Rifle Range	3,600	00
Salaries	3,510	00
Street Improvements	3,003	00
Small-pox Hospital	2,813	83
Abolition of Grade Crossing	2,500	00
License Commissioners	2,500	00
Expenses in Engineer's Office	2,500	00
Sidewalks and Street Crossings	2,250	00
Engine-house Repairs	2,000	00
Ward Six School-house	1,849	88
Awards and Executions	1,750	00
Children's Home Improvement	1,600	00
Care of Brooks	2,425	00
Emergency Hospital Stable	1,250	00
Printing and Stationery	1,001	00
State Aid	1,000	00
City Hall Repairs	1,000	00
Merchants' Week	1,000	00
Brown Tail Moth Extermination	1,500	00
Assessors' Department	600	00
Assessors' Clerks	500	00
Hospital for Contagious Diseases	700	00
Ward Two School-house	452	99
Treasurer's Clerks	350	00
Public Parks	500	00
Ward Six Engine-house	324	99
City Hall Expenses	400	00
Auditor's Clerk	150	00
Typewriting	324	50
Labor Day Observance	200	11
Precinct Expenses	100	00
Rent of Polling Places	75	00
Western Burial Grounds	50	00
Assistant Assessors	24	58
Lynnfield Street School-house	19	37

Receipts$821,116.20*$821,116.20 NET*$1,094,821.70

received in ten years and spent for the benefit of the taxpayers of the City of Lynn.

Statement of the Account of Liquor Licenses for the fiscal Year of 1906 to date.CREDIT. Receipts,*$123,842.00*EXPENDITURES. Commonwealth of Massachusetts (25 per cent.)*$30,960.50

Transferred to School Department	$45,156	89
Fire Department	15,000	00
Police Department	15,000	00
Lighting Streets	4,400	00
Board of Health	4,000	00
Abolition of Grade Crossings	2,500	00
Soldiers' Relief	1,300	00
Brown Tail Moth Extermination	1,000	00
Care of Brooks	1,000	00
Incidental Expenses	900	00
Hospital for Contagious Diseases	700	00
Assessors' Department	600	00
Public Parks	500	00
City Hall Expenses	400	00
Typewriting	224	50
Labor Day Observance	200	11

$92,881.50$123,842.00

Vote YES on Tuesday, December 11, and continue the sensible and practicable license law, which means REVENUE and REGULATION.

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

LIFT up your eyes to the great meaning of the day, and dare to think of your humanity as something so divinely precious that it is worthy of being made an offering to God. Count it as a privilege to make that offering as complete as possible, keeping nothing back; and then go out to the pleasures and duties of your life, having been truly born anew into his divinity, as he was born into our humanity on Christmas day. Phillips Brooks.

Christmas is essentially a day of human good will. George William Curtis.

May the spirit of the sweet Christmas Child possess me, may the Star of Bethlehem shine above my dwelling place. Thomas a Kempis.

The season of regenerated feeling, the season for finding, not merely the fires of hospitality in the hall, but the genial flames of charity in the heart. Washington Irving.

We make a great deal of peace with heaven, Christ made much of peace on earth. Henry Drummond.

It is good to be children—sometimes; and never better than at Christmas, when its mighty founder was a child himself. Charles Dickens.

I have always thought of Christmas time as a good time, a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time. Charles Dickens.

Good temper is the essence of good breeding, as it is of business efficiency. Do all your Christmas shopping in Lynn.

85c. GAS

The price of Gas is now 85c. net per thousand cubic feet

All who want gas in their buildings would do well to leave orders at once. No charge is made for this when the distance is not unusually long.

Lynn Gas & Electric Co.

Security Safe Deposit & Trust Company

Main Office, Bergengren Block, Central Square, Lynn

THIS TRUST COMPANY will allow YOU INTEREST on DEPOSITS which are SUBJECT to CHECK. ACCOUNTS may be opened and all BUSINESS TRANSACTED at either our MAIN or BRANCH OFFICE — The one MOST CONVENIENT to you

BRANCH OFFICE, 25 MARKET SQUARE, WEST LYNN

NEXT DOOR TO POST OFFICE

A Good Place to Do
Your Holiday Shopping

GODDARD BROS.

90-92
Market Street

Between Women Friends

Here are a few suggestions for Christmas Gifts for your Women Friends. This is essentially a Woman's Store, that's why you'll do well to buy that kind of Christmas Gifts here. And please remember, that while our prices are always low, our merchandize isn't cheap — it's inexpensive!

Gloves
Hosiery Hirts
Belts
Knee-length Leather
Coats
Cotton and Silk Shirts and Hosiery
Lingerie

Hosiery
Silk Waists
Jewelry
Sweaters and Knit Vests
Neckties and Pocket
Squares
Stain Removers
Veils
Neckties and Goods

Umbrellas
Suits and Coats
Purses
Silk Pillows
Clay Case Centre
Purses
Rings
Jewelry
Purses

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

JANUARY, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 3

January Mark-Down Sale

On Carpets, Furniture,
Draperies, Wall Paper, etc.

Everything with which to Furnish a Home.
Look over the Stock and see the Genuine Bargains.

W. B. GIFFORD, 97-99
MARKET ST.

WINTER CLOTHING FOR MEN AND BOYS

CLOTHING WE SELL IS MADE FOR OUR KIND OF WINTER

Overcoats in all the newest styles and fabrics.

If you intend buying a Fur Lined Overcoat, this is the place to buy it, as we can show you a large assortment to select from.

Alfred Cross & Co.
24-23 Market St.
LYNN

G A S

is now 85 cents per 1000 feet, and is a business proposition for the home. Did you ever think of this side of the question? Saves you money, reduces care, and adds to your comfort. If you do not use gas, leave your order so that your house may be piped in the early spring. A gas radiator gives great return on a small investment.

C O K E

is light, clean, smokeless and kindles promptly. Then again it is VERY LOW in price. Why not give it a trial?

Telephone your order (1348) or send a postal.

WHOLE COKE

8 bushels	- - -	$1.00
10 bushels	- - -	1.20
20 bushels	- - -	2.00
40 bushels	- - -	4.00

BROKEN COKE

7 bushels	- - -	$1.00
10 bushels	- - -	1.40
20 bushels	- - -	2.40
40 bushels	- - -	4.80

Lynn Gas & Electric Co.

90 EXCHANGE STREET.

Store open evenings

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

JANUARY, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 3

Lent commences February 13 and Easter Sunday will be March 31. Unusually early.

Lynn is progressive to the limit, but it does not call for an unnecessary railroad to Boston.

Keep open front side door (on safety side) of electric cars, while passing through the city.

The Lynn News remarks:—"The local Democracy is in need of re-organization." More than this.

One-third of Lynn's area is public reservations. Few cities can point to such a great area given over to public uses.

One of the most dangerous localities in the city, from the standpoint of insurance men, was wiped out by last month's conflagration.

The re-election of Aldermen Ramsdell and McDonough occurred in spite of the reported labor opposition on account of the independence displayed by these aldermen in the recording of certain votes.

Mayor Barney secured a very handsome vote for re-election and the contest not only well emphasized the Mayor's ability as a vote getter, but the insipidity and weakness of the so-called Democratic party, which seems to be "all in," locally, and in state and nation.

Some Lynn member of the legislature can do a service to this community if he can have a law passed so that the alley-ways in Lynn shall be under the control of the board of public works. As it is now, many times, when the business streets are cleared up, they are made unclean in a short time by mud and dust coming from the alley-ways and it is in the public interest that the city control these thoroughfares.

To relieve the Washington street railroad congestion, the suggestion is made that all cars now running southerly to Central square through Washington street, run through Franklin street, and that all cars running from Central Square, in a northerly direction, run through Washington street. It is the belief that such a rule would prevent congestion, and other interference with time, which at present so much hampers the peace of mind of the traveling public.

We hope that the city council and board of public works can afford to treat Washington street in a radical manner this year. This street should be covered with a bitulithic pavement, with the street railway to pay for the same between its double tracks, which should be laid on this new, important trunk line. It won't be long before cars will be running to Salem through Washington street, because there can be such a great saving of time by such a route. The Peabody, Glenmere and Walnut street cars very much congest Washington street at some hours of the day, and a double track seems imperatively necessary. With bitulithic pavement upon the street, two car tracks could be well accommodated, and the noise of traffic be reduced, in favor of the abutters.

We are among those who believe biennial elections are for the welfare of state and city. With so many checks and balances in the administration of affairs it would not be possible for any man to do serious injury in a two year office. District Attorney Moran has come the nearest to creating serious trouble of any man we can recall of late years in public place. He has injured characters by the wholesale, has stamped "criminal" upon the foreheads of many men on account of false rumors, citing men before the grand jury without the slightest reason, from the standpoint of law and common sense, and in other respects given a strong argument showing why one year terms in office are desirable for some people. But in the larger number of instances we favor two year terms. They are the best for all concerned. The political clamor seriously affects business and is undesirable from the standpoint of public interest. If it is proper to elect the president for four years, congressmen for two years, and appoint justices of courts for life, we think the public interest would be well subserved by making biennial elections the law of Massachusetts.

"Be brave in adversity. Do not strive for what is unattainable or worthless; be content with each day as it comes; look at the good side of everything; take pleasure in nature and accept your fellowmen as you find them. For a thousand bitter hours comfort yourself with a single happy one; in effort and deed always do your best, regardless of reward. He who can do this will be fortunate, free, and independent; the days of his life will always be happy ones. He who is distrustful, does wrong to others and injures himself. It is our duty to consider every person good as long as he does not prove the contrary. The world is so large, and we human beings so small, that everything cannot center in us alone. Even when something injures us or something hurts us, who can know but that it is necessary for the benefit of the whole creation? Everything in the world, whether good or otherwise, is the work of the great, wise will of the Almighty and Allknowing Creator, though we petty creatures may not be able to understand it. Everything in the world is exactly as it must be; and whatever it may be, the good is always the will of the Creator."—Emperor Wilhelm's phonograph record, spoken for preservation at Harvard University and the Congressional Library at Washington.

✻

The good man is both wise and nice,
He doesn't merely talk;
He cleans away the snow and ice,
And ashes up his walk.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

✻

Again the public is given the impression that the old water board was composed of thieves and robbers. That they had swindled the city out of $60,000 or more, through uncollected bills. The report is false, but this does not bother the opponents of the water board. They want to continue their campaign of mud, and misinform the public. About $30,000 of the amount is for meter water, bills for which are not due to be out until about Jan. 10, and the remaining $30,000 or thereabouts is legitimately left collectable, and circumstances surrounding the balance due are in every way proper, conditions not being in any way different from those of previous years. When a city department has $250,000 worth of bills to collect, and promptly secures within about $30,000 of the amount it may be considered as doing good work

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 41.

Care of Meat, Poultry and Vegetables.

Section 1. No person or corporation, individually or by agents, servants or employees, shall transport meat or poultry of any description through the public streets or ways of the city of Lynn, except in wagons or vehicles which have been thoroughly washed at least once in every twenty-four hours. All meat or poultry transported through the streets and public ways must be thoroughly covered in such a manner as to preclude infection or injury from flying dust or other causes. No meat or poultry shall be exposed uncovered in any public street or way, or by the side of same.

Section 2. No vegetables intended to be used as food shall be exposed or displayed in any street or way, or in front of any place of business, unless the bottom of the box or other receptacle containing such vegetables, is raised at least twelve inches above the sidewalk, platform or landing upon which such receptacle rests.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906.
Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

Nurses in advising hospital treatment often meet with fixed objections. One girl was urged to go to the hospital for removal of tumor. The Celtic neighbor on the same floor strongly urged against it. Said she: "They're alwus sayin' oprashun. My own Maggie, when she went, the dochters they said, said they, 'She's got appendeceetes,' that new kind of thing. And I begged, O dochter darlint, give her two days' chance. And what do you think? Before them two days was out, she coughed it up."—Charities.

✻

A Lynn man who was heralded in large type as an heir "to a million dollars," or somewhere about that figure, a few months ago, recently placed a chattel mortgage for $100. This is about the usual result of the average windfall story.

✻

A gentleman went into a restaurant and ordered a plate of soup. After a long wait the waiter brought it in and placed it before the diner. After examining it, he said to the waiter, "What do you call this stuff?" "Bean soup, sir," replied the waiter. "Yes, I know it's been soup, but what is it now?"—Titbits.

Opportunity.

Master of human destinies am I;
 Love, fame, and fortune on my footsteps wait.
 Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
 Deserts and seas remote, and, passing by Hovel and mart and palace soon or late
 I knock unbidden once at every gate.
 If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise
 Before I turn away. It is the hour of fate.
 And they who follow me reach every state
 Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
 Save death. But those who doubt or hesitate—
 Condemned to failure, penury and woe—
 Seek me in vain and uselessly implore;
 I answer not, and I return no more.

—John James Ingalls.

WE—that is, some of us—often boast of the simplicity of our Unitarian faith, thinking that this simplicity ought to commend it to the attention of all sincere and earnest souls. Simplicity in religion is a thing to be commended, but for the majority of human beings it is the last thing that seems to be commendable. We know that the laws of nature, when we arrive at them, are few and simple; but throughout the world they appeal only to the minds of a few thousand selected thinkers. The majority love mystery, splendor, and a gorgeous and bewildering display, whether in their amusements, their literature, or their religion. The many “isms” that are now catching the fancy of the American people are potent because they are not simple. The more preposterous they are, the more attractive to the multitude of people, who think “there must be something in it” when Dowie, Sanford, and many other self-appointed prophets are so positive. From this low ground all the way up to the most elaborate display of symbolism it is the complex and mysterious, and not the simple, that attracts and holds the majority. —Christian Register.

To feel, although no tongue can prove,
 That every cloud that spreads above
 And veileth love, itself is love.

—Tennyson.

Much sympathy went out to Hon. and Mrs. William L. Baird by the death of their 24 year old son in Seattle. His death was a great shock to many friends. To be cut off at such an early age was very sad, but there is consolation in the thought that the young man was sufficiently capable and forceful to to so well establish himself in the far western country. To take away a young man on the threshold of life, well prepared for life's duties, and eager to press on, is one of the acts of Nature it is hard to comprehend.

Lynn Harbor Improvements and Market Street Extension.

A correspondent writes to the REVIEW to state that the proposed extension of Market street “would not be in it,” from his point of view, “compared with the extension of Shepard street across the harbor and then fill in as large a portion of the basin as possible and eventually carry the wharf privileges to the southern side of the extension. In the meantime there could be retained a water-way to the wharves. This looks like a big scheme, but the correspondent states that “the city would make a million dollars on the new land which would be provided.” The correspondent does not believe that Lynn harbor will ever be a success until the harbor line is carried out as near the Saugus river line as possible. In that event he believes that Lynn would have one of the finest harbors in the country. With the extension of Shepard street, and a gradual filling in of the entire area, Market street and Pleasant street could both be extended across to the Nahant Road.

The REVIEW, by giving these impressions, does not necessarily endorse them, but presents them for the consideration of the enterprising people of Lynn. We do not believe that much of anything will be gained by further dredging Lynn harbor.

Many thousands of dollars have already been expended and it is not seen how the Lynn public has been benefitted. Possibly some wharf owners might have reaped a benefit, but the dear people do not appear to have saved any money by the large expenditures of the government.

Years ago had the filling in of the harbor been commenced upon and carried out toward the sea, to-day Lynn would have one of the best harbors, instead of one of the very worst, on the coast.

Houdini, well-termed “the great,” will open an engagement at Keith's, January 7, which promises to be even more noteworthy than his appearance at this theatre about one year ago. It is announced that he has many new features in his performance, and his coming is awaited with interest.

Suburbanite—“You've got a new baby at your house, I hear?” Townite—Great Scott! Do you hear it over there in the suburbs?”

Can You Write a Story?

Cash prizes are offered for the best story of the best trolley trip taken over the lines of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony St. Ry. Co.'s, according to the announcement of the Passenger Department of these companies appearing in the November issue of the Tri-State Tourist, the monthly publication from this office. The best story will be awarded a prize of $25, the second best $15 and the third best $10.

According to the announcement, the department realizes that the nearly 900 miles of track of the two systems pass through some of the most interesting and delightful scenery and historical places in the country and that thousands of people the past season have enjoyed trips through these scenes. It now asks that they put some of their most pleasant experiences on paper.

The Passenger Department wishes to know which, in the popular mind, are generally considered to be the most delightful trips that can be made on these lines, understanding that different people see things differently. This contest will close March 1, and is not to be judged solely on literary merit. Everybody except employees of the two companies are eligible to compete.

The announcement states that people of trained literary experience will have no advantage over those not so experienced. The contest is for old and young—everybody. It is a chance for the observant, those who can see, appreciate what they see and tell about it in plain, simple English. The articles are limited to 1200 words in length. One contestant may enter as many articles as desired. They are to be sent to the Passenger Department of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony St. Ry. Co.'s, at 309 Washington St., Boston, Mass. Full particulars as to the details of the contest are to be found in the November issue of the Tri-State Tourist, which may be secured upon application to the Passenger Department, as well as any special information that is desired.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

Lynn Institution for Savings

25 EXCHANGE ST.

LYNN

PRE IDENT. . . CHARLES S. PURINTON

TREASURER. . . FREDERICK L. BUBIER

MONEY DEPOSITED
IN JANUARY

GOES UPON INTEREST
FEBRUARY FIRST

Open Every Business Day, from 9 to 1 o'clock

Also SATURDAYS, from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

When dealing with advertisers please mention the Lynn Review

Which One Was Kept?

There were two little kittens, a black and a gray,
 And grandmamma said with a frown:
 "It will never do to keep them both:
 The black one we'd better drown."
 "Don't cry my dear," to tiny Bess,
 "One kitten's enough to keep;
 "Now run to nurse, for 'tis getting late
 And time you were fast asleep."
 The morning dawned, and rosy and sweet
 Came little Bess from her nap;
 The nurse said: "Go into mamma's room
 And look in grandmamma's lap,"
 "Come here," said grandmamma with a smile,
 From the rocking chair where she sat;
 God has sent you two little sisters, dear,
 Now what do you think of that?
 Bess looked at the babies a moment, there,
 With their wee heads, yellow and brown,
 And then to the grandmamma soberly said:
 "Which one are you going to drown?"

—Boston Herald.

John McClellan has rendered a service to the Highland district by opening a new drug store at the corner of Adams and Rockaway streets. He has a most modern and well appointed store, and it is a real apothecary shop, with the most careful attention being paid to prescriptions. The fixtures and trimmings are in excellent taste, and it is believed that Mr. McClellan will make a success of his venture. He has been employed in several of the leading Lynn and Boston drug stores, and is in every way capable of rendering the public first-class service.

The best business ever recorded was reported by the Lynn merchants at Christmas. That is good, "Trading in Lynn" has become firmly ingrained in the minds of our people. There are few wants for the ordinary kind of goods that cannot be supplied in Lynn, and for the most part at lower prices than rule in Boston.

The servant girl had complained of cold feet, and the madam told her to take a flatiron to bed. In the morning Nora was asked what luck she had with the flatiron, and she replied that she got it nearly warm.

Some churches call them "fairs," while others call them "sales," but judging from reports received both were equally profitable last month.

If You Haven't spent that ten dollars given you for a Christmas present, come and leave some of it at

HOWE'S RUBBER STORE
52 CENTRAL SQUARE

We have Rain Coats, Rubber Coats, Overshoes, Water Bottles, etc.

SPECIAL!The LYNN REVIEW

HAS NO CONNECTION
 WHATSOEVER

With any other paper or periodical
 Printed in Lynn or elsewhere

It is told that a grandfather well-known in the English House of Commons, was chatting amicably with his little grand-daughter, who was snugly ensconced on his knee. "What makes your hair so white, grandpa?" the little miss queried. "I am very old, my dear. I was in the ark," replied his lordship, with a painful disregard of the truth. "Oh! Are you Noah?" "No." "Are you Shem, then?" "No, I am not Shem." "Are you Ham?" "No." "Then," said the little one, who was fast nearing the limit of her Biblical knowledge, "you must be Japhet." A negative reply was given to this query, also, for the old gentleman inwardly wondered what the outcome would be. "But, grandpa, if you are not Noah or Shem or Ham or Japhet, you must be a beast!"

The pretty typewriter tossed high her blonde head,
 And then with an envious pout,
 "They used to consider me witching," she said,
 "But now the trained nurse beats me out."
 —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Years ago the hat trick was a favorite among sneak thieves. Two prosperous looking men, one wearing a tall hat, would enter a grocer shop and tell the proprietor they had made a bet as to how much molasses the hat would hold. They would ask him to fill it with the fluid, and if he complied they would clap the hat half full of molasses on the head of the unsuspecting tradesman and rifle his shop at ease.

The post-office authorities are increasing prices with a vengeance, going up on the rental of boxes in the Lynn post-office to the extent of 100 per cent. Evidently some of the trusts have been setting a bad example.

System Up-to-Date.

O, isn't it great to be "up-to-date"
 And live in this year of grace,
 With a system and place for everything,
 And—nobody knows the place.
 We've an index card for each thing to do,
 And everything under the sun.
 It takes so long to fill out the cards,
 We never get anything done.
 We've loose-leaf ledgers for saving time,
 The Lord knows what they cost.
 When half our time is spent each day
 Hunting for leaves that are lost.
 Stenographers who spell likell
 And make us swear and cuss,
 When we are not dictating to them
 Why—they're dictating to us.
 And sectional this—and sectional that,
 (We'll soon have sectional legs);
 I dreamt last night that I made a meal,
 Of sectional ham and eggs.
 I dreamt I lived in a sectional house,
 And rode a sectional "hoss,"
 And drew my pay in sections from A sectional "section-boss."
 —The Lampoon.

Have you noticed the excellent quality of the Lynn water at present supplied? There are now no dead leaves or vegetation to give "spice" to the water. Probably no city of Lynn's size in the country has a better water supply.

"De-lited."—Theodore Roosevelt.

Richard Olney believes that the advent of the workingman into politics is a good sign and likely to check the tendency in the United States towards a strong centralized government which is favored by capitalists. But the laboring man is a much stronger factor, standing with his union organization on the outside and casting his vote as he sees fit, than he would be were the workingman to form an independent political party.—Banker and Tradesman.

It appears to be the general opinion that Chief Engineer Harris of the fire department well handled the West Lynn conflagration last month. We have not heard any criticism regarding the conduct of the fire department, and in fact ever since the changes were inaugurated in this branch of the public service by Ex-Mayor Eastham, it has seemed to be the opinion that much better and thorough work has resulted.

Henry C. Frick, who has an elegant residence at Prides Crossing, has given $2,500,000 for a site upon which to erect a modest dwelling in New York City. Why should not Mr. Frick have fine houses? He owns $13,000,000 worth of United States Steel Co. bonds.

Telephone 1807

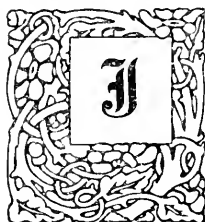

McBilla

312 UNION ST.

Look for Announcement of our Great JANUARY
 Mark-Down Sale

WHICH WILL BE CONTINUED
 THE ENTIRE MONTH

The Habit of Self-Denial

IN every walk in life strength comes from effort. It is the habit of self-denial which gives the advantage to the man we call self-made. He is often very poorly put together. His education is incomplete. His manners may be uncouth. His prejudices are often strong. He may worship himself and his own oddities. But if he is successful in any way in life he has learned to resist. He has learned the value of money and he has learned how to refuse to spend it. He has learned the value of time and how to convert it into money, and he has learned to resist all temptations to throw either time or money away. He has learned to say NO. To say NO at the right time, and then to stand by it, is the first element of success.

—David Starr Jordan.

Moon Changes

Last Quarter, Jan. 7, 9h 48m. morn. W
New Moon, Jan. 14, 6h 57m. morn. E
First Quarter, Jan. 21, 3h 42m. morn. W

The city government is to be congratulated on securing a playground at the Wyoma end of Flax Pond. The area consists of about five acres of land and in a few years it will be very valuable. Its cost was only $500. How much better it would have been if, many years ago, there had been forethought used in the providing of public playgrounds about the city. They are a great aid to a proper development and healthy amusement of children.

Did you ever think how largely your success with men depends upon your recognition of their standards of importance?

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET

LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

It has been well suggested that if there is anything worse than a telephone monopoly, it is telephone competition. There is no argument in favor of the latter as against those in favor of a well regulated telephone monopoly. The people of Boston have had an experience with competition in the gas business. For a year or so the public benefitted by lower prices for gas with free gas stoves thrown in. Then came the inevitable consolidation and a heavily increased capitalization, on which dividends have to be paid by the public. Competitive telephone systems would not redound to the benefit of the public, which would be compelled to install two instruments where they now have one. — Banker and Tradesman.

Ward two will show up quite prominently on the municipal map this year with Frank A. Turnbull president of the common council, and Charles H. Tucker clerk of that body. Both officials are residents of Glenmere. Mr. Tucker has made good in the position of clerk for several years past. It is believed that Mr. Turnbull will make a most capable president.

"Ho, For Slumberland!"

A little song for bedtime, when, robed in gowns of white,
 All sleepy little children set sail across the night
 For that pleasant, pleasant country, where the pretty dream-flowers blow,
 'Twixt the sunset and the sunrise,—
 "For the Slumber Islands, ho!"

When the little ones get drowsy, and the heavy lids droop down
 To hide blue eyes and black eyes, gray eyes, and eyes of brown,
 A thousand boats for Dreamland are waiting in a row,
 And the ferry-men are calling,
 "For the Slumber Islands, ho!"

Then the sleepy little children, fill the boats along the shore,
 And go sailing off to Dreamland; and the dipping of the oar
 In the sea of Sleep makes music that the children only know
 When they answer to the boatman's
 "For the Slumber Islands, ho!"

Oh! take a kiss, my darlings, ere you sail away from me
 In the boat of dreams that's waiting to bear you o'er the sea;
 Take a kiss, and give one, and then away you go,
 A-sailing into Dreamland,—
 "For the Slumber Islands, ho!"
 —Eben E. Rexford.

The board of public works is to be credited with business-like operations in clearing Market, Union and Munroe street sidewalks of ice and snow as a result of the storm at about Christmas. The determination of the board to enforce the ordinance is quite refreshing and we hope that it will keep up the good work during the winter. It is about time that property owners were made to realize that they must clear their sidewalks of snow and ice. The board of public works will be justified in going to extremes to protect the public in this direction.

The attractions at Keith's theatre continue to be of a high order of merit, the increase in the attendance well demonstrating this fact. During January there will be several headliners of a high order, including many new acts. The biograph explores the world for pictures. Keith's performances are clean, bright and entertaining, and it is remarkable how well he maintains his standard. At Keith's, women and children are always certain to find much to please them.

The passing of David N. Johnson removes one of Lynn's old-time prominent citizens. He had written much of value to Lynn people, and his service on the school board and in other positions was productive of good work for this community. He was 81 years of age.

The Boston & Maine Railroad Service

A railroad man of long experience states that the delay in trains so much complained about of late is not a new matter, and that every winter when extreme weather has occurred the same difficulty has resulted. Last winter conditions were normal on account of the open winter.

This gentleman states that the Boston & Maine has done just as good work in keeping up the schedule as any other railroad in New England and that it is impossible in zero or foggy weather to run trains between Lynn and Boston on a nineteen minute schedule. He states that in his opinion it would be better for the railroad to go to a 25 minute basis on all express trains, but probably the public would not agree with him, because they like the nineteen minute trains when weather conditions permit.

Speaking of freight yard facilities in Lynn the railroad man quoted said to the REVIEW that the city of Lynn could secure better freight facilities and generally better accommodations if the municipality would immediately arrange for the extension of Bennett street into the West Lynn freight yard.

The gentleman quoted thought it would be very clear to Lynn people that no extended freight facilities could be offered at Market street until the grade crossing separation question is settled. In that event it is understood to be the intent of the Boston & Maine railroad to re-arrange the Market street freight yard facilities.

The New York Sun considered the P. J. Harney Shoe Co. factory boiler explosion and fire quite important. That paper devoted three inches to the catastrophe. It is wonderful what a difference there is in the point of view concerning the news value of an event of this character.

The individual who wants to know if the Lynn and Nahant Railroad Co. is financing the $8,000,000 Boston and Beverly elevated electric railroad is respectfully informed that such is not the case!

According to the Bookman, the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past six months, are: The Fighting Chance, Jane Cable, Coniston, The Call of the Blood, Sir Nigel and Bob Hampton.

Gentle Jane.

Gentle Jane whizzed through the town,
Running many people down;
Still she gave her car but praise,
Said: "It has such killing ways."

—Carolyn Wells.

Last week, Tuesday, Gentle Jane
Met a passing railroad train;
"Good afternoon," she sweetly said,
But the blamed train cut her dead.

—Yale Record.

Scorching down the golden streets,
Jane strikes every soul she meets;
When she "honks" the spirits jump,
Thinking it is Gabriel's trump.

—Cleveland Leader.

Man, your wits are all at sea,
Heaven is not for such as she;
Jane went down below and got Her's for scorching, good and hot.

—G. H. W. in Boston Transcript.

When she landed in the broiler
Beside her ambled there a toiler
He handed her a juicy lemon
And calmly said: "You are my 'persimmon.'"

The Lynn Board of Trade banquet was much enjoyed by a large company. Ex-Governor Bates and Ex-Congressman Powers spoke admirably. The introductory address by Hon. Arthur B. Breed was unusually interesting by its splendid array of facts and interesting comment regarding Lynn and its great development. When we read the addresses of Mr. Breed we are inclined to think that a good man was lost to the newspaper business by his failure to take up journalism, he has such a way of massing briefly interesting facts and figures. Schlehuber's catering was much enjoyed.

John M. Harney is now an attorney-at-law, with Dorman & Newhall, Item building. We are pleased to record the advancement of this young man, who has worked his way along to his present desirable position. He once had the honor of delivering the REVIEWS, therefore it is not entirely unexpected that he should have reached high ground! The better the foundation, the more substantial the success.

Those people who woke up after Christmas and found that they had bought Christmas presents on credit on the basis of $1 a week, must really be of the impression that life is altogether sweet and beautiful.

The biggest city in the world fifty years to come will be Berlin. That is the calculation of Herr Olumke, a noted statistician. Its population will be near 14,000,000 and its only serious rival will be New York.

We Want Inspection That Inspects.

The public does not appear to be well served by the state in the matter of inspection of public utilities. Dangerous elevators, stairways and boilers are continually coming to light in Lynn factories, and it is about time that the legislature had this work of inspection properly defined.

The public is in a panicky condition regarding the present state of affairs, and there would seem to be a sufficient amount of justice and fair play in Massachusetts to have this work of inspection really inspect.

About all of us are in close proximity to great boilers in the Lynn business district, and if proper work is not done by the state authorities we shudder to think what will happen.

It is flimsy business for a state like Massachusetts to have its servants say they do not inspect boilers because some insurance company attends to the business of inspection.

To think that gives the public any safeguard or protection! It sounds almost like the talk of a child, to hear a state official get off anything like this, and unless the public is more foolish than we think it is, they will demand proper legislation in no uncertain terms from the 1907 general court.

Almost every household in Lynn is vitally interested in proper inspection of factory boilers, and it is time for somebody to act, and if they do not, let the public place the responsibility in no uncertain way.

"Primitive woman had bigger waists
Than ours," said the fair Miss Charms.
"Ah, yes," said Ann, "but primitive man,
They tell us, had longer arms."
—Cleveland Leader.

F. Peter Dunne, of Dooley fame, once told a story about the evening paper in which Mr. Dooley first made his appearance—an ill-fated sheet which the gods loved. One day, just before the end, a funeral passed the office with a band playing the Dead March from "Saul." The editor and Mr. Dunne watched it with emotion and fear. "Can it be," they whispered, "our subscriber?"

Keep open front side door (on safety side) of electric cars, while passing through the city.

Cultivate health and thus radiate strength and courage.

On $1000 Insurance on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent $8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

GREEN & SONPIANO NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICEE. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market StreetFOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list. Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

JOB PRINTINGNO MATTER WHAT!

The most tasty and elegant work from all new type and machinery equipment. Let us figure on any work you have in mind. Call telephone (1026) or send a postal to

The LYNN REVIEW

CURRIER, BLOCK

333 Union Street, Lynn

This book is a sample of our work.

Poland Spring and Bottling Works.

Poland water is known all over the world. Scarcely a bill of fare in a prominent restaurant or hotel anywhere but Poland water is a feature.

The recent extensive improvements made at Poland by the erection of a new bottling and spring house, call attention anew to the great work carried on by Hiram Ricker & Sons in the exploiting of Poland water.

The two new buildings are simply magnificent. No one has ever before attempted anything so perfect, elaborate and ornate. It may seem like strong talk, but it is nevertheless true that nowhere, in any country, could be found two buildings more carefully, magnificently and thoroughly constructed. The walls of the buildings are made of hydraulic-pressed, mottled, fire clay brick, the openings being decorated with hand-wrought grills. The roofs are covered with green dull-glazed mission tiles.

The buildings as viewed from Poland hill look like works of art, the roofs and accessories are so beautifully lined and constructed.

The interior of the spring house is completely lined with marble, while the interior of the bottling is wholly lined, (floor, walls and ceilings) with plate glass one inch in thickness.

All the air entering the spring house is drawn through huge filters in the tower and exhausted out of doors through fans placed in the lower part of the walls. No direct opening exists from the outside to the bottling department, showing the extreme care and caution which is used in the bottling of the product of this famous spring.

The water, as it is conveyed from the spring to the bottling, and thence to the various filling machines, is always conducted in either glass or silver pipes, and the great tank where it is collected is of the highest polished granite, sealed under a great sheet of plate glass.

The hands of no person touch Poland water. There is every mechanical device to save handling.

Never monopolize the conversation.

When you want Paper Hanging, Kalsomining, House Painting, etc., done in a thorough manner and at a reasonable price, drop us a postal card, or

Telephone 365-1

D. L. GAVEL & CO., 270 Western Ave.

MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK

We give you the best facilities consistent with modern banking methods

Deposits taken from $2.00 upward

Dividend Rate
3½ per cent.

COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS
BANK

325 Union, cor. Almont Street.

JOS. G. PINKHAM
President

W. M. BARNEY
Treasurer

The man who signs checks to the greatest value in this country, and probably in the world, is William J. Gilpin. Every business day his checks aggregate $15,000,000. On October 3, last year, by putting his name to a check he made the little slip of paper worth $37,661,685, making it the most valuable piece of paper that had ever been in existence up to that time. The man who signs these checks is the assistant manager of the New York Clearing House and the checks represent the amounts paid every day to the banks that show a balance on the day's clearings.

The Two Singers

A singer sang a song of tears,
And the great world heard and wept,
For he sang of the sorrows of fleeting years
And the hopes which the dead past kept;
And souls in anguish their burden bore,
And the world was sadder than ever before.

A singer sang a song of cheer,
And the great world listened and smiled,
For he sang of the love of a father dear,
And the trust of a little child;
And souls that before had forgotten to pray
Looked up and went singing along their way.

—Anon.

It continues to be a real pleasure to read the Boston Herald with its well tempered editorials. They strongly appeal to the great mass of people, and the good cheer and helpful comments remind us of the Herald of the early days. More power to the new management of the Herald

Little Brother (to sister who is sitting with her fiancé)—Do you know what I think?

Sister—No; what is it?

"I think if I were not in the room Mr. Jones would kiss you."

"You impudent boy! Leave the room immediately."—Meggendorfer Blatter

Winter.

What though thy kiss be cold, O winter dream?
Thou bringest much the heart of man to cheer!
The rich red holly berry 'midst the green;
The crackling of the glowing logs at even;
The hills and dales in purest garb of snow;
The tinkling of the sleighbells as they go
Adown the road, with mads of merry mood,
With roguish glances peeping from their hood
The gallant swains to tease, set up behind
The frisking steeds that speed them like the wind!
The clear, clean sweep of skaters on the ice;
The crystal flakes so wondrous in device;
The cold, calm heavens brilliantly alight
With friendlier stars than on a summer night
In that they closer come, and seem to be Just twinkling neighbors unto you and me!
And in the wood—what lovely scenes are there,
When, clad by fairy hands and frosty air,
The limbs and branches of the sleeping trees
Are woven into silvery filagree!
What music in the chimes that ring out clear
Across the crisp of winter's atmosphere!
What grandeur in the swelling harmonies
Of winter winds, and what tranquilities
In winter's silences!

And for the soul of man, what sweeter thrill
Is there than in the message of Good Will
That in the darkest hours of winter's day
Doth warm the heart as with a splendid ray
From out the sun, east, west and south and north
When Christmas morn from frosty night springs forth!

—John Kendrick Bangs.

One of the most successful financial institutions in Lynn is the Security Safe Deposit and Trust Company. There has been splendid growth and development in connection with this company during the past year or two; an increase of nearly half a million dollars in deposits, bringing a corresponding increase in the value of its stock during the past two years. This indicates substantial and intelligent management and shows the wise disposition of Lynn people to support their own banking institution, rather than go outside of the city and help to develop banking institutions in other places.

The election of Charles H. Baker as a member of the board of public works for three years again brings to the municipal service a gentleman well-equipped for public duty. As councilman, alderman and senator, Mr. Baker has rendered intelligent and desirable service, and his business and financial judgment will be much in favor of the city by his membership on the board of public works.

Mike—So poor Flanagan's dead.

Pat—Yis, poor bye.

Mike—Whin did he die?

Pat—If he'd lived till next Wednesday, he'd hav been did a wake.

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Regulation 42.

Peddlers of Ice Cream.

No person shall sell or offer for sale in the city of Lynn, any ice cream or preparation similar thereto, until the place of manufacture of the same, the utensils and receptacles used, and the wagon or other means of carrying the same, shall have been examined by an inspector of the Board of Health. Such inspector when satisfied as to the cleanliness of all articles used, shall provide such person with his certificate to that effect.

Inspectors shall examine all articles used in the business as often as they may deem necessary, and whenever an inspector shall certify that proper cleanliness is not observed, either in the place of manufacture, in the implements, materials or manner of making ice cream, etc., or in the manner of carrying or selling the same, no further sales of such ice cream shall be allowed until the objectionable features are removed and the inspector so certifies.

Adopted by the Board of Health, October 10, 1906

WILLIAM M. ... Chairman.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. ... Clerk.

SCHLEHUBER

Baker Caterer
Confectioner

The largest and most important Catering business east of Boston, with much work done in that city.

Catering for large and small parties

SCHLEHUBER, 78 EXCHANGE ST.
LYNN

NOW IS THE TIME

To find BARGAINS. We have them on all goods. It will pay you to come in and look over our assortment of

CARPETS, DRAPERIES, LACE AND MUSLIN CURTAINS,
ART SQUARE P. ...
SOFA PILLOWS, ETC.

While people buy their next Christmas Presents now and save money.

A special 10 per cent. Discount on all stock RUGS purchased within Ten Days from Jan. 1, 1907.

ALFRED K. HALL, 39 Market St.

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END
BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

The "Trade in Lynn" motto adopted by the Lynn Merchants' Association for the members to use upon their printing.

An inhuman monster who signs himself "Man" writes as follows to the New York Sun:—"I have at last discovered why the hired girl is the sort of proposition she is. It is because she is a woman. Impulsive, whimsical, emotional, temperamental, unbusiness-like, sentimental, romantic, impressionable, frivolous, vain, deceitful, cunning, impractical, inconstant, extravagant, inconsiderate, selfish, hysterical, unreliable, prejudiced, gossipy, garrulous, feminine. That's the answer. Put the same work in the hands of men and the problem will be settled permanently. What?"

Her Waterloo.

She could play on the piano,
Nothing left her in the lurch,
Anything from "Maiden's Prayer"
Down to "Waitin' at the Church".
Waltz or ragtime, march, sonata,
She could rattle in a streak;
She had Paderewski beaten
With her marvellous technique.
Yet there was this fly embedded
In her ointment of renown:
She could play an octave sideways,
But she couldn't up and down.
Thus her wondrous finger movement
Useless proved, alas, alack,
When she tried to don a shirtwaist
That was buttoned up the back.
—McLandburgh Wilson.

"The Golden Legend" by the Lynn Oratorio Society was a splendid success. No such orchestration was ever before heard in Lynn. The chorus was in fine form. Mr. Mollenhauer had it under perfect control. Lynn people should more generously support the Oratorio Society. Many people are backward in this good work, as they are, so many times, when Lynn's better interests are under consideration. "Carmen" will be given Friday evening, Feb. 22, and "Samson and Delilah," Patriots' Day evening.

January.

Good-day, new world! Like him of Genoa,
We glad adventurers kneel and kiss the strand
Of our emprise—this new-discovered land
Of time—and cry, "Good-day, new world! good-day!"
Onward, brave hearts! keep doubt and fear at bay!
These ambushed ills which lurk on every hand
Are but allies to lead us into grand
Possession of ourselves and of the way.
Oh, year! new year! World yet untried and strange!
For him who thus adventures, all good things
You hold in store; for he it is who brings
Hope to the front, and courage; him, no change
Shall harm or weaken, nor shall any chance
Rob him of his divine inheritance.
—Caroline A. Mason.

Enos H. Gordon died last month at the good old age of 88 years. Lynn never developed a more thrifty and attentive man to his business affairs than Mr. Gordon. By clever handling he made a little fortune out of the land now occupied by the Proctor building at the corner of Spring and Exchange streets, and if he had possessed a disposition to take a broad hold of matters it is very probable that Mr. Gordon would have been one of the most wealthy men in Lynn. He had the faculty of not only making money, but keeping it, was never allured by the delights of extravagant living, and followed an even keel in 64 years not over zealous activity in the conducting of a crockery store, which looked about the same at the time of his death as it did when he commenced business. He never took any interest in public or social affairs, and it is not hard to reason out where a community would land if it was made up of individuals such as Mr. Gordon.

What some women won't do on a street car, when they get excited, is hard to imagine. One day last month an elderly woman riding to West Lynn summoned the car to stop, the bell was rung, but there was some distance to go to reach a white post. Unmindful of this the woman squarely walked off the moving car. She was very severely injured, and died several days later.

A paper mailed in Lynn, with sufficient postage on a Thursday evening, and not delivered in Cambridge until Saturday morning, would indicate poor service either on the Lynn or Boston end.

Keep open front side door (on safety side) of electric cars, while passing through the city.

CITY OF LYNN

To the Owners of Property Situated
Within the Fire Limits:

The Board of Public Works respectfully calls attention to the following extracts from the Revised Ordinances of the city:

Proper Condition and Clearing of Streets

Chapter XXXIII, Section V.

"The owner or tenant of an estate abutting on any sidewalk in any of the streets contained within or bounding the fire limits, shall remove or cause to be removed the snow and ice from such sidewalks, unless such ice is made even and covered with sand or ashes to prevent slipping. If the snow cease falling in the day time, it shall be removed within four hours after it has ceased to fall, and if it cease falling in the night time, it shall be removed before 11 o'clock of the succeeding day. Whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the City of Lynn the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered in an action of tort in the name of the city. Whenever the party or parties, whose duty it is to remove snow or ice in accordance with this section, shall neglect to do so for the period named it shall be the duty of the Board of Public Works to cause the same to be removed and to enforce the forfeiture herein provided."

Chapter IV, Section IX.

"Said board shall see that the several provisions of the ordinance respecting streets are properly enforced and shall make complaint and request warrants for the punishment of persons offending against the sections of said ordinances."

It is our intention to act under the above sections without further warning.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS,
HORACE R. PARKER, Chief Clerk.

Remember to 28 or 29 when you want telephone number anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston
WILLIAMS BROS.
215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

LYNN THEATRE

F. G. HARRISON, Manager

December 31, Week
FRANKIE CARPENTER

January 7, 9, 10, 11, 12
SAVERY-STRONG CO.

January 8
VIOLA ALLEN in "CYMBELINE"

January 14, Week
Elmer Stock Co., Return Engagement

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

ASK US ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.
32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

Lynn and Boston Trains

Leave Lynn	Arrive Lynn	Leave Lynn	Arrive Lynn	Leave Lynn	Arrive Lynn	Leave Lynn	Arrive Lynn
A.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4.58*	9.50*	4.26	5.55	12.30*	5.40
5.20*	10.23*	4.52*	5.57*	12.40*	5.55*
5.51*	10.27*	4.45*	6.30	12.55*	6.06*
6.11	11.11*	5.17	7.05*	1.00*	6.03
6.14*	11.18	5.46	7.09	1.15*	6.05*
6.43	11.36	6.00	7.30	1.40	6.10
7.04*	6.28*	8.03*	2.00*	6.15*
6.33*	P.M.	6.07*	8.17	2.30*	6.20
7.07	12.08	6.57	8.19	2.49	6.32*
7.00*	12.16*	7.12*	8.50*	3.20*	6.40
7.26	12.37	7.17	9.00*	3.30*	7.10
7.44	12.32*	7.32*	9.25*	3.32*	7.22*
7.57*	12.59	7.22*	9.35*	4.00*	7.45
7.33*	1.31	7.53*	9.50*	4.06*	8.30*
8.07*	1.40*	8.57*	10.10	4.33	8.35*
8.11	2.00	8.43	10.45	4.42*	9.15
8.23*	2.18*	8.39*	11.10	4.48*	10.01*
8.03*	3.02*	9.39*	11.50*	5.00*	10.20
8.38*	3.16*	10.06*	11.55	5.05*	11.15*
9.02*	3.05*	10.40*		5.13	11.26
8.46*	3.32*	10.42*		5.22*	11.32*
9.14*	3.41*	11.37		5.31*
9.26	3.50			5.35*

SUNDAYS

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4.58*	1.25	6.42	8.13	12.40	6.30
8.49	2.03	7.17	8.20	1.15	7.11
9.36	3.25*	8.11	9.00*	2.15	8.15
10.53	3.41*	8.36	9.15	3.15	9.15*
	4.07	8.54	10.45	4.30	10.05
P.M.	5.25*	9.37	11.45	5.15
12.03	5.57	10.20		6.01

* Sagamore Branch

† Express

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

A New City Solicitor.

City Solicitor Starr Parsons announces that he will resign early in January. In that event, which we understand is assured, the many friends of James E. Odlin are hoping he may be elected by the city council as Mr. Parsons' successor.

Mr. Odlin served on the Judiciary Committee of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1900 and 1901, and on the recess committee which revised the public statutes in the latter year. It is said the fight led by him against a recess of this committee for a summer vacation, in which he was opposed by Speaker Myers, not only led to thorough work but alone made a report that year possible.

During his term in the House he assisted the other Lynn members in putting through a boulevard bill which was vetoed by Gov. Crane, but which has since passed and resulted in the present sea wall, path and driveway at King's Beach and around Red Rock.

He also introduced an amendment to the bill taking the water of Ipswich river, which amendment cut out the damages the city should pay for such taking and has saved much in the settlements made under this act.

In the enactment of the new city charter he proposed the amendment by which it was made impossible for the city council to abolish the board of public works.

Every bill introduced those two sessions was scrutinized by him before its passage. This labor no one appreciates who does not attempt it.

For the last three years he has been a member of the board of public library trustees and has been very attentive to the work, giving a great deal of his time to make the library useful to the community.

It is believed he would make an able and painstaking official and perform the duties in the interest of the great public, without reference to any special interest.

He—I shall never marry until I meet a woman who is my direct opposite.

She (encouragingly)—Well, Mr. Duffer, there are a number of bright, intelligent girls right in this neighborhood.

—Art in Advertising.

Francis Walker Johnson and Samuel Hart Newhall, of Lynn, now at Harvard, were elected members of the Phi Beta Kappa last month.

Dance of the Months

The New Year comes in with shout and laughter,
And see, twelve months are following after!

First, January all in white,
And February short and bright;
See breezy March go tearing round;
But tearful April makes no sound.
May brings a pole with flowers crowned,
And June strews roses on the ground.
A pop! A bang! July comes in;
Says August, "What a dreadful din!"
September brings her golden sheaves;
October waves her pretty leaves,
While pale November waits to see
December bring the Christmas tree.
They join their hands to make a ring,
And as they dance they merrily sing,
"Twelve months we are, you see us here,
We make the circle of the year.
We dance and sing, and children hear,
We wish you all a glad New Year."

—Selected.

The eminent physician, Sir Lander Brunton, in an article contending that it ought to be the rule rather than the exception for men and women to retain their life activities for ninety to a hundred years, cites dust as among other things which shorten life. Dust, he says, is one of the greatest enemies of advanced life, since it is the frequent cause of colds and respiratory diseases. He, himself, has found very frequently on taking a dusty book from a library shelf that it gave him a cold in the head. This has occurred so regularly that he now resorts to sponging the dusty edge with a solution of carbolic acid before disturbing the deposit.

The business heretofore conducted by Chas. S. Purinton & Co., 10 Post Office Square, Boston, is to be continued by the two junior partners, under the name of Collins, Spalding & Co. Mr. Charles A. Collins has been associated with Mr. Purinton for more than twenty years, and is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange. Mr. Willard F. Spalding has been in the investment bond business for fifteen years. Mr. Purinton will retire from active business, in order to give more time to his many interests in Lynn.

When one does not wish to become a receptacle of gossip and scandal, it is a good rule to warn the scandalmonger that nothing will be received in confidence. Claim the right to repeat whatever is reported to you, giving the name of your informant for authority, and the burden of undesirable revelations will not be great.—Christian Register.

Oats originated in northern Africa.

Ups and Downs on the Road.

It's easy to drive an automobile
When everything goes O. K.;
When the wind is fair and the road is bare,
And the engine is chugging away,
It's easy to steer the ponderous thing,
It's easy to start and stop;
But it's hard, I say, when she won't obey,
And the engine refuses to flop.

It's easy to drive an automobile
When she's anxious to sail along;
When she thrills to feel the life in her keel,
And is chugging her highway song,
It's easy to fly down the boulevard
When there's nothing your speed to mar,
But it's hard to bowl when a telegraph pole
Runs carelessly into your car.

—Joe Cone.

The population of Cuba is a little larger than that of Philadelphia, and up to the time of the late troubles was increasing rapidly as a result of peace and a considerable influx of immigrants. The area of the island is about the same as that of Pennsylvania. About one-third of the population is made up of colored persons. The values of the principal products of the island are estimated at $98,200,000. If the resources of the island were properly developed, owing to the extreme fertility of the soil, a population larger than that of this state could find ample means of maintenance. It is a pity that a part of the world's surface so blest in natural gifts and delights should be populated with such an unappreciative and contentious people.

Whitcomb Riley, in company with a gentleman who used to manage his lecture tours, was once examining a hall in a town in Ohio where it was proposed Riley should give a reading. The two men had as their guide a colored janitor. Riley observed that the janitor made use of long words. So the poet determined to have a little fun with him. All at once Riley began to sniff the atmosphere critically. "It seems to me, Jim," he said sternly, "that the acoustics in this hall are pretty bad." "Why, boss," said the janitor, reproachfully, "yo shure must be mistaken. I don't smell anything."—Success.

Said he, "Will you be a sister to me?"
And she answered, "Of course I will."
So they're doing a brother and sister act
On the stage, in vaudeville.

—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The new Lynn law office of Benjamin N. Johnson and C. Frank Hathaway, was opened last month at No. 90 Exchange street.

Someone who attended the Lynn Historical Society's tenth anniversary, made the remark that the hymn "America," which closed the exercises, should have been changed to "Hallelujah, 'Tis Done." The eminent gentleman who read a scholarly paper should have better measured the temper of his audience, which should have exercised more patience, undoubtedly. But it was very hard for them to reason on the right side under the circumstances. They had been fed intellectually for nearly two hours before the last paper was read, and a promised thirty minute effort was lengthened to fifty-five minutes. This was fearful punishment, when it was considered how near they were sitting to a tempting lunch. It is hard to be decorous under such circumstances, and the elderly children did not well behave themselves. We should hate to hear the Salem verdict on such conduct. The fault was with those who arranged the program, and not with the speaker, but the audience forgot this.

True Worth.

True worth is in being, not seeming,
In doing each day that goes by
Some little good—not in the dreaming
Of great things to do by and by.
For whatever men say in blindness,
And spite of the fancies of youth,
There's nothing so kindly as kindness,
And nothing so royal as truth.
We get back our mete as we measure,
We cannot do wrong and feel right,
Nor can we give pain and gain pleasure,
For justice avenges each slight.
The air for the wing of the sparrow,
The bush for the robin and wren,
But always the path that is narrow
And straight for the children of men.

—Alice Cary.

The people who vote for agitators of the kind who appeal to prejudice and class hatred, are, many thousands of them, depositors in the savings banks of the country. They ought to be made to understand what is an absolute truth, that any policy which would right wrongs by sweeping away the foundations of social order and the rights of property, would work havoc with the savings banks everywhere and bring ruin and loss to those whose money is secured by real estate and personal property which socialism would make valueless. —Banker and Tradesman.

During its first year of operation the Nahant and Lynn Railroad carried 659,903 passengers.

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

PURE WATER

The Boston Water Purifier will give you absolutely clean, clear, germ-free water at all times of day. Attached to the wall of your kitchen or butler's pantry, and connected with the main water supply, without interfering in any way with your present faucets. You can always obtain water that is really filtered and purified by simply turning the filter faucet. The company exchange the soiled porcelain filter tubes each month for a clean, sterilized set. They lease for $1.00 a month. See them in operation at our store.

WE ARE THE AGENTS

J. F. Morgan & Son
66 Munroe Street

PEOPLE desiring the Review EVERY month should take notice that they must become subscribers. Fifty cents per year is the subscription price.

When you receive the LYNN REVIEW and you are not a subscriber, it is an invitation to subscribe.

1907

1907

The New Year

POSSIBLY YOU ARE ALREADY A PATRON OF THIS TRUST COMPANY. IF NOT, IT MIGHT BE WELL TO START IN WITH THE NEW YEAR. A TRIAL MAY PROVE MUTUALLY PROFITABLE. WITH A VIEW OF GETTING BETTER ACQUAINTED, WE INVITE YOU TO CALL.

Security Safe Deposit & Trust Company

Main Office, Bergengren Block, Central Sq., Lynn, Mass.

Branch Office, 25 Market Sq., West Lynn, Mass.

THERE'S A CLEARANCE SALE ON AT GODDARD BROTHERS!

THE women of Lynn have by this time learned that a sale at Goddard Bros.' store is a sale in fact as well as in name, and this announcement of their will arouse more interest among them than it would if the store were of that class in which "sales" are announced every few days.

ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE

Radical reductions in prices will make this event one of special profit to those who take advantage of it. The Cloak, Suit, Furs, Waist and Millinery departments will offer particularly favorable opportunities to careful buyers.

For detailed announcements about this sale, Goddard Bros.' regular space in the Item should be watched.

GODDARD BROS.

90-92 MARKET ST.

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

FEBRUARY, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 4

CANNOT AFFORD TO LOSE

HAVE you Deeds, Mortgages, Insurance Policies, or other papers that you do not care to lose? If so we advise you to rent a SAFE in our Fire-Proof Vault. Our smaller safe will hold a good many papers; also a few articles of jewelry. The small safe costs you only $5 a year. We invite you to call and inspect.

SECURITY

SAFE DEPOSIT and TRUST COMPANY

Main Office, Bergengren Block, Central Square, Lynn.

Branch Office, 25 Market Square, West Lynn.

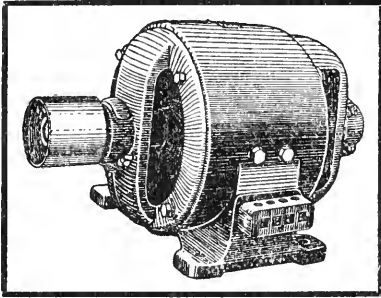

Grand Clearance Sale

OUR Grand Clearance Sale of Rightly-Made Clothing, Hats and Furnishings opens on February 2d, and if you are in need of any thing in our line, wait until that time. We've put the axe right at the root of the prices

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

POWER

From Electric Motors

is particularly adapted to Lynn. It can be had in large or small quantities. It is always ready to start, and without delay. When additional power is needed another motor can be added without discarding the original one. Electric motors take but little space. Can be suspended from the ceiling if desired. The cost of operation and depreciation is much less with electric power than with steam boiler and engine, to say nothing of the safety from explosion and consequent loss of life and property often prevalent where high pressure boilers are used.

Call up 1348 and our representative will visit you and submit proposals.

GAS

in these days at 85 cents net per one thousand feet is a luxury at a price not to be had in many cities the size of Lynn. Have you thought what a fine adjunct to your regular heater a GAS RADIATOR would be? They are priced very low.

Lynn Gas and Electric Company

EXCHANGE STREET

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

FEBRUARY, 1907 NINTH YEAR
No. 4

Ash Wednesday, February 13.

Keep open front side door (on safety side) of electric cars while passing through the city.

Did it ever occur to you, gentle reader, that no city in the world has got a better water supply than the good city of Lynn?

Substantially everybody in Lynn is in favor of the bill presented to the legislature looking to the betterment of Lynn's streets.

The extension of Market street bids fair to be a live issue in the not distant future. If the United States government, state, county and city, unite on doing things in this vicinity, by and by Lynn may have a harbor worthy of the name.

Mayor Barney is believed to have acted in the interest of the city when he vetoed the one day off order for the police. There were many points to be considered, but it is believed that the mayor acted in the public interest by his action.

Regarding the early January mild weather scientists tell us that it is because of exceptionally strong radiation of solar heat, but this does not take us very far. Why is it exceptional and why is it particularly so in this country and not elsewhere? Some of the sea captains say that the gulf stream has never come so near the Atlantic coast as at present. People were bathing in comfort along the New Jersey coast, due to the inward rush of the stream, but this does not explain what has caused it to change its normal position.

Speaking of the street railroad accommodations in Lynn, a writer in one of the Boston papers says:—

The service on Washington street, with its three lines of cars and single track, is also complained of, and here it is claimed that only a double track will change conditions and make it possible to secure good transportation facilities. Along this street it is stated that among those who patronize the cars the sentiment is in favor of a double track in order to avoid the delays now made by cars standing on turnouts.

Something should be done very soon for the proper accommodation of the public on this thoroughfare, and the suggestion for a double track and bituminous pavement, the expense of which should be shared by the railroad and city, is believed to be the only practical solution of the problem, if the street is sufficiently wide.

In his inaugural address Mayor Barney laid out several years' work for the Lynn City Council. There were many new and important recommendations and the review of the industrial progress of the city was most interesting. The great increase in the foreign population in the city was dwelt upon by the mayor, and he asked the city council to carefully administer the departments of health and schools on this account. As was to be expected, the mayor endorsed the extension of Market street, calls for strict economy, analyzes the city debt, recommends a new Classical high school building, new grammar school building in West Lynn, new city stable, West Lynn municipal building and re-arrangement of city hall. The message was well received by the public, and a splendid example of good English.

The public should feel disposed to give the board of health more assistance in the conducting of its work. Few people thoroughly well understand the importance of the duties of this board, and it should be brought home with much force to the general public that it is highly important everybody readily take hold to carry out the rules and regulations governing this department. The great powers and responsibilities conferred upon the board of health by the State at once shows the importance of well and intelligently carrying out board of health regulations. It may seem like a hardship in many instances for the public to carry out the board's instructions, but people should understand that many times when the public is to be considered, individuals are likely to be placed at a disadvantage, and many times positively inconvenienced. Health regulations are made by state and city experts for the most good for the largest number. In Lynn no municipal department has a better record for good work than the board of health.

Hush-a-By, Baby.

Hush-a-by, baby; as the birds fly,
 We are off to the island of Lullaby;
 I am the Captain, you are the crew,
 And the cradle, I guess, is our birch-bark canoe;
 We'll drift away from the work-day shore
 For a thousand long leagues or more,
 Till we reach the strand where happy dreams
 wait,

Whether we're early or whether we're late.

Hush-a-by, baby; as the birds fly,
 Let us make the snug harbor of Lullaby.
 Some little folks are far on the way;
 Some have put in at Wide-awake Bay;
 Others, I fear, are long overdue;
 Don't let this happen, my darling, to you;
 Let us steer for the coast where happy dreams
 wait,

Whether we're early or whether we're late.

—Eugene Field.

"Let me see," said the editor to a new acquisition, a graduate of the college of journalism, "I hardly know what to put you at." "Until you decide," replied the man, "I'll sit down and write a few leading editorials."—Life.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
 Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

PURE WATER

The Boston Water Purifier will give you absolutely clean, clear, germ-free water at all times of day. Attached to the wall of your kitchen or butler's pantry, and connected with the main water supply, without interfering in any way with your present faucets. You can always obtain water that is really filtered and purified by simply turning the filter faucet. The company exchange the soiled porcelain filter tubes each month for a clean, sterilized set. They lease for $1.00 a month. See them in operation at our store.

WE ARE THE AGENTS

J. F. Morgan & Son

66 Munroe Street

Moon's Changes.

Last Quarter Feb 5, 7h 52m, eve, E
 New Moon, Feb 12, 0h 43m, eve W
 First Quarter, Feb 19, 11h. 35m, eve, W

It is somewhat different these days with John H. Madden, than twenty or twenty-five years ago, when he industriously sold papers at the corner of Buffum and Union streets. Mr. Madden's career is a good example showing what is in front of every young man who is endowed with industry, courage and push. He has been heartily congratulated on the growth and development of his insurance business, in the conducting of which he now has one of the most centrally located and best appointed headquarters in Lynn. Mr. Madden has made himself a thorough student of insurance matters and his splendid business development has come through his practical knowledge of conditions governing insurance.

Laundryman—I regret to tell you, sir, that one of your shirts is lost.

Customer—But here I have just paid you twelve cents for doing it up.

Laundryman—Quite right, sir, we laundered it before we lost it.—Harper's Weekly.

GREEN & SON

PIANO NO BETTER MADE
 AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
 30 Market Street

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street
 Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

The Angel of Discontent.

When the world was formed and the morning stars
Upon their paths were sent,
The loftiest-browed of the angels was made
The Angel of Discontent.

And he dwelt with man in the caves of the hills,
Where the crested serpent stings,
And the tiger tears and the she-wolf howls—
And he told of better things.

And he led man forth to the towered town,
And forth to the fields of corn;
And he told of the ampler work ahead
For which his race was born.

And he whispers to men of those hills he sees
In the blush of the misty west;
And they look to the heights of his lifted eye—
And they hate the name of rest.

In the light of that eye doth the slave behold
A hope that is high and brave;
And the madness of war comes into his blood—
For he knows himself a slave.

The serfs of wrong by the light of that eye
March with victorious songs;
For the strength of the right comes into their hearts

When they behold their wrongs.

'Tis by the light of that lifted eye
That Error's mists are rent.
A guide to the table-lands of Truth
Is the Angel of Discontent.

And still he looks with his lifted eye,
And his glance is far away,
On a light that shincs on the glimmering hills
Of a diviner day. —Sam Walter Foss.

The editor of the Daily News of Springfield, O., has been on his vacation and didn't like his boarding house. Hear him: "It is strange that people do not learn that it is not necessary to go to a summer resort. A splendid substitute can be had at home by removing the mattress from the beds and sleeping upon the slats, and tearing out the fly screens so that the mosquitoes and bugs can get in to you."

Nervous Passenger (during the thunder-storm)—Ain't it dangerous to be on a street car when it's lightning so?

Calm Passenger—Not at all. You see, the motorman is a non-conductor.

And then the nervous one felt better.
—Toledo Blade.

Such Buying Facilities

You never saw as we are at present giving our patrons in Carpets, Furniture, Curtains, Wall Paper, etc.

No house is better situated to give FAIR PRICES on HIGH QUALITY GOODS, therefore when you have in mind furnishings for the house do not fail to get our figures. You cannot beat them when the same quality work is under consideration. If you are contemplating renovating the house IN THE EARLY SPRING give us an opportunity to take up your carpets, clean them and relay the same.

W. B. GIFFORD

97-99 MARKET STREET

City Solicitor Parsons had done faithful and attentive service for the city of Lynn. The work of his department had increased very much during the past few years and he retired from the position with the hearty good wishes of all who have come in contact with him as a public official. Arthur G. Wadleigh has been chosen as his successor. We believe that he will make good. Mr. Wadleigh has an over-supply of good strong common sense and his knowledge of the law is believed to make him well capable of attending to his new duties. His good judgment and tactful manner should make him a valuable public servant.

B. F. Keith, the well-known amusement manager, has fourteen hundred vaudeville acts at his disposal. This should be enough, but the public craze for "vordvill" is upon the increase. Mr. Keith has done more than any other person to dignify and make interesting the modern vaudeville.

Pensioned Official—Well, old comrade, how does the life of retirement suit you?

Fellow Pensioned Official—Oh, very well, except that I miss the summer vacation.—Fliegende Blatter.

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston
WILLIAMS BROS.
 215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list.
 Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL
 356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
 Fowl, Canned Goods,
 Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
 VARIETY
 AT
 LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
 Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

LAUNDRY WORK

Perfection is not easily obtained.

But try CHEEVER LYNN

The Place to BUY PILLOW TOPS, if you want the largest and finest variety to select from. Also a fine line of

*DRAPERIES, WINDOW CURTAINS, MUSLIN
 CURTAINS, CAR-PETS, RUGS*

at the lowest prices to be obtained east of Boston.

ALBION K. HALL
 39 Market Street

"Clothes and all their little accessories," says a feminine writer to the New York Sun, "are without doubt the invention of the devil. Eve was the only woman on record who dressed as she pleased."

JOB PRINTING

NO MATTER WHAT!

The most tasty and elegant work from all new type and machinery equipment. Let us figure on any work you have in mind. Call telephone (1026) or send a postal to

The LYNN REVIEW

CURRIER, BLOCK

333 Union Street, Lynn

This book is a sample of our work.

MONEY deposited on or before Wednesday, March 6th,
will draw interest from that date.

DIVIDEND RATE

$3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

COMMONWEALTH Savings
Bank

325 Union Cor. Almont Street.

JOS. G. PINKHAM, President.
WM. M. BARNEY, Treasurer.

The Poland Spring.

The formation through which the Poland spring percolates, as is shown by the uniform temperature of the water at all seasons of the year, would seem to point to the fact that the spring has its source at a great depth, and thence passes through several formations, or strata, from which it derives its renowned freedom from organic matter and its medicinal properties. The water is communicated from the spring to the bottling house by means of glass pipes inserted below the surface of the water, and carried through the ledge of granite, and from that time until it reaches the customer it touches nothing but silver or glass pipes and sterilized containers. Its purity is so marked, that it requires the greatest care in handling. For instance, the water should never be left uncovered, but, on the contrary, should be tightly corked. It should not be allowed to remain near vegetable or other perishable matter (as in a refrigerator where such materials are kept,) for it will absorb their odors even when corked, unless corked very tightly. Neither should the still or aerated water be allowed to remain in the sun, for it is almost sure to burst the bottle.

Keep out of the past! It is lonely and barren and bleak to the view;
Its fires are cold: its stories are old.
Turn, turn to the present—the new.
Today leads you up to the hilltops that are kissed
by the radiant sun,
Today shows no gloom; life's hopes are in bloom;
Today there's a prize to be won.

—W. H. Wells.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past month, are Jane Cable, The Call of the Blood, The Fighting Chance, Coniston, The White Flag and Sir Nigel.

Our Own.

If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day,
The word unkind,
Would trouble my mind,
I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you needless pain,
But we vex "our own"
With look and tone
We may never take back again.
For though in the quiet evening
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it might be
That never for me,
The pain of the heart should cease.
How many go forth in the morning
That never come home at night,
And hearts have broken
For harsh words spoken
That sorrow can ne'er set right.
We have careful thoughts for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometime guest;
But oft for "our own"
The bitter tone,
Though we love "our own" the best.
Ah! lips, with the curve impatient!
Ah! brow, with that look of scorn!
'T were a cruel fate
Were the night too late
To undo the work of morn.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

Marjorie was on a visit to her grandmother on the farm. One day her mother asked her to run to the barn and call grandpa to dinner. She started, but, espying a cow in the lot, ran back, crying, "O mamma, there's a cow out there." "Why, Marjorie, that's a mooley cow. She can't harm you, for she hasn't any horns." "But, mamma," exclaimed the child, "she might butt me with her pompadour."—Selected.

The "Hospital Pharmacy," of which William A. Wilson is proprietor, is doing a growing business. This pharmacy is situated at Franklin street and the Strawberry Brook corner of Boston street, and it is well located for the transaction of a desirable and increasing business. Mr. Wilson supplies everything usually found in a first-class drug store, but makes a specialty of a high grade prescription department. His long experience in the prescription department of first-class drug stores gives Mr. Wilson the very best facilities for serving the public. All residents in the neighborhood of the Hospital Pharmacy should give their support to this enterprising and up-to-date "real apothecary."

A man was asked regarding a mark on his face, and he replied that it was a birth-mark received by getting into the wrong berth while travelling from New York to Boston.

LYNN THEATRE

F. G. HARRISON, Manager

February 4, 5, 6, 7, 9
DOT KARROLL

February 8
"IF I WERE KING"

February 11
"COMING THRO' THE RYE"

February 12, 13, 14, 15, 16
ROWE STOCK CO.

February 18, Week
DANIEL RYAN

There is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy
and sure

HEAD-CURO POWDERS

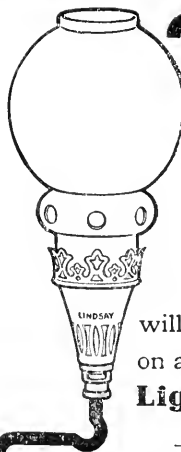

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents

Send stamps

Lindsay Lights

Drop us a postal and our man will call and put on a Lindsay
Light for you

—FOR—

$1.00

Any Standard Mantle will fit our Lindsay Burners.

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS

74 Exchange St.

Telephone 469

The Passing of Judge Berry.

The death of Judge John W. Berry was a sad thought for thousands of Lynn people. The death of no man in Lynn for many years past has caused more sincere mourning.

Judge Berry possessed a rare individuality. He was interestingly different from most men. He thoroughly enjoyed being in the limelight of life. A born wit he was a most charming companion, and had many warm and close friendships.

The writer had been an intimate friend for more than thirty years, meeting the Judge for the first time when a printing office worker connected with J. L. Damon's Lynn Record. The Judge was then an editorial writer, and at the time a terrible sufferer with a malady of the leg, shortly after which period amputation resulted.

Hundreds of people have lost a sincere and true friend by the death of this great-hearted, true Lynn character, whose common sense traits not only won for him a delightful local reputation, but the possession of which carried his name in pleasant remembrance into remote sections of Massachusetts.

May the good deeds performed, the witty sayings, and the pleasant outlook upon life, ever remain green, and cherish sweet memories.

I dare suggest, though sculpting's not
Of all my gifts the chief,
That Mary's lamb would please a lot
If done in baa-relief.

—Woman's Home Companion.

The women of Lynn and vicinity will be particularly interested in the mark-down sale now in progress at the Union street store of Geo. C. Melville & Co. The quality and character of the goods carried in the Melville store at once command the appreciation of careful buyers. The substantial values now offered at such low prices will prove decidedly attractive. The prices given in the announcement upon another page are worth a careful reading and it should be distinctly understood that Melville & Co. never announce a reduction sale that is not really genuine. Particular attention should be paid to this sale by the women of Marblehead, Swampscott, Peabody and Saugus.

Be as courteous and agreeable to your inferiors as you are to your equals and superiors.

A Valentine.

Go, Cupid, and my sweetheart tell
 I love her well.
 Yes, though she tramples on my heart
 And rends that bleeding thing apart;
 And though she rolls a scornful eye
 On doting me when I go by;
 And though she scouts at everything
 As tribute unto her I bring—
 Apple, banana, caramel—
 Haste, Cupid, to my love and tell,
 In spite of all, I love her well!
 And further say I have a sled
 Cushioned in blue and painted red!
 The groceryman has promised I
 Can "hitch" whenever he goes by—
 Go tell her that, and, furthermore,
 Apprise my sweetheart that a score
 Of other little girls implore
 The boon of riding on that sled
 Painted and hitched, as aforesaid;—
 And tell her, Cupid, only she Shall ride upon that sled with me!
 Tell her this all, and further tell
 I love her well.

—Eugene Field.

After a recent concert by Lynn musicians in aid of a worthy charity, at which music of a high character was competently rendered, many of those present while exchanging greetings held quite a spirited conference on the subject of "trade in Lynn" as applied to music. Of the nine musicians who delighted the audience, only two sang in Lynn churches and that only for a short time, and it was understood that those of the remainder who desired to do so sang in churches out of town. Several remarked in detail relative to their churches that the quartette was always composed of strangers.

It is a beautiful art, the art of living well in poverty. It calls for an alert intelligence and a cultivated taste and a ready invention. It is not the vocation of a dullard. Brains must be mixed with it. One who takes it up with courage and good-will finds in it culture for all the finer faculties.—Washington Gladden.

The Marblehead man who committed suicide by walking into the water from the Neck, left a peculiar message: "When you see me again I will be gone." This does not leave any question but what the unfortunate man possessed a disordered mind.

Elanor—I hear that Grace and Arthur were about the softest couple that were ever married in this town.

Evelyn—I should say so! Why, they were so soft that their friends boiled the rice before they threw it at them.—Cincinnati Tribune.

Lynn Five Cents Savings Bank has

Money to Loan on

Mortgages of Real Estate

"Now," said Freddy's mother, as she got him ready for a visit to his aunt, "be sure you are not late for breakfast. That won't do when you are visiting."

On her son's return his anxious mother inquired if he was ready in time.

"Yes'm!" responded Freddy, triumphantly. "I was down every morning soon's any of 'em."

"I am so glad; hope you'll keep it up."

"You won't let me."

"Won't let you? Why not?"

"Well, you see, I just put my nighty on and slept in my clothes, so's to be nice and ready in the morning."—New York Tribune.

If there is a city official who deserved an increase of salary from $1,200 to $1,500 per annum it was the city auditor. The work in this department has very much increased during the past two or three years, and that it is well done is the opinion of competent experts who have had occasion to recently go over the books in the various city departments.

Redd—Did Richley's father leave him anything when he died?

Greene—Everything but brains.

The Proposed New Railroad.

PEOPLE who are giving flippant support to the proposed Boston & Eastern Electric Railroad evidently do not give consideration to the complete question. Some persons who support the new railroad idea do so because of a feeling against existing railroads or because they are personally benefitted. That is only natural. Human nature is so made up that it first attends to its selfish interests.

There are people, however, who look at the question outside of a selfish or personal interest, and it is their quite unanimous opinion that public convenience and necessity does not call for a railroad to run on a Chinese wall through one of the most thickly settled portions of Lynn.

They do not believe that the railroad commissioners would ever report that "public necessity and convenience required" a railroad of a character according to the proposed location, but in the event of its being carried underground through Lynn or across the land in the vicinity of Holder's Pond, there is probably nobody who would object seriously.

Naturally, however, the new railroad wants the best, and therefore desires to tap the center of Lynn, or as near thereto as possible. That is only business, and if they can get the franchise they are not to blame.

Lynn, however, has sufficiently suffered at the hands of foreign corporations in matters of public utility. We have had "competing" street railroads, telephone companies, and a steam heating company, to say nothing about others of the same class, and what has been the result? The city of Lynn has been a serious loser.

How long would it be, assuming that the Boston & Eastern high speed railroad became a realization, before it would be controlled by either the Boston & Maine or Boston & Northern railroad interests? Especially if it was a success. If the road was a "dead one" nobody would want it, and it would be a fearful blot upon Lynn.

We are one of those who have never thought for one moment that the railroad commissioners would consider that "public convenience and necessity required" the high speed electric railroad over the location called for.

It is an important part of the proposition to know who is back of this enterprise. That might have some influence on the Lynn public.

We have been jockeyed with so much in times past in connection with public service utilities that Lynn people are skeptical of new suggestions in this direction. It is a question, and a serious one, with the Lynn public, whether it is always business to have competition in certain public service companies. The Lynn and Boston traffic is now well taken care of and we do not believe that the public interest would be a gainer by the proposed new railroad, on the location announced.

February.

Still lie the sheltering snows, undimmed and white;

And reigns the winter's pregnant silence still;

No sign of spring, save that the catkins fill,

And willow stems grow daily red and bright.

These are the days when ancients held a rite
Of expiation for the old year's ill.

And prayer to purify the new year's will;

Fit days, ere the spring rains blur the sight,

Ere yet the bounding blood grows hot with haste,

And dreaming thoughts grow heavy with a greed

The ardent summer's joys to have and taste;

Fit days, to give to last year's losses heed,

To reckon clear the new life's sterner need;

Fit days, for Feast of Expiation pleased!

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Uncle Sam's Cash Box.

When Uncle Sam shut up his cash box at 4 o'clock p. m., on December 31, last, it contained the largest amount of money he had ever owned at one time, namely, $1,628,974,834, consisting of the following:

Gold coin and bullion . .	$894,394,821
Silver coin and bullion . .	487,427,724
Gold certificates	58,719,670
Silver certificates	8,438,975
United States notes . . .	4,787,834
National bank notes . . .	11,105,884
Fractional currency . . .	154
Minor coin	601,132
Bank books showing deposit credits	158,753,159
Certificates of deposit, Philippines treasury . . .	4,398,584
Sundry I. O. U.'s	346,897
Total	$1,628,974,834

This is far more money than any nation ever before possessed at the one time. Its parallel cannot be found in ancient or modern history.

Jones is a very close man.

How is that?

He gave a party at his house the other night and hired a blind orchestra to save light.

A member of the committee of arrangements of the anniversary of the Lynn Historical Society appears to take an exception to our opinion as to the responsibility of the length of the exercises lying with the committee, for each one of the contributors was informed in the written invitation as to the amount of time on the programme which would be allotted to him, and the same applied to the excellent musical numbers. All contributors averaged within their time, except that of the address referred to, which the author submitted in manuscript to the committee, one of whom read it aloud in five minutes less than the allotted time, but alas, on its delivery it became evident that other thoughts had impressed themselves upon the author's brain, and the able and eloquent address extended to twice its original length. Otherwise the exercises would have been within the time arranged by the committee.

True Manhood.

The hour is late, and I must leave the club;
Alone a woman waits for me at home;
Her anxious, careworn face—ah, there's the rub!
Will not permit me longer, boys, to roam.
You bachelors may laugh and cry, "Don't go!"
Am I a brute? True manhood I lack?
Without a maid what can a woman do
Whose waist is buttoned down the back?
New York Times.

The residents of Saugus are patient and stand a great deal. There is a terrible whistle which blows an unreasonably long time at 5.30 every week-day morning. A correspondent writes to us that it is "a terrible source of annoyance to sick and aged people," and it is not only disturbing to Saugus residents, but is a nuisance to many people in the westerly section of Lynn. We believe that an appeal to the courts would stop this nuisance if anybody feels sufficiently interested to go to the trouble and expense of bringing a suit.

By drawing the "long" straw, Sheffield Ingalls of Atchison, Kan., eldest son of the late Senator Ingalls, has gained a seat in the Kansas Legislature. There was a tie vote in the election, and the contestants agreed to draw straws for the office. Sheffield Ingalls looks like his father and is said to have some of his father's brilliancy. He is a republican.

Those who are upon the inside in matters legislative, state that the bills presented by Mayor Barney to the legislature are likely to be all adopted.

Lincoln

A peaceful life;—just toil and rest—
All his desire;—
To read the books he liked the best
Beside the cabin fire—
God's word and man's;—to peer sometimes
Above the page, in smouldering gleams,
And catch, like far heroic rhymes,
The onmarch of his dreams.
A peaceful life;—to hear the low
Of pastured herds,
Or woodman's axe, blow on blow,
Fell sweet as rhythmic words.
And yet there stirred within his breast
A fateful pulse that, like a roll
Of drums, made high above his rest
A tumult in his soul.
A peaceful life! . . . They hailed him even
As One was hailed
Whose open palms were nailed toward Heaven
When prayers nor aught availed.
And, lo, he paid the selfsame price
To lull a nation's awful strife
And will us, through the sacrifice
Of self, his peaceful life.

—James Whitcomb Riley,

A railroad observer figures that patrons of the Pullman Car Co. pay that corporation $1,500,000 through the medium of tips, which the company otherwise would have to pay in wages. The history of the Pullman Car Co. tells a great story of public extortion. When it is considered that the Pullman car porter secures the magnificent salary of $25 per month, it will readily be seen where the great extortion comes in. The porters could not live without their tips. It is the doings of such companies as this which inflame the public against corporations. They issue new stock and give it a fictitious value, and distribute their surplus among stockholders rather than reduce the passenger tariff. In other words they suck the public to the fullest extent and do not give them the slightest relief in tariff charges, and in the paying of decent wages to the people they employ. When the inflammable writers get through with Rockefeller and other similar subjects they want to give us the story of Pullman, if anything remains to be said.

Rev. R. A. Ward, pastor of the Chestnut street church is doing splendid work in his parish, and he deserves the fullest support in his endeavors. He has already secured $2,500, and desires $2,000 additional to clean up the mortgage on the church and pay outstanding bills and make the necessary improvements on the church. It is hard to reckon the amount of good which comes from such work as that done by Rev. Mr. Ward.

Patronize the merchants who advertise in the LYNN REVIEW.

Grade Crossing Separation.

Indications now point to the fact that Lynn will have the grade crossing separation question settled more in the interest of the general public.

The board of railroad commissioners are to be congratulated on the fair treatment extended Lynn in the consideration of this important question.

There is only one correct way to separate the grades in Lynn, and that is by depression. Any other treatment of the matter will be against public interest.

The difficulty comes in its costing approximately two million dollars to do the job wrong, and three million dollars to carry it out on correct principles.

The railroad commissioners never should countenance a separation plan except it calls for depression. That is the sensible and just way to treat the matter, as evidenced by experience all over the world.

"Are you the chief engineer of this concern?" asked an excited individual of the sub-editor. "No, sir, I am not the engineer; I'm the boiler." And he proceeded to "boil down" six sheets of matter into a note of six lines.

A Tragedy.

A soft-breasted bird from the sea
Fell in love with the lighthouse flame,
And it wheeled round the tower on its airiest wing,
And floated and cried like a love-lorn thing;
It brooded all day and it fluttered all night,
But could win no look from the steadfast light.

For the flame had its heart afar,
Afar with the ships at sea;
It was thinking of children and waiting wives,
And darkness and danger to sailor's lives;
And the bird had its tender bosom pressed
On the glass where at last it dashed its breast.
The light only flickered, the brighter to glow;
But the bird lay dead on the rocks below.
—John Boyle O'Reilly.

A correspondent writes to the REVIEW asking for information, "how it is possible for the city council to practice economy and at the same time increase the police force." He makes the suggestion that the present force do more work and that there be no increase in numbers. The correspondent further states that in his opinion the police force should be put on the same businesslike basis that characterizes the fire department at present.

The Board of Trade "does things," as evidenced by the reports read at the annual meeting.

The Line to the West

BOSTON

and MAINE

RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

I do not consider that a young man who has been through the grammar and high schools and a college is of necessity an educated man, though I know this is the theory of the world. That young man has simply got a good start, and if he is wise he will not consider that he is educated until he ends his life. A man who wishes to succeed must learn something every day of his life and also have the faculty of utilizing his knowledge. It is not the extent of a man's knowledge but his ability to utilize what he possesses that wins his success. If a man has a little book knowledge, starts in trade, turns over what little knowledge he possesses every day and wins commanding success, people frequently remark that it is a pity he is not an 'educated' man. He may not be able to write an elegant letter or discuss the proper pronunciation of Latin, but that man is really an educated man, since he is practical and is thoroughly educated in every detail of some kind of business. I do not underestimate the value or pleasures of a knowledge of literature, history and the languages, but a man of common sense and a strong grip on his line of trade or business generally reads and studies what he can utilize in his business with a sufficient percentage over to assist a thorough enjoyment of life. We see many men in public and professional life whose success appears wholly out of proportion to their talents. Men sit in judgment upon them, and are apt to regard such as having blundered into success; and you will always find such men self-reliant and ambitious, no matter how small their capital in life may have been from the start. In this connection allow me to observe that there is no better place in the world for a person to obtain a good education than in the office of a daily newspaper — and he needs no college education to fit him for the onerous and varied duties of a severe journalistic life. With talent, energy and a desire to excel, the poor boy can safely take his chances among the Froudes and Macaulays of the coming generation of newspaper men. — Chas. H. Taylor. ❀

Laugh, and the world smiles with you,
Snore, and you sleep alone.

If any man can convince me and bring home to me that I do not think or act aright, gladly will I change; for I search after truth, by which man never yet was harmed. — Marcus Aurelius.

SPECIAL!

The LYNN REVIEW

HAS NO CONNECTION
WHATSOEVER,

With any other paper or periodical
Printed in Lynn or elsewhere

Suppressing Noises.

New York city has a society for the suppression of unnecessary noises. Here is a portion of its platform:—

The Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise earnestly believes that those who contribute so liberally to our hospitals will aid a society whose first efforts will be directed to relieving the intense suffering of our sick poor from the noise evil. The presence on our board of directors of the superintendents of sixteen hospitals speaks eloquently of the need of activity in that direction. The number of hospital patients so represented is over 8,500, their recovery being retarded, rendered difficult, and sometimes altogether prevented by loss of sleep due to unnecessary noise.

To the sensitive, noise even amidst spacious surroundings is disturbing; in confined quarters it is torture.

It believes that those public spirited men and women who are interested in improving civic conditions in general: will help on a movement which has for its object the removal of one of the greatest banes of city life—unnecessary noise, which first wrecks health and then is chief torment of illness.

It is needless to say that much noise in a great city is unavoidable, therefore we have not organized an anti-noise society, but one which will confine its efforts to the suppression of unnecessary noises. Some of these are forbidden by statute, others by city ordinance, but in the rush of city life the enforcement of these statutes and ordinances is generally overlooked.

This well covers points of value to Lynn people. Those who are interested for the sick, aged and infirm, to the extent of reducing the shock to them resulting from unnecessary noises.

❀
A Southern paper has answers to correspondents. A bride looking for information was answered in this manner:—

Bride—We do not consider the pre-nuptial use of excelsior in perfecting the feminine figure sufficient grounds for divorce. If he married you solely for your figure, on the theory that figures do not lie, he should have been wised up a bit before the gospel sharp got in his hooks. Moreover, any man who neglected to find out whether he is marrying a real woman or a bale of excelsior before the fatal event don't deserve the sympathy of a jury.

❀
When the cook has a good temper it's a sign she can't cook.

At Last, the Light.

The investigation of the books and accounts of the city departments by experts in that line of work, satisfies the public that there has been no dishonesty. It is true that the methods of accounting fit a previous era much better than they do modern times with the increase of business, but nobody has robbed the city or attempted to do so, and if anybody ever had a suspicion of wrong it must now be dismissed, for the experts give our administrators of the public funds a clean bill of health, and that is worth all it cost. The taking account of stock has been productive of good. The air of mystery that has enveloped the City Hall has been dissipated by the report, and we can all start out on the new year with a feeling that the financial management of the city is all right. Methods have been a little antiquated, but that is excusable, and whatever needs improving will be improved, and correct and rational methods be the rule of the future.—Lynn Daily Item.

It sounds very nice to have the Item talk in this manner at the present time, after the reputation of substantial and reliable citizens has been covered with mud. This eulogy on the honesty of city department methods would have sounded better at the time when men were being unjustly, unreasonably, and, many people believed, maliciously attacked. It pays to play fair and not to be governed by prejudice and unreason, and the day is fast coming when some people in Lynn will more fully comprehend that their actions have been tinged with the most fearful injustice toward certain respected and esteemed citizens, whose honesty and probity of honor have never been under suspicion. These men, so unjustly attacked, are just as certain to have redress by the natural trend of events, as daylight follows darkness.

Bronson Howard, speaking on the "American Drama," said that the drama would be nothing in America until people ceased to regard it as amusement only. "I hate the tired business man," said Mr. Howard. "He is the cause of plays being produced that keep four other men at home. I wish he would go home there and rest. The drama has no future in this country until we cease to cater to the tired business man."

There are 650,000 school children in New York city.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

The parish minister meeting a farm servant, who is a member of his flock, the following conversation ensued: "Well John, and how are things going with you? I hope you are keeping well?"

"Hech, sir, it's hard work I hae to dae; nae rest from morn to nicht; work an' work, no' a minute's peace for me."

"Well, John, we must all do our share in the work of this world. Remember, it is only the preparation for a better world where there will be no more work to be done."

"Well, sir, that may be for the likes o' you, but I'm no sae sure that there will be naething for me to dae in the other world. It will be the same thing there. 'John, clean the sun; John, hang oot the moon; John, light the stars,' and so on. I've nae doubt they'll always find something for me to dae."—The Tatler.

A company selling salve sent a quantity to a man, requiring him to write a puff. He wrote that he had a dog that got about two inches of his tail cut off. He applied the salve to the wound and the tail grew out to natural length. He applied the salve to the piece of tail and a whole new dog grew on.—Woman's Home Companion.

William A. Wilson

Successor to Emery & Taylor

Druggist

205 FRANKLIN STREET
COR. BOSTON STREET

ONE of the best appointed drug stores in Lynn—Prescription service the highest class—choice lines of Drugs, Medicines, Toilet Preparations, Perfumes, etc.

In fact, everything usually found in a first-class drug store.

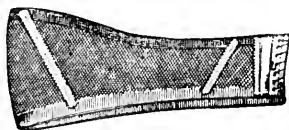

Splendid lines of confectionery and cigars and that is the talk of our locality by reason of its quality.

SODA

Naval Rupture, Tendency to Corpulency or any Abdominal Weakness demands the use of an

All Elastic Abdominal Belt

We manufacture all to special measure which insures a perfect fit and most efficient support.
Send for catalogue No. 2.

CURTIS & SPINDELL CO., 7 Munroe St., Lynn

The "Easy to buy, easy to pay, no money down," credit houses continue to take large dividends from people who buy extravagantly, but many times even up by eluding their landlord and grocer. Many people will pay an exorbitant price for an article when they have the facility of short payments. The payments become easier to them, and lawmakers have found it to be a most difficult question to regulate with justice to all concerned. When these people are attacked on the score of credit they say that it is not any more in evidence in this direction than in business, where such a large per cent. of men do business on substantially a conversation basis, borrowing ten times more money upon which to do business than they are really worth. The cheap credit houses are believed to do a great injustice to the public in the details of quality and price, but this is a matter which it is not practical to regulate by law.

The Way of It.

When young I worked
From dawn till night,
That I might make
The both ends meet.
I had a monstrous appetite,
But never got Enough to eat.
I'm older now,
And both ends meet;
I've had my toil,
And won the fight.
I've everything
I want to eat,
But nary bit
Of appetite!

—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The overdoing of the tip system was well illustrated at the Col. W. D. Mann perjury trial in New York. When the Colonel was being carried up in the elevator to the court room several times daily, he would give the elevator man a dollar tip for each ride.

They Make the Paper Sell.

"Poison!" "Arson!" "Suicide!"
"A thousand Killed in a Big Landslide!"
"Japs take Port of Cronicroft!"
"Dowie Hides in An Organ Loft!"
"Swindle!" "Boodle!" "Holocaust!"
"Railroad Smashup, Ninety Lost!"
"Long Shot Takes the Handicap!"
"Poodle Dies in a Lady's Lap!"
"Murder!" "Typhus!" "Black Smallpox!"
"Foraker Calls on Geo. B. Cox!"
"Strikers Must Work or Go to Jail!"
"Machem Out on $10,000 Bail!"
"Earthquake!" "Cyclone!" "Hypnotic Trance!"
"Bulldog Tore the Lover's Pants!"
"Died at Home While They Buried His Wife!"
"Ingersoll on 'A Christian Life'!"
"Duel!" "Mahem!" "Prays for rain!"
"Italians fight on a Panhandle Train!"
"Kept Marriage Secret Nearly a year!"
"Carrie Nation Drunk on Beer!"
"Briber!" "Fakir!" "Man Ate Son!"
"Senator Dick in Washington!"
"Work is rushed on Men-of-War!"
"Cut in Two by a Whirling Saw!"
"Auto Ran into a Bar!"
"Crushed to Death by Electric Car!"
"Ex-Convicts Must Leave the Town!"
"Kansas Banker Can't Be Found!"
That's the kind of stuff we read;
"Frightful Deluge!" "Awful Deed!"
Let us read something better than "Strychnine Put in Milking Can!"

—Andrews, No. 34,105, Penitentiary News.

While all of Mr. Keith's theatres are furnished and decorated in a liberal manner, and the high-class vaudeville entertainment given in one can be taken as a sample of that in the others, special attention is directed to Keith's Theatre, Boston, which has been called "the model playhouse of the country," a generalization that might be extended to the world, for European travelers aver that there is nothing comparable with it on the other side of the Atlantic. This theatre has come to be regarded as "one of the show places of Boston," and no visitor to the city ever goes away without having inspected it. The February bookings are of a special high order.

Lynn lost a most substantial citizen by the death of Charles S. Fuller. He was loyal and sincere to every interest, whether in the field of industry, church or home. He never made any pretensions and his friendships were lasting and strong. He knitted men to him by a fine sense of honor, and Lynn never had a more worthy, honorable or kindly disposed citizen than Charles S. Fuller.

One restaurant in New York city feeds 60,000 people daily, accommodating 3500 in a single restaurant.

CANDIES!

Do you realize that we give you the EXACT quality of candy you buy at Boston stores for 25 per cent. less than Boston prices!

Come and see us when you want Candy, Cakes, Confectionery, etc.

SCHLEHUBER

BAKER — CATERER — CONFECTIONER
78 Exchange Street, Lynn
Phone 305-2

The Shah of Persia died last month. He had been the father of six sons and eleven daughters, at least that was the latest census, and he never drank wine or spirits. He was said to be the most learned of all the crowned heads. His father was assassinated in 1896. For thirty years he was a prisoner in the residence of the heirs to the throne. There was probably no one in the Orient who had as thorough a knowledge of classical literature of the East. He is said to have left a fortune to the value of $200,000,000, and a collection of jewels worth $20,000,000. He owned the Peacock throne, so-called, made of jewels valued at $12,000,000. The Shah loved out-of-door life, and was a first-class rifle shot as well as a bold hunter. He was described as being a large man, with a handsome face and long black mustache. Among other troubles he was afflicted with Bright's disease, gout, calcamus and paralysis. Quite a line of diseases for a temperate man. Eighteen doctors attended him in his illness, and the wonder is that he lived as long as he did, being about fifty-four years old at the time of his death. His son succeeds him on the throne and he received a European education, and is said to be favorable to the civilization of the West. The Shah signed a constitution for his people on his death bed.

“Did you hear that noise? What can it be?” demanded the janitor of a fashionable apartment house.

His wife went out into the hall and returned. “It was nothing but a rat,” she said.

“Ah,” sighed the janitor, greatly relieved, “I thought it was a child.”

Everybody is with Mayor Barney for an “immediate improvement of Lynn streets.”

Mr. Wilkins.

Mr. Wilkins had a dollar, so he said he guessed he'd pay.

A little sum he'd borrowed from a gentleman named Gray;

Then Gray he took that dollar, and he said “It seems to me

I'd better pay that little debt I owe to McAfee;”

Then McAfee the dollar paid upon a bill to Smart; By Smart 'twas paid to Thomson, and by Thomson paid to Hart.

And so that coin kept rolling as a very busy plunk.”

Until it paid indebtedness amounting in the chunk To more than forty dollars, and it may be rolling yet,

And all because this Wilkins thought he'd better pay a debt.

For when a dollar's started

On its debt-destroying way,

There hardly is a limit

To the sums that it will pay.

Mr. Wilkins knew a kindness that he might have done for Gray,

But he wasn't feeling kindly, so he thought it it wouldn't “pay.”

Then Gray, not being grateful, said: “It really seems to me

I've done sufficient favors for that blasted McAfee.”

Then McAfee felt ugly, and he took a whack at Smart,

Who passed it on to Thomson, who passed it on to Hart.

And so no act of kindness was done through all that day;

But many an act that rankled in a most unpleasant way;

And many a soul was longing for the help to fit its need,

And all because this Wilkins didn't do a kindly deed.

For a dollar or a kindness,

Rule is still the same, I say;

If you wish to see it rolling,

Better start it on its way.

—Exchange.

Lynn has a new lawyer in the person of Edward A. Donohoe, who has had valuable experience with the law firm of Hurlburt, Jones & Cabot, of Boston. Mr. Donohoe has opened an office in the Proctor Building, 31 Exchange street. He is a Yale graduate and has a good foundation, in native common sense and University education, to become a successful practitioner.

ASK US ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent $ 7.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

CALLS AMERICAN GIRL A BORE.

Says She Has Failed to Keep Pace With the American Boy.

THE American girl has been called almost everything, good and bad. The editor of the North American Review now adds something of a novelty. He comes out flat-footed and declares she is a bore.

"There is little that is interesting, aside from her physical appearance," says he, "in the American girl of to-day between the ages of 15 and 22. She has failed to keep pace in any respect to the American boy, whose advancement we recently remarked with satisfaction. Indeed, if the blunt truth be spoken, she is an intolerable bore, self-conscious, ignorant and concerned chiefly with matrimonial aspirations.

"To the Englishman her pertness, which he imagines to be chic, is fascinating and indicative of mental brightness, but this effect is attributable largely to his own dullness. It is the clever management of a limited number of phrases, supplemented by copious use of what he considers delightful slang, not substance, or even measurable information, that appeals to his jaded mentality.

"In point of intelligence she is, we believe, the equal if not the superior of her English cousin, but in the choice of language she is sadly inferior. The use of slang by boys finds some excuse in unavoidable association with unrefined men; its use by girls is simply odious and a direct reflection upon the attention and taste of their mothers. This is easily proved by inquiry into sources of the petted phrases.

"Take, for example, two of the latest—'Twenty-three' and 'Skidoo.' These have slightly different meanings, the exact interpretation of the former being 'to the rear,' and of the latter 'scamper' or 'flee in haste.' The former had its origin at the racetrack, which ordinarily has only sufficient width to accommodate twenty-two horses standing side by side, so that the twenty-third is necessarily relegated to an unfavorable position. The use of the coined phrases therefore implies a knowledge of professional sport the possession of which by a young girl is distinctly unbecoming.

"The second if a mere substitute for 'skedaddle,' itself of American origin and now regarded by common assent as egregiously vulgar. Scores of like illustrations might be put in evidence; but these should convince a mother, teacher or even a comparatively ignorant girl herself of the desirability of seeking the roots of terms whose use she has come to regard as an evidence of smartness.

"The mother of the present day, for whose comrade relationship with her boys we have profound admiration, is likely to be so apprehensive that her daughter may seem old-fashioned and lack some of the immediately modern competitive fascinations that she unwisely tolerates practices disagreeable to herself. Apparently, she has yet to learn that, to the intelligent Americans of marriageable age, pertness is as distasteful as even priggishness."

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD Lynn and Boston Trains

Leave Lynn	Leave Lynn	Leave Lynn	Leave Boston	Leave Boston	Leave Boston
A.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4.58*	9.50*	4.26	5.55	12.30*	5.40
5.20*	10.23*	4.52*	5.57*	12.40*	5.55*
5.51*	10.27*	4.45*	6.30	12.55*	6.00*
6.11	11.11*	5.17	7.05*	1.00*	6.03
6.14*	11.18*	5.46	7.09	1.15*	6.05*
6.43	11.36	6.08	7.39	1.40	6.10
7.04*		6.28*	8.03*	2.00*	6.15*
6.33*	P.M.	6.07*	8.17	2.30*	6.20
7.07	12.08	6.57	8.19	2.49	6.32*
7.00*	12.16*	7.12*	8.50*	3.20*	6.40
7.26	12.37	7.12	9.00*	3.30*	7.10
7.44	12.32*	7.32*	9.25*	3.32*	7.22*
7.57*	12.59	7.22*	9.35*	4.00*	7.45
7.55*	1.31	7.53	9.50*	4.06	8.30*
8.07*	1.40*	8.57*	10.10	4.33	8.35*
8.11	2.00	8.43	10.45	4.42*	9.15
8.23*	2.18*	8.39*	11.10	4.48*	10.04*
8.03*	3.02*	9.39*	11.50*	5.00*	10.20
8.38*	3.16*	10.06	11.55	5.05*	11.15*
9.02*	3.05*	10.10*		5.13	11.26
8.46*	3.32*	10.42*		5.23*	11.32*
9.14*	3.41*	11.37		5.31*
9.26	3.50			5.35*

SUNDAYS

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4.58*	1.25	6.42	8.13	12.40	6.30
8.49	2.03	7.17	8.20	1.15	7.11
9.36	3.23*	8.11	9.00*	2.15	8.15
10.53	3.41*	8.36	9.45	3.15	9.15*
	4.07	8.51	10.45	4.30	10.05
P.M.	5.23*	9.37	11.45	5.15
12.03	5.57	10.24*		6.01

* Saugus Branch

* Express

Spinning.

Like a blind spinner in the sun,

I tread my days;

I know that all the threads will run

Appointed ways:

I know each day will bring its task,
And, being blind, no more I ask.

I do not know the name or use

Of that I spin;

I only know that someone came

And laid within

My hand the thread, and said, "Since you
Are blind, but one thing you can do."

Sometimes the threads so rough and fast

And tangled fly,

I know wild storms are sweeping past,

And fear that I

Shall fall; but dare not try to find
A safer place, since I am blind.

I know not why, but I am sure

That tint and place

In some great fabric to endure

Past time and race

My threads will have; so from the first
Though blind, I never felt accurst.

I think, perhaps, this trust has sprung

From one short word

Said over me when I was young—

So young, I heard

It; knowing not that God's name signed

My brow, and sealed me His, though blind.

But whether this be seal or sign

Within, without,

It matters not. The bond divine

I never doubt.

I know He set me here, and still

And glad, and blind, I wait His will;

But listen, listen, day by day,

To hear the tread

Who bear the finished web away,

And cut the thread,

And bring God's message in the sun,

"Thou poor, blind spinner, work is done."

—H. H.

A very just complaint was brought before an eminent English bishop that a certain clergyman in the diocese was wearing an Oxford master's hood, when, as a matter of fact, he had no such degree. "I call it, my lord," said the complainant, "wearing a lie on his back." "We need not use quite so strong a word, Mr. Smith," the bishop replied in his blindest manner. "Call it a false hood."

Rev. Russell Day, a famous Eton master, once ordered a boy to stay after school; but, when the hour came, he himself was in a better temper. "What may your name be?" Mr. Day asked of the prepositor. "Cole, sir," replied the boy. "Then, my friend," said Mr. Day, "I think you had better scuttle."

Oliver Wendell Holmes said:—"The great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving."

A high school boy said to his father the other night:

"Daddy, I've got a sentence here I'd like you to punctuate. You know something about punctuation, don't you?"

"A little," said the cautious parent as he took the slip of paper he handed him.

This is what he read:

"Mary walked quickly around the corner."

He studied it carefully.

"Well," he finally said, "I'd simply put a period after it like this."

"I wouldn't," said the high school boy. "I'd make a dash after Mary."—Loyal Workman.

While attending a funeral, McBride

Was asked who was dead and replied,

"I don't know," he said,

"The gent who is dead—

I just came along for the ride."

—Selected.

Oh, the anguish of that thought that we can never atone to our dead for the stunted affection we gave them, for the light answers we gave to their plaints and pleadings, for the little reverence we showed to the sacred human soul that lives so close to us, and was the divinest thing God had ever given us to know.—George Eliot.

Telephone 1807

Melville

312 Union Street

Final Mark-Down Sale

NOW GOING ON

$7.50 Coats at	$2.98	$10.00 Coats	$4.98
$10.00 Raincoats at	6.98	$10.00 to $15.00 Coats	6.98
$18.75 to $30.00 Suits for	15.00	$1.00 Night Robes for75
$5.00 Walking Skirts for	1.98	$1.75 and $1.50 Night Robes98
$8.75 to $10.00 Skirts for	4.98	$1.00 Skirts for69
$1.50 Vests for98	59 cent Chemise for39
$3.00 Sweaters for	1.98	89 cent Chemise for59
$18.75 to $20.00 Fox Shawls at	10.00	$1.00 Waists for50
$30.00, $35.00 Fur Coats for	15.00	$2.00 Waists for98

Geo. C. Melville & Co., 312 Union St.

PEOPLE desiring the Review EVERY month should take notice that they must become subscribers. Fifty cents per year is the subscription price.

When you receive the LYNN REVIEW and you are not a subscriber, it is an invitation to subscribe.

WOMEN

are asked to call and secure one of our Expense Record Books.

We want your account.

MANUFACTURERS NATIONAL BANK,

B.W. CURRIER, Pres't. W.B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice-Pres't, CLIFTON COLBURN, Cash.

Attractiveness

IS THE MOST IMPORTANT REQUISITE OF GOOD PRINTING. IT IS THE QUALITY WHICH COMPELS ATTENTION AND MAKES A LASTING IMPRESSION. IT DOUBLES THE EFFICIENCY and INSURES RESULTS. ITS PRODUCTION REQUIRES NOT ONLY A MODERN EQUIPMENT MECHANICALLY BUT IT DEMANDS THE CONSTANT AND CAREFUL ATTENTION OF COMPETENT, EXPERIENCED WORKMEN

WHEN YOU ARE LOOKING FOR PRINTING OF THIS SORT,
TELEPHONE, WIRE or WRITE and WE WILL CALL. 'Phone 1745

The MERRILL-HANCOCK PRESS of LYNN

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

MARCH, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 5

SECURITY SAFE DEPOSIT AND TRUST COMPANY

MAIN OFFICE, BERGENGREN BLDG., CENTRAL SQUARE

D ID YOU EVER REALIZE THE DANGER OF KEEP-ING YOUR VALUABLE PAPERS ABOUT THE
OFFICE OR HOME? THEN WHY NOT MAKE YOURSELF MORE COMFORTABLE BY RENTING A SAFE
DEPOSIT BOX IN OUR VAULT? COST, $5.00 AND UP-WARD PER YEAR ACCORDING TO SIZE.

BRANCH OFFICE :: :: :: 25 MARKET SQUARE, WEST LYNN

Clearance Sale of Rightly - Made Clothing for Boys and Children

¶ If your boy is in need of an Overcoat, Suit or Odd Trousers we can save you money. ¶ This would be a good time to see what kind of boys' clothing we sell, and at the same time get a real bargain.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Economy Cleanliness Quick Service

are arguments to show why you should burn gas. No city in New England has better or lower priced gas than Lynn—85 cents, net, per 1000 feet—and we lay the pipe (when spring opens) to your cellar wall.

For Manufacturers' Consideration

WE HAVE

Electric Power

that beats steam power in every important point—cost of operation, economy of space, etc. Right at hand to use when wanted, day or night.

Ask for details of our Power proposition. 'Phone 1348

Lynn Gas & Electric Company

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

MARCH, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 5

Does the muzzle muzzle?

By the way, where is District Attorney Moran?

Regarding the water board controversy—After all, What?

Church days for the month: Palm Sunday, March 24; Good Friday, March 29; Easter Sunday, March 31.

We are looking for that weather "prophet," who in December, said "the grass would be green" hereabouts, Feb. 22. Possibly, but we could not see it.

Faulty government inspection appears to be the sole cause of the Larchmont horror. And the United States government ought to be made to pay—and dearly too—for every life lost. When shall we ever have inspection that inspects!

Representative Barker of Lynn, is doing his best to interfere with useless bells, gongs and whistles at night, having presented a petition to the legislature to regulate the use of whistles, bells and gongs on manufacturing establishments. He seeks to provide that these shall not sound for the purpose of giving notice to workmen, except in case of fire, between the hours of 6 o'clock in the evening and 6.30 in the morning.

And they have succeeded at last, have accomplished their real purpose and the water department is in politics. "Pulls" and counter "pulls" are having their innings. Places, positions and perquisites, if unmistakable rumors can be trusted, are freely promised and worked for votes. And this the result of reform! How different from, how beneath the past fifteen years of quiet, conservative management! And who is responsible? It is not hard to tell. Call the roll of a dozen men in office and out, and the responsibility for it is fixed. "O Tempora. O Mores!"

Do It Right, or Do Nothing.

This should be Lynn's motto in connection with the railroad grade separation.

There is only one CORRECT way to do it—DEPRESSION.

All the other plans are makeshifts and subterfuges.

Expensive! you say? Surely! Most everything that is worth anything costs money.

The experience of the world is favorable to depression, and if Lynn agrees to anything different the city should receive censure.

Better for Lynn to pay $500,000 above its legal share in the work, and have it done correctly, than to stand for a party wall through Lynn's busy industrial centre.

It would be a terrible error!

Think it over at City Hall.

Keep open front side door (on safety side) of electric cars, while passing through the city.

It is very singular that the State Board of Health recommends a $400,000 filtration plan for Lynn, in view of the fact that Chairman Sprague, of the Metropolitan Water and Sewer Commission, states that in his opinion it is not necessary for Cochituate lake water to be filtered before Boston people can drink it. Cochituate lake has from 7000 to 8000 more people on its water shed than do the Lynn sources of water supply, and yet he does not think it necessary to spend $1,000,000 to filter the water. Certainly this is evidence going to show that the $400,000 plan for Lynn can wait.

Those people who think that through the tariff laws the most fearful injustices are being inflicted upon the people cannot account for President Roosevelt's inaction. It is hard to fathom. The insurance, standard oil and railroad "evils" are but flea-bites when compared to tariff schedules made solely to serve private interests, and why Roosevelt does not come to the rescue the average mind cannot comprehend. It is really wonderful—what this man can and cannot do, and yet retain such wonderful favor with the public. He has courage, but does he possess wisdom, discretion and thoroughness, qualities that are most needed in the high office held by him?

ALMOST CLEANING HOUSE TIME

And YOU will want something in the line of CARPETS, RUGS, DRAPERIES, PORTIERES, LACE or MUSLIN CURTAINS, SHELF DRAPERIES, Etc.

When that time comes give us a call before going elsewhere. We have all new goods, and are sure of suiting you as to prices. Don't throw your Old Carpeting away. We make them into durable Rugs at small expense. We show a fine line of Wall Papers from 5 cents a roll, up.

ALBION K. HALL,

39 MARKET STREET.

No Dogs Allowed.

The management of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company has issued orders and has posted notices in all its cars to the following effect: "Dogs will not be allowed in the cars of this Company, after January 31, 1907."

It is stated by the management that this action is taken in response to the many requests that have been received from its patrons that something of this sort be done. In view of the popular feeling at this time, after carefully considering the matter, the management states that it seems necessary in the interests of the people who ride upon its lines to make this ruling and, for the present at least, all dogs will be barred absolutely from the cars.

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

GREEN & SON

PIANO NO BETTER MADE AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

There is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy and sure

HEAD-CURO POWDERS

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents

Send stamps

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

Lynn and Boston Trains

Leave Lynn	Leave Lynn	Leave Lynn	Leave Boston	Leave Boston	Leave Boston
A.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4:58e	9:50e	4:26	5:55	12:30e	5:40
5:20*	10:23e	4:52e	5:57*	12:40e	5:55*
5:51*	10:27*	4:45*	6:30	12:55*	6:00e
6:11	11:11e	5:17	7:05*	1:00e	6:03
6:14*	11:18*	5:46	7:09	1:15e	6:05*
6:43	11:36	6:00	7:30	1:40	6:10
7:04e		6:28e	8:03*	2:00*	6:15*
6:33*	P.M.	6:07*	8:17	2:30e	6:20
7:07	12:08	6:57	8:19	2:49	6:32*
7:00*	12:16e	7:12e	8:50e	3:20e	6:40
7:26	12:37	7:17	9:00e	3:30e	7:10
7:44	12:32*	7:32e	9:25*	3:32*	7:22*
7:57e	12:59	7:22*	9:35e	4:00e	7:45
7:35*	1:31	7:53	9:50e	4:06	8:30e
8:05e	1:40*	8:57e	10:10	4:33	8:35*
8:11	2:00	8:43	10:45	4:42e	9:15
8:23e	2:18e	8:39*	11:10	4:48*	10:04*
8:03*	3:02e	9:39e	11:50*	5:00e	10:20
8:38e	3:16e	10:06	11:55	5:05e	11:15e
9:02e	3:05*	10:10*		5:13	11:26
8:46*	3:32e	10:42e		5:23*	11:32*
9:14e	3:41e	11:37		5:31*
9:26	3:50			5:35e

SUNDAYS

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
4:58e	1:25	6:42	8:13	12:40	6:30
8:49	2:03	7:17	8:20	1:15	7:11
9:36	3:23e	8:11	9:00e	2:15	8:15
10:53	3:41e	8:36	9:45	3:15	9:15e
	4:07	8:54	10:45	4:30	10:05
P.M.	5:23e	9:37	11:45	5:15
12:03	5:57	10:24e		6:01

* Saugus Branch

e Express

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

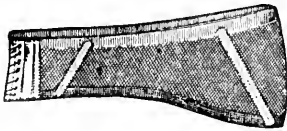

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

Naval Rupture, Tendency to Corpulency or any
Abdominal Weakness demands the use of an

All Elastic Abdominal Belt

We manufacture all to special measure which insures a perfect fit and most efficient support.
Send for catalogue No. 2.

CURTIS & SPINDELL CO., 7 Munroe St., Lynn

THIS is good advice to the patrons of the several credit houses in Lynn, and also to all others: "To avoid temptations to dishonesty, to prove your self-control, to be free from worries, to have a happy family life, to escape slavery—in a word, to be a downright, honest, independent man—PAY AS YOU GO!" The credit store evil is growing in Lynn and is believed to be a great evil in this community. The REVIEW has had much to say regarding this illegitimate form of doing business and we hope that some Lynn legislator can frame a practical law which will reach this matter. Credit houses in large part deal with an element in the community which has no knowledge of business, and people are duped and cajoled and led into making purchases which should not be entered upon. This is a matter for the State legislature to deal with, and we hope some representative will deem it of sufficient importance to make an investigation—at least to ascertain how largely the credit stores interfere with the landlord, grocer and legitimate merchants in general.

There will be some sterling attractions in Lynn Theatre in April, including Hattie Williams in "The Little Cherub," Fay Templeton, "Coming Thro the Rye," Zaza, Rogers Brothers in Ireland, and John Craig in repertoire, the latter for four nights.

Engineer Goodnough of the state board of health said at the board of trade meeting last month that Lynn's water "compared very favorably" with any in the state. A pretty good tribute!

The great reduction in chattel mortgages recorded is strong evidence tending to show that prosperity is with us.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company has weathered the financial storms of 60 years, and safely passed through the tortuous channel that in 1906 wrecked scores of seemingly prosperous institutions. This company now begins its 63d year, more prosperous than ever before, with the same old, tried and true hands guiding it onward to success.

Unlike most other life insurance companies the New England maintains a conservative course, steering clear of risks by a discriminating and vigilant exercise of discretion, maintaining a discreet economy in expenditures, and through a judicious management and a careful investment of funds building up the record that begun when the company was first organized.

No other company doing business in this state can show such a satisfactory report as that just issued by the New England Life Insurance Company. With a net increase in outstanding insurance of $8,668,056 for the year 1906 over 1905, this company now has in force 73,252 policies amounting to $173,396,203. The surplus above all liabilities to date amounts to $4,002,398.41, the present assets totalling $42,826,918.80.

For the 63 years that the company has been doing business the payments to policy holders have amounted to $100,268,805.94, with the premiums received from policy holders totalling $125,498,468.82. This leaves an excess of payments and assets over premiums paid the company of $17,597,255.92.

The company is controlled by directors who believe absolutely in the conservative course. Their names—old and revered Massachusetts names—give ample assurance of the manner in which the business of the company is conducted.

Joseph W. Wood, the company's special representative has written much business for the company in Lynn and vicinity.

The annual report of the First Assistant Postmaster-General shows that at the end of the fiscal year 1906 there were 65,600 post offices in operation. Persons employed in post offices of all classes, including postmasters and assistant postmasters, amounted to 205,288.

Never worry or whine.

ASK US ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list. Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent $ 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL,

112 Market Street

PURE WATER

The Boston Water Purifier will give you absolutely clean, clear, germ-free water at all times of day. Attached to the wall of your kitchen or butler's pantry, and connected with the main water supply, without interfering in any way with your present faucets. You can always obtain water that is really filtered and purified by simply turning the filter faucet. The company exchange the soiled porcelain filter tubes each month for a clean, sterilized set. They lease for $1.00 a month. See them in operation at our store.

WE ARE THE AGENTS

J. F. Morgan & Son

66 Munroe Street

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

Why not carry a LIABILITY POLICY

ON YOUR FACTORY, STORE, BUILDING, or other Real Estate?

ROBERT S. SISSON & SON

ITEM BUILDING, EXCHANGE ST.

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY

AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

When Pa Was a Boy.

I wish 'at I'd of been here when
 My paw he was a boy;
 They must of been excitement then—
 When my paw was a boy.
 In school he always took the prize,
 He used to lick boys twice his size—
 I bet folks all had bulgin' eyes
 When my paw was a boy!

There was a lot of wonders done
 When my paw was a boy;
 How grandpa must have loved his son,
 When my paw was a boy!
 He'd get the coal and chop the wood,
 And think up every way he could
 To always just be sweet and good—
 When my paw was a boy!

Then everything was in its place,
 When my paw was a boy;
 How he could rattle, jump and race,
 When my paw was a boy!
 He never, never disobeyed;
 He beat in every game he played—
 Gee! What a record they was made!
 When my paw was a boy!

I wish 'at I'd of been here when
 My paw he was a boy;
 They'll never be his like agen—
 Paw was the muddle boy.
 But still last night I heard my maw
 Raise up her voice and call my paw
 The biggest goose she ever saw—
 He ought of stayed a boy.

—S. E. Kiser.

The parents who are interested in the Cobbet school do not want the city council to lose sight of the importance of concluding the work of ventilating, heating and plumbing of the school building. It will be remembered that an appropriation was made during the past year to do about one-half of the work laid out by the sanitary engineers, and it will be necessary, in order to carry out the full scheme, for this year's city government to appropriate a similar amount of money, this being the understanding when the work was commenced. On account of its large cost it was deemed advisable to have the work extend over two years. The necessity and desirability of the improvements are fully agreed upon by all who have investigated the conditions surrounding the school.

The Lynn Mutual Fire Insurance Company keeps up its remarkable record, as evidenced by a statement given upon another page. This company's management is most conservative and reliable, and has always held a high place in insurance circles. The fire loss of this company last year was only $719, well illustrating the great care exercised in placing risks.

GOV GUILD is again proving his alert interest in the needs of Massachusetts by circulating a petition for an extra session of Congress to take up tariff revision, says the Greenfield Gazette and Courier. The Republican party will be badly handicapped in the next presidential election if it does not stop fooling with this question, and remedy the great injustices and inequalities of the present tariff. Too much confidence is begotten in our party by our ability the most of the time to bank on the incapacity of the Democratic party for business administration. This is a good, solid, old reliable, and very necessary issue. But we need not argue the fact that it is not an all around platform, and that the dominant party must keep alive to the needs of the time, as it is doing in so many respects. The public memory is not a long one. In a fit of anger it is conceivable that the Democratic record for general inaptitude might be forgotten, if the Republican party dodges too long any great question that it ought to take up. A sensible revision, fair alike to the great consuming public and to manufacturing interests, such as the Republican party might be expected to enact, could do no injury to our prosperity and would remedy grave injustices. But if the job should be given to the Democrats, a period of industrial depression would be likely.

The Lure.

"What bait do you use," said a saint to the devil,
 "When you fish where the souls of men abound?"
 "Well, for special tastes," said the Prince of Evil,
 "Gold and fame are the best I've found."
 "But for general use?" asked the saint.

"Ah, then,"
 Said the demon, "I angle for man, not men;
 And a thing I hate
 Is to change my bait,
 So I fish with a woman the whole year 'round."
 —John Boyle O'Reilly.

The Chinese New Year commenced February 12, and instead of 1907, they write it 4604. The New Year is every Chinaman's birthday, and although a child be born twenty-four hours before the new year it is considered after that date to be in its second year. The new year is the Chinaman's star holiday, but he has others during the year, such as the Feast of Lanterns, the Festival of the Full Moon, and the Festival of the Dragon.

Says a woman:—"I care not who does the thinking so long as I am permitted to do the talking."

OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS
OYSTERS

and every kind of FISH that is now seasonable.

Essex County's Best Appointed and Cleanest Fish Market

WILLIAMS BROS.

LYNN'S LEADING FISH DEALERS,

213-217 Union St. Only One Store

'PHONES 28 AND 29.

THE IDEAL OF THE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN

By DAVID R. FORGAN
(Vice-President First National Bank, Chicago)

TO be honest, making money honestly or not at all.

To be fair, refusing to injure a competitor.

To be just, remembering that all must live.

To be kind, regarding employees as something more than an investment.

To be charitable, giving liberally for the up-raising of humanity.

To be healthy, exercising as a duty.

To be sociable, having a side to friends not known to all.

To be lovable, being more to wife and family than a means of support.

To be sympathetic, fearing littleness of soul more than littleness of fortune.

To be broad, accumulating resources higher than the material; above all, to be true to one's self, condoning nothing in self which is to be condemned in others

Other vaudeville theatres may come and go, but Keith's goes on its own individualistic way. The stamp of genius and character is all over the elegant playhouse. The man who lifted vaudeville from the depths and made it cleanly, congenial and helpful for old and young of both sexes, deserves praise. The test of a theatre's goodness lies in this application—"Would you have your daughter attend it?" Fifty-two weeks in a year the answer is "Yes" so far as the beautiful Keith's theatre is concerned, and parents in Boston and the suburbs should, indeed, feel pleased that such high class and interesting entertainments are at their door, not excelled anywhere in the world.

There have been many jokes about the slim girl, but the one told by the funny man of a western paper takes the prize. It refers to the girl who was so attenuated that she was afraid to pull the plug before leaving the bathtub.

The upper story of the New Y. M. C. A. building has the appearance from the outside of being an afterthought.

To have an ideal higher than one's conduct does not make one a hypocrite.

March.

Month of the warlike name and warring blast,
Welcome! since both belie thee. Thou dost bring Sealed orders with thee from the gentle spring,
And, in thy noisy coming, we forecast
Her milder advent. Ay, we know thou hast
A loyal heart, despite the stormy ring
Of thy rude war-cry! Late, a bluebird's wing
Athwart thy clouded path unchallenged passed;
But yesterday, arbutus buds I spied,
Covered with snow for leaves,—sweet babes o'
the wood!—

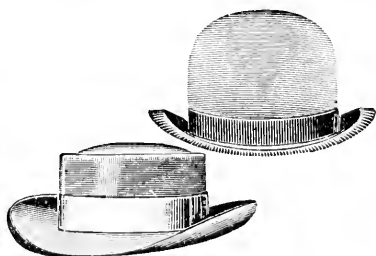

And noted, peeping up in bravest mood,
Green growing things that would no longer hide:
And while thy shrillest winds piped overhead,
"Ah, Spring is coming!" to myself I said.

—Caroline A. Mason.

The population of New York City to-day is as great as was that of all the states and territories of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains at the last census. Its population is greater than was that of the entire country when Washington was inaugurated President. Its annual revenues of $125,000,000 are more than two-thirds those of Spain, and more than one-third those of Italy. They are one-fifth of those of the United States Government.

"Emperor William wants his salary raised to $10,000,000" "Can you blame him, with butter at 45 cents?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DUNLAP HATS

Spring Styles

1907 are Now Ready

The leading styles in new Spring Hats for Men, from $1.50 to $5.00.

TRUNKS, DRESS SUIT CASES, UMBRELLAS, etc., at lower prices than those prevailing in Boston.

Amos B. Chase

123 MUNROE ST.

Common Sense and Rules.

RULES are very necessary in the conducting of a business, but common sense is supposed to come before rules.

This was brought to mind the other day when two women rushed out from the Central station to board an Upper Swampscott car. They arrived one second too late, the motorman saw them, and did not stop. Under the rules he was not allowed to stop his car.

The two women were forced to wait one-half hour for a car, or walk. They decided on the latter course, and the company was out two fares. How many fares the company loses through its failure to accommodate the public it would be hard to measure. Cases are actually known where scores of people have become so impatient at the unreasonable application of rules that they have become steady walkers to their places of business.

It is the first duty of a corporation to accommodate the public, and when any foolish, insipid and silly rule interferes with proper service, the corporation should be made to suffer, and they are doing it in Lynn because the Boston & Northern Railroad is manufacturing walkers every day, and the reduced riding is ample evidence that such is a fact, and the sooner the people at headquarters recognize this fact the more money will fall into their till.

The local management of the Boston & Northern Railroad should not be blamed for this condition of affairs. The rules come from those higher up, and it is through their inability to understand the Lynn situation that the high officials so legislate that the Lynn service is seriously interfered with.

There are not cars enough on some of the routes, more especially upon the main line, there being many times a twenty or twenty-five minute intermission between trips, and all over the city complaints come that the public is not properly served, largely on account of the severe and unreasonable rules which the officials outside of Lynn say shall govern.

It is the old story, where railroads pass out from local control, and get into the hands of people who have no special interest in the localities traversed by the roads. All they are looking for is dividends. There is much watered stock upon which interest must be paid, and therefore the public suffers.

Put on a straight business basis, with all the water squeezed out of the stock, the property rated for what it was actually worth, interest only being paid on legitimate capital, the citizens of Lynn would have a royal street car service, and the dividends would be most liberal.

The Hindoo's Death.

A Hindoo died; a happy thing to do, When fifty years united to a shrew. Released, he hopefully for entrance cries Before the gates of Brahma's paradise. "Hast been through purgatory?" Brahma said. "I have been married!" and he hung his head. "Come in! come in! and welcome to my son! Marriage and purgatory are as one." In bliss extreme he entered heaven's door, And knew the bliss he ne'er had known before.

He scarce had entered in the gardens fair, Another Hindoo asked admission there. The self-same question Brahma asked again: "Hast been through purgatory?" "No; what then?" "Thou canst not enter!" did the god reply. He who went in was there no more than I." "All that is true, but he has married been, And so on earth has suffered for all his sin." "Married?" "Tis well, for I've been married twice." "Begone! We'll have no fools in paradise," —George Birdseye.

It was an Irishman; two of them, in fact, and bed fellows. Three weeks only had elapsed after their arrival in this country, and their meagre savings, hoarded after years of frugality in the land where the green flag waves, had dwindled seriously.

The Mills Hotel was their stopping place. Waking up early one morning, Mike remarked:

"I say, are you awake?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Will yer lend me a dollar?"

"A dollar, Moike? You say a dollar? Then I'm asleep."—New York Globe.

"There is a distinct joy in owning land, unlike that which you have in money, in houses, in books, pictures, or anything else which men have devised. Personal property brings you into society with men. But land is a part of God's estate in the globe; and when a parcel of ground is deeded to you, and you walk over it, and call it your own, it seems as if you had come into partnership with the original Proprietor of the earth."—Henry Ward Beecher.

It sounded strange when the head of the office would say to employees who asked him for this or that to say: "Go to Helen Hunt for it." Helen was the head girl in the office.

PAY OF WOMEN TEACHERS.

LESS ON THE AVERAGE THAN THAT GIVEN TO HOD CARRIERS.—ARE THEY NOT ENTITLED TO MORE CONSIDERATION?

Considering their responsibilities, the draft on their nervous system, and many other important details concerning their work, it has always been felt that women school teachers were underpaid. This has always been the case in Lynn, especially when it is considered the large amount of time that teachers have to give to be properly fitted for their work. To be sure they have a long vacation, there only being forty weeks of active work, but there is much overtime work and many things that offset this seeming advantage.

The average monthly pay of women school teachers in the United States is $39.77, the highest in Arizona, $71.75 and the lowest in South Carolina, $23.20.

In Lynn, unskilled labor on the streets is paid $702 per year, the police and fire department members receive $1000, and women school teachers $650. This may seem like a fair apportionment of salaries to some people, but there are those in the community who feel that the women teachers are very much underpaid.

To compare wages properly, says the Educational Review, the yearly salary must be computed. A teacher is required to live all the year 'round. There are 313 working days in the year. The omission of any of them from the teacher's service is required not for her, but for the children or the taxpayers.

In sixty-four American cities the average wage of all the school teachers, including the superintendent, is less than $300 a year, 95 cents a working day, 81 cents a living day. In the same cities the following wages are paid to laborers:

Bricklayers	$5.00 to $5.50 per day
Stonecutters	4.00 to 4.50 " "
Carpenters	4.00 to 4.50 " "
Plumbers	4.50 to 5.00 " "
Hodcarriers	2.00 to 2.25 " "
Helpers	1.50 to 2.25 " "

In only four cities in the Union do the minimum salaries exceed those paid to street cleaners in the same municipality. In New York City the average yearly earnings of the street cleaner is $631, in Boston $603, in Philadelphia $503.

As would be expected, the comparison of teachers' wage with that of the higher grade laborers shows more strongly the disadvantages of education as a means of earning a livelihood. In Chicago the minimum wage of moulders of metal is $900 a year, of moulders of character it is $550 a year, less the expense of law-suits to collect it. In Boston the minimum for these two classes is $725 and $552; in Philadelphia $870 and $470; in Seattle $1,050 and $550.

The average wage of a fairly good coachman responsible for the care of three or four horses is $50 a month and his board; of a teacher, in charge of forty or more children, it is $23.75 and no board. The young woman of the chorus gets $60 or more a month. We pay $1,400 a year to policemen.

There are few cities in the United States where the superintendent of schools receives as much as the leading preacher, or one-half the income of the leading doctor, or one-quarter that of the leading lawyer. The number of college presidents, school superintendents and principals in the United States who receive as much as $5,000 is less than a hundred.

The number of clergymen who receive $5,000 and over is more than 500. Every city of 10,000 people has several doctors and lawyers receiving more than $5,000 a year.

These citations show that the salaries of teachers are proportionately as low as they were in 1876. They are proportionately lower than they were then, because of the increased cost of living.

In London, Eng., Prof. W. B. Bottomley in a lecture on biology said that a woman who had allowed her skirt to trail for half an hour in West End streets sent it to a laboratory, where it was found to contain 16,500,000 microbes, including many phthisis bacilli.

A Boston and Maine Railroad official says that he thinks the company has done very well during the hard winter in the running of trains, when it is considered that there are 1200 train movements a day in the North Union Station at Boston.

CITY OF LYNN.

Office of License Commissioners, City Hall, Lynn, Mass.

The License Commissioners hereby notify all persons who contemplate applying for licenses, to sell intoxicating liquors, that they will be ready to receive applications for licenses on Friday, March 1st, 1907, at their office, City Hall, where blank applications will be furnished, to be filled out as required by law.

Notice is also given out that all communications from applicants, remonstrants or interested parties must be submitted in writing, addressed to the License Commissioners.

All parties that said Commissioners are required by law, to notify, of applications for licenses, are now put upon their inquiry.

Each applicant for liquor licenses will be required to deposit with the City Treasurer, the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars, before presenting the application, which sum will be credited in part payment of the license fees, in case the licenses are granted, otherwise, the said sum will be refunded to the applicant.

All applications must be filed with the Commissioners before 12 M., Tuesday March 12, 1907.

Until further notice the office hours will be from 9 A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 P. M.

The fees for licenses have been fixed for the year commencing May 1, 1907, and ending April 30, 1908, as follows:

For licenses of the 1st class, to sell all kinds of liquor, to be drunk on the premises.

(Common victuallers) $1200.00

For licenses of the 2nd class, to sell malt liquors, cider and light wines, containing not more than 15 per cent. of alcohol. To be drunk on the premises (Common victuallers) 800.00

Fourth class, retailers, to sell liquors of any kind. Not to be drunk on the premises . . 750.00

(Where the first and fourth classes are granted in conjunction on the same premises) 1500.00

INNOLDERS.

First and fourth class 1700.00

WHOLESALEERS.

Class A, first and fourth classes 2700.00

Class B, fourth class 1750.00

Second and fifth classes, granted in conjunction (bottlers), for sale of malt liquors, cider, and light wines 1600.00

First and fourth classes (retail) and fifth class granted in conjunction (bottlers) . 2300.00

Fifth class to sell malt liquors, cider and light wines, containing not more than 15 per cent. of alcohol. Not to be drunk on the premises (Brewers) 1500.00

Holders of fourth class retail licenses are reminded that they cannot sell in quantities of five gallons or more.

GEORGE C. HOUGHTON,
PETER A. BREEN,
WILLIAM M. WIRES,
License Commissioners.

Keith's Theatre, Boston

NEW DEPARTURE FOR CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCES

On and after Monday, March 4th, 1907, all seats in the Orchestra and First Balcony will be sold reserved. Tickets for afternoons good until 6 P. M.—for evenings good after 6.30 P. M. Seats can be secured one week in advance. Second Balcony NOT reserved.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Patrons who desire the same seats each week can have them held until 2 P. M. for the afternoon and 8 P. M. for the evening performance on the day of date engaged. Seats will be sold if not called for before the times stated. Subscription cards can be obtained at Box Offices or from Ushers. Seats will be assigned as near as possible to the location desired. Subscribers can have their tickets delivered to them at either the Washington Street or the Tremont Street Box Office, as they may direct. No subscriptions received for Saturdays or Holidays.

Patrons will please note the arrangement of numbering the seats: Even numbers being on the right of Centre, odd numbers left of Centre, Centre numbers are in the hundreds.

NEW BOX OFFICE

Monday, Feb. 25th, 1907, a Box Office for the sale of tickets for advance performances will be opened at the Washington Street Entrance, right hand side. This Office will be open from 9.30 A. M. to 8.30 P. M. After 8.30 P. M. orders may be left at the other Washington Street Box Office and will be filled the next morning. The Inner Box Office will be discontinued on and after the above date.

Your attention is called to the fact that the Reserving of seats in no way interferes with the Continuous Performance.

MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK

We give you the best facilities consistent with modern banking methods

Deposits taken from $2.00 upward

Dividend Rate
3½ per cent.

COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS BANK

325 Union, cor. Almont Street.

JOS. G. PINKHAM
President

W. M. BARNEY
Treasurer

Moon's Changes.

Last Quarter, March 7, 3.42 M.
New Moon, March 14, 1.05 M.
First Quarter, March 21, 8.10 A.
Full Moon, March 29, 2.44 A.

Burrows & Sanborn are expanding. Extensive alterations are now being made in this big department store, which will prove to be the greatest improvement ever made in the store. The whole interior of the store has been reconstructed and arranged on a different plan. The long ribbon counter in the annex is turned around and so placed as to run in a direction parallel with other counters in the store. A new counter has been constructed alongside the ribbon counter and will contain the wash goods. Back of these two, and running parallel with them, will be two other counters devoted to dress goods, silks, muslins, underwear, corsets and infants' goods. Counters for linens and white goods will be located in the space formerly devoted to cotton underwear and corsets. The cloak room and millinery department has been removed to the rear of the store, where much better light can be obtained and where the space can be utilized to much better advantage. Eighteen departments have been relocated, and each one will be much better off than before. New modern show cases and fixtures are being supplied, and the whole store redecorated. The store will be in fine condition for the Easter opening.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

The Hills of God.

We journey through the lowland shadows,
Through the dull, dull mist and the rain;
Oh, chilling the fogs of the marshes
And the winds from the lonely plain!
And our hearts grow sick with longing
For the beautiful paths untrod,
For we know that away above us
Stretch the glad green Hills of God.

Our feet are chained to the valley,
We plow and we sow and reap;
There are strifes and toils for the noonday,
And a grave where at night we sleep.
But a something speaks within us;
"Look away from the spade and the clod,
O soul, look up for thy birthright,
And away to the Hills of God!"

"In the winds that sweeps their summits
Is healing for all thy ills;
Up, up! till thou feel the current!
There is help, there is help in the hills.
Let darkness and sore disaster
But surround thee from the sod,
And know thou shalt thrive in the sunlight
That crowneth the Hills of God."

—Boston Transcript.

Commencing Monday, March 4, all seats in Keith's Theatre, in orchestra and balcony will be reserved and coupon tickets will be sold. Subscription lists will also be opened.

Burton Holmes Lectures.

Fate is often most kind when apparently most perverse, a condition that was exemplified last spring to Burton Holmes, the "Travelogue" man. In order to secure material for new lectures Mr. Holmes undertook a trip around the world last winter, his itinerary calling for visits to Egypt, Ceylon, India and Japan. He spent three months in Egypt, both in Cairo and the surrounding country, and on the Nile which he ascended on his steam yacht as far as the second cataract. Here Mr. Holmes was stricken with Nile fever and was hurried back to Cairo, where his physician ordered him to abandon his trip to the East in order to recuperate in Southern Italy. This was a great disappointment to the lecturer when he found his season's plans shattered, but it really proved a blessing in disguise and provided Holmes with his star travelogue for this season. By a happy chance, Mr. Holmes and his traveling companion, Oscar Depue, sailed into the Bay of Naples on the evening of the fatal Seventh of April to see Vesuvius awakening from the troubled sleep of centuries to startle the world with almost a repetition of the cataclysm that destroyed Pompeii and Herculaneum. It is hardly necessary to say that both Mr. Holmes and Mr. Depue, who is the motion picture expert, made the most of this unique opportunity. The motion picture camera was the first thing unloaded from the ship, and for more than a week in the stifling smoke, the hail of lava and cinders the two Americans worked incessantly to record the awful but inspiring tragedy of nature. Their slides and moving picture films tell a startling picture story of the Vesuvius eruption of 1906, and are the only motion pictures ever taken of an actual eruption. Then taking advantage of a quiescent period and leaving Naples and the surrounding country to shake off the ashy mantle that covered for the time their immemorial beauty the traveloguers crossed the Adriatic to spend a month in Greece as spectators of the Olympic Games, and to record in motion pictures the triumphs of the American athletes. These novel pictures will all be shown in the coming travelogues in Boston.

Incorporated 1828

LYNN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

112 MARKET STREET

ANNUAL STATEMENT, JANUARY, 1907

Amount Insured	$2,257,712.00
Cash Assets,	69,653.06
Re-Insurance Reserve and all other Liabilities	15,881.91
Cash Surplus	$53,771.12

Liberal Dividends paid on expiring policies.

Policy Holders are assured of careful management, courteous treatment, prompt payment of fire losses.

JAS. S. NEWHALL, Pres. and Treas.

ISRAEL A. NEWHALL, Sec'y

Directors:

Joseph B. Breed	Rufus Kimball
Charles S. Grover	James S. Newhall
Warren S. Hixon	Charles H. Newhall
Samuel J. Hollis	Thos. P. Nichols
Henry F. Tapley

A. Schlehuber

Baker, Caterer
& Confectioner

78 EXCHANGE STREET

All kinds of Catering done in first-class style
Special Prices to Churches and Large Parties
of all kinds

LYNN THEATRE

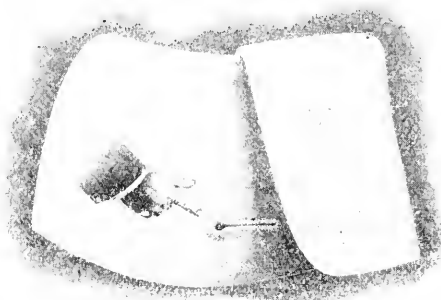

FRANK G. HARRISON, Manager

March 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9
QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER

March 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16
OSCAR LOWANDE'S BRAZILIAN CIRCUS
A wonderfully Novel, High-class Show

March 18—Fr. Matthew Society, in
"THE LAST OF THE O'MALLEY'S"

March 19, 20, 21, 22
KIRKE BROWN COMPANY,
in "The Christian," "Under the Red Robe,"
"Prisoner of Zenda," and other plays.

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

The Brother Tree.

One day the doctor went out to the tree,
 The brother-tree, you know,
 Where the little brothers grow,
 En brang a little brother home for me,
 En first he was all wrinkled and red.
 En ever time I tried
 To make him laugh, he cried,
 En had the funniest bald-headed head!
 But now there's fuzz that's just begun to sprout
 (Like papa's on the top,
 Up where the hairs all stop.)
 En somethin' inside's tryin' to peck out.
 His eyes is twins; you can't tell which is which!
 They're fastened in with thread.
 En you can see the red
 Right in the corner where they made a stitch;
 'Cause if they glued 'em like a dolly's eyes,
 He'd be just like a doll,
 En couldn't cry at all.
 I think the stitches hurts him when he cries;
 But mama says he cries because he's cranky.
 Sometimes his nose cries, too,
 En mama says, "Oo, Oo!"
 En dries the nose's tears off with her hanky.
 When brother's hungry, he don't have to stir
 Off mama's lap, 'cause he
 Don't go downstairs, like we;
 He don't eat food, you know; he just eats her.
 En papa says when he was little brother.
 He et his mama, too.
 En gram, when she was new,
 Et hers—en ever 'body et each other!
 But when the firstest baby come, why, I don't see
 Who feeded him, ner who
 It was he et, do you?
 Ner who it was that picked him off the tree?
 —Edmund Vance Cooke.

Elisha M. Stevens' appointment as associate justice of the police court elevates a capable, thorough and attentive lawyer, who has a mind well fitting him for judicial duty. This appointment was a happy solution of a controversy among members of the bar that threatened to disrupt families. Some tart personalities figured in the conferences.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand last month, were: The Doctor, Jane Cable, Coniston, Half a Rogue, The Fighting Chance, and the White Fang.

It has cost New York city up to date one million dollars for the removal of snow this winter.

There are 31,000 Boston and New York Sunday papers sold each week in Lynn, Saugus, Swampscott and Nahant.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLSInsurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

MAKING, LAYING,
REPAIRING*Carpets*IS A SPECIALTY
WITH US

Special attention is given to Making, Laying and Refitting CARPETS; also Stretching of Foreign Rugs, Repairing or Correction of Shape is also made an important part of our Repair Department. Carpets to be made over will be taken up, cleaned, or naphtha-cleaned if desired, and re-laid at short notice.

TELEPHONE 819-1
 FOR FIRST-CLASS WORK
 OF THIS DESCRIPTION.

W. B. GIFFORDMARKET ST., LYNN

How dear to my heart is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head sans necktie or collar, and all the strange things which to us seems so new. The wide-spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell; the coin of my fathers, we're glad that we know it, for sometime or other 'twill come in right well. The spread-eagle dollar, the star-spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well. —Selected.

"So many Gods, so many creeds,
 So many paths that wind and wind,
 When just the art of being kind
 Is all this sad world needs."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A Bangor woman sat up till 1 o'clock the other night waiting for her husband to come home. At last, weary and worn out with vigil, she went upstairs to retire, only to find her husband in bed fast asleep. Instead of going down town he had stolen upstairs and crawled into bed, which made his wife so mad she didn't speak to him for a week. —Bangor News.

Look for good in others, not for their faults.

WOULD TAX OLD MAIDS

ON THE GROUND THAT FROM SHEER OBSTINACY THEY CLOG THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS

If there is a reckless soul who is not only inviting destruction, but is fairly clamoring for it, that soul inhabits the body of the editor of the North American Review.

Not long ago he called the American girl a bore. He still lives, but has not learned caution. His latest is a proposal to tax spinsters. He declares that they get most of the benefits of civilization without making any adequate return.

He admits that their real property is forced to yield a slight contribution. But he thinks that their personal property goes scot free, and he issues that they do not enrich the custom's revenue. So they become "through sheer obstinacy" clogs upon the wheels of progress.

That is all that will save the Colonel from the wrath of the spinster of North America. It is so novel a position for them to be put in, this of doggedly declining the joys of matrimony. But the Colonel insists.

"There was never yet a woman," he says, "who could not marry, as she should, if she would. It is only necessary to be a woman to win a man—some man.

"Spinsterhood is a purely voluntary condition, due to reprehensible contrariness, as is clearly proven by the non-existence of a single authentic claim to exemption because of lack of opportunity."

True, there is a sort of chuckle behind this last remark, but it may pass.

"The real point at issue is whether the old maid of the present day renders a fair equivalent, or even tries to do so, in one way or another, for what she receives; and to that our answer is decisively negative. It is a sad state of affairs, to which we have given much unavailing thought. As a last resort in search of a method of reformation, the ubiquitary remedy of taxation occurs to our mind as the only one holding forth hope of effectiveness."

The Line to the West

BOSTON

and MAINE

RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

*Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
 City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.*

D. J. FLANDERS
 Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
 Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo
from
BOSTON

Go, Winter!

Go, Winter! Go thy ways! We want again:
The twitter of the bluebird and the wren;
Leaves ever greener growing, and the shine
Of Summer's sun—not thine.

Thy sun, which mocks our need of warmth and love
And all the heartening fervencies thereof,
It scarce hath heat enow to warm our thin
Pathetic yearnings in.

So get thee from us! We are cold, God wot,
Even as thou art.—We remember not How blithe we hailed thy coming.—That was O
Too long—too long ago!

Get from us utterly! Ho! Summer then Shall spread her grasses where thy snows have been,
And thy last icy footprint melt and mold
In her first marigold.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

The Purity of Poland Water.

Reference to the analysis will show that the combined amount of chloride of sodium and silica in Poland Water is only 15-100 of a grain in excess of the amount of lime salts.

The normal amount of urine should be about three pints every twenty-four hours. A less amount than this implies several conditions, principal among them being a certain degree of concentration that increases the specific gravity—a clogging or congestion of the kidneys, and resulting in decrease in the blood pressure.

The most common effects of this are shown in headaches, languor, poor appetite, and sallow complexion; and these are merely the first symptoms.

A pint of Poland Water taken on rising, another on retiring, and a quart drunk during the day, will, under such circumstances, work wonders. It will increase the flow of urine to normal, will stimulate the action of the kidneys, will increase the blood pressure, dispel headaches, make the skin clear, and actually make a morbid person happy. It will take away the desire to drink while eating, thus curing dyspepsia and indigestion, and, followed up closely for a month, will convince anybody that a thorough internal bath is just as essential to health as the external.

SPECIAL!*The LYNN REVIEW

HAS NO CONNECTION
WHATSOEVER,

With any other paper or periodical
Printed in Lynn or elsewhere

The appointment of Henry T. Lummus, as judge of the Lynn police court gives satisfaction to the public. Mr. Lummus has had an extended legal training, and he should prove to be a capable and efficient judge. The business of the Lynn court is rapidly increasing, especially in the civil department, and with the work properly done it takes almost the entire time of the judge. Judge Lummus has a keen interest in the welfare of Lynn, well understands the local situation, and his many friends look forward to a most satisfactory administration.

Something Doing.

All they want at city hall this year is—$250,000 for street improvements.

Market street extension.

Sea street extension.

New classical high school.

Municipal building at West Lynn.

And—

Well, what's the use?

Is not that enough for one year?

In life—not death.

Hearts need fond words to help them on their way:

Need tender thoughts and gentle sympathy,
Caresses, pleasant looks, to cheer each passing day—

Then hoard them not until they useless be;

In life—not death.

Speak kindly, living hearts need sympathy.

—Anon.

The unanimous vote of the common council instructing City Solicitor Wadleigh to oppose, in the name of the city, the plan compelling Lynn to build a filtration plant for the water system seems to be in full accord with Lynn sentiment. It is about time to give large water expenditures a rest, unless imperatively necessary. And filtration does not appear to be.

So long as we love, we serve; so long as we are loved by others I would almost say that we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend.

—Robert Louis Stevenson

Robert Crocker, a farmer, died at Taunton, in Somerset, England, recently, after seventy-two years of married life. This is thought to be a record in that line. He was 97 years of age.

Where there is love there is reliance, whether expressed or not, and when there is reliance, be it ever so slender, there is comfort for many of the ills of body, mind and soul.—F. Marion Crawford.

Forgive and forget injuries, but never forget benefits.

Jubilate.

Gray distance hid each shining sail
By ruthless breezes borne from me,
And, lessening, fading, faint and pale,
My ships went forth to sea.

Where misty breakers rose and fell
I stood and sorrowed hopelessly,
For every wave had tales to tell
Of wrecks far out at sea.

Today a song is on my lips;
Earth seems a paradise to me.
For God is good, and, lo, my ships
Are coming home from sea!

—George Arnold.

That man was facetious who said he couldn't eat peaches because the stones scratched his throat.

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

11 & 13 Market Street.

Standard Shirt Waist

We have carried this famous make of Waists for three seasons, and it has proven so far superior to other makes that we placed a larger order on them than ever this season. They are now here waiting your inspection. Please note the beautiful finish and workmanship, the exclusive styles, which are to be had only at this store; also the extra fulness in front in all grades.

Prices range from 98 cents to $6.00 each

OUR IMPORTATION OF Long Gloves for Easter

HAS ARRIVED

8, 12 and 16 Button Lengths, in Black, White and Colors, to Match the Spring Costumes

DEPENDABLE MAKES ONLY

$2.25 to $3.50

LYNN'S FINEST GLOVE STORE

GODDARD BROS.

MARKET STREET

Perhaps you now have in mind a new Circular, Price List, or Catalogue?

Why not this time, in place of simply bundling up your "matter" and sending it off to your printer with the usual sigh of relief, write us for samples of the way we handle such things? Perhaps your doing this might profit both of us. If you thought otherwise, seeing these samples first need not prevent your finally deciding not to depart from your present methods in such work.

Such investigation will cost you nothing, and commit you to nothing.

A postal card sent to us in this connection is one cent astray

THE MERRILL-HANCOCK PRESS of LYNN

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

APRIL, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 6

EASTER in the NEW store will show a much larger and more satisfying stock of goods than ever before shown. All of the departments have been re-arranged, and the public is the gainer.

LOOK OVER THE THIRTY DEPARTMENTS

BURROWS & SANBORN

Union Street, Lynn

Spring Announcement

We take pleasure in Announcing to the trade our readiness for Spring business. We have made preparations to serve our patrons with the Best of Rightly-Made Garments, the Finest Headwear; and the Choicest Haberdashery for Men's, Boy's and Children's wear that the country produces—or that money could buy.

Come see the new Spring things.
We're always as ready to show as to sell.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

LABOR IS BENEFITTED AND THE PUBLIC GETS A GOOD RETURN

C To keep our men employed until the season opens

During the Month of April

We will sell a $12.00 COTTAGE GAS RANGE (as shown in the illustration)

For

$10.00 Cash

C Orders booked in April for Spot Cash only

C All piping and connections for these stoves made for the cost of material only.

C No charge will be made for labor.

C Remember that we put gas into buildings free of expense (reasonable distance) and that the price of gas is only

85 Cents per thousand cubic feet

C Cheaper than in many of the larger cities.

LYNN GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

APRIL, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 6

Low Sunday, April 7.

Patriot's Day—April 19.

There are 12,442 pupils in the Lynn public schools.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich was one of the sweetest poets who ever lived.

Radical and systematic street improvements are vitally necessary in Lynn, and it is high time that the city council appreciated the importance of this work.

Do not separate the grades until the work can be done correctly. Depression is the only correct way. Expense is not to be considered when public safety, convenience and necessity are under consideration.

Eight hundred thousand Jews are in the city of New York. Nearly half of them were born there. What will happen when there are a million Jews in that city with their money-making ways, their alert intellects, and infinite patience?

Amen and Am n to the following remarks from President Eliot of Harvard: "It is high time that the whole profession of teaching in school, college and university unite to protest against the present exaggeration of athletic sports during the whole period of education, and especially to bring competitive sports between schools and between colleges within reasonable limits, and establish the supremacy of intellectual and moral interests over physical interests in all institutions of education."

This odd advertisement appeared in the New York Sun last month: $250 for a tooth. This sum will be paid to any young woman (not over 22 years) who will permit her second left molar to be transplanted to replace similar broken tooth in my jaw; tooth must be in perfect condition.—Pearl Curzon, care N. Y. Hippodrome.

Residents of the highlands are very emphatic in their statements tending to show that the city is decidedly lax in caring for the streets and other municipal interests in that locality. There have been years when the Highlands have had stout champions in the city council, but of late this section of the city appears to have been given the go-by.

If the new Classical High School building, West Lynn Grammar school building, new city stable, West Lynn municipal building, and the re-arrangement of city hall building are constructed this year there will be no reason for believing that Lynn is not progressive. It will take a good bunch of money to carry out these improvements.

When Dr. C. J. H. Woodbury, of Lynn, addressed the Nanepashemet Club of Saugus, on the "Commercial Development of the Telephone" he paid a very pretty tribute to the town of Saugus, stating, among other things, that the industrial history of the town had not been equalled by that of any other settlement of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and that it was worthy of a fuller record than it has yet received.

If the board of health would insist upon the pasteurization of milk, suffering, disease and death would in a measure be curtailed. Unpasteurized milk is the one known, definite cause of many of our troubles such as tuberculosis, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, typhoid fever and kindred diseases. Possibly there are other modes of infection but milk is the common and chief source of these diseases.

When it is considered what good results the city of Boston secures from its strong one-man head in the police and fire departments, there are many who believe that Lynn's interests would be much better looked after with one commissioner of public works to control water, streets, sewer and electric departments, and a commissioner of public safety, controlling police and fire departments, as Mayor Barney indicated in his inaugural paper.

The fast increasing growth in the foreign population in the city, as pointed out in Mayor Barney's inaugural address, places the city council under great obligations to more closely administer the departments of health, police and schools. Especially important is it for the board of health to be wide awake or we will have an epidemic. The health conditions, where the foreign population so largely exists in this city, demand the closest attention.

For EASTER

Telephone 278-3

Remember

GOODWIN FLOWERS

PLAY BALL

The season is most here. Our goods have arrived—the celebrated Victor line. Our window shows goods and prices. Come and look them over.

HOWE'S RUBBER STORE,
52 Central Square

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

Electricity for Power!

General Electric Motors will best supply your needs. Ask for our prices.

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS

Telephone 469 74 Exchange Street

Catering For Large or Small Parties

SCHLEHUBER

BAKER, CATERER

CONFECTIONER

Call and see our Easter Novelties and appropriate Ices for Easter Sunday.

GREEN & SON

PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man

30 Market Street

Easter Showing

Stylish and Serviceable Garments

Now in Progress

We are the leaders east of Boston in Exclusive Styles in Women's Tailormade Suits, Coats, Skirts, Waists, etc.

Geo. C. Melville & Co.

Telephone 1807

312 Union Street

An Open Secret.

Pussy-willow had a secret
 That the snow-drops whispered her,
 And she purred it to the South Wind,
 While it stroked her velvet fur;
 And the South Wind hummed it softly,
 To the busy honey bees;
 And they buzzed it to the blossoms
 On the scarlet maple trees;
 And they dropped it to the wood-brooks,
 Brimming full of melted snow;
 And the brooks told Robin-redbreast,
 As they babbled to and fro,
 Little Robin could not keep it,
 So he sang it loud and clear
 To the sleepy fields and meadows
 He sang it loud and clear:
 Awake! Awake! Rejoice
 Spring is here!
 Awake! Rejoice! Be glad!
 Spring is here!

—Woodman.

At Hall's millinery store, Market street, the mushroom hat in both large and small shapes is one of the most popular styles for the coming season. This shape, together with a large variety of others, is shown in horse-hair, crin, Milan, Leghorn and the heavier braids. All kinds of beautiful feathers are to be found here in endless variety, including ostrich, which will be very popular, paradise and fancy quills. Quantities of flowers are shown in most exquisite colorings. Pansies, orchids, wisteria, hydrangeas, morning glories, not forgetting the beautiful rose, adorn the very latest Parisian models. No more complete and up-to-date millinery display was ever presented to the women of Lynn and vicinity than is offered by Hall's millinery store this season.

On one occasion, when Prof. Charles Copeland of Harvard was well along in a lecture, he was interrupted by three students, who made rather an uncere- monious entrance into the room. With- out a word he calmly surveyed the tardy trio. "Indeed," he continued, turning to his auditors with a sardonic smile, "it has been truly said that all Gaul is divided into three parts."

Do you drink?

That's my business.

Have you any other business?—Se- lected.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET

LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

Essex Trust Company New Banking Rooms.

The Essex Trust Co. at No. 25 Ex- change street, has provided new bank- ing facilities which would do great credit to a New York or Boston house. The improvements are in every way modern, splendidly conceived, and car- ried out.

In the rear of the old banking rooms there has been installed a safe deposit vault, the newest and most up-to-date, with facilities for 1000 safe deposit boxes, which are rented to the public from $5 to $25 each, per annum.

There is also provided beneath the vault a fire and burglar proof room in which trunks and boxes may be stored to the best possible advantage, and with every safeguard surrounding them.

At the rear of the vault is provided a most tasty and elegant retiring room for those who have business at the bank, and also for the general public. The finish is mahogany, very tastefully decorated, and the furnishings, fire- place, electrical fixtures, etc., are in the best possible taste. Nothing seems to be lacking, the toilet room, plumbing for which was done by J. F. Morgan & Son, being a feature.

The benefit to a community of such banking facilities is considerable, and we believe that the enterprise and pro- gressiveness of the Essex Trust Com- pany in providing such an institution will be justly appreciated. When the great cost of this work is taken into consideration this company will be much complimented for its action. It is such improvements as the one under consideration which make for the repu- tation and welfare of a city like Lynn.

The night has a thousand eyes

The day but one;

Yet the light of the bright world dies

With the dying sun.

The mind has a thousand eyes,

And the heart but one;

Yet the light of a whole life dies

When its love is done.

—Bourdillon.

Did you ever hear regarding the con- dition of the boy who tried to climb a mule's tail? After he came to be said to his father: "Papa, I will never be your pretty boy again." "No," replied his father. "You will never be hand- some now, but you will know more."

Never criticise or say unkind things of others.

OUR EASTER, OPENING

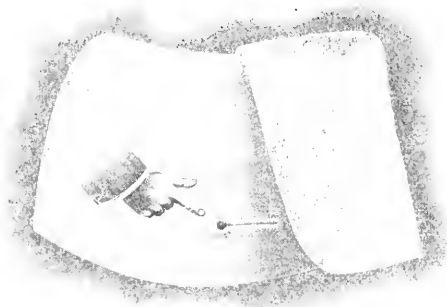

High Class Millinery
Smart Spring Apparel

Laces, Embroideries, New Hosiery, Corsets, Veils and Veilings, Petticoats, Infants' Wear, Gloves, Neckwear, Art Embroidery, Undermuslins

Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, March 23, 25 and 26

WE cordially invite you to call on these days and enjoy what we think is the finest collection of Spring Goods ever shown in Lynn. Some of our friends have been kind enough to call our store the style-shop of the city. Kindly regard this as a personal invitation to our opening.

GODDARD BROS.
Market Street

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

Song for Violin.

Willow leaves with the sun agleam;
 Ripple and lisp of a limpid stream—
 The light that lives but in dream—in dream—
 (Heart of my heart—I love thee!)

Now and then a glimpse of the sea,
 Caught through the swaying boughs of a tree,
 A sapphire set in porphyry—
 (Heart of my heart—I love thee!)

A distant sail like a crumpled rose,
 That quivers, glitters and softly blows
 Into the land that no one knows—
 (Heart of my heart—I love thee!)

Hills that cling to the breast of the sky;
 Poppies reddening the grasses high;
 Rustle of leaves—a wood dove's sigh—
 (Heart of my heart—I love thee!)

A Shepherd stretched on the river's brim,
 Fluting, fluting love's world old hymn;
 My heartbeats quicken—mine eyes grow dim—
 Life of my life—I love thee!
 —Frances Bartlett; in Boston Transcript.

Facts About Poland Water.

Poland Water will reduce the specific gravity of albuminous urine from 1.040 to 1.020 in twenty-four hours. It is therefore a most valuable therapeutic in Bright's disease, and almost indispensable to a mother prior to maternity and during the period of parturition.

It is a never-failing remedy in chronic inflammation in the genito-urinary organs; and can be drunk in unlimited quantities. It is the only reducing agent among waters that a delicate patient can take with milk.

In the mixing of delicate dyestuffs for coloring silks and fine fabrics, it has been found that Poland Water is the only water known that can be substituted for distilled water, and some expert chemists claim that its use even improves and adds brilliancy to these colors.

In truth, it performs a thousand actions, and some most unexpected and surprising.

A Lynn child was naughty and a nurse in attendance on the mother said: "If you are not a good boy I will give you to Dr. ———," who was standing by when the remark was made. "I don't care," said the little one, "I lived with him before I came here!"

All the 1907 STYLES in

TRIMMED HATS
 and BONNETS

A Larger Display than ever before

A. M. WRIGHT, 121 Chestnut St.

This is the Renovating Period of the Year

Therefore, you should come to our store and see the latest styles in WALL PAPERS, CARPETS, DRAPERIES, Etc. We have the newest and best goods at the lowest possible prices. Won't you give us the opportunity to figure upon work you have in mind to do this Spring? We can serve you much better in every respect than the Boston stores, because we have an excellent variety and sell at lower prices than prevail in Boston. If you have carpets to take up, dust and lay

Telephone 819-1

W. B. GIFFORD

97-99 Market Street

The fame of Keith's theatre for giving big shows, greater even than those offered in the variety theatres in the metropolitan centres, is spreading all over the country, and the amusement seekers of New England can congratulate themselves on the fact that there is nothing new, novel or original in the world of vaudeville that they are not afforded an opportunity of witnessing quite in advance of any other theatre-goers in America. There are particularly strong attractions offered at Keith's this month.

Capt. Henry E. Palmer was a most substantial citizen. His death was a blow to hosts of friends. Especially well informed on general topics, and a bright and companionable man, he not only made many friends, but he retained them. He was at one time much devoted to the militia, and he had honorably served in the civil war. As inspector for the board of health he did his work most thoroughly, was at all times prompt and reliable, and a marked spirit of fairness and toleration always characterized his every action. Henry E. Palmer will always be kindly remembered by those who knew him, on account of his marked individuality and splendid character.

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

When it is anything which calls for

Plumbing and Heating the House

let us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.

When you have heat-
ing or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on the work.

J. F. MORGAN & SON

66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

THE STYLE IN OUR
GOODYEAR WELT SHOES
ADDS TO THE EASTER SHOW

PATRICIAN

Easter Styles for this year were never equalled.

PATRICIAN

is the Women's $3.50 and $4.00
Shoe of Excellence.

PATRICIAN

not only enforces STYLE, but in comfort and fitting qualities is the leader in women's shoes.

PATRICIAN

is made in fifty or more styles, from the strong Goodyear Welt walking boot to the lightest hand turned evening shoe.

Boots, $3.50 and $4.00
Oxfords, $3.00

THOMAS P. FEELEY, 50 Central Sq.

Moon's Changes.

Last Quarter, April 5.
New Moon, April 12.
First Quarter, April 20.
Full Moon, April 28.

Minority Stockholders Have Rights.

The full bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Varney vs. the Baker Shoe Co. of Lynn, has given a decision of interest to minority shareholders in corporations.

The plaintiff brought a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the defendants to allow him to examine the books of the company. Plaintiff was a minority shareholder and believed that the company was being mismanaged, although it was not proved to the satisfaction of the judge who heard the case at the hearing, that there was any mismanagement in fact, or any incapacity on the part of the managing officers.

The Supreme Court which orders a writ to issue, says: "There is no good reason why the stockholders, acting in good faith for the purpose of advancing the interests of the corporation and protecting their rights as owners, should not be permitted to examine the corporate property, including the books and accounts."

The court also adds that "According to the general rule in this country, it is not necessary that there should be any particular dispute to entitle the stockholder to exercise this right. Nothing more is required than that, acting in good faith for the protection of the interests of the corporation and his own interests, he desires to ascertain the condition of the company's business."

Of course the right at common law is not absolute, so that it can be exercised for mere curiosity, or for merely speculative purposes, or vexatiously.

If the court is appealed to for the enforcement of the right a sound discretion will be exercised to determine whether the petitioner is acting for an honest purpose, not adverse to the interests of the corporation.

Bride—Don't you think we can slip away unobserved?

Bridegroom—Well, I know I can.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

April and Woman.

April weeps,
April smiles;
Woman threatens,
Then bequiles.

Rain or shine,
Who can find?
Who can tell
A woman's mind?

April's tears
Bring blooms of May;
Woman's weeping
Gets her way.

April's mild and April's chill;
Warm and cold is Woman's will.

April's full of Quick surprise;
So's the light
In woman's eyes.

April's young, so
Fair in truth;
Woman's sweetest
For her youth.

Young men's fancy,
It is said,
Turns to loving
Month and maid.
—Baltimore American.

Howell—Your wife's death must have been a great blow.

Powell—Yes, she was carried away by a cyclone.—Selected.

Lynn Institution for Savings

25 EXCHANGE ST.
LYNN

PRE IDENT. . . CHARLES S. PURINTON
TREASURER. . . FREDERICK L. BUBIER

MONEY DEPOSITED IN APRIL

GOES UPON INTEREST MAY FIRST

Open Every Business Day, from 9 to 1 o'clock
Also SATURDAYS, from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Easter.

Star-set and sun-rise; bird songs a-near;
Fragrance of lillies; Easter is here!

Organ tones swelling loud on the air;
Flower-laden chancels; heads bowed in prayer.

Hearts filled with praises of Christ's dear love;
Songs that uplift us to God above.

Turn from your sorrows this Easter-day;
God's love surrounds you, guards all your way.

Let in the sunlight on the dark tomb;
Rise to Christ's service; our Lord is come!

Bury life's crosses under the flowers;
Christ is arisen—His life be ours!

—Lillie J. Davis.

According to conservative estimates, the aggregate number of immigrants who have arrived in the United States from the date of the adoption of the federal constitution to and including 1900 approximates 19,500,000 says the American Review of Reviews. There have been three general periods of immigration: 1789 to 1820; 1821 to 1870; and 1871 to the present time. Prior to 1820 the arrivals are estimated to have amounted to but 250,000. Accurate immigration records began in 1820. From that year to 1840 the arrivals numbered 724,564, an annual average of only 37,128. The total, however, for the succeeding 30 years reached 6,500,000; for the half century, to 1870, the aggregate was 7,368,853. From 1870 to 1900 the arrivals numbered 11,746,368.

This is from a North Dakota exchange. "It is reported that one of the fastidious newly married ladies of this town kneads bread with her gloves on. This incident may be somewhat peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes and pants on, and unless some of the delinquent subscribers of his old Rag of Freedom pony up before long he will need bread without a damn thing on, and North Dakota is no Garden of Eden in the winter time."

It is said that the greatest sufferer from the discontinuance of free passes is the Pullman Company. People who got passes were perfectly willing to pay for Pullmans, but cutting off the bulk of this travel, has, it is said, seriously affected the Pullman Company's revenues. If this is true it will reconcile most people to the Hepburn bill. If the Pullman Company has any friends we never heard of them.—Banker and Tradesman.

The Scheme of Filtration.

Hon. Eugene A. Bessom of the water board is very much against the scheme of filtration recommended by the State Board of Health, and explaining his position says:—"The only reason why I did not sign the report of the State Board of Health for a filtration plant is because to a certain extent it would have committed the city to a scheme which I could not bring myself to see in the way the State Board of Health did.

"I wanted the matter left open for the citizens to do as they saw fit. The State Board of Health recommended a plain sand filter, but this sort of a filter does not do perfect work, and why spend a quarter of a million dollars if that scheme will not do perfect work.

"Other places with filtration plants have had epidemics of typhoid fever and diphtheria; why not Lynn, if filtration beds are put in? The first cause of the controversy in regard to the impurity of Lynn's water supply came from the State Board of Health last year when they reported the city's water as containing bacteria incident to sewage, but they were careful not to say that the bacteria was that of typhoid fever.

"At the time the report was made much water was taken from Saugus river on account of the building of the Walden pond dam, but none has been taken from there since last March, and very little will be taken this year. I doubt if filtration beds would do what people think they would.

"If the water in Walden pond could be left exposed to sun and air for three or four months it would ripen and have its color reduced 30 per cent. just as well as though it was strained through sand. Filtered water would have to be put in covered basins, and must be conveyed to the consumer as soon as possible after filtration.

"There are a great many phases of making water pure; the matter of expense must be considered. Last year the Water Board made $60,000. If we can make $60,000 and give the citizens of Lynn good pure water, (I mean water as good as that of any other place) why should we make a change?"

Little Boy—The preacher says there is no marryin' in Heaven.

Little Girl—Of course not. There wouldn't be enough men to go round.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

April Fools.

Shy little pansies
Tucked away to sleep
Wrapped in brown blankets
Piled snug and deep,
Heard in a day-dream
A bird singing clear:
"Wake, little sweethearts;
The springtime is here!"

Glad little pansies,
Stirring from their sleep,
Shook their brown blankets
Off for a peep,
Put on their velvet hoods,
Purple and gold,
And stood all a-tremble
Abroad in the cold.

Snowflakes were flying
Skies were grim and gray,
Bluebird and robin
Had scurried away;
Only the cruel wind
Laughed as it said,
"Poor little April fools,
Hurry back to bed!"

Soft chins a-quiver,
Dark eyes full of tears,
Brave little pansies,
Spite of their fears,
Said, "Let us wait for
The sunshiny weather;
Take hold of hands, dears,
And cuddle up together."

—Emily H. Miller.

Love is the river of life in this world. Think not that ye know it who stand at the little tinkling rill—the first small fountain. Not until you have gone through the rocky gorges and not lost the stream; not until you have gone through the meadow, and the stream has widened and deepened until fleets could ride upon its bosom; not until beyond the meadow you have come to the unfathomable ocean and poured your treasures into its depths—not until then can you know what love is.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Children who live in America would think it very funny to see an elephant making himself handy around the house. He will bring two or three pails of water from the spring at one time, carrying them all hung carefully on his trunk, he will help make the butter by turning the churn, or he will stir the porridge with a spoon while it is cooking. When well trained, he will even act as nursemaid for the small children, carrying the baby around in his trunk or fetching back the little one who is creeping too far for safety.—Adapted from the Bankazine.

A man, speaking of signs, to the REVIEW man, said this was the best sign he ever saw:—

DAM, The Dentist.

Public School Studies.

To the Editor of the Lynn Review:

How about the public schools? Are they making good? Is this educational proposition becoming more and more of a trick of the mind and not deep-seated?

I am forced to query in this way because one of the pupils in the upper grade of a Lynn grammar school could not answer this question, "How much is 4 per cent on $1,000 per year?" This pupil also could not re-state the question and answer after I had put it to him. Now what am I to infer from this? Why is a pupil, a regular attendant at school, with no sickness to interfere, unable to answer this simple question?

I am one of those who think that we are trying to do too much in the public schools. I think it would be well to cut out civil government, physiology, hygiene, cooking, flower talks, horticulture, etc., and spend more time in teaching the young idea how to read, write and mathemac.

I realize what a hard problem education has become, but I think the time long ago arrived for the cancelling of fads in the public schools, and at least have such a system or education as will allow a pupil in the upper grade of school to be able to tell you the answer to the question above referred to.

Where no big central power has authority over the public schools, and they are at the mercy, in a large degree, of changing local school boards, I think you will find the same lack of results in the future under existing conditions as at present. I think everybody will agree with me, that there is a great waste of money as the public school studies are applied to-day, and that the lack of results fully demonstrates this.

"Oh, Education, what errors are committed in thy name!"

—West Lynn Parent.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand the past month, were: The Doctor, Half a Rogue, The Malfactor, The Far Horizon, Jane Cable and The Mystery.

In the lower grades of productive industry in our cities there have come in order the Irishman, the German, the Italian and the Jew. But those who came first seem not to have been pushed out so much as pushed up to better opportunities.

CITY OF LYNN.
SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Examination of Candidates for Teachers' Certificates of Qualifications.

Candidates for primary and grammar school certificates will be examined in room 12, Cobbet School, Franklin street, on Friday, April 5 and Saturday, April 6, 1907, at nine o'clock A. M., on each day.

All Candidates for these certificates must present certificates of good character and health, and of at least two years of successful experience in teaching and governing schools.

The names of those who secure the above certificates will be placed on an APPROVED LIST for appointment as REGULAR TEACHERS in the primary and grammar schools of the City of Lynn, and persons on the approved list will be given PREFERENCE for appointment as regular teachers over all except Normal School graduates who have satisfactorily completed the course under supervision in the Eastern Avenue school.

SUBSTITUTES now employed in the schools who have not completed the above course MUST PASS THIS EXAMINATION before they can become eligible for a regular position.

GEORGE S. BURGESS,
Secretary.

SECURITY
SAFE DEPOSIT
AND TRUST CO.

MAIN OFFICE
Bergengren Block
Central Sq., Lynn

BRANCH OFFICE
25 Market Sq.
West Lynn

A Safe Deposit Box in our Burglar, Fire and Water Proof Vaults, rented at a price of $5, affords ample protection for the Safe Keeping of your Insurance Policies, Bank Books and other Valuable Papers.

Your Inspection of our Vaults is desired

EVERY working day of the year there is printed at Washington an average of more than three millions dollars of new paper money. An active printer, with the aid of a young girl assistant, and working on a simple hand press of a type that has scarcely varied since the Government began to print money, can turn out 800 sheets of finished bills in a day, four bills to the sheet. There are 650 printers in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Some are at work on bonds; stamps or other forms of Government securities, but most of them are printing money. The bureau has a total of 2,988 employees. There are five kinds of paper money printed. The sort that people are most familiar with is the silver certificate. Almost all the one, two and five dollar bills are in that form, for the public prefers paper money to the silver coin. The amount of paper currency outstanding, says the Master Printer, is between eighteen and nineteen hundred million dollars, and for that amount there is about four hundred and seventy million dollars in silver certificates and four hundred and seventy-seven million dollars in gold certificates.

The Rock-a-By Lady.

The Rock-a-By Lady from Hushaby street
Comes stealing; comes creeping;
The poppies they hang from her head to her feet,
And each hath a dream that is tiny and fleet—
She bringeth her poppies to you, my sweet,
When she findeth you sleeping!

There is one little dream of a beautiful drum—
"Rub-a-dub!" it goeth;
There is one little dream of a big sugar-plum,
And lo! thick and fast the other dreams come
Of popguns that bang, and tin tops that hum,
And a trumpet that bloweth!

And dollies peep out of those wee little dreams
With laughter and singing;
And boats go a-floating on silvery streams,
And the stars peek-a-boo with their own misty gleams,
And up, up and up, where the Mother Moon beams,
The fairies go winging!

Would you dream all these dreams that are tiny and fleet?

They'll come to you sleeping:
So shut the two eyes that are wary, my sweet,
For the Rock-a-By Lady from Hushaby street,
With poppies that hang from her head to her feet,
Comes stealing; comes creeping.

—Eugene Field.

The Lynn Oratorio Society closes its season with "Samson and Delilah," in high school hall, on Friday evening, April 19.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

The Line to the West

BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through
Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

DON'T WAIT

for your business to grow before opening an account here. Become a depositor to-day and grow with us! Many of our small depositors of years ago are large depositors to-day and can tell you how much an account with this bank has helped them. Safety, Courtesy, and Promptness to every depositor alike is our motto.

WE WANT YOUR ACCOUNT

Manufacturers National Bank
Lynn, Mass.

BENJ. W. CURRIER, President

WILLIAM B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice President

CLIFTON COLBURN, Cashier

Liquidation Sale

MUST BE SOLD AT ONCE AT THE LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH

Our Entire Stock of Diamonds, Jewelry, Watches, Clocks
Cut Glass and Silver Ware

ARE OFFERED FOR THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS

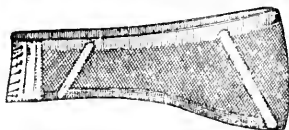

At Cost or Below

Some Rare Bargains to be had

J. H. CONNOR, 81 Pearl St.

Naval Rupture, Tendency to Corpulency or any
Abdominal Weakness demands the use of an

All Elastic Abdominal Belt

We manufacture all to special measure which insures a perfect fit and most efficient support.
Send for catalogue No. 2.

CURTIS & SPINDELL CO., 7 Munroe St., Lynn

Dandelion.

There's a dandy little fellow,
Who dresses all in yellow,
In yellow with an overcoat of green;
With his hair all crisp and curly,
In the springtime bright and early
A-tripping o'er the meadow he is seen.
Through all the bright June weather,
Like a jolly little tramp,
He wanders o'er the hillside, down the road;
Around his yellow feather,
The gypsy fireflies camp;
His companions are the wood lark and the toad.
But at last this little fellow
Doffs his dainty coat of yellow,
And very feebly totters through the green;
For he very old is growing
And with hair all white and flowing,
A-nodding in the sunlight he is seen.
Oh, poor dandy, once so spandy,
Golden dancer on the lea!
Older growing, white hair flowing,
Poor little baldhead dandy now is he!

—Nellie M. Garabrant.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts stands quite by herself. Her wealth was partly inherited and partly acquired. But all her life she treated it as a trust which she held for others' good. Her deeds of mercy and kindness were numberless. Her generosity knew no bounds of sect or class or nation or race, but was wide as human need. She was one of the most beloved and honored persons in Great Britain. No wonder that the nation when she died gave her a place in Westminster Abbey, its most sacred mausoleum. If all rich men and women used their wealth as the Baroness Burdett-Coutts used hers, think you there would be the antagonism between the rich and the poor we see to-day?—Rev. J. T. Sunderland.

Easter Opening

NOW IN PROGRESS at

Hall's Millinery Store

Easter.

Easter bells, Easter music, Easter flowers, again these call the heart and mind to the mystery of the incarnation of Jesus. The voice of the Occidental peoples that have ruled and governed the world asserts the uniqueness of this personality. In merely human fields of greatness, we find every Alexander matched by a Napoleon, every Homer by a Shakespeare, every Plato by a Kant. But Jesus stands alone.

The singular life of Jesus is not to be estimated merely by rationalistic tests, if we so narrow that word as to make it relate only to sense perception. An earthly career so unique would naturally close in some unique way, so that the dark barrier placed against the return of the rest of humanity to this life does not necessarily create any presumption against the resurrection of Jesus, and it seems incredible that a life should be lived so far above the ordinary human level, so clearly in touch with higher powers, without there coming to us some essentially truthful report of its history. It seems the more natural way to accept whatever report of that life is best authenticated as essentially true, hence to join, in the Easter cry, "Christ is risen indeed."

The power of the message of Jesus, as contrasted with other masters of the moral law, lies in its assurance that there is in the universe some power greater and better than man. Human sin is often, perhaps usually, due not so much to wilful error, as to hopelessness, cynicism, lack of vision of the unseen. Jesus convinces us that there are things in heaven and earth not dreamed of in our narrow philosophies, that the universe is alive with forces not accessible to the tests of the senses, that man may be safe and happy in so far as he shall ally himself with these higher powers.—Selected.

"Algernon is interesting," said the stock broker's daughter.

"What does he talk about?" inquired the father.

"He's ever so well posted in Shakespearean quotations."

"Young woman," said the financier sternly, "don't let him deceive you, don't you let him make sport of your ignorance. There isn't any such stock on the market. I ought to know for I've been on the exchange long enough."—London Answers.

ASK US ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.
32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

Let Us Do Your Spring Cleaning

We launder your curtains to look like new by a special process.

We upholster and repair furniture.

Take up carpets, clean, make over and re-lay them, work done by experienced workmen.

We can make you a handsome, durable, double-faced rug any size you desire, out of your old carpeting.

See our New Lines of Carpets, Rugs, Art Squares, Portieres, Couch Covers, Upholstery Goods, Lace Curtains, etc.

ALBION K. HALL, 39 Market St.

Telephone Connection.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL
112 Market Street

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston

WILLIAMS BROS.

215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list.
Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

LYNN THEATRE

FRANK G. HARRISON, Manager

March 30. Coming Thro' the Rye

April 1. Williams & Walker

April 2. William Faversham, presenting
"The Squaw Man"

April 3-4. Neil Burgess in "The County Fair"

April 5. Thomas Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle"

April 6—Matinee and Night
Chauncey Olcott

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

My Ship That Never Comes.

I stood upon the shore to-day,
 And looked far out upon the sea
 And many, many ships were there.
 But none, alas, belonged to me;
 Ah! none is there for me.

Yet, I am sure, I launched one there
 And bade it haste across the main.
 Through long and weary years I've hoped
 To see my beauteous ship again.
 Ah! is there none for me?

No light, of sun, shines on their way,
 For they are freighted down with fears,
 With sorrows, sighs, and blighted hopes,
 They've gathered, through the untold years;
 Through many restless years.

I stand upon the shore again
 And look for sails like fairy wings,
 For in those happy childhood days,
 The freight was love and all bright things,
 Upon the calmest sea.

My little ship that sailed away
 My ship with freight of sunny yore,
 I'll see you yet, some other day
 Just off some brighter, happier shore;
 Just off God's fairest shore.

—June McMillan Ordway.

I recognize, as we all do, the discontent which is in the body politic and which shakes the foundations under us like the tremors of an earthquake, threatening the stability of our institutions, the security of property, the safeguards of society. It is a discontent that arises not from the fact that the great body of the people have little, for they never had so much. It arises from the fact that the man who has a hundred-fold more than the Pilgrim compares himself, not with the Pilgrim, but with his neighbor who has a hundred-fold more than himself. The man who walks hates the man who drives a horse, but, when he has his horse, is unhappy because of the man who spins by him in an automobile, blowing a horn and raising a cloud of dust, and whom he hates. It is the inequalities that sting and make festers.—Ex-Governor John D. Long.

"My furs are like those!" exclaimed little Louise, while walking through the store.

"Why," exclaimed the mother, "you have no furs of any kind!"

"Yes, I have," protested the child, "and they are lined with kittens too."
 —Youth's Companion.

Writing about a burlesque show the country editor said that the leading lady came upon the stage wrapped in deep thought.

Rye came originally from Siberia.

There may be more than one just cause for pride in the soul of the small boy at the close of his first day at school.

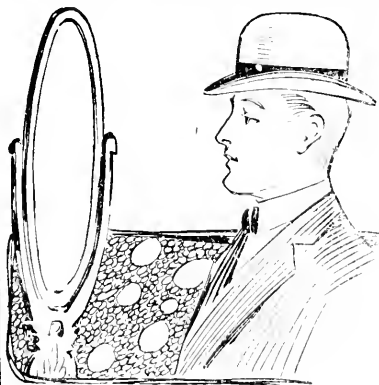

"How did you get on with spelling?" Bob's mother asked him. "You look so pleased, I'm sure you did well."

"No'm, I couldn't spell much of anything," admitted Bob. "And I couldn't remember the 'rithmetic very well, nor the joggerp'y."

The mother's face wore a look of disappointment, but Bob had reserved the choice morsel which was sure to raise a sensible parent to heights of appreciative joy.

"But that's no matter, mother," he said, bestowing a bear's hug upon her, "the boys all like me, and I've got the biggest feet in the class!"—Youth's Companion.

The recent wedding of Miss Margarette McGough of New Derry and Oscar Crissinger of Derry was the culmination of a courtship which had extended over a quarter of a century. There had been no lovers' quarrels, but Miss McGough would not set the day, and the event was delayed from year to year until now the bride is 60 years old and the bridegroom is 65.—Latrobe Correspondence Pittsburg Dispatch.

Buy Your Easter Hat of Us

DUNLAP Hats—We are Sole Agents.

GUYER and LAMSON & HUBBARD Hats, $3.00

Same shapes in $2.50 and $2.00 grades.

Silk and Opera Hats always in stock.

AMOS B. CHASE, Hatter and Furrier
 123 MUNROE ST., LYNN

Easter Gloves

Cold Storage for Furs

"MY CREED."

DO not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and be made happier by them. The kind things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them out in my weary and troubled hours, and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered by them while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin, without a flower; a funeral without a eulogy; than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy. Let us learn to annoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Post mortem kindness does not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way.—August Gast.

WITHOUT much regard to the facts in the case, statements are commonly made to the effect that all the wealth of the country is passing out of the hands of the common people, says the Christian Register. Other statements imply that the prosperity of the country is bound up in the strife between labor and capital. But how about the farmer who, during the past year, produced crops valued at over three billion dollars and meat worth over two billions? The trusts and combinations did not get all this money. The bank accounts of Western farmers, and the savings-banks throughout the country show a vast increase of distributed wealth. The total amount of property in the country last year was estimated at over one hundred billion dollars. The principal labor question raised among the tillers of the soil is one caused by the scarcity of laborers and the unwillingness of the multitudes herded in the cities to work in the open air. If those who work for wages could be distributed on the soil and their work applied to the productive arts, the income of the country could be doubled in ten years.

“When you go to New Zealand I wish you would inquire after my great-grandfather, Jeremiah Thompson.”

“Certainly,” said the traveller, and where ever he went he asked for news of the ancestor, but without avail.

One day he was introduced to a fine old Maori of advanced age. “Did you ever meet with an Englishman named Jeremiah Thompson?” he asked. A smile passed over the Maori’s face. “Meet him?” he repeated. “Why I ate him.”

A proverb is the wit of one and the wisdom of many.

Lord, for tomorrow and its needs

I do not pray;
Keep me from stain of sin
Just for today.

Let me both diligently work
And duly pray;
Let me be kind in word and deed
Just for today.

Let me be slow to do my will—
Prompt to obey;
Help me to sacrifice myself
Just for today.

Let me no wrong or idle word
Unthinking say;
Set thou a seal upon my lips
Just for today.

So, for tomorrow and its needs
I do not pray;
But keep me, guide me, hold me, Lord,
Just for today.

“I think I’ll have to bring her in and let her choose,” said the embarrassed young man as he looked hopelessly at the diamonds spread out on the table.

“Pardon me for a bit of advice,” the jeweller said, earnestly, leaning forward, “but I’ve had a lot of experience in such matters. If you pick it out yourself and take it to her she’ll surely be satisfied. Always are. But if she comes here and sees bigger, handsomer rings she won’t be contented with the one you can afford. The $500 or $800 ring she sees will stay by her. We’ve often lost sales that way. I’ve frequently seen the young woman pick out a ring that the man obviously couldn’t afford and he would find some excuse for not buying it.”

Then the young man said he thought he might as well decide on that $110 trifle at once.”—Kansas City Star.

“If the Doctchers would open fewer people and more windows there wouldn’t be so many Christian Scientists.”—Mr. Dooley.

CLOTHES PRESSED, CLEANED AND KEPT IN ORDER

- ☞ We give you the best service possible for $1.50 per month, $4 00 per three months, and $15.00 for one year. No contracts made for less than six months. This will allow one person three pieces per week. We CLEAN, make small REPAIRS and PRESS under this contract. Our team calls for and delivers your goods, in Lynn, Salem, Swampscott and Peabody.
- ☞ Our DYEING and CLEANSING is as good as can be had at any first-class Dye House.
- ☞ We have a first-class Repair Shop where we re-line Coats and Vests, put Velvet Collars on Overcoats, and make general alterations. We would be pleased to have you give us a trial and we are sure we can please you. Telephone 546-2, send a postal and and our team will call.

ESTABLISHED 1899

ATLANTIC CLEANSING COMPANY

J. H. H. HARTSHORN, Manager

117 Broad Street, Lynn

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

11 & 13 MARKET STREET

GLOVES FOR EASTER

Our Easter glove stock is now ready for your inspection and the showing is very complete. Every pair of Kid Gloves properly fitted and fully guaranteed.

HANDSOME WAISTS FOR EASTER

Net Waists are very much in favor at the present time, we are showing some very handsome models in both White and Arabian.

THE STANDARD SHIRTWAIST

Sold by us has no equal in Workmanship—Style, Fit and Finish, no higher in price than the cheaper made kind.

NEW LACES AND VEILINGS

This is one of the very busy departments at this time. Every popular style and pattern may be found here.

DAINTY NECKWEAR

Great care has been taken in selecting this stock of neckwear and we are sure it will please you.

Essex Trust Company

EXCHANGE STREET

Complete Safety Deposit Vault

Of the most modern construction has just been installed

BOXES OF ALL SIZES

To meet the requirements of customers are now ready for use; prices from $5.00 per year, up.

ALSO FIRE and BURGLAR PROOF ROOM

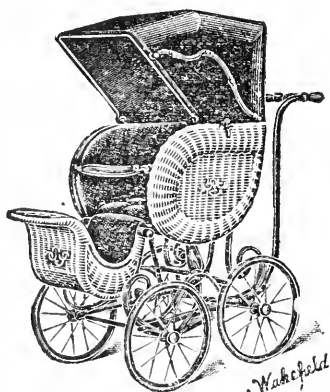

For the storage of trunks or boxes containing more bulky articles of value. A special effort has been made to furnish appropriate and agreeable accommodations for ladies who desire to carry bank accounts or make use of the safe deposit boxes.

DIRECTORS:

MICAJAH P. CLOUGH, Prest.
JOHN S. BARTLETT, Vice Prest.
AMOS F. BREED
CHARLES A. COFFIN
CHARLES H. HASTINGS

BENJAMIN N. JOHNSON
PATRICK B. MAGRANE
CHARLES S. PURINTON
THOMAS W. ROGERS

WALTER W. JOHNSON, Treasurer

Now for the Daily Baby Carriage Parade

ONCE again the baby carriage will be the predominating vehicle on street and park sidewalks. The daily outings and airings discontinued in most cases last Fall can now be resumed with the arrival of Spring days. To further that end and to make it more comfortable for the little tots, we are now showing and ready for your purchase, a fine lot of carriages and go-carts. If you're the owner of a baby, you surely ought to own one of these baby carriages. $1.75 to $50

D. B. H. POWER, Central Sq., Lynn

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

MAY, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 7

SECURITY SAFE DEPOSIT AND TRUST COMPANY

Main Office, Bergengren Block
:: :: :: Central Square, Lynn

Branch Office, 25 Market Square, West Lynn

On and after April 1, 1907, until further notice, INTEREST at the RATE of THREE (3) per cent. per annum will be paid on all DEPOSITS in our SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

MONEY goes on INTEREST on day of DEPOSIT.

INTEREST COMPOUNDED MONTHLY

HATS

Our Hat Department is full of all the newest styles in hats for Men and Boys.

The "Chalfont" hat at $3.00 and "Cross Special" hat at $2.00 are the best value for the price on the market.

Every hat fully guaranteed.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Lynn Storage Warehouse Co.

STORAGE

For General Merchandise and Furniture

A MODERN FIREPROOF BUILDING, 50 x 165 feet, 6 stories and basement constructed of re-enforced concrete, with wire-glass windows and metal doors.

SMALL FIREPROOF ROOMS for household furniture. Steam heated room for pianos. Large elevator, 10,000 pounds capacity, carrying loaded van to top floor. Also other freight and passenger elevators. Fireproof vaults for valuables. Railroad facilities for receiving and shipping goods.

NEGOTIABLE WAREHOUSE RECEIPTS TO MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS

152-158 Pleasant St., Lynn, Mass.

Telephone 1425

WE DO NOT BELIEVE

that your employment of us would promptly pave your way to "Wealth beyond the dreams of avarice," nor do we ask you to believe it—but

WE DO IMPLICITLY BELIEVE that such "salesmen" as travel for you through the mails, i. e., your Catalogues, Circulars, etc., might be better "dressed" and might possibly "talk" better if we had the grooming of them—and that our ideas, as they would appear in your literature, would secure for you a sufficient increase in the response traceable to them—would, in short, "cut enough (extra) ice" for you, to take the "sting" out of our bill for "gumptioning" the necessary gumption"!

WE FURTHER IMPLICITLY BELIEVE

There are lots of men who read the advertisements in this magazine every issue—never fail to do so—who easily might—and doubtless, often—do more foolish things than to write us for a lot of samples that will show just how closely we cling to "humdrum" conventions and kiln-dried facilities in our work. We do not expect any man who may think this aimed at him to show less than 2 cent's worth of interest when he writes us.

The MERRILL-HANCOCK PRESS of LYNN

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

MAY, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 7

Rogation Sunday, May 5; Ascension Day, May 9; Whit Sunday, May 19; Trinity Sunday, May 26; Corpus Christi, May 30.

Water board troubles continue to multiply. Possibly the "system," and not the men who were deposed some time ago, is at fault. We wonder if this view of the case is not rapidly growing among Lynn citizens.

There will be considerable doing for the progress and development of Lynn during the present year if the new high school, the extension of Market street, the completion of Sea street extension and the erection of a municipal building in West Lynn are either completed or started.

The movement to make Lynn a shire town will probably not succeed. The lawyers who do the larger amount of legal business seem very much inclined toward Salem. There would probably not be a court house erected in a town or city in the county where there were no jail accommodations.

One of the most desirable improvements that could be carried out by the city council would be the extension of Washington street to the Lynn woods. There would be no booming of real estate in the interest of any private individual. This would be a popular improvement, and it is hoped that it will be carried out when it is felt that the city can afford the undertaking.

A correspondent who has the fullest belief in the purity of Lynn's water supply, and who has felt that the developing of the water system in Lynn has been a great success, says that he understands that a slaughter house which does not do a large business is located upon the water shed. If this is true we believe that the water board should take steps to have such a nuisance condemned, because it is likely to be detrimental to the public health.

Do It The Right Way.

Everybody realizes the necessity of separating the railroad grades in Lynn.

As before observed in the REVIEW, do not enter upon the work until it can be done correctly.

The correct way is to place the tracks in a subway, if the example all over the world counts for anything.

At the present time about one-third of the track through the important part of Lynn is in an open cut, or subway. Why not place the remaining two-thirds in a subway?

Lynn can well afford to spend several hundred thousand dollars above the legal limit, if necessary, in order to have this work done right.

No such work should be entered upon unless we look ahead at least fifty years. Public convenience and necessity calls, not for the consideration of a wall from West Lynn to Central square, but for the depression of the tracks, the same as they are at present, practically, between Central square and Chatham street.

There are about 1500 people who come to Lynn from Peabody every weekday.

President Roosevelt to the contrary, we still think "sissy" a more expressive word than "molycoddle." But the strenuous president, probably, will have his way.

The foolish man has appeared in national politics quite early for the coming campaign. His last utterance was Crane and Guild for president and vice president. Other sanitoriums remain to be heard from.

We hope that the movement for permanently improving Lynn's streets and sidewalks will prove a success. The city is given $300,000 in the next five years to carry on this work, and Heaven knows there cannot be any community on earth which more urgently needs decent streets and sidewalks than the city of Lynn. Gov. Guild affixed his signature to the bill last month, after consulting city officials, and he was convinced that the measure was for the benefit of the city of Lynn. The bill allows this city to increase its taxation by fifty cents the first year, and afterwards a dollar a year for five years, for sidewalk and street improvements. Representative George H. Newhall is given considerable credit for the enacting of this legislation.

When it is anything which calls for

Plumbing and Heating the House

let us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.

When you have heat-
ing or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on
the work.

J. F. MORGAN & SON

66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime,
Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 10 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

That a Gas Range will come up to your highest expectations.

☛ Sold for $12.00 and up. A guarantee goes with every one.

Everything tastes better when cooked by gas.

We install and connect these stoves for the COST OF MATERIALS furnished. No charge for labor. No charge for putting in gas where distance is not unusually long.

Electric Flat Irons $3.00 including Plug

Lynn Gas & Electric Company

Moon Changes.

Last Quarter, May 4.
New Moon, May 12
First Quarter, May 20,
Full Moon, May 27.

Trite Talk on the Labor Question.

Benjamin N. Johnson made some noteworthy remarks at the recent dinner of the Lynn Cutters' Union, bearing upon the labor question, and among other things Mr. Johnson said:

Work for the best interests of the community, work for all, but through all your acts don't forget yourself. How much better have you made the generation? How much stronger have you made your fellow-man? Those are two questions for reflection which every man could well stop and consider. Labor organizations are a big contributor to the happiness of the world and everybody should strive for happiness. In its broadest meaning happiness should be considered and in the estimation of the speaker it is the work for the next generation to battle for. Exhibit a feeling of friendliness and of brotherhood to fellow-man, keep your ideals and those of your organization at a high standard, and just as important, keep your leadership strong. The struggles of the labor unions during the years of their existence have enabled them to gather up the strength of their adversaries and imbued with that material help, marked progress has been made in recent years. A man does his best work, that is, the laboring man, when under 50 years of age. You who are over 50 years of age have probably done your best work. With professional men it is different, for they engage in no labor to weaken their eyesight, and between 50 and 70 the professional man, to my mind, is at his best. I don't believe that the laboring man should only demand wages to sustain him and his family for the present, but I believe that he should receive sufficient remuneration to keep him when he has passed beyond that age when he is incapable of giving his best work to his employer."

It is not often that such wisdom is dealt out when speakers are handling the labor question, and in his treatment of the subject Mr. Johnson brought forward some most interesting and timely ideas without pandering to the gallery.

Essex County savings banks are rich. They have deposits of $84,041,422.44. The Essex Savings Bank of Lawrence heads the list with $11,034,290.44. The Lynn Five Cent Savings Bank shows $5,858,068.19, the Lynn Institution for Savings, $6,466,617.03 and the Commonwealth Savings Bank, $696,134.05. Lawrence depositors have a larger amount of money in the savings bank than any other city in Essex County.

New York City has a population of approximately four millions. There are 750,000 copies of New York morning newspapers sold in that city every weekday.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

Lullaby.

Day is ending, night is falling;
From the Land of Drowsihead,
Don't you hear the Sand-Man calling,
"Children all should be abed?"
Go to sleep! Go to sleep!

Not for all his golden treasure
Will he sell the wicked King
Sleepy-sand the smallest measure,
Nor for any precious thing.
Go to sleep! Go to sleep!

Best he loves the poor man's dwelling,
Tire and ache the surest plea
For the gift beyond all telling
Sweet to men on land and sea.
Go to sleep! Go to sleep!

Bless him for his magic fetter!
Now, my sweet, he comes to you.
Eyes wide open? All the better!
He will know just what to do.
Go to sleep! Go to sleep!

— John White Chadwick.

Senator Crane is dealt out a great amount of taffy by the papers, but it should be understood that he committed the grievous error of allowing the Boston and Albany Railroad to be leased by the New York Central Railroad. This is one of the greatest curses that was ever perpetrated against Massachusetts, and Gov. Crane could have stopped it. The public got the impression that the Senator went out of the government money paper business when he took his seat in the Senate, but everybody understands that he has practically the same oversight over the business that he had before being elected to the Senate. He works insidiously, and equals Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island in his underground methods. One of these days people of Massachusetts will probably become better acquainted with Senator Crane.

Caterer Andrew Schlehuber served over two thousand meals to the Methodists at the April conference in Lynn. Our Methodist friends are splendid judges of food and they did Mr. Schlehuber the honor to state that never, in the history of the conference, according to the testimony of the 250 or more clergymen present, were the meals ever more satisfactory in every respect.

A small boy was ambitious to be considered a skilful artist, which he was not. He drew on the blackboard a long, shapeless something, and, when asked what it was replied, "It's the tail of a dreadful dragon." "But where's the dragon?" "Oh, it wouldn't do to draw him, he's such a dreadful dragon."—New Century Journal.

Speaking of Investments.

People in every walk of life have a disposition to invest money, either in the savings bank or in some other direction. Their main object is to get a good return upon it, and in this desire they are to be congratulated. There is something, however, beside money which can yield a good income to the investor. A great source of income is taking proper care of your property, whether it be clothing, cash or real estate.

There exists in Lynn a firm that offers a good investment proposition in taking care of your clothing, something that will yield just as good an investment to you as if you had money in the bank. They give full value for the money you invest with a liberal advantage upon the outside. Their business methods are backed up by the best work and prompt service.

One of the principals of a local school said he believed that our service was a better investment for him than he could possibly make in any other way.

One other enthusiastic customer said the investment he made with us in his opinion saved him $35 and $45 annually in care and service which we gave to his wearing apparel.

A large shoe manufacturer says that it is the best service that he ever knew of for the money and he cannot speak too highly in its favor.

There are several hundred customers who speak in a similar manner. They all find that the investment they make with us for the care of their wardrobe is a splendid business proposition.

While we do not agree with the tailor, that the clothing is nine-tenths of the man, still, we are of the opinion that it is more important than ever before that a good personal appearance be presented, not only from a social standpoint, but for good business reasons. The man who wears well-ordered clothing, that which shows care and taste, will get a better audience than the one who dresses in an opposite direction.

We believe this reasoning to be sound common sense, and on that account we should like to have you take out a contract with us for not less than six months at $1.50 per month; $4 for three months, or $15 per year.

For this amount we send a team to your door, get your goods and return the same promptly; clean, press and repair, taking a suit each week. We also make a specialty of dyeing, and cleansing women's garments of all kinds. And we make small repairs on all garments where we have a regular contract for cleaning and pressing.

Atlantic Cleansing Company

J. H. H. Hartshorn, Manager

117 BROAD ST., LYNN

WHY DON'T YOU

insure your furniture? The expense is trifling; about two cents a week. We carry INSURANCE of all kinds.

ROBERT S. SISSON & SON

302-303 Item Building

The GARDEN HOSE

Season has arrived.

New reliable goods at

HOWES' RUBBER STORE

52 Central Sq.

That order for

ICE CREAM

All Flavors

Will be attended by your calling us on 'Phone No. 305-2. Give orders for Sunday on Saturday if possible.

SCHLEHUBER

Baker - Caterer - Confectioner

78 Exchange Street.

Colors are very popular in both Soft and Stiff Hats

Our VARIETY is the Largest STYLES Most Exclusive

See our New Soft Telescopes,
all colors.

Ladies' Panama Hats, Prices
$6.00 and $8.00.

Amos B. Chase

123 Munroe Street

Cold storage for Furs.

TELEPHONE 425-1

Summer Fever.

I am tired of thought and of labor,
 Of the task that is set me to do;
 I am tired of seeing my neighbor
 (He looks tired of seeing me, too.)

I am weary of struggling and straining.
 This unceasing work doesn't pay.
 I find myself daily complaining,
 And its growing worse day after day.

I wonder what can be the reason
 That I feel all the time out of tune.
 Can it be—yes, it must be the season,
 This is May—and next week will be June.

It is time to go off on vacation,
 To be careless, untrammelled and free,
 To enjoy a few weeks' relaxation—
 And that's what's the matter with me!

—Somerville Journal.

The Prize Trolley Trip Story Contest

which was conducted by the Passenger Department of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street Ry. Co.'s during the winter months, closed March 1st, and the report of the judges has just been announced.

The department offered a prize of $25 in cash for the best trolley trip taken on the lines of either of these two companies, $15 for the second best and $10 for the third best. The response to this offer was very general, a large number of excellent and interesting stories being received by the department from all over the district covered by these lines.

The stories were submitted for judgment to a board of judges composed of S. Heath Rich, Managing Editor of the Brockton Daily Enterprise; Arthur W. Stubbs, Managing Editor of the Lynn Evening News and Thomas F. Anderson, Manager of the Boston Publicity Bureau and a newspaper man and magazine writer of many years experience.

By their decision the first prize has been awarded to Katherine Keefe of Danvers, the second to Mary L. Coggeshall of Melrose and the third to Ellen M. Dole of Salem. The winning story is printed in this month's issue of the Tri-State Tourist, the monthly publication of the Passenger Department.

We congratulate parents and children of the Cobbet School in deciding not to go into the laundry business. The fifty minutes per week proposed for this work may be better used in perfecting the children in reading, writing and arithmetic. There are altogether too many fads in the public schools, and it is high time to call a halt when the proposition is seriously brought forward to have boys and girls wash and iron towels in the public schools. "Oh, Education, what crimes are committed in thy name!"

HALL'S MILLINERY STORE

17 MARKET ST., LYNN

has no special bargain days but gives the best value in goods every day in the week.

Mourning Goods always in stock.

The New Storage Warehouse.

IN the construction of the Lynn Storage Warehouse there is not a piece of wood as large as a toothpick. It is the most complete fire proof structure ever erected in this vicinity, being made from reenforced concrete and steel. Lynn people should be proud, indeed, of such quarters, because it not only accommodates the family man, but business houses secure the fullest protection for their stock of goods. Already some Lynn shoe and leather manufacturers are taking advantage of these storage facilities, which are not excelled in any large city in this country. The elevators here are of such dimensions that the loaded van with horses is taken up to any floor and the goods unloaded at the door of the storage quarters. This building contains nearly 60,000 feet of floor space, being seven stories high, 165 feet long and 50 feet in width. It is the intention to duplicate the structure beside the present building, in the not distant future. Particularly favorable for shoe and leather manufacturers is the fact that goods are deposited on warehouse receipts thus giving merchants and business men the fullest protection at a very small cost. The rate of insurance is the lowest possible and whether you want to store furniture or $100,000 worth of sole or upper leather you can do business at the Lynn Storage Warehouse, 152-158 Pleasant street, the most modern institution of its kind in New England. Merchants and business men should look into the negotiable warehouse receipts which are handled by this company. The President is Norman E. Maclean; treasurer, Harry W. Woodward, and William S. Currier is the general manager.

The Lynn Theatre management has organized a stock company equal in strength to those in larger cities. The opening will be May 6, with "Men and Women," the great Belasco play in which Mrs. Carter-Paine formerly shone. "The Lost Paradise" and other equally strong plays follow weekly, with two performances daily at popular prices.

The Franklin street French church bell ringer is improving. He sounded his "six o'clock" curfew at 6.10 the other evening.

The poppy originated in the east.

INVEST AT HOME

The First Mortgage Bonds

OF THE

LYNN REALTY COMPANY

Buildings No. 2 and 3

afford an investment of undoubted security and permanent income.

Interest 5 per cent. per annum

Payable January and July.

Value of Property	.	.	.	$140,000
Total Bond Issue	.	.	.	70,000

Net income double the bond interest. Annual payment to sinking fund increases the margin of security.

Free of Taxes in Massachusetts.

Price 101 and Interest.

Send for Circular.

BLANCHARD & CO., Inc.

16 State Street, Boston, Mass.

Too Late.

They came too late, the fragrant, dewy blooms,
Nourished where sunshine beats the whole long day.

Life held no solace for her darkened hours
And fields were barren as she went her way.

Ah! take them back, the words so long unsaid,

The spoken love to starving heart denied;

Ye gave a stone where she had asked for bread;

She held it in her empty hand and died.

The sweet pink roses lie upon her breast;
She passed through wastes whereon no pink bud grows;

She passed and sleeps—what matters all the rest?
She hath no need for any fairest rose.

Take them away and bear her softly forth

Where singing birds and tender grasses wait;
Holding your peace—your words are little worth—
For love and roses, all are come too late.

—Mary Riddell Corley.

Mr. Aldrich Pleasantly Remembered.

THE writer has reason to remember the late Thomas Bailey Aldrich with marked consideration. In the early days when the writer was struggling as a reporter for the Boston Herald he was commissioned around midnight to interview Mr. Aldrich at his summer home in Lynn with reference to the details of a controversy which had arisen in connection with the proposed nomination of Hon. Henry L. Pierce, of Boston, as governor.

Mr. Pierce was a merchant prince, and he left a fortune to Mr. Aldrich, who, if the writer is not mistaken, was related to his benefactor.

Mr. Aldrich had to be aroused from his slumbers, and was taken at something of a disadvantage. While the writer was flirting with a dog around the premises, Mr. Aldrich raised a window and asked what was wanted, and the reporter stated his mission.

He was asked to wait a few moments, and when the door was opened the writer was ushered into a comfortable room, treated with the utmost consideration, and given all the information that he requested. There are not many men, poets or otherwise, who bring their good nature so well into play under like conditions.

They were discussing marriage, when the old-timer said he "had been very fortunate in his love affairs, not having yet secured a wife."

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

The other day when we noticed a young Lynn business man cuddled down in his carriage, well protected from the weather, a nervous wreck, with not one chance in a hundred of ever recovering, we wondered if, after all, it was worth while. Here is a man who come into a small fortune by well directed business efforts, has a fine home and all its accessories, but he lacks the most vital consideration in life—good health. All of which leads us to the conclusion, that it is better for a man and those who are dependent upon him, to get a little something out of life as he goes along, outside of the dull monotonous routine, and not allow himself to become such a victim to the Money Mania that he becomes a candidate for the sanatorium. If a man does not owe this obligation to himself, he is indebted to his family and friends to the extent of doing everything in his power to retain his health.

The quickest trip in the world is from Boston to New York. One may go there by sound.—Selected.

"Hungry," said the tramp, "I should say so—I can eat anything that won't bite me first."—Selected.

Commonwealth Savings Bank

325 Union St., Lynn, Mass.

NOTICE TO DEPOSITORS

In compliance with Statute Regulations, depositors are requested to present their books at the bank for verification, from May 1 to June 15.

Money Deposited on or before
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5
will go upon interest on that day.

JOS. G. PINKHAM, - President
WM. M. BARNEY, - Treasurer

Why Not Fully Sustain Lynn Retailers?

The merchants of Lynn were "delighted" to have the local authorities license an exhibition of a New York company which was displaying its premiums in a local hall some time ago.

It is very comforting for the local merchants who give up their money for local rentals, and who do everything in their power to sustain Lynn, to have an outside concern hire a hall and display its products, and pay only a nominal amount for the privilege.

Some people might think that it is a narrow view to take of the case, but when it is understood that Lynn merchants deserve support by the chances they take in business, and for the work they do for the community, it may be well reasoned that it is not altogether wise for the city to license such exhibitions as the one referred to.

It is not all milk and honey conducting a retail business, and the more support citizens can give to the local stores the better it will be for the community.

Origin of Violets.

I know blue modest violets,
Gleaming with dew at morn—
I know the place you come from
And the way that you are born!
When God cut holes in heaven,
The holes the stars look through,
He let the scraps fall down to earth,
The little scraps are you.

Managers of theatrical attractions coming to Lynn make a great mistake insisting upon the $2 rate for seats. This schedule is not popular in Lynn, and it is hardly fair to have such a price because Lynn should not be wholly compared with the New York and Boston theatres. The $2 rate is not put in force by the Lynn Theatre management. Prices are wholly arranged by the companies, and if it is found, as it has been in some instances this season, that the $2 rate will not go in Lynn, the attractions calling for such a schedule will be given the go-by.

Some motormen have common sense. Others have not. This might be said of other people, but when you wait at a clean crossing for a street car, and the motorman obeys the stopping rules to a hair, and makes you walk the length of the car in the mud, you feel like saying things to the automatic and mechanical headed motorman who would not deviate from the rules for the sake of accommodating the public.

May.

I saw a child, once, that had lost its way
In a great city: ah, dear heaven, such eyes!—
A far-off look in them, as if the skies
Her birthplace were. So looks to me the May.
April is winsome, June is glad and gay;
May glides betwixt them in such wondering wise,
Lovely as dropped from some fair Paradise,
And knowing, all the while, herself astray.
Or is the fault with us? Nay, call it not
A fault, but a sweet trouble! Is it we,— Catching some glimpse of our own destiny
In May's renewing touch, some yearning thought
Of heaven, beneath her resurrecting hand,—
We who are aliens, lost in a strange land?
—Caroline A. Mason.

A prominent Lynn citizen was unfortunate in business affairs some years ago and he made an assignment. He is engaged in the very honorable undertaking of paying his creditors one hundred cents on the dollar, and quite a number of them have been so treated. He was in Boston one day recently arranging an account, and when he had disposed of his obligation to the extent of one hundred cents on the dollar, the man with whom he was doing business, said:—"I guess I will have to shout you on this," and he went out and shortly returned with a five-cent cigar, for the honorable man of business. Thus was honesty and fair dealing rewarded. It is such generous action as that under consideration which leads men to do noble deeds!

More systematic and thorough work should be done in caring for streets like Oxford, Mulberry, Willow and other thoroughfares in the closely built factory section. These streets are in fearful condition in rainy weather and thousands of operatives in shoe factories are put to great inconvenience. More consideration should be shown the factory operatives because they have not the facilities at hand when at work to properly care for themselves when their feet are wet. Street improvements should be carried out on the principle of "the greatest good to the greatest number."

William Travers Jerome of New York is our ideal of a public prosecutor. He may have defects, but what human being has not? Jerome is wonderfully energetic, appears to know the law, cannot be stampeded, and in him the people have a great champion. We hope that Hearst will have to pay every cent of the $200,000 asked for by Jerome in his suit against the yellow journalist for slander.

The Boston and Eastern Electric Railway.

THERE is still marked objection to the Boston and Eastern Electric Railroad Co. even if they do pass through the city in a subway, which would not be a desirable adjunct to property unless it was completely underground.

An open subway with cars running through the same is a distinct nuisance and it should not invade the residential section of Lynn, unless the railroad officials feel that public convenience and necessity require such conditions.

The noise from an open subway would furnish a suit for damages under the law which has recently been laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of the Boston Elevated. In other words, noise is a cause for the levying of damages, and we believe that an open subway would be much more costly in this respect than the promoters of the railroad would have the public understand.

Who is behind the new railroad does not appear, Engineer Bickford being about the only individual in the limelight at the present time. What the public would like to know is, who is backing the enterprise? Whether or not the promoters mean business, or if it is their desire to secure a franchise to sell to capitalists who are desirous of burning some money. With money in the present condition, the railroad credit of the country being destroyed, and Wall street having a high fever, we cannot imagine a railroad of this character being financed—at least very promptly.

With nine of the 126 Harvard College students having commencement parts graduates of the Lynn Classical high school, that certainly speaks well for the thoroughness of the college fit to be secured in Lynn. It also makes the people feel that the Classical high school produces results. We speak advisedly when stating that there has not been a teacher in Lynn of late so capable of imparting knowledge to children as Principal Russell of the Classical school. As an instructor it would be difficult to name a superior. This is said without the slightest reflection on his most able and competent assistants.

We look forward to some most desirable street improvements in Lynn during the present year.

A correspondent of the New York Sun says:—"Everybody lies but Roosevelt."

Memorial Day.

Though years have passed, the brave who fell
Are treasured in the breast;
Their kindred love our hearts can tell
That throb for those that rest.
These gallant sons, they shall outlive
The shining orbs above,
And we these flowery tokens give,
The token of our love.
And, though these fade, our dear ones true,
Recorded in the sky,
Will wreath with love forever new
Sealed with a tear and sigh.
Within our hearts we treasure them,
Our dear ones true and brave,
While fairer than a diadem
A tear adorns their grave.
Then let the starry flag illumine
And deck the sacred sod
For these, our loyal sons, who bloom
Within the fold of God.
Our country's safe, her people free:
We'll cherish truth and right
Where every state from sea to sea
Is bathed in freedom's light.

—Albert S. Russell

College Extravagance.

What college will first set the example of putting all students on a common level so far as food and lodgings are concerned? Many rich men would prefer to send their sons to a college where luxury was barred and the habits of a hardy manhood were encouraged.—Christian Register.

President Roosevelt, the chief exponent of "the simple life," would have been a desirable pioneer in this direction by his action when sending T. R., Jr., to Cambridge. Instead, however, he gave support to what President Eliot says is "the bane of Harvard College"—expensive and elaborate dormitory life, and thus "the simple life" got another blow from one of its chief sponsors. Dunston Hall, where young Roosevelt lives, is one of the most exclusive and extravagant dormitories of Harvard.

Wilson's pharmacy at Franklin street and Hospital avenue is a popular institution in its neighborhood. Trade is increasing every month and that the service given is much appreciated is evidenced by the growing business. Mr. Wilson has had a valuable experience in high-grade pharmacy, and he conducts a well-appointed drug store. There has recently been added a new department for Eastman cameras and supplies, where printing and developing is done for amateurs at reasonable prices.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past month were The Port of Missing Men, Half a Rogue, The Doctor, The Malefactor, The Far Horizon, and The Second Generation.

F I S H

EVERYTHING that is seasonable in fish may be found in this establishment. In our Boston and Lynn stores we have a great buying capacity, and on that account can secure our stock to the best possible advantage for our customers. Quality is the first consideration with us, the care and attention bestowed upon Fish being of the utmost concern to buyers. When you get Fish here you may feel certain it is just as desirable as at the moment it was taken from the sea. We have everything in

F I S H

WILLIAMS BROS.

Telephone 28 or 29.

215-217 Union Street

Hon. William Shepherd was a success in public life because he knew enough not to talk. Mr. Shepherd was one of the greatest vote gettersever known in Lynn politics.

He made a popular mayor, and his deficiencies in executive action were pleasantly overlooked by an admiring public. Mayor Shepherd's honesty of purpose was always granted, and his marked genialty and patience won for him much consideration.

Never Worry about Anything You Cannot Help

When Easter Comes.

Easter came unusually early this year, and provoked considerable discussion. Perhaps it seemed earlier because we have had so much and long-continued coldness. Next year occurs the somewhat singular coincidence that Patriots' Day, and the great church festival day comes on the 19th of April. The following is the list for the next thirteen years:

1908—April 19
1909—April 11	1910—March 27
1911—April 16	1912—April 7
1913—March 23	1914—April 12
1915—April 4	1916—April 23
1917—April 8	1918—March 31
1919—April 20	1920—April 4

Mayor Barney is becoming famous! He is being discussed in the New York Sun editorial columns.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

OUR NEW FURNITURE DEPARTMENT

is getting much attention from careful buyers. Everything with which to furnish the home.

This is a good time to select

New Carpets and Wall Papers of which we have a complete and up-to-date assortment.

Carpets taken up, cleaned and re-laid. Prompt service. Excellent work.

W. B. GIFFORD
97-99 MARKET STREET

A Home Song.

I turned an ancient poet's book

And found upon the page:

"Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage,"

Yes, that is true, and something more:

You'll find, where'er you roam,
That marble floors and gilded walls
Can never make a home.

But every house where Love abides

And Friends-hip is a guest,

Is surely home, and home, sweet home,

For there the heart can rest.

—Henry Van Dyke, in Country Life.

Manager Keith seems to keep on the even tenor of his vaudeville way, setting before his thousands of patrons the best novelties in the way of variety that research and money can procure. It is a positive fact that the best and strongest continuous entertainment is offered week in and week out at Keith's that can be seen anywhere in the world. Any person competent to offer an opinion will endorse this statement. There is an elegant list of attractions for this month. The management states that the coming summer shows will eclipse anything in the vaudeville line ever offered in Boston in corresponding seasons.

Discussing women, one man queried: "Did you ever see a woman twice alike?"

CITY OF LYNN.

NOTICE.

The Sealer of Weights and Measures in this city gives public notice to all inhabitants or persons having a place of business therein, who use scales, weights, measures or milk cans or jars, for the purpose of selling any goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities for public weighing, to bring in their scales, weights and measures to be adjusted, verified and sealed, at the office in City Hall, TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and SATURDAYS, from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., or at any other time the sealer is notified. No fees for work done in the office.

If the notice is not complied with the Sealer of Weights and Measures shall go to the houses, stores and shops of persons mentioned, who have neglected to comply with the notice given and shall be entitled to receive for said services the compensation set forth in Chapter 51, Section 14, of the General Statutes.

JOHN B. MCCARTHY,

Sealer of Weights and Measures.

N. B.—Upon notification I will be at the office, City Hall, any time to suit your convenience.

GREEN & SON

PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list.
Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

WILSON'S

Hospital Pharmacy
205 Franklin St.

Everything to be found in a first-class drug store.

SPECIAL!

We have a full line of the Eastman Cameras and Supplies. The finest line before the public. Printing and Developing for amateurs at very reasonable prices.

When you want the best glass of soda in our neighborhood
to

WILSON'S

That's All

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY

AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

Victor Talking Machines

A Small Sum Down
The rest, a little every week
Isn't That Easy?

Whatever your income may be, you can get a Victor to-day and enjoy it while you are paying for it.

The classic music of the great composers, rare voices of the greatest and most famous singers the world has ever known, splendid stirring orchestra and band selections. All these—the Victor can bring into your home.

D. B. H. POWER

CENTRAL SQUARE, LYNN

Restwell

Comfort UNLINED Rubber
Heel Shoes

We also have unlined oxford, kid tip, and with patent tip—unlined lace with kid tip. Boots, $3.00, Oxfords, $2.50.

Made in black or tan with rubber or leather heels.

These shoes are not sold in stores.

As comfortable to the feet as a glove to the hand.

Flexible, soft, no burning, aching, or drawing of the feet.

Comfort, Ease and Style.

Splendid Profits for Agents.

Exclusive territory given.

Please write for our illustrated pamphlet and measurement blanks.

By our special system we fit feet perfectly.

Restwell Unlined Gypsy Lace. O'Sullivan Rubber Heel, Heavy Turned Sole. Widths D, E & EE. Sizes 2-2 to 8. Price $3.00.

Restwell Shoe Co., Lynn, Mass.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

LYNN THEATRE

FRANK G. HARRISON, Manager

May 3. Fisk O'Hara

May 4. Matinee and Night

Geo. Sidney in "Busy Izzy"

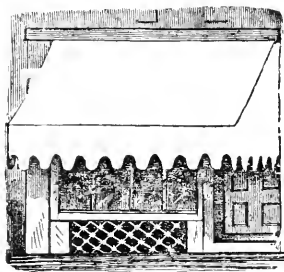

Week of May 6. Lynn Theatre Stock Co.

In "Men and Women"

Week of May 13. Lynn Theatre

Stock Company, in

"The Heart of Maryland"

Let us
estimate on

AWNING WORK

Send us a postal card.

All of the new patterns of
Awning Work

Tel. 396-4

F. R. BENNER CO., 302 Broad St., Lynn

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

That Rainy Day

will come, and then the bank account will be appreciated. Women always receive bright, new, crisp money when cashing checks. Have you had one of our expense books? They much facilitate the keeping of women's household accounts.

We want your account.

Manufacturers National Bank

Benj. W. Currier, President. William B. Littlefield, Vice President Clifton Colburn, Cashier

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review

Joseph E. Shaw.

WHILE he had been ailing for a considerable time, the death of Joseph E. Shaw came as a great surprise to his friends. Through the whirligig of politics, Mr. Shaw emerged from a shoe factory to be city marshal of Lynn. Mayor Lovering thought Mr. Shaw possessed executive ability and in this feeling he reckoned correctly.

Joseph E. Shaw was one of the shrewdest and most competent police officers ever known in Massachusetts, but, had he not taken part in the Henry B. Lovering political canvass, probably his ability in this direction would never have been discovered. It is very strange how some men find their opportunities in life.

Joseph E. Shaw was a kindly man, a just man, a rather severe public prosecutor, always being thoroughly imbued with the importance of his work, and the writer well recollects with what emphasis Mr. Shaw was wont to apply his feelings when arguing that Miss Borden was guilty of her father's death.

When the Borden case was being investigated in Fall River, the attorney-general insisted that Mr. Shaw be placed in charge of the case, being a rare tribute by Attorney-General Knowlton to the marked ability of State Officer Shaw.

He did many kind deeds that were never known to the general public. While he was considered as somewhat harsh at times in carrying on his work, yet those who really knew Joseph E. Shaw clearly understood that a kinder hearted, more just and considerate man never lived.

Since time began,
Today has been the friend of man;
But in his blindness and in his sorrow
He looks to yesterday and tomorrow.

—Anon.

January 31 a lot of goat skins were shipped in Shanghai, China, to a Lynn firm. They were received March 29, being delayed one week in Boston. This is considered quite a prompt shipment, when the great amount of traffic now going on is taken into consideration. The goat skins coming into the Lynn market now nearly all come from China, being shipped by way of San Francisco.

The Lynn Five Cents Savings Bank is a very flourishing and successful institution, carefully and conservatively managed. In the bank statement last month assets rising $6,000,000 were reported.

Quietness.

I would be quiet, Lord,
Nor tease, nor fret;
Not one small need of mine
Wilt Thou forget.
I am not wise to know
What most I need;
I dare not cry too loud
Lest Thou shouldst heed:
Lest Thou at length shouldst say,
"Child, have thy will;
As thou hast chosen, lo!
Thy cup I fill."
What I most crave, perchance
Thou wilt withhold,
As we from hands unmeet
Keep pearls, or gold;
As we, when childish hands
Would play with fire,
Withhold the burning goal
Of their desire.
Yet choose Thou for me—Thou
Who knowest best;
This one short prayer of mine
Holds all the rest!

—Julia C. R. Dorr.

Dr. N. W. Hodgkins, successor to Dr. MacGown, dentist, in the Currier Block, is meeting with good success. While Dr. Hodgkins is a stranger to Lynn, it should be understood by the public that he has had a long and valuable practical experience in dentistry, is well capable of doing every branch of the work, and is most thorough in every detail. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and his learning and experience well entitle him to the patronage of Lynn people.

The annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company shows total earnings for 1906 of $24,526,097, an increase over the earnings of 1905 of $2,813,267. Expenses amounted to $11,555,161, an increase of $2,876,368. Dividends paid in 1906 amounted to $10,195,233, as compared with $9,866,355 in 1905, leaving a balance in the treasury of $2,775,704. Every twelve persons in this country have a telephone, and each one of us averaged sixty-four calls in 1906.

Dr. Carpenter was noted for the quickness of his wit, and it was a common saying in the town in which he lived that he always had an answer ready when it was required. He was once introduced as "Dr. Carter." Immediately his friend saw his error, and corrected himself. "Never mind," said the doctor: "it's only a slip of the pen."

On April 12, 1841, snow fell in New York to the depth of nearly three feet on the level.

CARPETINGS

Just the time to select one of those cool looking Jap Matting for summer. Beautiful in design and low in price.

Wool carpets, Art Squares and Rugs in good variety.

Jap Piazza Screens, Imported expressly for us selling at wholesale prices:—

$1.25 for 7x8

$1.50 for 8x8

$1.75 for 10x8

ALBION K. HALL, 39 Market St.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

"I would like to get off early this afternoon," said the clerk, "as my wife wants me to beat some carpets."

"Can't possibly do it," said the employer. "We're too busy."

"Thank you, sir."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Established 1882.

Lynn Marble and Granite Works

MONUMENTS, TABLETS, POSTS AND CU BING

Our prices are as low as the lowest consistent with the work we produce.

We cordially request an inspection of a most attractive assortment of IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC MONUMENT WORK comprising many exclusive styles specially imported for us.

We are showing a larger assortment than ever before, and are thus enabled to suit the most fastidious tastes.

Most careful attention is given to every detail, and all work is guaranteed to be the best obtainable.

G. B. MERRILL & CO., Proprietors

132 Boston Street, Lynn.

Pneumatic tools for fine lettering and carving

The Line to the West

BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

SEA SHORE LOTS

Within the Reach of All, on

Castle Road, Nahant

Beautifully Situated on the
Water Front

From $400, Up

ONLY 11 LOTS REMAINING UNSOLD

Suitable Restrictions to Prevent Anything Objectionable on This Property

APPLY TO

EDWARD E. STROUT

CASTLE ROAD } or { 319 UNION STREET, LYNN
SUNDAYS } WEEK DAYS

Rugs and Spring Carpetings

Largest Assortment
Lowest Prices

TITUS & BUCKLEY COMPANY
UNION STREET

We are Lynn's Exclusive Agent for
The Incomparable La Grecque Corsets
All the New Spring Models have arrived

Stylish in appearance—perfect in fit—soothing in comfort—superlative in quality—of the best materials—made by the highest salaried experts—of tested strength—the incomparable La Grecque Corsets gives its purchaser

Absolute Corset Perfection

Our skilled corsetiers—trained in New York—sees to it that no woman takes a pair of corsets from this store unless they fit her beyond the possibility of criticism.

Prices range from $1 to $8

Goddard Bros., Market Street

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

JUNE, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 8

SECURITY SAFE DEPOSIT AND TRUST COMPANY

Main Office, Bergengren Block
:: :: :: Central Square, Lynn

Branch Office, 25 Market Square, West Lynn

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES of the latest construction and design have recently been installed in the vaults of this company. You are earnestly requested to call and inspect them. BOXES for the safe keeping of BONDS, DEEDS, STOCKS, NOTES, MORTGAGES, POLICIES, WILLS and other important papers are rented at prices ranging from $5.00 to $25.00 per year, according to size. YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO GO WITHOUT SUCH PROTECTION.

Summer Clothing

- ☞ The warm weather is bound to come, and if you contemplate buying a new suit we can suit you.
- ☞ We carry a large assortment of Hats, Caps, Furnishings, Trunks and Bags. No trouble to show goods here.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Electrical Power The BEST

For Shoe and Other Factories

ELECTRIC POWER IN LYNN IS GROWING

REASONS WHY

❏ The element of safety is perfectly secured. No danger from imperfect boilers on the premises.

❏ Factories driven by an engine require the full power, whether one machine is in operation, or fifty.

❏ Belting and shafting consume a large amount of power because of resistance—this means lost energy.

❏ A motor attached to each machine saves this energy, and you only pay for what you actually use.

❏ A motor further does away with belting and shafting, thus insuring better light.

❏ A motor makes it possible to run the machines at different speeds if desired.

❏ The saving of coal, which is unnecessary for heating in summer, can only be accomplished by using electricity.

LYNN GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

JUNE, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 8

Better have the "May" breakfast in June, as a fixture.

Filtration postponed! If that report is correct it will please Lynn people.

Lynn will soon reach the $50,000,000 mark in shoemaking, if it has not already done so.

May parties were unique last month in some parts of New England, because sleighing was indulged in.

There is only one way to properly deal with the B. & M. railroad tracks through the centre of Lynn—place them in a subway.

The county commission should have the largest men available. The salary should be at least $5,000. The duties are judicial, executive and administrative and call for a high order of talent, if the people are to be properly served. The office really requires a business and judicial mind.

Every step possible should be taken by the health authorities for clean, healthy milk. It is believed bad milk causes more sickness than any one thing, and it is up to the authorities to do everything possible to protect the public against impure and unhealthful milk, the great source from which typhoid fever and other epidemics have their start. The uncleanly premises from which much milk is served to the public should be instantly closed up and everybody be made to adopt the most modern improvements in methods of producing, handling and storing milk. When the hot weather comes, then the public, in the health of little children, will see how closely milk impurities have been inspected. All milk should be pasteurized.

That Railroad Merger.

THE lease of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven though possible, is not probable. If the New Haven takes the property as now appears inevitable, it will do so in a manner to make the B. & M. stockholders partners with the New Haven in the future of the roads.

Boston & Maine needs something like $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 or $15,000 to $20,000 per mile spent on the property for new equipment and improvements. This is a proposition which must be met.

Only by this method can the Boston & Maine be put in shape to move its passengers on faster schedules and both its passengers and freight at a lower rate.

Peddling out a million or so a year will never do it. In view of this, the question is, would the Boston & Maine stockholders become partners with the New Haven, swap their stock on some agreed basis for 8 per cent. New Haven stock, while the earnings of the Boston & Maine were used for the rehabilitation of that road?

So far as Lynn sentiment can be sounded, people here are thought to favor the proposed merger.

Mayor Barney in a word says that when the "board of trade" talks, that it should be the board and not a committee, and that they should also produce evidence to fortify their assertions.

Charles O. Breed will make a sturdy candidate for the board of aldermen, and we hope that Ward Six will say "Amen" to the nomination, and later the same action at the hands of the voters. We need more business men in the city government.

Superintendent William Stone of Pine Grove Cemetery says, in a communication to the public:—

There are many lots in the old part of Pine Grove that are not cared for, and I will at this time call the attention of the owners to this fact. Bear this in mind and see that I am instructed to care for them this year. As most of these lots contain 300 square feet the cost will be $3, for the year.

How so many people who are in comfortable circumstances can reconcile their conscience in this direction is hard to understand. Many individuals who give signs of possessing respectability and who are credited with being well-to-do, consistently violate the idea of keeping the final resting places of family members in a decent condition.

A Home Company Seeking Home Patronage
Lynn Manufacturers and Merchants
 Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Guaranty Capital, $100,000

PATRICK B. MAGRANE, President

JOHN M. THOMSON, ISAAC C. WYMAN, Vice-Presidents

CLIFTON COLBURN, Treasurer

JOHN H. MADDEN, Secretary

DIRECTORS — Ralph S. Bauer, Wilmot R. Hastings, Archibald T. Sampson, Joseph Caunt, Maurice A. Stevens, Fred A. Goddard, Charles H. Hastings, Maurice V. Bresnahan, Patrick J. Harney, John M. Thomson, Nicholas M. Weber, Augustus A. Hennessey, Alfred D. Fisher, Charles H. Newhall, Bert Parker Chick, Thomas A. Kelley, Benjamin Scully, John H. Madden, Clifton Colburn, George A. Creighton, Patrick B. Magrane, Joseph F. Hannan, Isaac C. Wyman, Harry W. Woodward.

FINANCE COMMITTEE — Patrick B. Magrane, George A. Creighton, Patrick J. Harney, John H. Madden, Wilmot R. Hastings, Maurice V. Bresnahan, Clifton Colburn.

Prompt and satisfactory attention will be given all business entrusted to this company.

Telephone 501

35 Central Square

Orders by Telephone Promptly Attended To

Andrew Schlehuber
 Baker, Caterer, Confectioner

78 EXCHANGE STREET

All kinds of Catering in First-class Style.
 Special Prices to Churches and Large Parties
 of all kinds.

Orders for Sunday should be given Saturday
 before to insure prompt delivery.

There is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy
 and sure

HEAD-CURO POWDERS

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents

Send stamps

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston

WILLIAMS BROS.

215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

OUR COAL means the highest quality in coal of every kind, hard and soft. The best furnace coal, the best grate coal, the best range coal, the best stove coal. Our coal is the epitome of coal goodness. We know coal quality and nothing but the best is good enough for our customers. It's the continuous customer whose trade is profitable. This business is built up from the patronage of continuous customers. We want to add your name to the list.
 Telephone 568.

STEVENS & NEWHALL

356 Broad St., foot of Market

Branch Office, H. H. GREEN, 328 Union Street

A lady went to the post-office to buy a stamp. When she had purchased it she asked the man at the window if she must put the stamp on herself. The man said: "No, you put it on the envelope."

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

Baby Bell.

(Written when Mr. Aldrich was nineteen years of age, and his first famous poem, now known nearly the world over.)

I.

Have you not heard the poets tell
How came the dainty Baby Bell
Into this world of ours?
The gates of heaven were left ajar;
With folded hands and dreamy eyes,
Wandering out of Paradise,
She saw this planet like a star,
Hung in the glistening depths of even—
Its bridges, running to and fro,
O'er which the white-winged angels go,
Bearing the holy dead to heaven.
She touched a bridge of flowers—those feet;
So light they did not bend the bells
Of the celestial asphodels,
They fell like dew upon the flowers;
Then all the air grew strangely sweet.
And thus came dainty Baby Bell
Into this world of ours.

II.

She came and brought delicious May;
The swallows built beneath the eaves;
Like sunlight, in and out the leaves
The robins went, the livelong day;
The lily swung its noiseless bell;
And on the porch the slender vine
Held out its cups of fairy wine.
How tenderly the twilights fell;
Oh, earth was full of singing birds
And opening springtide flowers,
When the dainty Baby Bell
Came to this world of ours.

III.

O baby, dainty Baby Bell,
How fair she grew from day to day!
What woman-nature filled her eyes,
What poetry within them lay—
Those deep and tender twilight eyes,
So full of meaning, pure and bright
As if she yet stood in the light
Of those oped gates of Paradise.
And so we loved her more and more:
Ah, never in our hearts before
Was love so lovely born.
We felt we had a link between
This real world and that unseen—
The land beyond the morn;
And for the love of those dear eyes,
For love of her whom God led forth
(The mother's being ceased on earth
When baby came from Paradise)—
For love of Him who smote our lives,
And woke the chords of joy and pain,
We said, Dear Christ—our hearts bowed down
Like violets after rain.

IV.

And now the orchards, which were white
And pink with blossoms when she came,
Were rich in autumn's mellow prime;
The clustered apples burnt like flame,
The folded chestnut burst its shell,
The grapes hung purpling, range on range;
And time wrought just as rich a change
In little Baby Bell.
Her lissome form more perfect grew,
And in her features we could trace,
In softened curves, her mother's face.
Her angel-nature ripened, too;
We thought her lovely when she came,
But she was holy, saintly now . . .
Around her pale, angelic brow
We saw a slender ring of flame.

V.

God's hand had taken away the seal
That held the portals of her speech,
And oft she said a few strange words
Whose meaning lay beyond our reach.

She never was a child to us,
We never held her being's key;
We could not teach her holy things
Who was Christ's self in purity.

VI.

It came upon us by degrees,
We saw its shadow ere it fell—
The knowledge that our God had sent
His messenger for Baby Bell.
We shuddered with unlanguage pain,
And all our hopes were changed to fears,
And all our thoughts ran into tears,
Like sunshine into rain.
We cried aloud in our belief,
"Oh, smite us gently, gently, God!
Teach us to bend and kiss the rod,
And perfect grow through grief."
Ah! how we loved her God can tell;
Her heart was folded deep in ours.
Our hearts are broken, Baby Bell!

VII.

At last he came, the messenger,
The messenger from unseen lands;
And what did dainty Baby Bell?
She only crossed her little hands,
She only looked more meek and fair!
We parted back her silken hair,
We wove the roses round her brow—
White buds, the summer's drifted snow—
Wrapt her from head to foot in flowers . . .
And thus went dainty Baby Bell
Out of this world of ours.

—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

During the Easter shopping rush the merchant was bothered by a succession of calls from travelling salesmen until his patience gave out. "Young man," he said, sternly, to the latest solicitor, "do you see that clock on the wall?" "Yes, sir." "Well, in just ten minutes, I am going to shoot every drummer I find in this store." "In ten minutes?" questioned the drummer. "That's what I said," replied the merchant. "Then I have just time to sell you a bill of goods," said the drummer. And he did it.

At a recent dinner of the Omar Khayyam Club, Dr. Conan Doyle told of his having been asked by Stevenson to come to Samoa. He said he was willing enough, but did not know the way. "Oh," said Stevenson, "you go to America, cross the continent to San Francisco, and then its the second turning to the left."

If you have never believed the stage was degenerating you would have been convinced of the fact had you seen the awful blow called "The Time, the Place and the Girl," at the Tremont theatre in Boston last month.

If you save five cents an hour each working day and put it in the bank, it would amount to the following: One year, $157.56; five years, $854.05; ten years, $1,895.12; twenty years, $4,711.11; forty years, $15,111.66.

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL
112 Market StreetGREEN & SON*PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICEE. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market StreetWhen it is anything which calls forPlumbing and Heating the Houselet us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.When you have heating or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on the work.J. F. MORGAN & SON

66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime, Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

EverythingYOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON

VARIETY

AT

LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.EVERYTHING for the TABLE*Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., LynnGROVER'S*SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET*FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

The Classical High School Location.

Mayor Barney is to be commended for his suggestion for a new classical high school location—the Tapley and Spinney lots on Hanover street.

The location is ideal, and about in the centre of Lynn's population. The lot would have eighty thousand feet, and furnish fine grounds for recreation, besides well accommodating the building.

When this building is erected we hope that the idea will be carried out, as in other cities, to separate the boys and girls. Experience in other cities shows that this plan gives the best results in every way.

It is understood that the owners of the land referred to on Hanover street have no desire to sell their property.

A somewhat retired, and yet central, location, such as the Hanover street area affords, is most to be desired for the classical high school building.

“When I was at Harvard,” said Dr. William F. Anderson of New York, in concluding a brief address, “the boys had a little epigram with which they used to warn speakers not to be too prolix. It compared a speech to a wheel. ‘You know, professor,’ they would say, ‘the longer the spoke, the greater the tire.’”

There is a delightful atmosphere surrounding the “Hearths and Homes of Old Lynn,” written by Nathan Mortimer Hawkes. These studies in Lynn history will be much appreciated by our people, and no one of the present day is better fitted to do this work than Mr. Hawkes. The printing and general make-up of the book is in excellent taste.

Did you ever hear the story of the small boy who went to the drug store to buy castor oil? “Give me just as little for the money as you can afford to,” pleaded the child. “I’ve got to take it!”

There are now 7,000,000 telephones in service in the United States. It requires 6,000,000 miles of wire for their operation, giving employment to 90,000 people.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours : 8.30 to 12.00 ; 1.30 to 5.00

The Last Road.

I.

Across the silence of the hills
(O distant hills of dream!)
The Piper's magic music shrills
And ripples like a stream.
Beyond the moor, beyond the fen,
Thin, tremulous, and silver clear,
It pierces to the soul of men,
It calls—and they must hear.

II.

The voice of all the crowded town
(O voice of tears and laughter!)
The Piper's charmed note shall drown,
They turn and follow after.
By its wild lure their feet are drawn
To walk away they do not know,
Whatever heart be left to mourn,
It calls—and they must go.

III.

They leave their hearts' desire behind
(O witching tune the Piper plays!)
None know what they may hope to find,
What waits beyond the trackless ways;
No grief can hold, no love can keep,
No will regret their eyes can dim;
Whatever heart be left to weep,
The Piper calls—they follow him.

—Pall Mall Magazine.

The Lynn Theatre management is entitled to much praise for the complete and satisfactory manner in which they have produced the series of standard dramas the past few weeks. The companies have been strong, the pieces have been well staged, and all of the small details received unusually careful attention. For the week of May 27, “The Fatal Card,” made famous by the late Charles R. Thorne, will be the attraction each afternoon and evening. Popular prices prevail.

A figurer on stock market declines has placed the shrinkage in the Hill-Harriman stocks from the high point of 1906 to their lowest quotations in the recent stock market decline at over $600,000,000. The Harriman stocks shrunk over $217,000,000 and the Hill stocks over $383,000,000. Of course a great part of this shrinkage is on paper and the stocks remain in the hands they were in before the decline, but even then, the actual losses to other shareholders who were forced to sell, must be enormous.

June Weddings

An increased and richer stock of AM. CUT GLASS, STERLING SILVER AND PLATE, BOHEMIAN GLASS, CLOCKS, etc. await your inspection at

Newhall's Jewelry Store, 52 Market St., Lynn

Establish a Home of Your Own.

The Stetson Land Co.

Offers about 75 of the choicest house lots in Swampscott

That have ever been put on the market in this section. Not a crowded tenement district. All streets 50 feet wide. Lots 50 x 100. Restrictions to protect you. One to five minutes to steam or electric cars. Four to fifteen minutes from Central Square, Lynn. Over 175 houses, ranging from $2000 to $6000 in cost, already erected and occupied. $40,000 school-house on the property. Public playground, etc. Low taxes.

For FULL PARTICULARS, PLANS, etc., see
CLIFTON COLBURN, Cashier of Manufacturers National Bank, Item Building, Lynn, or
JAMES H. SISK, 145 Munroe Street

An Opportunity to Secure an Ideal
House Lot for an Ideal Home

The Fire Department.

CHIEF Engineer Harris of the fire department thinks many things are necessary to bring that branch of the municipality to anything like an efficient basis. He wants two additional engines, one for the Lewis street house and one to be located in West Lynn. He also thinks it important to inquire into the advisability of establishing an auxiliary high pressure water service for fire purposes.

The chief engineer is also of the impression that a new truck be located at the Fayette street house, that a modern water tower be procured, that the proposed new engine house in West Lynn he built this year, permanent men be added to seven engine and ladder companies, that the fire alarm boxes be placed in numerical order, that a new telephone system be installed between the different houses, that plans be worked upon for remodelling the Broad street house, and that substitute call men be paid and placed on the civil service list.

All of which goes to show that much more money needs to be expended on the fire department before it is put upon a desirable basis.

A Petition.

These are the gifts I ask
Of Thee, Spirit serene;
Strength for the daily task,
Courage to face the road,
Good cheer to help me bear the traveller's load
And, for the hours of rest that come between,
An inward joy in all things heard and seen.
These are the sins I faint
Would have thee take away:
Malice, and cold disdain,
Hot anger, sullen hate,
Scorn of the lowly, envy of the great,
And discontent that casts a shadow gray
On all the brightness of a common day.

—Henry Van Dyke.

The Boston Traveller shows how it is possible to cater to the masses and yet run a newsy and clean penny daily. This paper does not find it necessary to inflame the public mind to get support. Especial credit is due the Traveller for bringing to a successful issue the legislation against the pernicious bucket shops. They were a source of great evil.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

Peggy Reads the Paper.

Here's the paper—I must skim it.
For I want the news, of course;
Another bank cashier's absconded,
Mrs. Brown gets her divorce,
Half a page reporting Congress,
I don't want to wade through that.
Trusts and labor troubles—mercy,
They must wonder where they're at!

The Czar is threatened—that's no wonder.
Trouble at an Irish wake,
Mr. Croesus' daughter's married—
Goodness! what a fuss they make;
The Woman's Page—it makes me tired,
It is such insipid truck,
Half a dozen jokes—all ancient,
They have been in Judge and Puck.

News of courts and crimes and quarrels,
I don't care for that, I'm sure,
Nothing much about amusements,
Politics I can't endure,
The weather map and observations,
"Rain and colder"—well we'll see.
Here's a poem—I'll not read it,
Looks as stupid as can be.

The Sporting page—I always skip it,
With its wrestle, race and box,
And the page about the markets,
Who'd be bothered reading stocks?—
No one's dead and no one's married—
No one that I ever knew—
Ah! at last! the Advertisements,
I must read them thro' and thro'!

—Susie M. Best.

Speaking about the renting of tenements, a Lynn man remarked the other day that he was really delighted with the occupation, and especially so when he went to one of his tenements the other day and ascertained that a party who had just moved out, had burned the cellar stairs, used the cellar screens for sifting ashes, employed the set tubs for the potting of plants, and the furnace as an ice chest. He stated that when he came across these conditions in his tenements "the world looked like one long gleam of sunlight."

Jesse R. Grant, youngest son of General Grant says that while Mr. Roosevelt is a great exponent of the simple life, he has surrounded himself with all the pomp and circumstance of a regal court at Washington. In everything but action President Roosevelt and family lead the "simple life," for which the executive claims to have an acute fondness.

According to the Bookman, the six books which have sold the best in the order of demand during the past month are: The Port of Missing Men, Running Water, Friday the Thirteenth, The Doctor, Hilma, and Half a Rogue.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

Zoom.

Dame Nature croons a soothing tune,
 The while she weaves the woof of June;
 And ever o'er the wheezy loom,
 We hear the June-bug's "Zoom! Zoom! Zoom!"

We hear the June-bug's dreamy zoom
 Above the rhythm of the loom;
 And all about us in the air,
 We scent the lilacs debonair!

We scent the lilacs debonair
 That nod in purple splendor there,
 And with the mid-day's perfect noon,
 We list the June-bug's "Zoom! Zoom! Zoom!"

The woods are filled with wondrous things,
 In opal glade the brownthrush sings;
 The diapason of the stream
 Is like a love song in a dream!

Is like a love song in a dream—
 A dream where fairies' fancies seem
 To wield the shuttle of the loom
 Amid the June-bug's "Zoom! Zoom! Zoom!"

Thus Nature weaves her mantle green
 With daisy bordered paths between—
 She decks the world with magic art
 And puts new hope in every heart!

Ah, June, beside thee let me be
 A weaver of thy ecstasy;
 Let me forever feed the loom
 Amid the June-bug's "Zoom! Zoom! Zoom!"

—Selected.

AT the moment, when there seems to be an attack on Christian Science, all along the line, isn't it worth while to pause and ask a question that even to many who are not Christian Scientists seems important? Suppose the opponents of Mrs. Eddy and of Christian Science are successful, are they going to accomplish any real good? And further than that what are they going to give in place of it to the thousands of persons, who, whether laboring under a delusion or not, are happy and contented? The suit against Mrs. Eddy looks to most people like a very sordid piece of business in which a desire to get money cuts a great deal of a figure. As for the rest of the attack, Christian Scientists may be "misguided" but if they are, their example as to their manner of living may well be imitated by those who may think they possess knowledge superior to that of the Scientists. Really one of the worst features of the whole business is the thought of what will happen or what might happen were the belief in Christian Science to be taken away from those who now believe in it.

Mrs. Nills—What do you think? Our Willie has taken the first prize in his class at college.

Mrs. Trills—How delighted you must be! I know just how proud you feel, because I myself have experienced it. My French poodle took the first prize at the bench show.—Sacred Heart Review.

Wallace Bates.

Wallace Bates was a virile man. He was a man of his word, never made promises he did not fulfill, and that is why he was so successful in politics. He stood by his friends loyally and they in turn rendered him good service.

He was a kindly man. Only his intimate friends knew this side of his character. No institution in the county secured more of his attention than the Lawrence Industrial School, where misguided boys find a home and an opportunity to learn a trade. A very touching feature of the funeral services was the presence of a delegation of the boys from the Lawrence school. If we recollect correctly Mr. Bates was largely instrumental in having the name changed from "reform" school to "industrial" school, and the boys fairly worshipped him on account of sincere interest in their welfare.

Wallace Bates was no trimmer. He struck true every time. You might not always agree with him, but you knew where he stood. The community does not develop many men like Wallace Bates, who only had natural advantages, and always worked hard from boyhood. As a Woodender remarked, "Tom Bates' sons always worked hard for their living." Wallace Bates will be sincerely missed by a legion of friends.

The Road to Slumber Town.

Rock-a-bye, rock-a-bye, to and fro,
 This is the way the horses go,
 Galloping, galloping up and down,
 Along the road to Slumber Town,

Rock-a-bye, rock-a-bye, very steep
 They find the Hill of Half Asleep.
 Now they are taking a good, long rest,
 Just in sight of Cradle Nest.

Rock-a-bye, rock-a-bye, there at last;
 Dreamy Point is safely past;
 They've galloped on to Cuddle Down,
 Right in the midst of Slumber Town,
 —Washington Star.

In the Chase will case the doctor was charged by an attorney on the other side with marrying Mrs. Culliton for her money, which has not been considered a heinous offence heretofore. It was generally expected that the jury would O.K. Judge Harmon's decision regarding the will and adoption. If the doctor looks as badly as the photos printed by the local papers we cannot blame the jury for its finding.

When considering the defects of others seriously think of your own, and take courage!

June.

Comes the month of royal roses,
 Every blossom sweet and fair;
 Sure the world knew naught of perfume
 Till its fragrance filled the air
 Comes the month of graduation,
 Each young person certain, quite,
 That the world lay wrapped in darkness
 Till their knowledge spread the light.
 Comes the month of brides and bridegrooms,
 Each believing it the case
 No one new the mighty passion
 Till their own romance took place.
 Dull and stupid were existence
 If we lacked the merry rune,
 So the wise old world cries "Welcome!!"
 To the bumptious month of June.
 —McLandburgh Wilson.

THERE is always a new horizon for onward looking men. Although we live on a small planet, burdened with our day's work, enduring only a brief period of years, we are so constituted that our hopes are inaccessible, like stars.

The term of hoping is prolonged until the end of life. To be truly happy is not a question of how we begin and how we end. Not a question of what we want and not of what we have. An aspiration is a joy forever. It is more valuable than land. It cannot exhaust itself. Instead its value grows as we grow. To have many aspirations is to be spiritually rich. Because of an aspiration, he who possesses it awakens each morning with a renewed appetite for work and pleasure.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Over the ice she flies,
 Perfect and poised and fair;
 Stars in my true love's eyes,
 Teach me to do and dare,
 Now will I fly as she flies,
 Woe for the stars that misled,
 Stars that I saw in her eyes
 Now do I see in my head.

—Rudyard Kipling.

When the Rogers Bros. recently appeared in Lynn we wondered if their thoughts went back to the time when they appeared eight times on holidays in their vaudeville turn in the old Lynn Musee on Munroe street, in the days when Charles E. Cook was a local manager? Those were the days when the Rogers Bros. were struggling.

A wag was in the habit of saying that his friend the doctor committed suicide because he didn't have the patients to live.

Take pains to remember names and faces.

The Public School System.

IT seems to be the general complaint all over the country that public school children are not being educated. That they are having stuff pumped into them, but not securing any knowledge.

An agitation has got to be started to prevent so many fads, fancies and frills in the public school system, and a more determined attempt made to educate children in the essentials.

When we see children conducting farming operations, cooking, and pursuing other so-called studies which do not seem to bear directly upon a public school education we wonder how much longer this sort of thing is to prevail.

There are scores of children in the grammar and high schools who cannot spell, punctuate, or multiply correctly. In these days the children do not appear to have a substantial basis. They are stuffed full of this and that, but they don't know why. They cannot explain. The technique of education is getting by them. They are not instructed.

There are teachers who should not be tolerated for one moment on account of inability to impart knowledge to children. These teachers have gone by, and the public should not further suffer by their presence. There should be a well managed plan to determine the efficiency of teachers by frequent examinations, investigations, etc., by the proper authorities.

Surely the public school system is going backward. It has always been looked upon as the very bulwark of our American institutions, and if such observances can be made in Massachusetts what must be the conditions outside of this state? The public school system is tottering by the introduction of undesirable fads, and the teaching system is growing weaker each year with the result that the public school children are suffering. They are not getting what their parents are paying for, and the sooner the state of Massachusetts takes hold of the educational problem as a state, not leaving it to cities and towns, the better, in our judgment, it will be for the public schools of Massachusetts.

Education is a state, and not a local proposition.

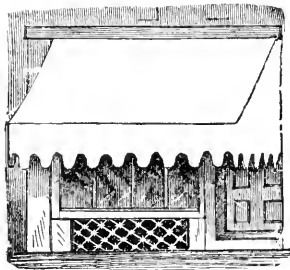

He—You ought to think of helping me save something for a rainy day.

She—I thought of it to-day, and I have ordered you a nice umbrella and me a dozen pairs of the swellest stockings you ever saw.—Houston Post.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

Let us
estimate
on

AWNING WORK

Send us a postal card.
All of the new patterns of
Awning Work
Tel. 396-4

F. R. BENNER CO., 302 Broad St., Lynn

Jones said whenever he had a controversy with his wife, and got away with the argument good and clean, he felt that he had been whipped.

Want a Straw Hat?

SUMMER 1907

See Us First. Best Line Ever.

Panamas in great variety. Prices $5 to $12.
Ladies' Panamas, Sailors, Auto Caps, Gloves,
Yachting and Golf Caps.

AMOS B. CHASE, 123 Munroe St.

Telephone 425-1

Cold Storage for Furs

The Line to the West

BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

Maud Got Square.

I.

Maud Muller, on a summer's morn,
Heard the toot of an auto horn.

II.

She saw the Judge go whirling past,
"Gee" said Maud, "he's going fast!"

III.

And then the thought of the sighs and tears
The Judge had caused her all these years.

IV.

"He's breaking the law at that speed" quoth she;
"Ha ha! ha ha! here's revenge for me!"

V.

So she set her teeth, and ne'er e'en flinched,
While she took his number and had him pinched.

The Stopping of Street Cars.

Recently, the REVIEW referred to the practice of the Boston & Northern Railroad in not having cars stopped at crossings. The attention of the management is respectfully called to the following extract from the city Ordinances, Chapter 33, Section 30:—

"When the motorman, conductor or other person having the care or ordering of a street railway car, is required to stop his car at a street crossing to receive or land passengers, the car shall be stopped so as to leave the rear platform slightly over the farther side of said crossing."

It would be a great favor to the public to follow the spirit of this ordinance. In stormy weather, to make women and children wade through mud to reach the car steps is an outrage. This is not an unreasonable request, and materially adds to public health and convenience.

Prof. Wiley, the chemist of the Department of Agriculture, recently went to a Washington store for a fountain pen. The obliging young man furnished several that he might try each kind. In doing so the professor soon covered a sheet with the words, "Tempus fugit," the clerk looking on the while with kindly interest. "If you should buy one, and it doesn't suit you, Mr. Fugit," said he, "you can bring it back and take another."—Selected.

Shoe factory space is not being so eagerly taken up in Lynn as one year ago.

FOR EIGHTEEN YEARS

We have been headquarters for BOSTON BELTING CO.'S GARDEN HOSE.

Always reliable—none better in the market. Also cheaper grades, making 7 grades from 7c to 18c a foot. Also Hose Sundries of every description.

HOWE'S RUBBER STORE, 52 Central Sq.

Two Seasonable ArticlesGO-CARTS $1.98 to $27.50

Our line has something to satisfy every want. New patterns, parasol or hood top; brown or white finish; folding gear, etc.

REFRIGERATORS

$7.25 to $30. Made of hard or soft wood, charcoal inner lining, scientific ventilating arrangement, removable ice box. All the new things in refrigerator construction.

Only agent in Lynn for White Frost (steel) Refrigerator.

W. B. GIFFORD

House Furnisher

97-99 MARKET STREET, LYNN

It was twenty-two years ago that Mr. Keith inaugurated his amusement enterprise in Boston in a very small way, but even in their infancy it was Mr. Keith's aim and object to present to the public nothing but the very best and cleanest attractions. Mr. Keith still adheres to his first plan—"The Best That Money Can Produce." Those who wish to enjoy one of the most delightful entertainments ever offered in Boston will not fail to visit Mr. Keith's magnificent theatre, where the latest novelties rule each week. No American manager has such a firm grasp upon European specialties as Mr. Keith, and during the summer many foreign acts will be seen at Keith's Theatre not to be given anywhere east of New York.

The San Francisco Call figures Mayor Schmitz's share of the "boodle" as $662,000, but possibly it might be well to wait until the Mayor is convicted by a jury of peers.

To keep the heart unwrinkled, to be hopeful, kindly, cheerful, reverent—that is to triumph over old age.—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

May Manton
Patterns

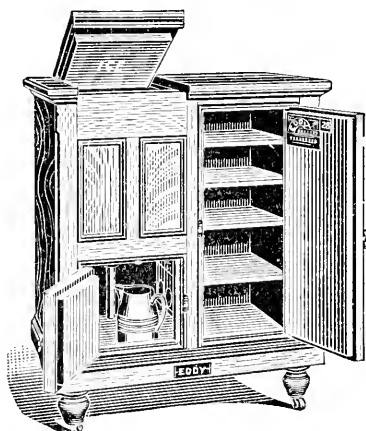

11 AND 13 MARKET STREET

White Goods for Graduates

IN this issue of THE REVIEW we call especial attention to our fine line of White Goods for graduation. The showing of beautiful Laces and Ribbons was never better. May we expect a part of your graduation business?

38-IN. MERCERIZED SWISS MUSLINS	25 and 33c. yard
48-IN. WASH CHIFFON - - - - -	33 to 75c. yard
PERSIAN LAWNS - - - - -	25 to 65c. yard
MERCERIZED BATISTE - - - - -	19 to 50c. yard
INDIA LAWN - - - - -	10 to 33c. yard
40-IN. LAWN - - - - -	12½ to 25c. yard
36-IN. PLAIN NAINSOOK - - - - -	17 to 37½c. yard
MERCERIZED DOTTED SWISS, Extra value	15c. yard

The Modern Refrigerator The EDDY

is entirely different from the old style article, both in convenience and economy, and will speak for itself in the ice it saves before you have had it very long.

THEY LAST A LIFETIME

The wisest economy consists of getting a refrigerator that saves for a lifetime, rather than only for the day on which it is bought.

GET AN EDDY

They cost as little as they must in order to save you money afterwards.

We are Sole Agents in Lynn for EDDY REFRIGERATORS.

D. B. H. POWER, Complete House Furnisher
51 CENTRAL SQUARE, LYNN

The Newhall jewelry store on Market street has a thoroughly metropolitan appearance. The store equipment, furnishings, etc., are of a high order, and the stock of goods would do credit to a large city store. Twice the stock is carried that was in hand previous to the remodelling and re-arranging of the store, and especially strong is the present showing of American cut glass, sterling silver and plate, Bohemian glass, clocks, etc., furnishing a most attractive menu from which to select that present which you have in mind for the June wedding. With such facilities as the Newhall store affords, there is no reason why people should go to Boston for goods of this description, the large variety offering a wide range of selection.

He was a good-natured German and his face fairly beamed as he walked into a drug store. The first thing that caught his attention was an electric fan buzzing busily on the soda counter. He looked at it with great interest and then turned to the clerk. "Py golly!" he said smilingly, "dat's a tam'd lifly squirrel vot you got in dare, ain't id?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Castle of Content.

'Tis but a cot with narrow walls and poor;
 Let Life and I dwell here in converse blest.
 Love gilds the daily tasks, and evening's close
 Brings the sweet blessing of a peaceful rest,
 The miser wakes to count his shining store,
 The statesman ponders on the morrow's schemes;
 Here in this dwelling which is called Content
 There are no cares with train of evil dreams,
 Nor have I treasure here to guard save this,
 A jewel rare, that on my heart I keep,
 A peaceful conscience and the love of God.
 Each night I clasp it in my hand and sleep,
 And, lo, each morn by some strange change there lies
 Within my palm a gift my life to bless,
 A priceless gem of pure, unclouded ray,
 Unsought, Unbought, the pearl of happiness!
 —Eleanor S. Buchanan

Ex-Gov. John D. Long, in speaking of religious beliefs, said: "The census taker called last year at the residence in Worcester of the late Congressman Rockwell Hoar. Mr. Hoar's daughter Marjorie, aged 11 years, answered the bell. When the question regarding religious belief was asked, Miss Marjorie said: "Papa, he is a Unitarian; mamma is an Episcopalian; Alice, my sister, is only 3 and is too young to decide, and I, well, I am wavering."

Always look on the bright side of things.

Gloves for Graduation and June Weddings

—In fact for every occasion

Our Splendid Glove Department is well prepared to meet your every need.

Long White Kid Gloves, $1.98 to $3.50.

Long White Silk Gloves, 98c. to $1.98.

Long White Lisle Gloves, 50c. to $1.25.

We make a Specialty of Colored Kid and Silk Gloves to match the spring costume.

New Chamois Gloves, washable, $1.15 to $2.50.

Gauntlet Gloves for Motoring, $1.75 and $2.25.

GODDARD BROS., Market St.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

The New Summer Goods are In Muslin and Lace Curtains in Dainty Designs.

Japanese Screens and Matting.

Draperies, Carpets, Rugs and Art Squares at as low prices as any of the Boston stores.

Call in and See Us.

ALBION K. HALL

Telephone 1695

39 Market Street

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & CO.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

Doing Business at the Old Stand

With an all new stock of

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry,
etc.

A special line of goods suitable for Wedding Gifts.

An elegant line of Cut Glass.

Fine Watch Repairing and
Engraving a specialty.

Our Optical Department is growing every day, owing to the great pains taken in examining the eyes,
and giving the proper glasses required.

J. H. CONNER

Telephone 518-1

81 PEARL ST.

How will you Light your Summer Cottage or Camp?

Why not Electricity? Safest, Coolest and Best. We will wire for you at a reasonable price and give you prompt service and good work. Get our Figures.

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS

74 EXCHANGE STREET

LYNN THEATRE

Week of May 27

Afternoons, 2.15

Evenings, 8.15

THE LYNN THEATRE STOCK CO.

Presenting Correctly Staged, a great play and scenic production

The Fatal Card

This play will delight all. Better secure seats
now. 25c, 35c, a few 50c; mats., 25c, 10c.

TELEPHONE 850

Graham Balfour said of Robert Louis Stevenson, he was the only man he knew whose charm had not damaged his moral sense.

LOVER'S LEAP

Fixed mineral matter contained in each
U. S. gallon:

Silica	0.66
Iron and Aluminum	0.06
Calcium Sulphate	0.28
Calcium Carbonate	0.60
Magnesium Carbonate	0.31
Sodium Chloride	0.80
Potassium Chloride	trace

This water is clear and colorless. It is soft and pure. It is an admirable table water.

Signed, HENRY CARMICHAEL, Ph.D.

It is Not What You MAKE, but What You SAVE That Makes You Rich.

Economy is the Road to Wealth

Money Deposited on or before
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5
will go on interest on that day.

COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS BANK
325 Union, cor. Almont St.

Jos G. Pinkham, Pres. Wm. M. Barney, Treas.

The Boston and Eastern Electric R. R. "Subway."

Referring to the proposed Boston and Eastern Electric Railroad going through Lynn in an open subway, a speaker at a recent meeting in Lynn said:—

What has been done to St. Mary's Church people can be done everywhere else in the city limits if enough pressure is brought to bear upon the promoters. You should be watchful of every move made at the hearing. Liberty is a nice thing to talk about and it is an easy word to spell, but it doesn't belong to either you or me if we are not eternally vigilant.

All of which is correct, and we miss our guess if the railroad commissioners ever say that public convenience and necessity requires the railroad to go through Lynn in an almost open subway along the location suggested. A real subway, through the thickly settled portion of Lynn, the same as proposed under St. Mary's Church, would not be objected to by Lynn people, but with that the railroad commissioners might see holes in the Boston and Eastern Electric Railroad skimmer.

If Robin Hood were with us today he would either have to trim his wick or go out. He would be a laugh.—George Ade.

"The poor fellow's limbs are ossifying."

"Hard luck."—Selected.

We Keep Nothing but Millinery

See our line of Nobby Sailors. All the go this season, and we have them right up to date.

Our goods come direct from the manufacturers and importers, and we can save you one profit. See our complete line of Hats, Bonnets, Toques, Lingerie Hats, in fact everything in headgear.

HALL'S MILLINERY STORE

The Sidewalks of Lynn.

THE sidewalks in Lynn are for the most part a joke. Numerous instances might be sighted where the walks are in an almost dangerous condition, and show a great lack of care and attention. To enumerate the streets where these conditions occur, might call for an almost complete list of the cities' thoroughfares.

Repeated attention has been called to this state of affairs, and it is hoped that the financial relief recently granted by the legislature will result in improved conditions.

Lynn is a community of wage earners. That being the case, desirable sidewalks, especially in the center of the city, are most necessary for general comfort and convenience. In the winter and spring operatives going to and from the factories are put to much inconvenience, and their health is jeopardized on account of the bad sidewalks, and it is time that thorough and systematic work was entered upon to improve conditions.

❖ One Week.

This year had gloomily begun
For Willie Weeks, a poor man's Sun.

He was beset with bill and dun,
And he had very little Mon.

"This cash," said he, "won't pay my dues.
I've nothing here but ones and Tues."

A bright thought struck him, and he said,
"The rich Miss Goldrocks I will Wed."

But when he paid his court to her,
She lisped, but firmly said, "No, Thur."

"Alas," said he, "then I must die!
Although hereafter I may Fri."

They found his gloves and coat and hat,
The coroner upon them Sat.
—Carolyn Wells.

This story was a favorite with Attorney-General Miller. When he returned to his home town he was driven from the station by the old postman. "Guess you've forgotten me," said Miller. "Nope," replied the driver. "What's my name?" "Miller," replied the other disinterestedly. "Do the folks here know I'm a member of President Harrison's cabinet?" "Yep." "Well, what do they say?" "Nothin' much. They just laugh."

The El Sobrim 40th, a Romeo and Juliet cigar, is the most expensive sold in the Boston market—56 cents each by the box.

Trade in Lynn.

"TRADE IN LYNN" seems to be a most appropriate motto at this season, but it also appears to be one which is not regarded as seriously as it should be by many who ought to consider its observance a duty. The advantages of trading in the local stores have been presented to the people of the city time and again; yet there seems to be a good number of residents who still imagine that they are bettering themselves when they journey Bostonward in search of the bargains they never try to secure at home. Now it happens that better bargains cannot be secured in Boston or any other city in this section, for that matter, than can be secured right in Lynn. It makes no difference what the line is, Lynn has as good stores as can be found in any other place in this vicinity. Besides which, the dealers here are making a tremendous effort to lift the city into a trading centre for a large extent of territory, and for that reason, if no other, they are entitled to the support of every person living here. The retail stores can work for the prosperity of Lynn most appreciably and if efforts are made to capture the trade of places which might with equal justice go to other cities, there must be cooperation on the part of local traders, who will share the benefits derived. The efforts to enlarge the trading circle of Lynn have been remarkably successful, and it can be said with equal truth that the Lynn stores have acquired an enviable reputation in the towns which have within the last few years, through trolley connection, become practically a part of Lynn. For this reason Lynn residents should look upon the stores as one of their own conveniences, stand loyally by the merchants in their efforts to enlarge the trading zone, cut out the Boston proposition, become acquainted with the really good things that can be secured here, and by thus doing help push Lynn and Lynn's prosperity.

William Allen White says that the most amusing "personal" note that ever he came across in a country newspaper was that which last year caught his eye while reading a Wisconsin paper. The item was something like this: "Neils Anderson met with a painful accident last week, a fish-hook becoming entangled in his eye. Neils is being attended by Dr. Phil Morton, who says his eye will come out all right."—Harper's Weekly.

The Dream of Youth.

I built me a vessel long years ago;
And I fitted it out like the galleys of old;
Its sails were as white as the fresh fallen snow,
And its bows were resplendent with crimson and gold,
Its bulwarks were firm, and its masts strong and tall,
And a gay-colored pennon on high was spread;
The beauty of Youth lent a charm to it all,
And an image of Hope was its strong figurehead.
I launched it one morn in the spring of the year,
When the breezes were low, and the sunbeams were bright;
And I, in the pride of my youth, had no fear
Of the strength of the waves or the gloom of the night.
So I dreamed of the riches my galleys would bring
From the land where no bark had been ever before;
But the summer passed by, and the spring wore round to spring,
And my vessel returned not, alas to the shore.
At length one dark autumn it came back to me,
But its masts were all broken, its bows were all bare;
Its bulwarks were covered with growth of the sea,
And the figure of hope was no longer there,
While it brought me for freight but the drift of the wave,
The sea foam and weeds that had lain in it long;
And I mournfully sighed as I gazed on the grave
Of the dreams that were bright when life's heart-beat was strong.

—London Graphic.

An original form of advertising comes from Russia, where a retail dealer recently circulated the following announcement among his customers:—"The reason why I have hitherto been able to sell goods so much cheaper than anybody else is that I am a bachelor and do not need to make a profit for the maintenance of a wife and children. It is now my duty to inform the public that this advantage will shortly be withdrawn from them, as I am about to be married. They will therefore do well to make their purchases at once at the old rate." The result of this unique proclamation was that such a run on the shop ensued during the next few days that the dealer made money enough to pay the expenses of his wedding on a very lavish scale and leave a snug bank account besides.

"What's the matter across the way?" asked the tailor of a bystander, as the ambulance backed up to the door of his rival. "A customer fell in a fit, and they are taking him to the hospital," was the reply. "That's strange," said the tailor. "I never knew a customer to get a fit in that establishment before!"

If there is any law of average, June should be a good month for weather.

WE construct peculiar advertising matter—peculiar enough to win a second glance from the busiest man it reaches. The second glance of a keen business man is worth working for, and the keener he is the greater is the value of that second glance.

WE MAKE Circulars, Folders, Catalogues, Trade Primers, Circular Letters, Announcements, Mailing Cards, Booklets, Notices, Newspaper, Periodical and Trade Journal Advertisements, etc.,—all of these with “peculiarities” of their own.

The MERRILL-HANCOCK PRESS
of LYNN

The June Bride

and all interested in housekeeping affairs, will find everything here to interest them.

See what we can do for you in CARPETS, RANGES, CURTAINS, IRON BEDS, CROCKERY, etc., and every desirable article necessary for the home.

We gladly give estimates on fitting up apartments complete.

No Boston store can give you such low prices for similar quality of house furnishings.

TITUS & BUCKLEY COMPANY

298-310 UNION STREET, LYNN

Why are You Not a Depositor in the Manufacturers National Bank?

Do You Know the Advantages You Get
By Doing Business With Us?

Business men can here secure the best attention. New bills are given when customers desire them. You do business in a light and airy banking room. There is a private room for consultation. Telephone service for customers, and in fact every facility that is consistent with modern banking methods.

Safety, Courtesy and Promptness to every depositor alike is our motto.

WE WANT YOUR ACCOUNT

Manufacturers National Bank

B. W. CURRIER, President W. B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice-President
CLIFTON COLBURN, Cashier

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

JULY, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 9

Security Safe Deposit and Trust Company

Main Office: Bergengren Block, Central Square, Lynn, Mass.

Branch Office: 25 Market Square, West Lynn, Mass.

Safe Deposit Boxes

Storage Vaults

Before leaving home for your vacation, why not place your valuables in the Vaults of this Company?

We receive Trunks, Boxes and Bulky Packages for any length of time. Charges low.

Safe Deposit Boxes to rent at prices ranging from $5.00 to $50.00 per year.

Summer Wearables

Are You Looking for Summer Comfort?

If so, you can find it here.

Thin Suits, Thin Trousers, Negligee Shirts, Straw Hats,
Hosiery, etc.

AN EXCELLENT ASSORTMENT IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases.

ALL STYLES. ALL PRICES

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Refrigerator Superiority

WE HAVE in our stock two kinds of refrigerator superiority. They have been selected from scores of other refrigerators as being the best in workmanship and finish, economical in the use of ice, and thoroughly dependable in their retention and circulation of cold dry air.

☛ In sultry, humid weather, the weather that tries all refrigerators, food and liquids will be kept sweet and pure.

Prices begin at $6.00 and go up to $45.00

D. B. H. POWER

Central Sq., Lynn

That a Gas Range will come up to your highest expectations. ☛

☛ Sold for $12.00 and up. A guarantee goes with every one.

Everything tastes better when cooked by gas.

We install and connect these stoves for the COST OF MATERIALS furnished. No charge for labor. No charge for putting in gas where distance is not unusually long.

Electric Flat Irons $3.00 including Plug

Lynn Gas & Electric Company

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

JULY, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 9

Good bye, Filtration !

Give the Meikle boy a rest.

The Legislature has adjourned, thank the Lord.

Boston had best watch out or Lynn will be the leading manufacturing city in Massachusetts.

Politicians were busy last month playing politics with the railroad merger bills at the state house. When politics is on, the best interests of the commonwealth suffer.

The watering of the streets in some sections of the city is much complained of because the high speed of the watering car many times does not admit of desirable work being done.

Should the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. get the B. & M., we believe that they will be disposed to build a subway through Lynn. If so, 80,000 Lynn people will favor the merger.

The Market street extension was ruled out of the Legislature this year because it had not been legally advertised. There was certainly sufficient talk, but it did not happen to be legal.

With the Boston and Eastern Electric Railroad running through a complete subway in Lynn, one wholly underground, it is not believed there would be any material objection from the Lynn public. The three railroad corporations affected by the new railroad may be relied upon to put up a stiff fight.

The new policy of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is working. John Shepard, of the Shepard, Norwell Co., whose personal property tax has heretofore been paid in Swampscott, now changes his mind and turns it into the Boston city treasury. If more people would do this who live in Boston a larger portion of the year, that city would be more prosperous. The bedrooms around Boston get the personal property tax many times when it belongs to Boston.

Those Water Bills.

The failure of members of the water board to settle their bills for water until an unreasonable amount was due the city, was the worst disclosure, to our mind, yet made in the long drawn out water wrangle. After all the talk and discussion, for $1000 and $1900 back water bills to be tolerated by the department was surprising, indeed, and especially when a water board member was in the arrears about $1000. In view of all the talk it was thought that there should have been more judgment exercised. We have always been called upon to settle for water in advance, when a meter is not used, and why anybody has immunity in this direction the water department officials should be made to explain.

At this writing it does not appear probable that the railroad commissioners will consider the proposed Boston & Eastern high speed electric railroad "a public necessity." That is the only question to settle outside of the financial ability of the promoters to build the road.

A Lynn man says to the REVIEW:—"If the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad cannot run one railroad, how can it run two? I have had just as much trouble with my freight on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad as on the Boston & Maine. What about the promises made by the New York Central Railroad as to what they were going to do for Boston and Massachusetts when they purchased the Boston & Albany Railroad? I think these points should be considered before Massachusetts as a state agrees to the merger."

The county commissioners have organized with Hon. Moody Kimball of Newburyport as chairman, and have decided that there is no necessity of filling the vacancy caused by the death of Wallace Bates, as they have found that they can legally transact all the business of the county and prefer to leave the matter to the people at the election this fall. A wise conclusion on the part of the commissioners, said to be largely due to the influence of Congressman Gardner to serve his friend, Ex-Senator Grosvenor. And, by the way, Congressman Gardner has a great faculty of standing by his friends,

At Poland Springs.

Nature did wonderful work when locating the famous spring at South Poland, Maine. And one of the most wonderful and praiseworthy things ever done by man was his development of Nature's work at Poland. To the Rickers belong the credit of here establishing one of the finest spas in the world. The writer has been all over Europe and America, but never did he see such an institution as the sturdy and resourceful family of Ricker has at Poland. Nothing like it in the world, when you consider it in its entirety. The unique individuality is what gives Poland spring and hotels its strong hold on the epicures of the world. The water, the management of the hotels, the elegant, thorough and painstaking service down to the most minute detail, the six thousand acres of woods, meadow and lawn, the art gallery, the splendidly constructed and beautifully architected spring bottling house, the Maine State Building free library, the beautiful level walks, the golf course not excelled in the world, the extreme thoughtfulness for the care, comfort and convenience of guests—these and hundreds of other reasons are in evidence to show why, approximately, six thousand people dwell on Poland Hill, in both hotels, each year. Not to have tasted of the Ricker hospitality is to confess that one has missed one of the most charming and fascinating hotel delights of the world.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

VOGUE

THE LEADING EXPONENT OF ADVANCED FASHIONS IN AMERICA

IS besides a great all-round Woman's Magazine, publishing regularly over 20 splendid departments devoted to such subjects as Literature, Drama, Music, Art, House-Furnishings, Entertaining, Millinery, the Shops, Paris, London, Etc.

A subscriber in far-away Manila writes Vogue:

"I am sorry to be so late in renewing my subscription, but at this distance it is almost unavoidable. In future, just continue sending right along. I shall be a subscriber for the rest of my life."

That is the kind of a hold Vogue has on its subscribers. We shall be glad to send you sample copy on request and to tell you more about

THE ONLY FASHION WEEKLY
PUBLISHED IN AMERICA

Address: 17 East 24th Street, New York

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

11 & 13 MARKET STREET

Three Unusual Shirt Waist Values

During the month of July we shall offer three very big lots of Waists at prices which will make this store
HEADQUARTERS FOR WAIST VALUES

- LOT 1. Manufacturers' Surplus Stock of Fine Waists, about 1,200 Waists in all. Twenty or more good styles to choose from, worth in the regular way, $1.25 to $2.00. Your choice 98c. each
- LOT 2. This Lot of Waists comes from one of the best manufacturers in the country, the maker using up all his odds and ends of fine imported embroideries in this large lot. This gives a great variety to choose from as there are only a few of each style, but many styles, (50 or more), all sizes, value $2.00 to $2.50. Choice $1.48
- LOT 3. This lot is from the same maker but much better materials are used, worth in the regular way, $2.50 to $3.50 each. Choice $1.98 each

Baby Hazel's Voyage.

King Nod, King Nod, the drowsy god, is such an idle fellow,
He sleeps away the livelong day, while yet the sun is yellow;
But when the sinking sun is red and robin's song is failing,
'Tis time for him to rub his dim old eyes and go a-sailing.

His moonshine boat is soon afloat; a glow-worm serves for pilot;
On silver oars they graze the shores of many a starry islet;
In silver sails they catch the winds, and down the cloudy billows
Full fast they ride before the tide to Baby Hazel's pillows.

"Ahoy, sweet maid! Now art afraid, with Old King Nod for skipper,
To sail the deep and drink sweet sleep from yonder golden dipper?

Aboard, aboard, my dainty lass! aboard my silver vessel!
And thou shalt see, in dream-land tree, the little dream-birds' nestle."

She bowed—ah me!—her rosy knee, and kissed the old king's sceptre.

Unto his breast the child he pressed and down the darkness swept her.

Oh, hush the skiff, the silver skiff! O, Hazel—Eyes take warning!

On Sunrise Reef 'twill come to grief. Good-night, good-night—good-morning!
—Katherine Lee Bates.

The Bay Side Inn at Nahant is an all new structure on the harbor side of the Relay House grounds, and deserves support. Everything is high-grade and Walter H. Southwick, the owner and manager, deserves support from the public. The dining room is at the water's edge, and to dine therein is almost like eating on shipboard. The Inn should be popular with the many people who have long wished for a respectable, retired hotel of this character. The views from the piazzas are most charming. The Inn is arranged with every modern convenience.

Joseph Wesley Breed was a good citizen. His correct and kindly life threw out a splendid influence. He was the soul of honor, and represented a type of citizens few of whom are now with us. The "old Lynner" is fast disappearing. Mr. Breed's character will be reflected long after his passing away. A splendid family has a fine heritage in the memory of Joseph Wesley Breed.

Judging by reports, Howard Gould, husband of Katharine Clemmons Gould, will not go to the hot place. He has had his here.

"If you want to hide anything from prying eyes or idle hands, the safest place is the family Bible," remarked a woman.

The City of Boston a Joke.

Boston is largely a joke in the New York world of finance and business. Ask anybody who ever dealt with the Boston banks. They are as conservative and backward as those in Salem. Boston's manufacturing is fast falling away. The city's municipal management is rotten to the core. As the Herald says: "What Boston needs is not stronger brakes, but more steam; not greater opposition to modern progress in business methods, but a heartier welcome to whatever makes for efficiency and economy in all enterprises." The old Puritan sentiment hurts Boston. The "second generation" has no head for business, and takes no strong or intelligent interest in politics—hence we have the Boston of to-day—an overgrown country town, bearing the same relation to New York as Salem to Lynn!

Wordsworth's reverent lines predict the growing intellectual sensitiveness and spiritual response to the wonderful world.

"Thanks to the human heart by which we live,
Thanks to the tenderness, its joys and fears;
To me the meanest flower that blows can give Thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears."

Lynn Institution for Savings

25 EXCHANGE ST.

LYNN

PRESIDENT. . . CHARLES S. PURINTON

TREASURER. . . FREDERICK L. BUBIER

MONEY DEPOSITED IN JULY

GOES UPON INTEREST
AUGUST FIRST

Open Every Business Day, from 9 to 1 o'clock

Also SATURDAYS, from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.

House Lots are Scarce

In desirable localities. Just think this over, and then invest a nickel in a car fare to upper Swampscott—any Salem car will land you right—and look over the

Stetson Land Comp'y Property

Ideal place for a home. No better neighbors anywhere. Schools of the best quality, churches, street cars, and everything that makes for good living. Not extravagant in any way, but most substantial.

The 175 Houses Now on the Property

Reflect the character of the residents. Establish a home in Swampscott, and you have the advantages of a large city for a modest tax rate. Five minutes by steam train from Central Sq. at a 5-cent fare.

The lots are 50x100 feet and run from ten cents per foot upward. A small payment is only necessary, and balance on a Five (5) per cent mortgage.

Make a note to visit the property NEXT SUNDAY, and then get terms on a lot from either

CLIFTON COLBURN

Cashier Manufacturers' National Bank,

ITEM BLDG., LYNN, MASS.

JAMES H. SISK

145 MUNROE ST., LYNN.

July.

Set like a central ruby on the brow
 Of summer, but a fiery month thou art,
 July! and yet we hail thee. Thou hast part
 In nature's chivalry; knight-errant thou,—
 Hot, fierce, impetuous; on thy lips a vow
 To do thy great devoirs with loyal heart.
 Thy lance the sunbeam, laid in rest to thwart
 All alien forces. Ah, right brave, I trow,
 The deeds that we shall hear of! In the corn
 Already there are whisperings; harvest days
 Shall bring full tidings, heralding thy praise,
 And the ripe year, winding his jocund horn,
 Shall boast thy brave exploits with lusty breath
 And own thee knightly even unto death.

—Caroline A. Mason.

✕

It is wonderful how Keith's theatre holds and attracts the multitude. Hot or cold, clear or stormy, it matters not, Keith's is full to overflowing at almost every performance. To the ordinary observer this appears somewhat peculiar, when the ups and downs of most playhouses are considered. But the trained observer defines the reason—it is because Keith's is clean and refined, and such a policy does not prevent the giving of a bright and snappy show. Surely, Keith's is the "Radium of Vaudeville"—where sunshine and brightness reigns, and a show always on that holds and interests every member of the family. That is the reason why if it is on at Keith's 'tis fit for son and daughter to see. This month there will be several new acts never before seen at Keith's.

Trading at Home.

Says an Ohio exchange:

The efforts of the merchants of an Ohio town to show the value of money spent at home are being demonstrated by a novel plan. One of the large dry goods houses has started a dollar bill on the rounds of the town with a tag tied to it. Everyone into whose hands it falls is asked to write his name and the time of its receipt on the tag.

One day the dollar bill showed that it had been in the hands of 19 persons. This was taken as conclusive evidence that money spent in the home town was capable of doing a great deal of good, and at the same time showing the loss of home merchants when money is spent out of town.

A very good argument showing why you should Trade in Lynn. Buy everything you possibly can from Lynn merchants.

People generally do not really know the merits of the case, but they are willing to give the merger a try.

WHEN YOU WANT A SHIRT
 THAT FITS Buy the

"Marshal"

DOWNING — Shirt Maker — LYNN

President Tuttle of the Boston & Maine Railroad deals in much common sense, when he criticises the drastic railroad laws of Massachusetts. Not only is this state handicapped by such laws, but the attitude of the state toward corporations in general makes capital hesitate about Massachusetts investments. Boston is fearfully dwarfed in business importance, largely on account of this conditions of affairs, and if the railroads and corporations continue to be pestered and hampered as they have been during the past few years, practically all of the corporation and railroad books will be kept in New York. The record will show that something is happening to Massachusetts in a business and commercial sense, and with the legislature constantly menacing these interests, capital will not be so liberally invested, and labor consequently will not be so largely employed.

✕
The Boston Journal.

Already noted for its progressive and up-to-date policy, the Boston Journal has given new lustre to its reputation by adding to its already generous new service the complete American and foreign service of the New York Times. The New York Times is known throughout the country as furnishing a service accurate and brilliant in every particular. Mr. Reick, for a quarter of a century the leading news editor of the New York Herald, has recently joined the Times and has already added many new features, which now come to the Journal. The addition of this service to the regular service of the Boston Journal promises the readers of the Journal a daily paper unequalled by any other publication in the country.

The Boston Journal has also purchased an Autoplate Stereotype equipment, by which the casting and finishing of the stereotype plates is now done by machinery instead of by hand. This is a very costly equipment, but the big increase in the Journal's circulation necessitated the gaining of every possible minute of time, and with the Autoplate they are enabled to turn out the necessary plates twice as quickly as by hand. This edition places the Journal's mechanical outfit among the very best in the newspaper world.

✕
Memory.

My mind lets go a thousand things,
 Like dates of wars and deaths of kings,
 And yet recalls the very hour—
 'Twas noon by yonder village tower
 And on the last blue noon in May—
 The wind came briskly up this way,
 Crisping the brook beside the road;
 Then, pausing here, set down its load
 Of pine scents and shook listlessly
 Two petals from that wild rose tree.

—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

✕

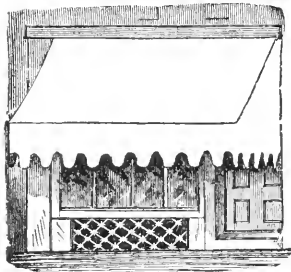

"Well, Mr. and Mrs. Hifly have been divorced. The child is to see its father twice a week."

"That's oftener than the child ever did before."—Louisville Courier-Journal

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.
32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

Let us
estimate
on

AWNING WORK

Send us a postal card.
All of the new
patterns of
Awning Work
Tel. 396-4

F. R. BENNER CO., 302 Broad St., Lynn

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55
Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent $ 8.75
Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL
112 Market Street

CITY OF LYNN.

Inspector of Buildings' Notice.

LYNN, MASS., June 22, 1907.

To the Citizens of Lynn---

You are respectfully requested to use extra precaution in clearing back yards and area ways from all rubbish and combustible material; owners and occupants of buildings in the business part of the city to see that their shutters are carefully closed from closing time until after the close of the celebration of our national holiday, to avoid danger from fire.

Per order

HERBERT C. BAYRD,

Inspector of Buildings.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

HOWE is showing quite a line of Auto Coats for Ladies and Gentlemen in Oil, Khaki, Rubber, Mohair and Silk.

Prices $5.00 to $22.50

The RUBBER STORE, 52 Central Sq.

This is the most economical period of the year to put in

NEXT WINTER'S COAL SUPPLY

Now being unloaded, clean and without any dust. Coal is

AT THE LOWEST PRICE TO-DAY

— Telephone 568 —

Stevens & Newhall

Sea Street, Lynn

The LYNN REVIEW is a small paper, but it pays to advertise in it. When the REVIEW gets into a home it stays there and is thoroughly read, being taken up from day to day by various members of the family. "The best things some times come in the smallest packages."

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

The End of the Way.

Where the rough road turns there's a valley sweet—

Where the skies are starred and fair;
We'll forget the thorns and the noonday heat
And rest in the roses there.

And the dark of the dreary, weary night
Will be lost at last in the morning light.

Where the rough road turns there's a haven blest

Where the ships at anchor ride,
And the sea-winds sing sweet songs of rest
Over the dreamless tide.

Where the tempests fade from a silent shore
And the sails are furled forevermore.

O, rest in the beautiful valley sweet,
And rest in the haven still.

What though the storms on the brave ships beat—

Though the thorns are keen to kill?
Let us dream that the dark of the dreary night
Will be lost at last in the morning light.

You Will Never Be Sorry—

For living a white life.

For doing your level best.

For your faith in humanity.

For being kind to the poor.

For looking before leaping.

For hearing before judging.

For being candid and frank.

For thinking before speaking.

For harboring clean thoughts.

For discounting the tale-bearer.

For standing by your principles.

For stopping your ears to gossip.

For asking pardon when in error.

For being loyal to your employer.

For the influence of high motives.

D. B. H. Power, the well-known Lynn merchant, showed the advantage of a quick working mind last month, when in Mechanic's Hall in Boston on the occasion of the Masonic convention. The drapery with which the hall was decorated took fire. Several people nearby, filled with fear, ran away. Mr. Power went immediately to work, pulled down the burning drapery and extinguished the fire. He burned his hands, but he probably prevented a panic.

The school board recognized good service in again electing Superintendent Peaslee and Secretary Burgess.

Trade in Lynn.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET

LYNN, MASS.

Hours : 8.30 to 12.00 ; 1.30 to 5.00

A Local Economic Subject.

A Lynn citizen writes to the REVIEW: "Just so long as everybody is clamoring for lower prices for everything, labor conditions will not be benefitted. Many people make a great shout about eight hours and good labor conditions, yet they run around the town in order to get something at a lower price. I have a friend who is a baker, carries on a modest business, and he endeavors to get five cents for a loaf of bread.

A large Lynn store competes with him by selling bread at two cents a loaf, and the very people who talk about the dreadful features surrounding monopolies and efforts of people to try to hog the whole business, stand in line to get this two-cent bread, while my friend is given the go-by, and his business is being slowly ruined.

Of course I don't wonder that the lower price catches the trade, but my point is this, that in a wage earning community the best conditions are not secured by people supporting ruinously low prices, which seriously effect labor and other interests. It is an economic question which it might be well for shoemakers and others to consider.

A South Penn Square business man has again evolved a plan on how to dodge wifey, but there is merit attaching to it in this case. His wife insists on buying his neckties and dotes on lavender with red or green spots, or a pale shimmering Nile green shot with purple. Rather than cause her any anguish by seeming to decry her tastes in cravats, her husband most deceitfully starts for the office every morning wearing a tie of her selection. Once in the office, however, the traitor quickly exchanges the offending necktie for something quieter which he keeps under careful lock and key in his own private desk. It would be interesting to find out his wife's sensations should she pay him a visit some day in office hours or should he forget to make the exchange again before his trip home.—Philadelphia Record.

The evil to which I refer is the "Easy Payment" plan: the siren song which lures us on to buying things we do not need. Of all the snares to entrap mortals on their little journey from the cradle to the grave, I do not know of any that causes more tears and heart-aches than the Instalment Plan.—The Philistine.

Patriotic Remnants.

The evening of the Fourth has come,
 But where is Willie's ear?
 The one that's left looks quite the same,
 But where is Willie's ear?
 This morning when he went to play
 With cannon crackers all the day
 His lugs were twain. Now where, I pray,
 Is Willie's other ear?
 Upon the Fourth the sun has set,
 But where is Albert's nose?
 We've all our little darlings yet,
 But where is Albert's nose?
 When to the fray he went at morn
 With matches punk and powder horn
 He'd all the things with which we're born—
 Now where is Albert's nose?
 The gloaming's started in to gloam,
 But where is Charlie's leg?
 The rest of Charles has all come home,
 But where is Charlie's leg?
 The man who drave the ambu-lance
 Said laughingly, "No more he'll dance,
 But 'twill be cheaper buying pance"—
 Ah, where is Charlie's leg?
 Thus every Fourth our darlings lose
 Some features or a limb;
 'Tis 'most enough to cause the blues
 And make our lot seem grim.
 But many be their limbs or few
 Compared with those that on them grew,
 We'll shout for Yankee doodle do
 From dawn till dusktide dim.
 —Strickland W. Gillilan.

**✠
The Young Men.

The young men about us are the future hope of our country. They are good young men in the main. The most of them mean to do right; in the long run the great majority of them do right. But the road which they must travel to success is long and difficult. A word to them:—

Start right.
 Keep on when started.
 Don't go too fast.
 But keep going!
 Never fear work, and, above all,
 Never give up!

✠
 A Unitarian minister was recently invited to take part in the dedication of an Episcopal church. Being a little disconcerted by the comparison of his own simple raiment with that of the other clergy he remarked to his neighbor, "If I had only thought, I would have worn my Genevan gown." "Oh, don't mention it," was the reply, "you are perfectly all right in the garb of a gentleman."

✠
 Principal Montgomery of the Shepard School has done much practical good work, so his friends declare, and deserved to win in the recent contest.

✠
 There will be a Federal question to arrange before Market street goes to the beach.

Lynn Sentiment Favors the Merger.

Right or wrong Lynn sentiment favors the railroad merger.

People here believe that if the N. Y., N. H. & H. secure the B. & M., that they will do things in a larger way.

For one thing it looks like a more liberal handling of the grade separation question, if the merger results.

If the New York Central secures the B. & M., Heaven help B. & M. travelers, say people who live on the line of the old Boston and Albany road.

Lynn shoe interests and Boston will be given a better opportunity than ever before to get the European trade which they deserve by reason of their location if the Boston and Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford merger is successful, according to a high railroad authority.

After calling attention to the fact that as regards European trade and its rates, Boston is now no better off than New York city, although considerably nearer to important European ports, the authority says that after the merger special attention is to be paid to the development of marine interests at Boston outgoing and incoming. This he stated might encounter some obstacles from rival interests, but would be pushed even though in the end it should compel the establishment of a trans-Atlantic service in connection with the merged corporations.

Another important direction of development, as foreshadowed by the same authority is connected with the coal business. If the two companies are consolidated, he said, their consumption of coal would amount to 4,000,000 tons a year, for which it would not be policy to depend upon other coal-carrying or coal-owning corporations.

It would therefore, probably have to acquire its own coal properties and a line of transportation from them. The direction of this new enterprise would probably be toward some of the southern coal mines, with transportation by sea to New England ports, which, in his opinion, would ultimately result in a considerable reduction of coal prices to New England manufacturers.

✠
 According to the Bookman the six books which have sold the best in the order of demand during the past month are:—The Port of Missing Men, Running Water, New Chronicles of Rebecca, The Lady of the Decoration, The Brass Bowl and The Flyers.

He and She.

How does a woman love? Once, no more;
 Though life forever its loss deplore.
 Deep in sorrow, or want, or sin,
 One king reigneth her heart within;
 One alone by night and day,
 Moves her spirit to curse or pray;
 One voice only can call her soul
 Back from the grasp of death's control;
 Though loves beset her and friends deride;
 Yea, when she smileth another's bride;
 Still for her master her life makes moan;
 Once is forever; and once alone.

How does a man love? Once for all;
 The sweetest voices of life may call,
 Sorrow daunt him, or death dismay,
 Joy's red roses bedeck his way,
 Fortune smile, or jest, or frown,
 The cruel thumb of the world turn down,
 Loss betray him, or gain delight,
 Through storm or sunshine, by day or night,
 Wandering, toiling, asleep, awake,
 Though souls may madden or frail hearts break;
 Better than wife, or child, or self,
 Once and forever, he loves—himself!

—Rose Terry Cooke.

✿

Rev. Edward Tillotson, who preached the Swampscott High School baccalaureate sermon, gave some splendid wisdom in his address, of which the following is an extract: "As young men and young women, emerging upon the arena of a larger life, great chances, real opportunities, true possibilities are yours. Be true to them and remember that the only thing which we shall carry beyond the grave is character, which is only another word for the amount of goodness, truth, earnest devotion, unselfishness, purity, which we have made ours here by the grace of Christ." Swampscott is fortunate in having such a practical modern religious teacher as Rev. Mr. Tillotson, a Yale graduate, who has a great influence among his people.

A woman, evidently unacquainted with business methods, entered one of our Boston banks recently, and approaching the paying teller's window, handed him a check with the words, "I want to get the money on this." "I don't know you, madam," said the clerk politely, after glancing at the signature. "How silly! I don't know you, either, and I don't want to," was the emphatic rejoinder. This is good, but not too good to be true.

Water bills should be paid—and paid promptly. Laxity in this direction is bad, and we must confess that we do not like the circumstances surrounding this matter. It is the worst indictment brought against the department.

President Mellen's letter to the governor strengthened the merger sentiment in Lynn.

Maps for the Assessors.

In no respect does Lynn show its unbusinesslike character more clearly than by its failure to provide working maps for the assessors of the entire city, outside of the wood lands. Had the advice of ex-city engineer Charles W. Gay been followed and his services been taken advantage of, the city would have been provided with all of the maps for the assessors to intelligently carry on their work.

Up to date only a small number of the maps have been provided so that the revaluation of the entire city cannot be carried out. This work means greatly increased revenue for the city, and why the city council has not provided the necessary maps in a prompt and energetic manner it is hard to divine unless it be attributed to the general unbusinesslike carrying on of the city's business.

By and by the tax payers of Lynn may realize that the city is a great business institution, conducting a million or two annual business and that people should be placed in charge who have an intelligent idea of business. It is not to be expected that the city can be run as economically and desirably as a private enterprise, but as time goes on it is quite apparent that the city which applies consistent commercial methods in the conducting of its affairs is the municipality which gives best results.

The government of cities is the greatest failure noted in this country, and there has got to be many radical changes if cities like Lynn desire to get more value for the money expended. Some authorities state that the waste in city expenditures all over the United States is around fifty per cent., but we do not subscribe to the truth of that statement, only we feel aware, as must the general public, that there is a fearful waste in city expenditures, and that the public does not get anything like the results that it is entitled to.

✿

What twaddle! Why don't the ministers work to get people into the churches, hats or no hats. A small subject gets much attention now and then at the hands of the parsons.

✿

When a man's wife is an immaculate housekeeper, he sometimes gets his real comfort at a careless neighbor's.—Somerville Journal.

✿

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

When it is anything which calls for

Plumbing and Heating the House

let us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.

When you have heat-
ing or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on
the work.

J. F. MORGAN & SON

66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

GREEN & SON

PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

COAL

Excellent in Quality; Clean and Reasonable in Price. We have the best Vintages

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Foot of Pleasant Street

Branch Office, 305 Union Street

A full line of Flour, Grain, Hay, Wood, Lime,
Cement, Sand, etc.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager

There is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy
and sure

HEAD-CURO POWDERS

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents

Send stamps

The Line to the West

BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

*Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.*

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

The Lynn Ice Co.

OFFICE
333 Union St.

Main Office
Telephone 585-2

Pond Office
Telephone 698

Wholesale and Retail Dealers of

Absolutely Pure
ICE

C To ice consumers who do not like the bother of paying each time we recommend our

TICKET SYSTEM

We sell 12 TICKETS good for 25 lbs. each, or a total of 300 lbs. of Ice (payable in advance) for 95 cents, the regular price for which would be $1.05 thus making a saving of 10c. on the regular rate for that quantity.

C Tickets can be bought of all our drivers and at our main office,

CURRIER BLOCK, 333 UNION ST.

ROOM 34

Voices of the Night.

After supper, after sunset,
When the only thing in sight,
Is the street lamp's feeble flicker,
Come the voices of the night—
Not the solemn ones however,
That the poets tell about,
But the ones that call for language
Which, to say the least, is stout.
Hardly have you nicely settled
On your porch to have a smoke
Till you hear a noisy jumble
Half a squeak and half a croak,
Inwardly you groan in silence,
Outwardly you'd like to roar,
Partly to express your feelings
Toward the phonograph next door.
Wishing someone you might mention
Were about as good as dead
Or would move to Madagascar.
You go in and go to bed,
Scarcely have your weary spirits
To the land of slumber flown
Till the tomcats in our alley
Start a concert of their own.
Boots and bric-a-brac and so forth
Drive them to another street,
And, with words that can't be printed,
Back you crawl to your retreat.
Hardly on the slumber wagon
Have you started for a spin
Till upon your ears comes buzzing
The alarm clock butting in.

The Fair Sex

When a woman has no one to talk to she writes a letter.

All women are consistent, but the majority of them refuse to work at it.

A man never realizes the joys of life until he marries and then it's too late.

Any woman with a train to her gown should be able to draw her own conclusions.

The more patience a woman has with her children the less she has with their father.

On her wedding day a young widow always wonders how many men will commit suicide on her account.

Women always have a lot to say about their rights, but never a word about the wrongs of the poor men.

After a woman has succeeded in getting a man to say that he loves her she begins to find him uninteresting.

When a woman says that her husband is perfection it's a safe bet that she hasn't been married three weeks.

Many a woman averages things up by figuring that her $28 bonnet and her husband's $2 lid average $15 each.

It's a sure sign a man isn't married to the right woman if he sits up and takes notice of every noisily dressed female that passes.

A girl imagines that she's in love with a man when she doesn't enjoy flirting with other men as much as she thought she would.

Orders by Telephone Promptly Attended To

Andrew Schlehuber Baker, Caterer, Confectioner

78 EXCHANGE STREET

All kinds of Catering in First-class Style.
Special Prices to Churches and Large Parties
of all kinds.

Orders for Sunday should be given Saturday
before to insure prompt delivery.

Bought Your Straw Hat Yet?

PANAMAS are "It"
This Season

We have them for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Ladies' $6 & $8 Men's $5 to $12

In the soft braids and Sailors we are, as usual, at the top.

See us before buying your straw.

Amos B. Chase

Cold Storage for Furs

TELEPHONE 425

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston
WILLIAMS BROS.
215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

For Your Summer Home

Japanese Piazza Screens at 98c., $1.39 & $1.69
Japanese Piazza Seats at 10c.

Wholesale Prices

Muslin Curtains, Sofa Pillows, Couch Covers,
Oilcloths and Linoleums, White Iron Beds.

See our Utility Boxes, so handy for shirt-waists, and an ornament to any room.

Prices Reasonable.

ALBION K. HALL, 39 Market Street

A Trolley and Boat Trip to New York for $1.75.

In the fall of 1905 the Old Colony Street Ry. Co., started the innovation of running a special trolley car through without change from Boston to Fall River, there connecting with boats of the Enterprise Transportation Co. to New York, giving the full trip from Boston to New York for $1.75.

This plan met with instant favor and last year it was tried all through the season, with the result that many thousands of people enjoyed a beautiful combination trip at small expense. So popular was the trip that many times during the summer it was necessary to run three or four cars in one day, while two cars were almost a daily necessity.

Encouraged by this the company will put the service on again this year starting Monday, June 10th. The cars will leave from Post Office Square, Boston, at 2.30 P. M. daily except Sundays. The ride by trolley to Fall River is a particularly interesting one and fast and comfortable.

While in previous years passengers on the special cars have been limited to those who bought tickets through to New York, this year passengers will be taken to Fall River, whether going further or not.

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

A recent advertisement in the newspapers says that there never was a time when the young man had a better chance than to-day, and adds that "there are more $10,000 jobs than there are $10,000 men to take them." The above is a plain statement of a fact. If anyone doubts it let him look around for a $10,000 man. Let him search for the young man with push and energy and ideas. Don't forget that important item in the list of necessary things which go to make up the $10,000 man. Ideas. Good practical ideas. Novel ideas. Ideas that are workable and mean business. Ideas that are not imitations of what someone else has already exploited. A great many young men are earnest and honest and are willing to work hard, but unfortunately they don't possess ideas or at least they don't have ideas of the right kind. Every business man is waiting for the coming of this $10,000 young man. We need several of them in our own office--Banker and Tradesman.

Mrs. Henpeck--You acted like a fool when you proposed to me.

Henpeck--That wasn't acting, my dear--Stray Stories.

Doing Business at the Old Stand

With an all new stock of

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry,
etc.

A special line of goods suitable for Wedding Gifts.

An elegant line of Cut Glass.

Fine Watch Repairing and
Engraving a specialty.

Our Optical Department is growing
every day, owing to the great pains
taken in examining the eyes,
and giving the proper
glasses required.

J. H. CONNER

Telephone 518-1

81 PEARL ST.

Somewhere To-day.

Somewhere to-day the woods are green
And moist and sweet with shade,
Somewhere to-day the thrush doth sing
From secret leafy glade,—
Somewhere to-day.

Somewhere to-day the water gleams
And glistens in the sun,
As if a thousand jewels rare
Upon its breast were flung,—
Somewhere to-day.

Somewhere to-day the strawberry
Doth ripen on the hill,
The cattle clip the juicy grass
And wander at their will,—
Somewhere to-day.

Somewhere to-day the pathways wind
Along the singing brooks,
By open fields and then again
Through fragrant vine-hung nooks,—
Somewhere to-day.

Somewhere to-day the wild flowers bloom
The insects hum and sing,
The clouds like dream-thoughts come and go
The birds pass swift awing,—
Somewhere to-day.

Somewhere to-day a rich life-stream
Doth pulse from Nature's heart,
And I in fancy o'er its brink
Do lean and sip a part,—
Somewhere to-day.

Jane Dransfield Stone.

The sudden death of Edward S. Hathaway was regretted by a legion of Lynn and Boston friends. He was the picture of health, but he overworked during the hot weather, when the Masonic festivities were on in Boston last month. Men not in condition run great chances when they parade in the heat in clothes that would be thought proper in an Arctic temperature. Hot weather kills men because they overdo and do not adapt themselves to the climatic conditions.

Was He Crazy?

A Lynn man was a recent visitor to the Danvers insane asylum. He was going through the grounds when he met one of the "trusty" patients. Looking at a clock on the premises he asked the patient if the clock was right. The patient looked at the clock, then at the man, and said: "If that clock was right it would not be here."

Tobacco is a native of Virginia.
The nettle is a native of Europe.

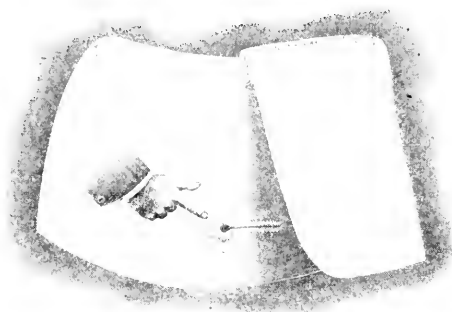

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

THE POPULAR WILLIAMS BROS. FISH MARKET, UNION STREET.

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

Inheritance.

Lo, what am I? A patch of things,
 Mere odds and ends of lives flung by,
 From age-long rag-bag gatherings
 Pieced up by Fate full thriftily;
 Somebody's worn-out will and wit,
 Somebody's habits and his hair,
 Discarded conscience, faith once fair
 Ere time, the moth, had eaten it;
 My great-grandfather's chin and nose,
 The eyes my great-grandmother wore,
 And hands from some remote—who knows?—
 Perchance prehensile ancestor;
 Somebody's style, somebody's gait,
 Another body's wrist and waist,
 With this one's temper, that one's trait,
 One's tastes, another's lack of taste;
 Feelings I never chose to feel,
 A voice in which I had no voice,
 Revealing where I would conceal
 Rude impulses without a choice;
 Faults which this forefather or that
 Unkindly fostered, to my ill,
 With others some one else begot
 And made the matter worse still.
 They chose, these masters of my fate,
 To please themselves, bequeathing me
 Base pleasures in the things I hate,
 Liking for what misliketh me.
 Out of the ashes of their fires,
 Out of the fashion of their bone,
 They fashioned me, my mighty sires,
 And shall I call my soul my own?

* * * * *

My, borrowed husk, head, heart and hand,
 Slave on and serve me till we die!
 I am your Lord and your command!
 But only God knows—what am I.
 —Grace Ellery Channing.

A speaker recently related the experience of the Chicago teacher who questioned her school on the pleasantest feature of the whole school day to them and was answered by some of her pupils that it was the coming to and the going from school. He suggested that if we were merely trying to please the children we might do away with the schools and make the whole day into the "coming to and the going from school."

One day Mr. Jellyby had his twin babies down town, tucked in their double-ended carriage, facing each other, with only their little round faces showing out of their blankets. A boy caught sight of the babies and he cried in astonishment, "O mamma, look quick! There is a baby with a head on both ends."—Youth's Companion.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

I am not of those who think the heaven-leaf drops. I do not believe the times are worse than ever before. I believe they are better. I have only to turn to the past to find every danger, every affliction, every evil that assails us existing in a more virulent form in former days. Even in this Pilgrim colony the saints, as I have said, can be counted on the fingers. We are apt to think of it as a little kingdom of heaven on earth. But Bradford's journal shows that its interests were more of this world than of the next, and that its main concern was in beaver skins and clapboards and in counteracting the impositions in trade of the partners of his business ventures. It is amusing to read of the loving and Scriptural phraseology under guise of which the knife of shrewd dicker was stuck into each other's ribs. Some of the very elect intrusted with its affairs were false to the trust and used their positions to feather their own nests,—falsely to their trust than any president of a modern insurance company. The first minister sent to it in 1624 was a facetious hypocrite, who stirred up strife and was shown to have been a libertine, guilty of gross immorality. The second was a cross between a crank and an idiot, and was shipped off in short order. One of the original number was hanged for wilful murder. Within the first decade social vices infested the community,—drunkenness, bickering, slander, licentiousness, even crimes against nature,—and all this in a community of very limited numbers. Upon the good and true had been thrust much that was vile, and their task was hard. No New England village of to-day need fear comparison. But the good prevailed with them over the evil, as it has prevailed with us and will hereafter prevail.—Ex-Governor John D. Long.

"Mama," said little Elsie, "do men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, my dear. What makes you ask?"

"Because I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"Well," said the mother thoughtfully, "some men do go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave."—San Francisco Monitor.

"A Flight of Stairs" is a new play, written by Will Rising. Gee! But this is elevating the stage.

I Lay in Sorrow, Deep Distressed.

I lay in sorrow, deep distressed:
 My grief a proud man heard;—
 His looks were cold, he gave me gold,
 But not a kindly word.
 My sorrow passed—I paid him back
 The gold he gave to me;
 Then stood erect and spoke my thanks,
 And blessed his Charity.

I lay in want, in grief and pain:
 A poor man passed my way;
 He bound my head, he gave me bread,
 He watched me night and day.
 How shall I pay him back again,
 For all he did for me?
 Oh, gold is great, but greater far
 Is heavenly Sympathy!

—Charles Mackay.

Trolley Riding Literature.

The Passenger Department of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street Ry. Co.'s has issued some new literature this year which is very attractive and convenient. The feature of the publications this year is a large four-colored map of eastern Massachusetts east of Worcester, southern New Hampshire and northern Rhode Island, showing not only all the trolley lines of these companies but all trolley lines in the district, as well as all the parks, groves and other inland and shore pleasure resorts.

The map is a very artistic bit of work and is one of the most complete ever issued covering this district. This map forms the inside of both the Boston & Northern and the Old Colony Street Ry. Co.'s folders, while the rest of the space is devoted to schedules, showing the routes, distances, fares and mileage on these systems. Everything is arranged in as condensed a form as possible, tending to put as much helpful information for the trolleyist in as little space as is required.

The covers of the two folders are in colors and beautiful pieces of the printer's art. That of the Boston & Northern shows a cool, attractive view of a rocky shore, a bay with an island in the background, all on a background of striking red. The Old Colony folder cover is a delightfully typical little country scene framed in an attractive arrangement of greenery. Just a glance at the covers creates a desire to seek the shore and country.

They will be sent free upon application to the Passenger Department, 309 Washington street, Boston.

It is said of Mr. Wanamaker that one Sunday he delivered, before the infant class of Bethany, a brief but eloquent address on the lesson. At the end he said: "And now is there any question that any little boy or girl would like to ask me?" A girl of eight or nine rose; "Well, Martha, what is it?" said the superintendent, smiling on the tot in kindly fashion. "Please, Mr. Wanamaker," said the little girl, "what is the price of those large wax dolls in your window?"

Sir William Drummond says: "He who cannot reason is a fool. He who will not is a bigot. He who dare not is a slave."

Boston is in luck--the city has lost the Joy Line service to New York.

The Art of Letter Writing.

"I know," said a business man of wide experience, "how crowded with studies the schools are now, and I should be loath to recommend the introduction of any new ones: but I do wish sometimes that the boys and girls who are giving time to so many little fads could be induced to give more to the art of writing letters."

He did not refer to the mere art of writing correct English or the art of writing an interesting personal letter, but to the preparation of really good business letters, in which the matter in hand should be treated not only clearly and concisely but also courteously.

The need he mentioned is one which is felt by thousands of business men and may well claim the attention of young people of both sexes who look forward to business life. The ability to write intelligibly is not rare, but the capacity to write in such a way as to produce a pleasant personal feeling for the house one represents is extremely rare.

Many writers fail in the matter of courtesy—either in the way of constant omission of articles and constant abbreviation, or, more commonly, in neglecting to give the other man the benefit of the doubt. In other words, the fault with most business letters is a fault of poor manners rather than of mental deficiency.

"Never, in any circumstances, allow your first letter, in a case of difference, to be harsh or discourteous," said a business man to one of his clerks. "No matter how much you think the man has injured us, give him the benefit of the doubt. Assume that he has made a mistake rather than that he has misrepresented. To take the other course is to enter a blind alley. You may have to turn around to get out of it."—Youth's Companion.

"Where was he struck by the motor car?" asked the coroner. "At the junction of the dorsal and the cervical vertebræ," answered the surgeon. "Will you please point it out on the map?" asked the coroner, indicating one that hung on the wall.

When you order a single orange at the Touraine, in Boston, you pay at the rate of $1.80 per dozen. Rather costly juice.

Knowledge is that which, next to virtue, truly and essentially raises one man above the other. — Addison.

INITIATIVE

HE world bestows its big prizes, both in money and honors, for but one thing. ¶ And that is Initiative. ¶ What is Initiative? I'll tell you: It is doing the right thing without being told. ¶ But next to doing the thing without being told is to do it when you are told once.

That is to say, carry the Message to Garcia: those who can carry a message get high honors, but their pay is not always in proportion. ¶ Next are those who never do a thing until they are told twice: such get no honors and small pay. ¶ Next are those who do the right thing only when necessity kicks them from behind, and these get indifference instead of honors, and a pittance for pay. This kind spends most of its time polishing a bench with a hard-luck story. ¶ Then still lower down in the scale than this, we have the fellow who will not do the right thing even when some one goes along to show him how and stays to see that he does it: he is always out of a job, and receives only the contempt he deserves, unless he has a rich Pa, in which case Destiny patiently awaits around the corner with a stuffed club. ¶ To which class do you belong?—Elbert Hubbard.

PEOPLE desiring the Review EVERY month should take notice that they must become subscribers. Fifty cents per year is the subscription price.

When you receive the LYNN REVIEW and you are not a subscriber, it is an invitation to subscribe.

THIS IS
Refrigerator Weather

and we can supply you with the best for the money in REFRIGERATORS

The best made at prices from

$9 to $31

The Charter Oak

is the best refrigerator because most scientifically made.
Holds the cold air to the last ounce of ice—you get the benefit from every bit of ice. And it is easy to clean.

We are headquarters for the best makes of Refrigerators.

Titus & Buckley Co.

298-310 Union St., Lynn

A Home Company Seeking Home Patronage
Lynn Manufacturers and Merchants
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Guaranty Capital, $100,000

PATRICK B. MAGRANE, President

JOHN M. THOMSON, ISAAC C. WYMAN, Vice-Presidents

CLIFTON COLBURN, Treasurer

JOHN H. MADDEN, Secretary

DIRECTORS — Ralph S. Bauer, Wilmot R. Hastings, Archibald T. Sampson, Joseph Caunt, Maurice A. Stevens, Fred A. Goddard, Charles H. Hastings, Maurice V. Bresnahan, Patrick J. Harney, John M. Thomson, Nicholas M. Weber, Augustus A. Hennessey, Alfred D. Fisher, Charles H. Newhall, Bert Parker Chick, Thomas A. Kelley, Benjamin Scully, John H. Madden, Clifton Colburn, George A. Creighton, Patrick B. Magrane, Joseph F. Hannan, Isaac C. Wyman, Harry W. Woodward.

FINANCE COMMITTEE — Patrick B. Magrane, George A. Creighton, Patrick J. Harney, John H. Madden, Wilmot R. Hastings, Maurice V. Bresnahan, Clifton Colburn.

Prompt and satisfactory attention will be given all business entrusted to this company.

Telephone 501

35 Central Square

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

AUGUST, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 10

Security Safe Deposit and Trust Company

Main Office: Bergengren Block, Central Square, Lynn, Mass.

Branch Office: 25 Market Square, West Lynn, Mass.

Safe Deposit Boxes

Storage Vaults

Before leaving home for your vacation, why not place your valuables in the Vaults of this Company?

We receive Trunks, Boxes and Bulky Packages for any length of time. Charges low.

Safe Deposit Boxes to rent at prices ranging from $5.00 to $50.00 per year.

Children's Wash Suits At Reduced Prices

There's a long stretch of hot weather ahead and Mothers will be interested in our sale of Wash Suits.

Our kind of Suits are fast color and are made in all the desirable styles, Galate, Linens etc.

Come in and look them over.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Spalding Dry Goods Company 11-13 Market St.

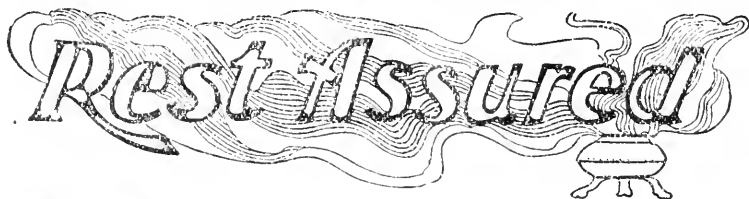

CORSETS

For this issue of the REVIEW we call particular attention to our CORSET DEPARTMENT.

We carry in stock, at all times, the following makes of well known and reliable corsets:

Royal Worcester	C B A La Spirite
3 STYLES	3 STYLES
R & G	P N
4 STYLES	4 STYLES
Nemo	J. B.
5 STYLES	6 STYLES
Ivy	Thompson's Glove-Fitting
5 STYLES	5 STYLES
Felix	Dorothy
3 STYLES	2 STYLES

BAY STATE.—This is our 50 cent number, and we guarantee it to be the best corset sold at the price.

That a Gas Range will come up to your highest expectations.

Everything tastes better when cooked by gas.

We install and connect these stoves for the COST OF MATERIALS furnished. No charge for labor. No charge for putting in gas where distance is not unusually long.

Electric Flat Irons $3.00 including Plug

Lynn Gas & Electric Company

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

AUGUST, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 10

Tenements continue to be very scarce in Lynn.

Pugilistic councilmen suggest something harder than water.

Decent streets and sidewalks are a crying need in Lynn to-day.

To correspondent: "Yes, trains are stopping as usual, at Salem, this summer."

The Nahant electric cars are doing a record-breaking business this season, and giving splendid service.

"The 'Temple of Music' at Wonderland, with its 'electrical wonders' must cause electricians to smile. Some fakes are so rank they are interesting.

Lynn does not need much—new high school, Market street extension, Sea street extension, West Lynn municipal building, and—well, that is enough for the present.

Western avenue, from Market Square to Franklin street, is in a very bad condition, and has been so for a long time. The dangerous roadway needs immediate attention.

The watering of the streets is not being so desirably done as in past years. There is a screw loose somewhere, and those in authority should see that the wrench is applied.

The Market street extension will be blocked for a long time, so the friends of the project appear to feel, if the United States government has to be consulted on the harbor line.

It is about time that the police made a determined stand against those residents of "Wapping" in Ward five, who practice their night-before-the-Fourth hoodlum antics under the eaves of the hospital, where patients' lives are endangered by the claque. These hoodlums should be taught that liberty is not license.

The Work of the Board of Health.

THE co-operation of the public with the board of health is desirable. Why the State has conferred such great authority upon boards of health is because of the importance of the work. Nothing is more important than the public health.

The Lynn Board of Health has always worked in harmony with the public and secured the very best results in the enforcing of the various laws governing this important department of the municipality.

Co-operation with the board of health should be the earnest desire of everybody, especially with the growing number of people who are living in the congested sections of Lynn.

One of the latest subjects to be taken up in the interests of the public by the Lynn Board of Health is the paving of alleyways between buildings in the business center. These alleyways for the most part are allowed to remain in a muddy, damp and generally bad condition, and they are an element of danger to the public health.

It is understood to be the policy of the board of health to have work commenced upon the paving of the more undesirable alleyways immediately. Property owners who do not comply with the requirements will secure a bill from the city after the work has been done, but it is believed that owners of property will see the necessity of at once complying with the law.

The City Hall after its sandstone bath, has the appearance of a new structure.

How long will it be before the state takes Bass Point, Nahant for a public park?

That manual training school building is a great tribute to the kind of "business" that makes municipal government such a failure.

Somebody is responsible for the moth infested area in the Lynn woods. This is one of the beauties of government by commission. The individual responsibility is in the background.

It is pleasant to note that the city is taking advantage of the recent act passed by the Legislature giving Lynn permission to raise money by taxation for street improvements. About $30,000 will be available for this work this year.

The Inside Needed Brushing.

A sense of humor is a saving grace in a schoolmaster. Used wisely it is a far more effective weapon of discipline than the ferule. Dr. Dewey, principal of the old high school of Rochester, N. Y., counted it among his other excellent attributes; and Jenny M. Parker, in her book on the city, quotes several instances of its efficacy.

A boy in Mr. Dewey's room had arranged a complicated mechanism by which the lid of his desk could be held open, exposing a mirror. One day the lad, behind the shield of this cover, was elaborately brushing his hair and admiring its effect in the glass.

Smoother and more carefully he plastered down his shining locks, utterly oblivious to the rest of the world. Unbeknown to him Dr. Dewey had stolen quietly up behind his chair, and was gazing at the process with great amusement. Suddenly he remarked:—

"Smith it's the inside of your head that needs brushing."

Smith jumped a foot or two from his seat, and the desk lid came down with a bang.

Individualism is a fatal poison. But individuality is the salt of common life. You may have to live in a crowd, but you do not have to live like it nor subsist on its food. You may have your own orchard. You may drink at a hidden spring. Be yourself if you would serve others. Learn also how to appraise criticism, to value enmity, to get the good of being blamed and evil spoken of. You can hardly tell whether your faiths and feelings are real until they are attacked. —Henry Van Dyke.

In London, James Wright, a Newcastle typewriter, whose record was 105 words in a minute and 82 words a minute for an hour, has beaten his own record, doing 84½ words a minute for ten minutes and then 106, 107 and 110 words a minute. The matter was dictated business correspondence which Wright had not previously seen.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

The LYNN REVIEW is a small paper, but it pays to advertise in it. When the REVIEW gets into a home it stays there and is thoroughly read, being taken up from day to day by various members of the family. "The best things some times come in the smallest packages."

There is one Headache Cure that is safe, speedy and sure

HEAD-CURO POWDERS

Manufactured by

WILLIAM T. LEE

9 Allen's Block, PEABODY, MASS.

Sent by mail for 25 cents Send stamps

What Constitutes Success?

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory is a benediction. —Mrs. A. J. Stanley.

A lady was waiting for her sister in a railway station when a gentleman, looking for his wife, and misled by a general resemblance in figure and clothing, stepped up behind her, and, laying his hand on her shoulder, exclaimed: "Thank goodness, Emma, its you!" The name he used happened to be really hers, which made the sudden familiarity more startling. She jumped nervously. "You're mistaken, sir!" she gasped. "I'm Emma, but she isn't me." —Youth's Companion.

ASK US ABOUT OUR

Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston

WILLIAMS BROS.

215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

Little Whimpy.

Whimpy, little Whimpy,
He cried so hard one day,
His grandma couldn't stand it,
And his mother ran away;
His sister climbed the hay-mow,
His father went to town,
And cook flew to the neighbor's
In her shabby kitchen gown.

Whimpy, little Whimpy,
He stood out in the sun
And cried until the chickens
And ducks began to run.
Old Towser in his kennel
Growled in an angry tone,
Then burst his chain; and Whimpy
Was left there all alone.

Whimpy, little Whimpy
He cried and cried and cried,
Until the sunlight vanished,
Flowers began to hide.
The birdies ceased their singing
The frogs began to croak
The darkness came and Whimpy
Found crying was no joke.

Whimpy, little Whimpy
Never'll forget the day
When his grandma couldn't stand it,
And his mother ran away.
He was waiting by the window
When they all came home to tea,
And a gladder boy than Whimpy
You need never hope to see.

—Mary Mapes Dodge.

The Lynn Gas and Electric Company is a model public service corporation. The quality of product, prices and service, are of the best. For Old Home week the company furnished the electricity free of charge for the street illuminations. The city did the wiring and the company provided the juice. In more ways than one the Lynn Gas and Electric Company is an example for companies serving the public.

Charles G. Bailey's sudden death was a shock to many friends. He had over-worked, and his nervous system was in a bad way. His death should stand as a warning to young men who are over-anxious to reach the goal of success. There are many other things more to be desired than riches.

"Hannah," said the mistress to her new girl, "you can take that brown serge dress of mine and put it in soak." "Yes'm," said Hannah, "who's your fav'rite pawnbroker?" — Household Words.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET
LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

Dr. Long is not a "Fakir" in Point of Ability.

Dr. William J. Long has had hard luck. In the first place, after graduating in due form, he was turned down by the theologians, after he had been elected to fill the pulpit of the Congregational Church in North Cambridge, Mass. He was already known for his writings, and is not a man to be lightly kicked aside as of no authority in the world of letters. Now, following the lead of Mr. Burroughs, the President of the United States has followed the lead of the theologians who denounced him as no Christian, and has declared he is only a fake naturalist. We submit that the method of hunting down Dr. Long is not sportsmanlike. We have no doubt that he errs on the side of kindness to the brute creation, and that he attributes to the animals more intellect than they possess. But his work is humanizing, which the attack upon him is not. Dr. Long is forty years old, a graduate of Harvard College, a doctor of philosophy from Heidelberg, and he is not an upstart.—Christian Register.

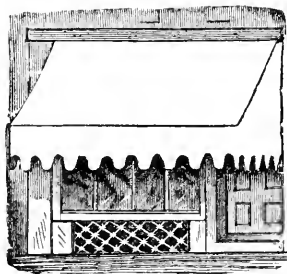

Count each affliction, whether light or grave,
God's messenger sent down to thee. Do thou
With courtesy receive him; rise and bow,
And, ere his shadow pass thy threshold, crave
Permission first his heavenly feet to lave,
Then lay before him all thou hast. Allow
No cloud of passion to usurp thy brow
Or mar thy hospitality, no wave
Of mortal tumult to obliterate
The soul's marmoreal calmness. Grief should be,
Like joy, majestic, equable, sedate,
Confirming, cleansing, raising, making free;
Strong to consume small troubles, to command
Great thoughts, grave thoughts, thoughts lasting to the end.

—Aubrey de Vere.

In every municipal department strict business methods should prevail. The loose methods disclosed in connection with the collection of water accounts leads one to wonder if any other city department is equally lax in closing up city accounts. Every department should be probed to this extent.

The talking may go on, but the relief from railroad blockades at street crossings will not be cured until the grade separation is secured. Traffic is continually growing and the nuisance of grade crossings becomes greater each year. When shall we get relief?

Says the Hon. Maud Pouncefote: "In America men are the slaves of women while in England women are slaves of men."

Let us
estimate
on

AWNING WORK

Send us a postal card.
All of the new patterns of
Awning Work
Tel. 396-4

F. R. BENNER CO., 302 Broad St., Lynn

This is the most economical period of the year to put in

NEXT WINTER'S COAL SUPPLY

Now being unloaded, clean and without any dust. Coal is

AT THE LOWEST PRICE TO-DAY

— Telephone 568 —

Stevens & Newhall
Sea Street, Lynn

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

When it is anything which calls for

Plumbing and Heating the House

let us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.

When you have heat-
ing or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on
the work.

J. F. MORGAN & SON
66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

President Eliot on Religion.

President Eliot, of Harvard College spoke as follows last month. "All the churches are lingering among ideas which the thinking world has passed by. The teaching is, most of it, obsolescent, if not obsolete, for the thinking men of to-day. First, there is the old idea of propitiation by sacrifice which prevails to a large extent. Second, there is the kindred idea of expiation, of which the Christian Church is full, but which is entirely foreign to the familiar experience of everyday life. Third, that the sinner may give satisfaction to God by suffering punishment for his sin. Fourth, that personal salvation in another world is to compensate for misery in this, as a justification for a continuation of evils in this world which result from man's inhumanity to men. All these ideas come down from barbarous times, and the churches must get rid of them before they can exert the influence they should."

Some of the most dangerous movements at the present time originate in the corporate or organized sources of powers. President Roosevelt perceives this and boldly launches investigations. Mr. Bryan is fearless in stating this truth to his fellow-countrymen. In view of the lawless spirit that runs you down in automobiles, that waters stocks, that works for a few against the many, that tends to create a favored class, that lobbies legislatures, that snaps its fingers at the public—what can we effect against it? I see nothing better, nothing more irresistible, than an aroused public spirit, and that is patriotism—Chaplain Horton, in Fourth of July oration in Faneuil Hall.

According to the Bookman the six books which have sold the best in the order of demand during the past month are:—The Brass Bowl, New Chronicles of Rebecca, The Port of Missing Men, The Lady of the Decoration, The Princess Virginia and The Mayor's Wife.

Bay Side Inn at Bass Point, Nahant, is well patronized by Lynn people who like a quiet, clean retreat where the selling of the ardent does not interfere with their enjoyment by attracting undesirable people.

Lynn will never have a more desirable government until there is more individual responsibility.

God's First Temples.

The groves were God's first temples. Ere man learned

To hew the shaft, and lay the architrave,
And spread the roof above them—ere he framed
The lofty vault, to gather and roll back
The sounds of anthems—in the darkling wood,
Amidst the cold and silence, he knelt down
And offered to the Mightiest solemn thanks
And supplication. For his simple heart
Might not resist the sacred influences
That, from the stilly twilight of the place,
And from the gray old trunks, that, high in heaven,
Mingled their mossy boughs, and from the sound
Of the invisible breath that swayed at once
All their green tops, stole over him, and bowed
His spirit with the thought of boundless power
And inaccessible majesty. Ah, why Should we, in the world's ripper years, neglect
God's ancient sanctuaries, and adore
Only among the crowd, and under roofs
That our frail hands have raised! Let me, at least,
Here, in the shadow of this aged wood
Offer one hymn thrice happy, if it find Acceptance in His ear.

—William Cullen Bryant.

AT Keith's Theatre it is altogether remarkable how uniformly strong are the bills presented. Many times one will look at the program and wonder if it is strong, because the great developments of vaudevillians by Mr. Keith makes their visits less rare, and on that account the average person cannot follow the people as a few years ago. All of this makes for the best. The long interims between the appearances of artists gives more variety to the acts, and much develops vaudeville. We often wonder how long it will be before Mr. Keith will use the term: "This performance can be seen this season only in the Keith theatres." The trend seems to be in that direction. Never were the August bookings so strong at Keith's as this year and the popular Fadettes lead off as a special attraction.

Judge McIntire of Cambridge once asked a young offender his name. The man commenced: "Sis, sis, sis, sis, sis"— "No matter about your first name, what is your second?" "St, st, st, st, st"— and the culprit struggled till the Judge interrupted, saying, "Officer, what is this man's name?" "Sam Stone, yer honor." "And what is he charged with?" "And sure, sir," replied the officer, "I should say he was charged with sody water."

There is a string on Mayor Barney's retirement letter, and he may decide, next fall, to pull it.

The Oxford Club membership list is full.

A High Grade Commercial School.

It is a matter of congratulation for Lynn people that in the Burdett College, Lynn, this city should have a school teaching business studies that is the peer of any commercial school in the United States. It is well known that the building housing this school is not only one of the finest in the city, but easily out-classes any in the country used for a similar purpose, while the richness of furnishings and convenience of equipment are in entire harmony with its beautiful exterior.

It is a constant source of surprise to visitors to learn the large number of pupils who are educated in this school annually, there having been between four hundred and five hundred the past year in both the day and night sessions.

To see the college at its best one should call when the students are at work in order to thoroughly appreciate its businesslike methods and its practical results. The utilitarian value of commercial schools is too frequently underrated by people unfamiliar with the extreme care and attention bestowed upon the courses of study and it is not saying too much when we state that this school has been an important factor in the business and economic life of our city.

Many a Lynn family has had its yearly income considerably augmented by having placed one or more of its members in this school, where after graduation lucrative positions are found by the employment departments without charge to pupils. The pupils have the benefit of the employment department of both the Lynn and the Boston schools.

This school certainly has the ability to find positions for all its worthy graduates. As an example of this it publishes a list of nearly three hundred pupils that have been placed during the last year, and within that time the school has turned away over 350 positions which they could not fill for lack of prepared pupils.

Many Boston business men send regularly to Lynn for these graduates, chiefly because of their superior training and their familiarity with up-to-date office equipment, which, by the way, must be an excellent stimulus to the pupil in producing the highest quality of work.

The achievements of this institution in the past are the best evidence of its ability to do good work in the future, and the large number of students who are signifying their intention to enter this coming fall bears eloquent testimony to the success of this school and its line of work.

A beautiful catalog is issued to all who may be interested in taking up any of these courses.

Dr. Eaton, a former president of Madison University, was beloved by the students, and his good opinion courted above all things. One Commencement Day, the student who had delivered the valedictory approached the doctor, and timidly asked him what he thought of the effort. The doctor looked at him a moment, and then said slowly, "Edward, if you would pluck a few feathers from the wings of your imagination, and stick them in the tail of your judgment, you would make better speeches."

—Exchange.

An Oklahoma girl recently advertised for a husband and got him. The total expense for advertising, wedding outfit, etc., was $11.00. The husband died within a year leaving his widow an insurance policy of $10,000. And yet some people claim that it doesn't pay to advertise. —Chicago News.

MONEY IS LIKE STEAM

Let it freely escape and 'tis of no service to anyone. Confine it within certain bounds and you may utilize its energy to perform service for you.

In the case of money—confined here—this service takes the form of a 3 1-2 per cent. interest.

MONEY deposited on or before Wednesday, September 4th, will draw interest from that date.

COMMONWEALTH SAVINGS BANK,
325 Union cor. Almont Street.

JOS. G. PINKHAM, President,
WM. M. BARNEY, Treasurer.

Deliberateness.

Don't think that I'm a lazy man,
That is not true a whit;
'Tis simply that before I act
I like to sleep on it.

Thus, when the loud alarm clock rings
And morning sunbeams flit,
Before I take a single step
I turn and sleep on it.

The preacher thunders forth his views
So eloquent and fit,
I do not ever criticize
Because I sleep on it.

And where I'll go on Judgment day
Won't worry me a whit;
I'll have a million years or so
In which to sleep on it.

—McLandburgh Wilson.

Edward T. Parker, the coal expert of the United States Geological Survey, predicts that at the present rate of consumption the anthracite deposits of the United States will be practically exhausted in seventy-five years. He urges manufacturers to use bituminous coal and declares that the smoke nuisance will soon be abated as a result of experiments now being conducted in New York. "Hard coal will never be cheaper to consumers than it is now," said Mr. Parker. "The production of anthracite in 1906 was 63,645,010 tons. According to one coal expert, the anthracite available for mining in 1901 was 4,765,216,750 tons."

A song with the title, "There's a Sigh in the Heart," was sent by a young man to his sweetheart; but the paper fell into the hands of the young girl's father,—a very unsentimental physician—who exclaimed: "What wretched, unscientific rubbish is this? Whoever heard of such a case?" He wrote on the outside: "Mistaken diagnosis: no sigh in the heart possible. Sighs relate almost entirely to the lungs and diaphragm!"—American.

The Ilissus is a small Greek river with a great name. The story is told that the late President Felton of Harvard declared that on his first reaching Athens he made his way to the banks of the Ilissus, stooped down and drank it all up.

GREEN & SON

PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

How Lynn Secured Its Name.

The Boston Globe recently presumed to tell how 250 Massachusetts cities and towns got their names. If they did not hit other places any better than they did Lynn, the information did not amount to much. This is what they said:

"For no better reason than that it's first settled pastor, Rev. William Whiting, had been a curate in Lynn Regis, Eng. was the city of Lynn given its name. For a while the name was variously spelled as "Lin," "Linn" and "Lynne."

We have always understood that Lynn derived its name from King's Lynn in England because Edmund and Francis Ingalls, the first settlers of Lynn, came from that town. Possibly, we may be mistaken.

How many times we have wished that the inspector of buildings had authority to go through the city and clean up dilapidated buildings. It is no less than outrageous to note the condition of many buildings throughout the city, and it would be refreshing if the Henry George system of taxation might be applied in Lynn, and those people penalized who make a nuisance to the eye, of a building, and generous consideration given to all who improve and beautify a neighborhood. Munroe and Oxford streets and Central avenue are particularly disfigured.

Last month marked the 22nd anniversary of the inauguration of continuous vaudeville by B. F. Keith, who on July 6, 1885, began on a comparatively unimportant scale the enterprise which has culminated at the present time in one of the most gigantic theatrical interests in this country. With a child wonder for the initial "production" Mr. Keith started his career in a small store where the Adam house now stands, and by honesty of purpose in face of difficulties, he achieved well deserved success and world-wide renown. To-day his name is synonymous with the best and most refined in vaudeville.

Mrs. Mulligan—Do yez feel better this morning, Mrs. O'Toole?

Mrs. O'Toole—I do, an' then again I don't.

Mrs. Mulligan—Thot's bad, fur it's hard to know whether to say oim sorry or glad.--Harper's Bazar.

Postmaster-General Von Meyer has a good press agent.

The Japanese Dentist.

The street peddler had displayed on his little table the following sign, according to the London Telegraph:

"A box of this cement given free to anybody who can break these apart."

There were spools, blocks of wood and other articles that had been cemented together. Most of them bore marks of having been struggled with by persons whose hands were grimy, in vain attempts to wrench the pieces apart.

A swarthy little fellow who had stopped in front of the fakir's stand pointed to a round peg that appeared to have been dipped in the cement and driven into a good-sized chunk of wood, and asked him what would be the reward for pulling it out.

"If you can pull that out," said the peddler, "I'll give you a crown."

The peg projected a little more than a quarter of an inch above the block.

The swarthy little fellow placed his hand on the block to hold it down, took the peg between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand, and pulled it out with apparent ease, a portion of the wood coming away with it.

"Bless me!" gasped the man behind the table, "What are you?"

"Me Japanese dentist," replied the little fellow, pocketing the silver and walking away with a grin on his face.

Japanese dentists use their fingers for forceps, and a part of their training consists in exercises and work which develop an amount of power in their hands which would be incredible if it were not so well authenticated.

The appointment by Governor Guild of Benjamin N. Johnson, of Lynn, as chairman of the Metropolitan Improvement Board, honors a Lynn citizen who has an aptitude and taste for the special work which will come under the supervision of this commission. Mr. Johnson has always displayed enterprise and interest in questions which are likely to be disposed of by the recently appointed body. In his private capacity as a citizen, Mr. Johnson has done much for the public interest in furthering park areas, boulevards, state roads, and other like improvements.

The largest officially recorded attendance at a ball game in this country was 29,992 at a contest in New York between the New Yorks and Philadelphias, for the world's championship.

August.

It is the month of falling stars,
Of golden days and silver nights,
Of sunsets wrought of rose and pearl,
And fired with opal lights.

The splendor deepens day by day,
Larger each night the languid moon
Swims silently thro' ether deeps
Less blue than those of June.

In little creamy, tossing drifts,
Dog-fennel blossoms everywhere;
The perfume of the wild, rich musk
Is split along the air.

The pale pink englantine is gone,
The sweet-pea pods burst in the sun;
The crimson poppy petals fade
And scatter, one by one.

The seas of yarrow rise and fall,
And all along the country ways
The generous golden-rod uplifts
Her bright and plummy sprays.

On rocky ledges o'er the sea
The columbine no longer swags,
But there the blue-bell silently
Her worldless vesper rings.

Each month has her own ravishments,
And August has the mellow moon,
And stars that fall thro' ether deeps
Less blue than those of June.

The dim, sweet, golden distances
With rose and purple faintly shown,
The winds low hesitating note—
These things are August's own.

—Ella Higginson.

What was the cause of the accident on the Campania on October 13, 1905, in the daytime on a voyage from the other side?—A. Hays.

It was at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, October 11, 1905, 240 miles east of Cape Race. The ship was logging twenty-one knots in a heavy following sea. A big wave slapped her on the starboard quarter and beat her down. Before she had recovered herself a second a still greater wave breached her port quarter and swept forward along the steerage deck. Some 200 persons were caught by the water, thirty were so badly injured as to need the care of the surgeon and five, three women and two men, were swept overboard and lost.

What is to become of the Lynn Hospital if more of our wealthy citizens do not remember the institution? Another prominent, wealthy Lynn citizen has died and was thought to be friendly to the Hospital, but no reference was made to the institution in his will.

The Oxford Club has in mind the production of a musical comedy in the Lynn Theatre two evenings next winter.

Give us decent streets and sidewalks.

The Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad.

A correspondent of the REVIEW wants to know if the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad could not be compelled to more desirably serve the public at the State Bath-house station at Revere Beach, where they have the yard covered with a black coal dust?

"As the yard furnishes the most desirable depot accommodations" the correspondent wants to know "if the railroad cannot be compelled to make it a proper place for women to walk, and not compel them to herd themselves in an area covered with what looks to be coal dust?"

If this correspondent or anybody else knows how the Revere Beach Railroad can be compelled to give decent depot, car or other accommodations we should be pleased to receive the information. Cattle, well brought up, would instantly refuse to enter certain of the Revere Beach railroad depots or cars.

What can be expected from a railroad in charge of a lawyer? Heretofore it has been thought necessary for railroad men to run a railroad.

John D. O'Shea, who died under such distressing circumstances in Philadelphia last month, was cast in more than the ordinary mold. He had a strong intellect and those who really knew him got much enjoyment and benefit from his wide range of knowledge. Had Mr. O'Shea possessed the pushing quality which physical conditions prevented he would have been a very able man. A bright and keen intellectuality gave him a splendid ability to puncture humbug, and his keen satire, never applied maliciously, was a supreme delight to hosts of friends.

A man in very much of a hurry the other day remarked that he wanted to go to Boston "the worst way," but that he did not have time to take the journey. A bystander remarked that when he did get time he had best go on the Revere Beach Railroad, and if that did not please him, go by the Saugus Branch.

Charles Felton Pidgin, turned down as the head of the Massachusetts labor bureau, "greatest offence" was not referred to. He dramatised "Peck's Bad Boy."

Worry, hate and unkindness are all forms of fear.

The Escape.

Oh, let us away to the countryside!
Away from the city's scenes of pride—
If pride it be that spurs the race
To toil and toil in maddest pace—
Away from the canons dark and deep,

Where toilers never stop to sleep,
Nor pause to rest nor e'en to think,
But flit like spectres on the brink
Of death and sorrow, care and pain,
All in the mad pursuit of gain!

Gain! Is it gain to fill the purse
With gold attain with a demon curse?
Gain! Is it profit to pile up wealth
Got from an endless chain of stealth?
Gain, when we stop to count the cost
Of gold that's won through a soul that's lost?
Expense of brain, and brawn, and heart!
Conscience shredded and torn apart.
Cast underfoot in the mire and dust
Of the sordid chase of the money lust.

Oh, let us away to the restful scene
Where the air is pure and trees are green;
And men, like birds upon the wing,
Have not forgotten the songs they sing.
Where skies are broad as deeply blue,
And every rill has a story true
To breathe as on its way it flows—
Little romances of wild rose,
And daisy mead and clover dale,
And fox and deer along the trail.

Where every whispering of the breeze
That softly rustles through the trees
Brings health to others, man or elf,
Nor stops to think of gain to self.
Where every bee that hums its way
Through all the work of the summer's day
And every bud, and grassy blade,
That sees its Master's word obeyed,
On mountain height, in lowliest clod,
Tells of the loving hand of God!

—John Kendrick Bangs.

District-Attorney Peters wants a fourth term. We don't blame him—if he can get it. The Meikle case will hurt him in Lynn if he has an opponent with any strength. It was an absurd case to try on the evidence submitted. It is true, however, that Mr. Peters has much developed since taking his present office.

One of the quickest known ways of dispelling headache is to give some of the muscles—those in the legs for instance—a little hard, sharp work to do. The reason is obvious. Muscular exertion flushes the parts engaged in it, and so depletes the brain. When your head aches take a stiff walk or a short bicycle ride.

Just think, Boston borrows $1,500,000 to pay current expenses. This demonstrates how near the rocks the "Modern Athens" is drifting. When an individual borrows money to pay the "butcher, baker and candle-stick maker" they call him bankrupt.

It looks like a warm contest for county commissioner at this end of the district.

Travelling in Abyssinia.

IT is never dangerous for a white man to travel in Abyssinia provided he is accompanied by a native escort, because those who compose such an escort are always trustworthy; but a man takes his life in his hands if he goes abroad alone. Not that the natives are ferocious, but that he could not be sure that one of them had not made a pact with his sweetheart to kill a man of white skin in order to win her for his bride. The native who wins such a distinction wears a white feather in the back of his hair. Among all the 4,000,000 of population and in the entire area equal to New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and New England there are but two white women in Abyssinia. They are the wives of two consular officials. Strange to say, the national game is hockey but Caucasians cannot play it very much because of the climate. The natives work but little and eat raw meat. They kill an elk, peel off the skin as you would peel a banana, drain of the blood and proceed with the feast. Every Abyssinian is a good butcher. To the lover of nature Abyssinia is a paradise. In my journey through the land I saw thousands upon thousands of different species of birds that were beautiful in their plumage and sweet in their songs. Occasionally I heard the faraway roar of lions, those mighty beasts that promenade the forests and seldom molest human beings unless they are attacked. The Abyssinians never use any light at night, no matter where they are, and sit in the dark and converse. Therefore they have good eyes. And they have wonderfully white and even teeth made so by cleaning them with the spreaded end of a small stick.—Consul General Frank Mowrer.

✕

Count Leo Tolstoi believes that religion is a superstition and one quite unnecessary for the best development of many cultured people. He is seventy-nine years of age, his mother died when he was three years of age and his father six years after. He settled among the peasants in 1880, and committed himself to a life of manual labor and extreme simplicity of diet and conduct. In the last twenty years Tolstoi has written about fifty books. He has always stood in strong opposition to the Russian government and when the newspaper men were short of copy they would arrange for Tolstoi to be taken to Siberia or executed.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

EDWIN W. INGALLS

Specialist in Shoe Trade Advertising

Representing ALL American and European Shoe Journals.

333 Union Street, LYNN, MASS.

A six-year-old lass has been housed most of the winter with diphtheria. The ugly card in the front window represented to her imprisoning authority. As soon as she was well, her parents wished to move to another location. So the afternoon of the day that she was first able to return to school, she came home to find another great sign—"For rent"—staring from that front window. The child ran breathlessly to her mother and wailed, with visions of another "durance vile" before her, "O mother, what have I got now?"—Exchange.

Old Home Week

Invitation

Come to the New Jewelry Store

NEW in STOCK
in FURNISHINGS

A real treat to see the All-New Store and stock.

Get your Old Home Week souvenirs here.

*Watches, Clocks
Jewelry, Cut Glass*

Our Optical Department is growing every day, owing to the great pains taken in examining the eyes, and giving the proper glasses required.

J. H. CONNER

Telephone 518-1

81 PEARL ST.

Absolute Safety at Sea.

GREAT SHIPS.

The steamship of the future will be--

Length	1,200 ft.
Breadth	125 ft.
Depth	81 ft.
Draught	40 ft.
Gross Tonnage	67,500 tons
Passenger accommoda- tion	6,700
Engines	170,000 hp.
Speed per hour	35 miles
Cost	$17,000,000

Sea travel, because of great ships and faultless navigation, will be made absolutely safe, predicts J. R. Oldham, a naval architect, writing in the American Marine Engineer. The above figures are his prediction of the popular ocean liner within the next 25 years. The ship will have a double shell throughout, as embodied in the structure of the "Great Eastern."

It is a source of convenience to many Lynn men that they can have barber shop facilities on Monday afternoons. For several years one has not been able to have work done in a Lynn barber shop on Monday afternoon. Of all days in the week this has been the worst from a public point of view, for the barber shops to be closed, because of their not being open on Sunday. The peculiar reasoning which resulted in such a closing down of the shops has not been satisfactorily explained to the public. Finally, however, LaFlam & Devoe, the "antiseptic barbers" at 21 Exchange street, have decided to accommodate the public by keeping open Monday afternoon, and for this common sense action they should be well supported.

Out of a total of 500 Harvard seniors who have already been prevailed upon to whisper in what channel they intend to begin to hold up the world, no less than 170 will choose business. The life of a business man has become more popular at Harvard this year than ever before.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

En Voyage.

Whichever way the wind doth blow,
Some heart is glad to have it so;
Then blow it east, or blow it west,
The wind that blows, that wind is best.
My little craft sails not alone;
A thousand fleets from every zone
Are out upon a thousand seas;
And what for me were favoring breeze
Might dash another with the shock
Of doom upon some hidden rock.
And so I do not dare to pray
For winds to waft me on my way,
But leave it to a Higher Will
To stay or speed me, trusting still
That all is well, and sure that He
Who launched my bark will sail with me
Through storm and calm, and will not fail.
Whatever breezes may prevail,
To land me every peril past,
Within his sheltering heaven at last.
Then, whatsoever wind doth blow,
My heart is glad to have it so;
And blow it east, or blow it west,
The wind that blows, that wind is best.

—Caroline A. Mason.

Stammering arises from a weak nerve in the brain. Strengthen that nerve and the stammering is cured. But it so happens that this particular nerve is never weak in the case of people who are mean, or hard, or utterly selfish. "I do not pretend to say that only stammerers have gentle, sensitive, sympathetic natures, but I do claim that a person who stammers slightly will generally be found to be trustworthy, diffident, kind hearted, and, nine times out of ten, possessed of considerable mental ability."—The Sketch.

A typewriting concern is displaying a very animated ad in one of its Broadway stores, in New York. A shallow glass-case is filled with honey combs, the upper row of combs containing honey. A swarm of bees continually crawl around on the inside of the case carrying honey to empty combs. The bees are busy all the time.

William Stone was an ardent lover of Lynn and its people. He was an energetic, high-minded citizen, and everything that made for Lynn's welfare had his sincere interest. As Superintendent of Pine Grove Cemetery he took much interest in his work and the grounds never looked more beautiful than under his direction. Mr. Stone was helpful and kindly to all with whom he came in contact.

The man who stopped on third base to congratulate himself on the hit he had made never did make a home run. The chances are he got caught napping.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD FIT-
TING SHIRT buy a

"Marshal"

DOWNING — Shirt Maker — LYNN

CITY OF LYNN.

PUBLIC VACCINATION.

Office of the Board of Health.

LYNN, JULY 12, 1907.

Public vaccination will be made at the office of the Board of Health in the basement of City Hall on the following dates: Aug. 2, 8, 15, 22 and 29, from 3.15 to 4 o'clock P. M.

Parents are particularly requested to present their children on the first two days to avoid the crowd of the last few days.

BOARD OF HEALTH,

Gustavus A. Badger, Clerk.

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

The Three Best Selling Books in the United States are:

The Brass Bowl

By LOUISE JOSEPH VANCE

"For a story of absorbing interest lovers of exciting fiction should not fail to read The Brass Bowl." —Albany Evening Journal.

The Port of Missing Men

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

"The mystery piques the curiosity to the very end, the adventure is written with a dash that stirs the blood, and the love story is pretty and fascinating." —Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Mayor's Wife

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

"A ripping good story, brim-full of excitement and interest in every page."

—Buffalo Times.

Each illustrated, 12mo, cloth, $1.50

The BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Publishers

INDIANAPOLIS

Mid-Summer Prices

ON ALL OF OUR GOODS.

Just convince yourself by a call.

Everything in DRAPERIES, MUSLIN CURTAINS, RUGS,
CARPETS, OIL CLOTH, etc.

NEVER TOO BUSY TO SHOW GOODS.

ALBION K. HALL

39 Market Street,

LYNN.

Fine RUGS woven from OLD CARPETING.

Take a POCKET FLASH-LIGHT with you, when you go

ON YOUR VACATION.

You will find it very handy.

Prices 55c and 85c

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS

Gas and Electrical Contractor,

Telephone 469

74 Exchange Street

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

STRAW HATS

AT

CUT PRICES

$7.00 and $8.00 Panamas, Now $5.00

$5.00 Panamas, Now 3.50

$3.00 Sailors and Soft Braids, 2.00

$2.50 " " " " 1.50

$2.00 " " " " 1.25

$1.50 " " " " 1.00

$1.00 " " " " .65

These are all clean fresh goods

Trunks, Suit Cases and Bags

AMOS B. CHASE

123 MUNROE STREET

Moon Changes.

New Moon, August 9
 First Quarter, August 16
 Full Moon, August 23
 Last Quarter, August 30

Destiny.

Caught in the Gulf Stream of some great desire
 Know that thy life-trend rhythms to the mighty flow

And ebb of Life's full ocean. Also know
 Each outreach of thy soul bears deep the seal
 Of cosmic impulse, aeons old. That thing,
 Heart-hungry, every fibre thrills to reach,
 Hath sought thee down the ages, hungering, too;
 In the birth-travail of this, thine ideal,
 Dumb longing of the centuries finding speech.
 Hunger is prophecy. Take heart; and fling
 Doubt and despair forever from thy view.
 Thy longing is the covenant cloud and fire
 Forever faithful 'twixt thy goal and thee.
 Fate follows faith. Desire is—Destiny.

Shoe Industry as an Educator.

The shoe industry is a trade of quality. Men of intellect, taste, integrity, financial ability and far-sightedness are necessary in its captains, and among its workers must be men and women of skill, taste, intellect and education. It is more a trade of quality perhaps than almost any other industry that may be mentioned, for not only do its essentials combine good workmanship and skillful manipulation, but there must accompany this the headwork that produces style, shape, tasteful combination of leathers and other materials, and the turn-out of a constantly-improving and attractive article of apparel.

"My wife simply pelted me with beautiful flowers when I came home from the club last night."

"How nice!"

"Not much. They were all in flower-pots."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

James H. Conner's new jewelry store is most attractive with furnishings all modern and up-to-date. The stock of goods is all new.

The proposed location for the new classical high school building on North Common street is most desirable. It is in the center of the City's population.

THE ANTISEPTIC BARBER SHOP
 NOW OPEN ON MONDAY AFTERNOONS

We now open our shop every day at 7 a. m., closing at 7.30 p. m., except Saturdays, when the hours are from 7 a. m., to 10 p. m.

LA FLAM & DEVOE

The Antiseptic Barber Shop, 21 Exchange St.

BY laying off 1,500 or more employees, the General Electric Co. gave the impression that general prosperity had reached its zenith. Large corporations do not make such a move unless they well consider future conditions, and it must be that the company is of the opinion that we are upon "the other side of the mountain," so far as the general conditions governing production are concerned. There has been such an onslaught upon the railroads and capital generally it is true that people who have money hesitate to risk the same in large business undertakings. When capital does not see desirable conditions in sight: money will not be risked, and in consequence labor suffers.

Lynn is a great sufferer through taxes on personal property not being paid the city. The money has been borrowed with the anticipation of receipts from taxes which have not been collected, and this thoroughly unbusinesslike condition of affairs is very costly to Lynn. When will the time come that municipal affairs may be conducted in the same businesslike manner as private corporations?

The world wants men, large-hearted, manly men
 Men who shall join its chorus, and prolong
 The psalm of labor and the psalm of love.

—Anon.

The acquisition of the Marshall property on North Bend street, as an addition to Pine Grove Cemetery, is most desirable. No time should be lost in making an entrance to the cemetery at North Bend, and thus accommodate a large number of people. There is ample opportunity at this point, as previously referred to in the REVIEW, for the cemetery to arrange a most attractive garden.

"So you wish to leave to get married, Mary? I hope you have given the matter a serious consideration?" "Oh, I have, sir," was the earnest reply. "I have been to two fortune-tellers and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sign book, and dreamed on a lock of his hair, and have been to one of those asterrlogers, and to a meejum, and they all tell me to go ahead, sir. I ain't one to marry reckless like, sir."—Household Words.

The city stables should be re-located on the marsh land near Harbor street, in accordance with Chairman Gay's suggestion.

CITY OF LYNN.

Board of Health Regulation No. 42

No person shall manufacture, sell or offer for sale in the city of Lynn any ice cream or preparation similar thereto, until the place of manufacture of the same, the utensils and receptacles used, and the wagon or other means of carrying the same shall have been examined by an inspector of the board of health. Such inspector, when satisfied as to the cleanliness of all articles used, shall provide said person with his certificate to that effect, and no person shall manufacture or sell such ice cream or similar preparation until such certificate has been issued.

Inspectors shall examine all articles used in the business as often as they may deem necessary, and whenever an inspector shall certify that proper cleanliness is not observed, either in the place of manufacture, in the implements, materials or manner of making ice cream, etc. or in the manner of carrying or selling the same, no further sales of such ice cream shall be allowed until the objectionable features are removed and the inspector so certifies.

Adopted July 10, 1907, by the board of health of the city of Lynn.

Attest,

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

At a recent banquet held in a room, the walls of which were adorned with many beautiful paintings, President Hadley of Yale was called upon to respond to a toast. In the course of his remarks, wishing to pay a compliment to the ladies present, designating the paintings with one of his characteristic gestures, he said, "What need is there of these painted beauties, when we have so many with us at the table!"—Boston Herald.

A man isn't as apt to lie about his age as a woman, but he evens up the score by telling about his salary.—Athenian Globe.

SURF BATHING is all the rage and we have

SUITS, SHOES and CAPS

After the dip use one of our $1.50
SHOWER BATH SPRAYS.

Howe's Rubber Store, 52 Central Sq.

Two Cents a Week

It costs only this to carry
$600 ON YOUR FURNITURE

Why go without?

Robert S. Sission & Son

302-303 Item Building

We sell Coal as Low as the Lowest.

We always carry large stock of FRANKLIN COAL, all sizes.

If you want the best GEORGIA CREEK COAL don't fail to place your order with us.

Masons' supplies delivered at short notice.

Best quality oats and hay that can be found on the market, especially adapted for private stable use.

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Wharves and Office, Sea Street Extension.

Tel. 1094-2 Branch Offices, 305 Union Street,
167 Market Street.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager.

Little Wilhemina—My teacher says our conscience is what tells when we do wrong.

Little Sylvester—Well, I don't care—just so it don't go and tell mamma.—Chicago Daily News.

QUALITY AT THE SODA FOUNTAIN

The prime requisites of high-grade Soda are Cleanliness, Purity and Quality; at our Fountain you will find them all fully exemplified.

We are no less conscientious about the quality of that which we dispense as a beverage, than we are about that which we dispense as a Medicine.

There seems to be a growing demand for the Wilson quality of Soda; not a few having expressed to us, their preference for our soda.

If you want the best, go to

WILSON'S

Reliable Apothecary to the Medical Profession and the sick.

205 Franklin Street.

Standard of Height and Weight.MEN.

5 feet 2 ins.	126 lbs.
5 " 3 "	132 "
5 " 4 "	137 "
5 " 5 "	142 "
5 " 6 "	146 "
5 " 7 "	150 "
5 " 8 "	155 "
5 " 9 "	162 "
5 " 10 "	170 "
5 " 11 "	174 "
6 " 0 "	180 "

WOMEN.

4 feet 10 ins.	98 lbs.
4 " 11 "	102 "
5 " 0 "	105 "
5 " 1 "	110 "
5 " 2 "	114 "
5 " 3 "	121 "
5 " 4 "	128 "
5 " 5 "	135 "
5 " 6 "	139 "
5 " 7 "	145 "
5 " 8 "	152 "

The weight may vary slightly either way.

The waist measure should be two-fifths of the height. For example: The waist measure of a lady 5 feet 5 inches in height should be 26 inches.

The report of Engineer Barbour regarding the changing of grades for the Revere Beach railroad opens up many interesting possibilities. He believes that there should be an exchange of territory between the Revere Beach and Boston & Maine railroads, and by such action being taken many problems, which now look serious, could well be taken care of, with the least expenditure. Mr Barbour's paper is most interesting and should be carefully considered by those bodies which are to decide upon the detail of grade separation.

There is one banker in Lynn who has done more for the business growth and development of Lynn than any fifty other individuals in this city. He has backed on character and ability and in consequence Lynn has wonderfully benefitted.

The various "Symphony Orchestras" announced as playing at summer hotels, indicates that the Symphony Orchestra has a membership of at least five hundred players.

Teeny-Weeny.

Every evening, after tea,
Teeny-Weeny comes to me,
And, astride my willing knee,
Plies his lash and rides away;
Though that palfrey, all too spare,
Finds his burden hard to bear,
Teeny-Weeny doesn't care,—
He commands, and I obey!
First it's trot; and gallop then,—
Now it's back to trot again;
Teeny-Weeny likes it when
He is riding fierce and fast!
Then his dark eyes brighter grow
And his cheeks are all aglow,—
"More!" he cries, and never "Whoa!"
Till the horse breaks down at last!

Oh, the strange and lovely sights
Teeny-Weeny sees of nights,
As he makes those famous flights
On that wondrous horse of his!
Oftentimes, before he knows,
Wearylike his eyelids close,
And, still smiling, off he goes
Where the land of By-low is.
There he sees the folk of fay
Hard at ring-a-rosie play,
And he hears those fairies say,
"Come, let's chase him to and fro!"
But, with a defiant shout,
Teeny puts that host to rout,—
Of this tale I make no doubt,—
Every night he tells it so!

So I feel a tender pride
In my boy who dares to ride
(That fierce horse of his astride)
Off into those misty lands;
And as on my breast he lies,
Dreaming in that wondrous wise,
I caress his folded eyes,—
Pat his dimpled hands.

On a time he went away,
Just a little while to stay,
And I'm not ashamed to say
I was very lonely then:
Life without him was so sad,
You can fancy I was glad
And made merry when I had Teeny-Weeny back again!

So of evenings, after tea,
When he toddles up to me
And goes tugging at my knee,
You should hear his palfrey neigh!
You should hear him prance and shy,
Then, with an exulting cry,
Teeny-Weeny, vaulting high,
Plies his lash and rides away!

—Eugene Field.

What is love? I think the genuine article is wise, unselfish interest in other people's welfare, interest in other lives than my own; it is to be happy in their happiness. If I have but little happiness of my own, this is one way to borrow some,—by being glad in the gladness of others.—Charles G. Ames.

A local paper says:
The Hutchinsons absolutely refuse to talk about the case.
Good!

Only five per cent of the families in the United States have incomes exceeding $3,000 a year.

Up Hill.

Does the road wind up hill all the way?

Yes to the very end.

Will the day's journey take the whole long day?

From morn to night, my friend.

But is there for the night a resting place?

A roof for when the close, dark hours begin?

May not the darkness hide it from my face?

You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?

Those who have gone before.

Then must I knock or call when just in sight?

They will not keep you standing at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel sore and weak?

Of labor you shall find the sum.

Will there be beds for me and all who seek?

Yes; beds for all who come.

—Christina Georgina Rossetti.

The Slick Agent.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the man in the suit of faded black, "but are you carrying all the life insurance you want?"

"Yes sir," answered the man at the desk, "I am."

"Could I interest you in a morocco bound edition of the works of William Makepeace Thackeray?"

"You could not."

"Don't you need a germ-proof filter at your house?"

"I do not."

"Would you invest in a good second-hand typewriter if you could get it cheap?"

"I have no use for a typewriter."

"Just so. Would an offer to supply you with first-class Havana cigars at $10 a hundred appeal to you?"

"Not a cent's worth."

"How would a proposition to sell you a Century dictionary, slightly shelf worn, for only $40, strike you?"

"It wouldn't come within 40 miles of hitting me."

"That being the case," said the caller, "would you be willing to buy a 10-cent box of shoe polish just to get rid of me?"

"Great Scott! Yes."

"Thanks. Good-day."—Selected.

In every walk in life strength comes from effort. It is the habit of self-denial which gives the advantage to the man we call self-made. If he is successful he has learned to resist. He has learned the value of money and he has learned how to refuse to spend it. He has learned the value of time and how to convert it into money, and he has learned to resist all temptations to throw either time or money away. He has learned to say no. To say no at the right time and then stand by it is the first element of success.—David Starr Jordan.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

Japan's Prowess.

THE agitation which is now going on concerning the entry of the Japanese into this country, is likely to result in much information regarding that nation which is not generally known today. When the Russo-Japanese war was in progress, nothing was too good for the Japanese and when the war was over the people of this country at least, were about ready to admit that in war Japan had no superiors and probably few equals. But with the passage of time a good many things are coming to light. It is evident that as a news suppressor Japan never had an equal, but the Japanese surgeons "strung" the medical science of the world by their wonderful tales of the immunity of Japanese soldiers from sickness and their marvelous recovery from wounds, and it is beginning to be understood that Japan made peace when she did, and without an indemnity because she couldn't stand the war business any longer. Her victory at Mukden was less decisive than she had represented, and her losses were far greater than she had acknowledged. The figures now given make a creditable showing in the matter of recoveries from wounds and disease but they are not so phenomenal as the figures given out at the time, and the casualties were so numerous that Japan would not have been able long to maintain her armies in the field, while Russia had still an enormous population to draw on. It is already apparent that had Russia possessed a government which was satisfactory to her people, and the kind of an army which she should have had, the issue of the war would have been just what most people thought it was going to be before war was declared.

Religion gives a man courage. I do not mean the courage that hates, that smites, that kills, but the calm courage that loves and heals and blesses such as smite and hate and kill; the courage that dares resist evil, popular, powerful, anointed evil; yet does it with good, and knows it shall thereby overcome. That is not a common quality. I think it never comes without religion.—Theodore Parker.

"What's your occupation, bub?" asked a visitor at the Capitol of a bright boy whom he met in the corridor. The boy happened to be a page in the White House. "I'm running for Congress, sir," he replied.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Line to the West

BOSTON
and MAINE
RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

*Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
 City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.*

D. J. FLANDERS
 Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
 Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

PEOPLE desiring the Review EVERY month should take notice that they must become subscribers. Fifty cents per year is the subscription price.

When you receive the LYNN REVIEW and you are not a subscriber, it is an invitation to subscribe.

ESTABLISHED 1899

Clothes Pressed, Cleaned and Kept in Order

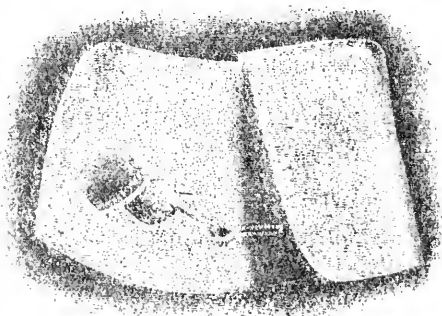

We give you the best service possible for $1.50 per month, $4.00 per three months, and $15.00 for one year. No contracts made for less than six months. This will allow one person three pieces per week. We CLEAN, make small REPAIRS and PRESS under this contract. Our team calls for and delivers your goods in Lynn, Salem, Swampscott and Peabody.

Our DYEING and CLEANSING is as good as can be had at any first-class Dye House.

We have a first-class Repair Shop where we re-line Coats and Vests, put Velvet Collars on Overcoats, and make General Alterations. We would be pleased to have you give us a trial and we are sure we can please you. Telephone 546-2, send a postal and our team will call.

Atlantic Cleansing Company

J. H. H. HARTSHORN, Mgr. 117 BROAD STREET, LYNN

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusable, but with a "hard - to - button" collar the provocation is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-thread Eyelet-End Button-Hole. Do not take the old style straight button-hole.

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

SEPTEMBER, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 11

Security Safe Deposit & Trust Co.

MAIN OFFICE, BERGENGREN BLOCK, CENTRAL SQUARE, LYNN, MASS.
BRANCH OFFICE, 25 MARKET SQUARE, WEST LYNN, MASS.

BENJAMIN F. SPINNEY, PRESIDENT
LUTHER S. JOHNSON—VICE PRESIDENTS—SAMUEL J. HOLLIS
HARRISON P. BURRILL, TREASURER

INTEREST allowed on deposits subject to check. Commercial accounts solicited.

Deposits in Savings Department draw interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum.

Authorized to act as Executor, Administrator or Trustee.

Safe Deposit Boxes to rent in Burglar, Fire and Waterproof Vaults. Prices ranging from $5.00 to $50.00 per year according to size.

Fall Hats Fall Haberdashery

- ☞ The new Fall Blocks are in and await your coming.
- ☞ Correct styles in Stiff and Soft Hats, $2.00, $3.00.
- ☞ We show many exclusive styles in Men's Haberdashery—but no fancy prices are attached.
- ☞ Fall Neckwear, Shirts, etc., now ready.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN

Why Not Burn Gas?

While the number of fires correspond with those of the previous years, the resulting damage is less, due to the increased efficiency of apparatus and alarm system.

The greatest percentage of fire is caused by the use of kerosene oil, principally in stoves.

Why is it some people will continue to use kerosene oil with its dirt, odor, smoke and danger?

Everyone knows it cannot approach gas for clean and dainty cooking!

Certainly it isn't the cost, for gas is the cheapest fuel in use to-day!

It can't be that it's enjoyable work filling and cleaning kerosene oil stoves?

What is it? Can you say?

If you are not yet Gas Stove wise, call in at our demonstrating room, 90 Exchange street, and SEE what we have to offer.

We have COKE to sell

Gas is now only 85 cents per one thousand feet

LYNN GAS & ELECTRIC CO.

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

SEPTEMBER, 1907 NINTH YEAR
No. 11

Lynn's finances will soon need the attention of an expert.

The public schools will open for the fall term, Monday, September 9.

"Promises" continue to be made for tariff revision. How long will the people stand for them?

The Lynn Woods park is not patronized by the public. The park is not attractive, and is not easy of access. In fifty years it will probably be appreciated.

Now we are even with the street department. They had to walk over the streets in the Old Home Week parade, and now they know how it is themselves!

That Summer street pavement was a decided failure, and should not be duplicated. The North Common street and Market street paving jobs are the best ever done in Lynn.

A correspondent asks: "Why not locate the proposed new high school building on the park?" One reason—Because the city does not possess one-half the breathing spaces needed.

In Democratic State politics it looks like a monkey and parrot time at next month's convention. Whitney is likely to be the candidate, but with conditions as they are he cannot hope to defeat Guild.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that Old Home Week, in its immediate effect on local trade, was a "frost". Many retailers have expressed themselves very emphatically that it hindered trade more than it helped it. The people came in to see the sights, and not to trade. After all it was a sentimental idea that governed Old Home Week, and, in reality, business should be lost sight of on such an occasion.

The Future of Lieut. Gov. Draper.

It looks like a "cinch" for Gov. Guild and Lieut. Gov. Draper this year. The Democrats are fairly well divided.

Gov. Guild has made a good administrator, and with such a trained business adviser as Lieut. Gov. Draper he has made a popular record.

Another year, we hope that the state will be so fortunate as to promote the lieutenant governor, who possesses the kind of executive and business ability most needed in the governor's chair.

Massachusetts has fared best at the hands of its "Business Governors," and Eben Draper would rank well with Alexander H. Rice.

A local paper says "Mayor Barney would receive, assisted by Vice President Fairbanks!" Under the circumstances it might have been just as well to use reverse English.

"The building inspector is looking up dark stairways," remarks a local paper. Let him keep up the good work, as very many of the factories have grave danger spots.

In all this talk about Senators Lodge and Crane do not lose sight of this fact: Henry Cabot Lodge is not in politics for what there is in it, has no business interests that are connected with politics, never has been even accused of using his position to serve private interests, and while he may be a Captain somebody has got to be in charge, and he does the work very, very well!

F. A. Barbour, engineer to the state railroad commission, who recently reported to Mayor Barney, made a preliminary study of the possible advantages of relocating the Boston & Maine railroad between Market street and Saugus river and says: "This project must look for its justification in the possibility of a combination of the Boston & Maine problem with that of the abolition of crossings on the Revere Beach railroad and on a broader treatment of the entire grade crossing problem than has as yet been seriously contemplated. Considerably greater expense will unquestionably be entailed, but at the same time certain advantages to the city may be obtained. These possible advantages do not, however, altogether pertain to the scheme of relocation, but rather to the combination of the problems in the abolition of crossings on both railroads."

Come to the NEW Jewelry store

NEW in Stock
in Furnishings

A real treat to see the ALL-NEW store and stock

WATCHES CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CUT GLASS

Our Optical Department is growing
every day, owing to the great pains taken in examining the eyes, and giving the proper glasses required.

J. H. CONNER

Telephone 518-1.

81 Pearl Street

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent $8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL

112 Market Street

LYNN THEATRE

FRANK G. HARRISON :: MANAGER

Opening for the Season

LABOR DAY, SEPTEMBER 2

Five Matinees—Five Nights

Elmer Stock Co.

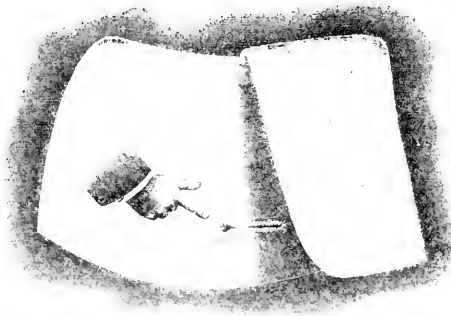

Presenting All New Plays. Popular Prices.

Friday Night, Sept. 6

The Time, The Place, and The Girl

Original New York Cast

The LYNN REVIEW is a small paper, but it pays to advertise in it. When the REVIEW gets into a home it stays there and is thoroughly read, being taken up from day to day by various members of the family. "The best things some times come in the smallest packages."
Napoleon was a little man.

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusa-
ble, but with a
"hard-to-button"
collar the provocation
is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END
BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger
nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears
the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-
thread Eyelet-End
Button-Hole. Do not take the old style
straight button-hole.

Hospital Sunday

Sunday, September 29

Remember the Date

and

Help the Hospital

B. F. Keith deserves the fullest credit for making the vaudeville stage respectable. Parents send children to Keith's theatre without hesitation. It is known that the show has been "edited" to the extent that women and children may witness it with freedom. There is a delightful "atmosphere" in the Keith theatre, and evidence on every hand that high character prevails in the management. During September there will appear at this theatre many of the more prominent and highest salaried leaders in vaudeville, and as usual, it will be made plain that nowhere in the world is vaudeville of a higher class than in Keith's new theatre.

Standing between the seats in Lynn street cars should not be allowed. Standing upon the running board is bad enough, but for a person to stand between the seats is not only an element of danger, but very discomforting to seated passengers. It is a mean way to treat the public, and when people cannot secure seats they should not be allowed to stand in the aisles.

I see that the Boston Nationals did not lose yesterday.

How is that?

They did not play.

The sign, "Welcome Home" over a Boston police station door, Old Home Week, was about the limit for real warm hospitality.

N. W. HODGKINS, D.D.S.

Successor to W. Y. MacGown, D.D.S.

333 UNION STREET

LYNN, MASS.

Hours: 8.30 to 12.00; 1.30 to 5.00

Sea Magic.

There fared one day to my valley,
Where the white gardenias grow,
A sunburned man of the ships that on Great waters come and go;
And he talked with me of the booming trades,
Of the Polestar and the snow.
Alone in the place of perfume,
I was looking out on the sea—
The cloying breath of the waxen bloom
Bore heavily on me,
As I gazed back over the years and sought
To peer into the to be.
Then came the man like the rain-wind
To the earth heat-vexed and dry—
The tang of the sea in his every word,
The blue of the sea in his eye;
And he spake of the rest of the ocean's breast
And the freedom of the sky.
I will go out from my valley,
Where the pale gardenias blow;
The man of the sea has tempted me
And his wonders I would know,
And I yearn for the far horizon line
And the land lights' fading glow.

—H. M. Ayres.

$100,000,000 for New Buildings.

Is the record in San Francisco since the earthquake. The rebuilding has been greatly hindered by the high prices of materials and the exorbitant wages demanded by the various labor unions. Since the earthquake bricklayers have been getting $8 a day, carpenters $6, stone masons $5, concrete workers $6, plasterers $5, lathers $9, plumbers $6, hod carriers $5, and so on. The rates have exceeded the maximum scale in New York by one dollar a day. The labor unions have justified their high wages by the great demand and by the heavy cost of living in San Francisco. But it is a fact that living in San Francisco is cheaper than in New York, and the demand was largely artificial because many of the unions put a prohibitive price on admission. This is what has caused the shortage in supply of lathers and has caused all builders to pay $9 a day to these mechanics, who are not worth more than $4 or $5.

The complainant—I know it was his machine that struck me, your honor; it was No. 666.

The magistrate—But the man says his automobile is numbered 999.

The complainant—Well, I was standing on my head when I saw it. —Brooklyn Eagle.

If that veteran Lynn citizen who was recently acquitted by two alienists on the charge of insanity is not guilty of that malady, he certainly is a victim of brain storms.

THEIR ONE PURPOSE.

AIM OF THE DRAPERS TO MASTER PRACTICAL SIDE OF EVERY UNDERTAKING.
 LIEUT.-GOV. DRAPER A MAN WITH A PRACTICAL TRAINING
 FOR A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS CAREER.

A NOTABLE characteristic of American life is the adaptability of its citizens to share not only the responsibilities in our business development, but the responsibilities of government as well. Some of the strongest men in public life have been men whose lives have been devoted, for the most part, to purely business pursuits, and frequently the most successful man in public affairs is the successful man of business. Lieut. Gov. Draper is of that type of men that often attracts public attention. Emerson, in describing the achievement of a distinguished international character, referred to him as a "modern man," meaning a practical man. This could be applied with equal force to the Lieutenant Governor.

Eben S. Draper is a man of practical ideas. He started out in life with one purpose in view, and that was to master the practical side of every undertaking. He was born in the village of Hopedale (then a part of Milford) in June, 1858, twenty-eight years before Hopedale became a town. There he attended the public schools. At the age of fourteen he attended Allen's school at West Newton to prepare himself to enter the Institute of Technology. After finishing his preparatory course, he spent a year in his father's factory before entering the Institute of Technology. He entered the latter at the age of sixteen. After a two years' course he became satisfied that the technical training of the last part of the course would be of no special benefit in the particular line of business that was to be his life work and at the age of eighteen, he entered the works at Hopedale as any workman to thoroughly master the mechanical part of the business. Thus he laid the foundation for the practical work that was necessary for the expansion and development of cotton mill machinery which has made the Draper Company and the town of Hopedale famous the world over.

At the age of twenty-one, he started out as a salesman for the firm of George Draper & Sons, who were then the selling agents of the different Hopedale concerns. During his first fifteen years as selling agent he became familiar by personal contact and experience with more than ninety per cent of all the cotton mills in the United States, both north and south.

In 1896 the Draper Company was organized by the absorption of the Hopedale Machine Company, Dutcher Temple Co., Hopedale Machine Screw Co. and George Draper & Sons, and while the Lieutenant Governor is a principal stockholder and director of the company, he remains the selling agent of the company and is as actively employed as ever in that important department of the business. When Mr. Draper started on the road for the various companies at Hopedale they were employing some three to five hundred men, while today they employ some three thousand men in the largest plant of the kind in the United States.

While Mr. Draper has been actively interested in the development of the Draper Company, he has been interested as a director or an officer of some fifteen to twenty different cotton manufacturing concerns, and at the present time is a director in banks and trust companies, in boot and shoe manufacturing concerns and in railroads, all of which has given him a wide practical experience in the business world—Milford Journal.

The Song of Faith.

Day will return with a fresher boon;
 God will remember the world;
 Night will come with a newer moon;
 God will remember the world!

Evil is only the slave of Good,
 Sorrow the servant of Joy,
 And the soul is mad that refuses food
 Of the meaneast in God's employ.

The fountain of joy is fed by tears,
 And love is lit by the breath of sighs;
 The deepest griefs and wildest fears
 Have holiest ministries.

Strong grows the oak in the sweeping storm;
 Safely the flowers sleep under the snow,
 And the farmer's hearth is never warm
 Till the cold wind starts to blow.

Day will return with a fresher boon;
 God will remember the world!
 Night will come with a newer moon;
 God will remember the world!

—Josiah Gilbert Holland.

Lynn Water Is Not Clean.

The Lynn water tastes badly. Whether or not it is dangerous to the public health we cannot say, but—the water is unclean. If the public does not believe it they should see the filthy pipes taken from the Boston filters each month. But unclean water is not always impure. Neither is clear and clean water always pure. People who have had bilious sickness by drinking Lynn water have been cured by changing their water. If municipal filtration will cure these conditions we may have to change our mind as to wisdom of a filtration bed.

Contrary to a report in circulation the Nehemiah Lee wood and coal business is in operation as in years past at No. 857 Washington street. This is one of the oldest and most reliable industries of its kind in Lynn. The recent death of Nehemiah Lee did not interfere with a continuance of the business.

“And you saw Muriel?”

“I did.”

“Tell me, is she married?”

“Yes.”

“One question more: Again or yet?”

—Washington Herald.

Be a good listener.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

The Boston and Maine Railroad.

PRESIDENT Tuttle of the Boston & Maine says: “The Boston & Maine Railroad earns about $40,000,000 a year. It spends nearly half of that $40,000,000 every year in the wages of 25,000 or 30,000 employees. It spends all but 5 per cent of that $40,000,000 in the operation of the property, and in the payment of the interest upon its debts; and its stockholders, taking all the risk of loss or failure, or hard times, or ill success, have for their portion of the $40,000,000 about 5 per cent. Is there any merchant who can conduct his business and live upon 5 per cent of the gross that passes through his hands?”

“The $40,000,000 which none of us can understand or appreciate the meaning of—it is easy to say $40,000,000—I will say frankly I don't know what $40,000,000 would look like—I never saw any such sum and never expect to—that $40,000,000 comes through little dribbles from a nickle up to the cost of a carload of freight. It comes from a multitude of sources. It is dealt with by a multitude of some 25,000 or 30,000 employees upon the fidelity of each and every one of whom depend the safety of operation and the comfort of the customers of the railroad.”

“There isn't a business conducted today anywhere in the world that is so largely one of infinitesimals as the railroad business or the transportation business at large.”

Some friends shine out like stars in winter nights,
 And make the very darkness beautiful.

—Robert Beverly Hale.

Charles H. Newhall, who has deeded to the Lynn Hospital corporation a tract of land containing over ten thousand and square feet has only added to scores of kind deeds done for this most deserving institution. Were all of the citizens who are so situated in life that they can render the assistance, aid the hospital in like manner, the institution would be on a sound financial basis.

According to the Bookman the six best books which sold the best in the order of demand last month were: The Lady of the Decoration, The Brass Bowl, The Mayor's Wife, The Port of Missing Men, The Princess Virginia, and New Chronicles of Rebecca.

1929 will be a busy year in Lynn, with the 300th anniversary of the settlement of the city to celebrate.

CITY OF LYNN.

Board of Health Regulation No. 42

No person shall manufacture, sell or offer for sale in the city of Lynn any ice cream or preparation similar thereto, until the place of manufacture of the same, the utensils and receptacles used, and the wagon or other means of carrying the same shall have been examined by an inspector of the board of health. Such inspector, when satisfied as to the cleanliness of all articles used, shall provide said person with his certificate to that effect, and no person shall manufacture or sell such ice cream or similar preparation until such certificate has been issued.

Inspectors shall examine all articles used in the business as often as they may deem necessary, and whenever an inspector shall certify that proper cleanliness is not observed, either in the place of manufacture, in the implements, materials, or manner of making ice cream, etc., or in the manner of carrying or selling the same, no further sales of such ice cream shall be allowed until the objectionable features are removed and the inspector so certifies.

Adopted July 10, 1907, by the Board of Health of the city of Lynn.

Attest:

GUSTAVUS A. BADGER, Clerk.

REAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

ASK US
ABOUT OUR Safety Razor
The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price
JOS. W. HARDING & Co.
32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

This is the most economical period of the year to put in

NEXT WINTER'S COAL SUPPLY

Now being unloaded, clean and without any dust. Coal is

AT THE LOWEST PRICE TO-DAY

— Telephone 568 —

Stevens & Newhall

Sea Street, Lynn

COLONIAL THEATRE

OPENING OF THE SEASON

MONDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 2

LABOR DAY

The Rork Company's Production of

COMING THRO' THE RYE

FRANK LALOR

And an Extraordinary Company of 80 Comedians, Singers and Dancers

All absolutely new scenery, costumes and other effects. Seats ready.

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

ON Easter Sunday a lover of birds, who would stop their wholesale slaughter to decorate the bonnet of women, counted the victims of millinery which he saw in the course of a stroll on Broadway, with the following figures as the result: Four robins, one brown thrush, three bluebirds, one Blackburnian warbler, three blackpoll warblers, three Wilson's black-capped flycatchers, three scarlet tanagers, one white-bellied swallow, one Bohemian waxwing, twenty-three wax-wings, one great northern shrike, one pine grosbeak, fifteen snow buntings, two tree sparrows, one white throated sparrow, one bobolink, two meadow larks, nine Baltimore orioles, five purple grackles, five bluejays, one swallow-tailed flycatcher, one kingbird, one kingfisher, one pileated woodpecker, two red-headed woodpeckers, twenty-one golden-winged woodpeckers, one Arcadian owl, one Carolina dove, one pinnated grouse, two ruffed grouse, sixteen quails, two helmet quails, five sunderlings, one big yellow-leg, one green heron, one Virginia rail, one laughing gull, twenty-one common terns, one black tern, seven grebes. Wouldn't that shake your feathers?—Saturday Evening Herald.

We are beaten back in many a fray,
But newer strength we borrow;
And where the vanguard rests today
The rear shall camp tomorrow.
—Gerald Massey.

It is a good day for this country when the stock gamblers come to grief and I wish I could invent a system whereby both parties to stock gambling would suffer. I am speaking now as a business man and as one who never made a dollar by gambling in stocks and who would as soon make it that way as by playing cards, bridge whist and so on. Wall Street is not America. There are some places outside of Wall Street, even in New York city. The stock gambler is a parasite who feeds on values and creates none. It is time that we should rise and decline to do business with those who make money without giving any value in return for it.—Andrew Carnegie.

Don't go to Boston to have your shirts made to order—get "Downing" to make them.

Save money and trade in Lynn

Coming Home.

Coming back home from vacation,
Weary and sore and lame,
Sporting a rough complexion,
Temper to match the same,
Tired to death of resting,
Glad it is at an end,
Work that was once so hateful
Looks like a long lost friend.

Back to the smoky city,
Back to the dirt and noise,
Leaving behind mosquitoes,
Briers and all such joys;
Back to the same old treadmill,
Back with the same old crew
And, not the least to mention,
Back to our wages too.

Back to some modern cooking,
Back to our homely fare,
Back to some unsoiled napkins,
Back to a meal that's square,
Back from forever viewing
Palms that we have to cross
If we would get attention,
Back to the place we're boss.

Back from our short vacation,
Into the same old grind,
Leaving our rod and tackle,
Also our cash, behind;
Back to our work, but waiting—
Oh, but it gives us cheer?—
Till we can knock off labor
When we depart next year.

Don't get drowned; it is better to be killed on a railroad—that is, it is better for your family. Owing to a peculiar Federal law the liability of a steamship company for a disaster is limited to the value of the wreck. The Joy Line, to which the steamer Larchmont belonged, has filed a petition under this law, setting forth that the wreck has not been located, that the total value of the property recovered from it is only $103.12, and asking that their liability be limited to that amount. That would produce 56 cents for the heirs of each of the 183 persons lost.

There were two Scotchmen sitting over two tumblers. One of them arose earlier than was his custom. He was a little affected by the evening's potations, but he retained much of that famous Scotch caution. His friend was surprised.

"Why, man Sandy," said he, "why are ye goin' awa' at 10 o'clock?"

"I must go," said Sandy. "I hae changed my lodgin's, lately, and I am nae so vera weel acquent wi' the staircase."

Teacher—"Johnny what is a hypocrite?"

Johnny—"A boy wot comes t' school wid a smile on his face."

September.

September stands like Ruth amid the corn,
Clad rosily in beauty of the morn.

Her poppies, with their sparkling dews imeared
Girdle with crimson flame the whole wide world.

Her reddened vines with thousand fingers hold
All of the summer sunlight's living gold.

Her yellow pumpkins, plump and round and fair,
Are strewn like coins of plenty everywhere.

Her choir of echoes in the woodland hush
Sings sweeter than the summer's raptured thrush.

Her leaping brooks, with foaming fleece of white,
Skip like the lambs through meadows of delight.

Her honey bees, where ceaseless nectar rips
Clings close upon the orchard's ruby lips.

Her goldenrod in marsh and field and fell
Outshines the amaranth and asphodel!

—Edward Wilbur Mason.

Mr. Ellis H. Roberts, formerly assistant treasurer of the United States, takes strong ground against the government hoarding so much money. Our revenue tax last year exceeded expenditures by $87,000,000, and Mr. Roberts says this is a monster eating into the earnings and savings of the working people. It exacted from every man, woman and child a dollar last year, which was not needed by the government. Mr. Roberts says that inasmuch as 13 per cent. of our revenue last year, was a surplus in excess of our needs we should check the further increase of the surplus by a flat reduction on all present rates of revenue. In other words Mr. Roberts believes that the tariff should be revised in the interests of the great public. The government surplus is now around $211,000,000, which is quite enough for a rainy day.

The baby-carriage parade was positively the most desirable feature of Old Home Week because it so much interested women and children. It might be well to have judges of such an event residents of Alaska. Whatever their action, it would create censure, but we understand that the judges officiating in Lynn did very well. Possibly the arrangements were as well carried out as could be expected but there was much disappointment from thousands of people who could not see the parade. There was need of better management.

It does not strike one that the Boston fire department is efficient when a sign is noticed in the Scollay Square subway station, that the nearest fire department box is at Pemberton Square. One wonders why they don't locate the box on Boston Common.

Those Uncollected Water Rates.

Those backward water payments were bad business, but not politics, and it is pleasant to note that fact. As a recent observer remarked:—"The list comprised 350 persons or firms, and not over 10 per cent were of men who were ever interested in politics or even remotely connected with affairs political. The majority were citizens who owed small amounts, usually a year's water tax and were given time as a fair business house would give where they thought the customer was doing all he could and would straighten things out when opportunity afforded. A few were business houses and large real estate holders who annually pay considerable sums into the city treasury, but in one particular year passed the day fixed for payment for water. All the 90 per cent included in the list which Mr. Ward is pleased to term as comprising those with political pull will resent being made marks of to advance anyone's aspiration for office and the sober-minded citizen will agree with them that it is pretty small business to hold up to the public gaze 350 citizens who have the reputation of fair dealing simply because they did not pay up in the specified time."

Our life is but a winter's day—
Some only breakfast and away;
Others to dinner stay, and are full fed;
The oldest man but sups and goes to bed.
Large is his debt who lingers out the day;
Who goes the soonest has the least to pay.

The Massachusetts state board of fish and game commissioners said in a recent report: "The outcome, the commercial extinction of the lobster, is as sure to result as day is to follow night. In 13 years there has been a decrease of more than 66 per cent in the catch of lobsters."

A Lynn pastor had to ask it as a favor that a parrot belching forth from a lodging house next door be removed, as his parrotship persisted in remarking very boldly, and reiterating: "That is a d—d lie!"

Truth compels us to state that both the electric and shoe business are duller in Lynn than any period during the past two years. The shoe business, however, is improving, and fall shipments should be heavy this month.

THE CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL LOCATION.

IS the city council committee entrusted with looking up a lot of land for the new classical high school building fully aware what it is about?

Should not the building be located on a more retired (yet central) lot than the one suggested on North Common street?

Will not the North Common street lot be prohibitive, when the cost is considered?

Should not land owners be asked for their figures? Is it business to go ahead in a contrary manner?

These and other queries are suggested for the consideration of the city council. The noisy common, with its growing traffic, is seriously objected to as a location for a high school building. It should be remote from the great line of traffic. One person claims $70,000 for a long established business to be ruined by the proposed taking. The city had best use great care before going ahead in this matter.

As we remarked last month, "the proposed location is desirable by reason of being in the center of Lynn's population," but that seems to be the only point in its favor.

It now looks as if the great cost of the area would make it prohibitive. If the city blindly goes ahead, without making a trade with the land owners, we opine that the municipality will be fearfully mulcted.

An argument presented against the North Common street lot is that it adjoins the Cobbet School grounds. It is stated that the noise made by several hundred school children at recess would somewhat interfere with the classical high school work. This is a point to be considered in locating the school.

The one great point in favor of the high school building at Highland Square was its very central location and immunity from the noise of traffic.

Better go slowly.

A correspondent of the Item recently made some good points, and among other things said: "I think that it would be a serious mistake to build the house on the Sheldon, Goodwin, Heffernan lot, with the land between the Library and the schoolhouse occupied as it now is with the probability of its being built over with flats cutting off the view of the Library from the west, and of the school building except in front. The effect would be obscuring the buildings, one from the east, the other from the west. I have always thought that it was a mistake building the Library in its present location. If it had been built between the City Hall and the Methodist Church the City Hall would not have been put in the back-ground and we should have had a very fine group of buildings, while as now located the effect is lost, and if the owners of the Sheldon, Goodwin and Heffernan lots are to be paid the actual value of their lots, the cost of the land adjoining the library lot will be less than the cost of the first named lot. The Goodwin lot is especially valuable for the purpose for which it is now used, being so centrally located that it is a greenhouse and salesroom combined, saving the transportation of the flowers from the greenhouse to the store, attendants in the store and the rent, these three items costing some florists nearly $2000 a year. With these matters in view I think that the City Council should move very cautiously, finding all the conditions under which the property is held, and the questions which may arise in the settlement with the owners of the property."

Mother Love.

If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

If I were drowned in the deepest sea,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!
I know whose tears would come down to me,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

If I were cursed of body and soul,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!
I know whose prayer would make me whole,
Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

—Rudyard Kipling.

We believe that obedience to duty is the way of life, and no one can do wrong without suffering. We believe in truthfulness, honesty of conduct, integrity of character, wise and generous giving, purity of thought and life. We believe that no real harm can befall the righteous in life or death.—Rev. C. F. Dole.

There should be an annual shoe exhibition in Lynn in June, when the buyers are most largely in this vicinity.

The chestnut came from Italy.
The onion originated in Egypt.

Start the OYSTER SEASON Right To-Day

OYSTERS come into general favor, SUNDAY, September 1st. Have you made your plans as to where you are going to buy yours?

We want to supply you. We are better equipped than ever—better even, perhaps, than you think. Why don't you try our OYSTERS and see how good they are?

SMALL OYSTERS TO STEW, SCALLOP OR FANCY ROAST.

MEDIUM OYSTERS, if you wish a little larger size at a slight increase in cost.

LARGE, FANCY OYSTERS for those who prefer the best.

Opened to order from the shell for serving on the half-shell, for invalids or fancy dishes of highest quality goods.

To secure good results in cooking, you must have the best ingredients—buy OUR OYSTERS, and you need not worry over results—it's easy to cook them right. Better order some TO-DAY—we guarantee the quality, and we know they'll please you.

WILLIAMS BROS.

LYNN'S LEADING FISH DEALERS

213-217 Union Street ONLY ONE STORE

PHONES 28 and 29

De Massa Ob De Sheepfol'.

De massa ob de sheepfol',
Dat guards de sheepfol' bin,
Look out in de gloomerin' meadows,
Wha'r de long night rain begin—
So he call to de hirelin' shepa'd;
"Is my sheep, is dey all come in?"

Oh den, says de hirelin' shepa'd:
"Dey's some, dey's black and thin,
And some, dey's po' ol' wedda's
But de res', dey's all brung in,
But de res', dey's all brung in."

Den de massa ob de sheepfol',
Dat guards the sheepfol' bin,
Goes down in de gloomerin' meadows,
Wha'r de long night rain begin—
So he le' down de ba's ob de sheepfol',
Callin' sof', "Come in, Come in,"
Callin' sof', "Come in, Come in."

Den up t'ro' de gloomerin' meadows,
T'ro' de col' night rain and win',
And up t'ro' de gloomerin' rain-paf',
Wha'r de sleet fa'pie' cin' thin
De po' los' sheep ob de sheepfol'
Dey all comes gadderin' in,
De po' los' sheep ob de sheepfol',
Dey all comes gadderin' in.

—Sally Pratt McLean.

"I always hate to tell a story," said a well known actor at a banquet, "because my listeners may have heard it before. What boredom that is for them, what agony for me! It is like the case of a friend of mine. He is deaf, but tries to conceal his deafness. One night at a dinner the host told a story at which everybody roared, and my deaf friend joined in and outroared the whole table, though in truth he hadn't heard a word.

"At the end of the laughter he held up his hand as a sign he wanted to speak.

"That story," he began, "reminds me of another—"

"And then the poor fellow went on and told the very same yarn the host had repeated only a minute before."—Tit Bits.

Be generous.

Fall Renovating Time

IS ABOUT HERE AND YOU WILL WANT
NEW THINGS FOR WINTER.

DON'T FORGET to visit us and look over our line of Rugs, Oil Cloth, Linoleums, Curtains, Draperies, Sofa Pillows, and when you want your Carpets cleansed in fine shape drop us a line or telephone. Work done quickly and reasonably.

ALBION K. HALL

39 Market Street.

RUGS MADE FROM OLD CARPETING.

THE POPULAR DRUG STORE

WE carry everything in Drugs, Chemicals, Medicines, Toilet Goods and Perfumes. The foreign and domestic markets are ransacked to procure only the best products for our patrons.

Imported and Domestic Perfumes—Hair
Tonics—Skin Foods—Toilet Soaps—Cold
Creams—Face Powders—Brushes—Proprietary Medicines—Bath Luxuries—Toilet Goods—Dentrifices—Drugs—Medicines.

ATTRACTIVE LINE OF

BOX CONFECTIONERY

Visit our store. You receive Superior Goods with Superior Service.

James B. Small, Ph.G.

APOTHECARY

Essex Street and Central Avenue, Lynn

Henri Heine's wife was a woman of extreme beauty, but of low descent and no education, and frequently irritated the poet to exasperation by violent scenes. He was challenged one day to a duel, and on the evening before wrote out his will as follows: "I herewith bequeath everything I possess to Mathilde, my wife, on condition that she marry again. I would like to think that there will be at least one man who will regret me." But although she did become a widow, she never married again, surviving him for twenty-seven years.—The Bellman.

There is much satisfaction in the westerly section of the city by the election of Frank E. Davis as a public library trustee. Mr. Davis has always taken an intelligent interest in municipal affairs, and the advancement and development of the public library is a work which will secure his earnest and active endeavor.

A teacher was explaining to a little girl how the trees develop their foliage in the springtime. "Ah, yes," said the little miss, "I understand: they keep their summer clothes in their trunks!"
—Will Carlton's Magazine.

City of Lynn. School Department.

OPENING OF SCHOOLS.

The public schools of Lynn will open Monday, Sept. 9th. The Morning Session of all GRADE SCHOOLS begins at 8.45 o'clock. All HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS, except those of the entering class, will report at 8 o'clock.

Pupils of the ENTERING CLASS will report at the High School building at 11 o'clock.

Only vaccinated children over five years of age are admitted to the public schools. Those who cannot read are admitted only during the first three weeks.

FRANK J. PEASLEE,
Supt. of Schools.

EDWIN W. INGALLS Specialist in Shoe Trade Advertising

Representing ALL American and European Shoe Journals.

333 Union Street, LYNN, MASS.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

Opening Labor Day Matinee Fascinating Flora

Comes Here Direct from One of the Most Successful New York Runs the Casino has Ever Known, with the Same Big Cast of Players and Entire Production as Presented for Five Months in New York.

ADELE RITCHIE

Edw. M. Favor Jas. E. Sullivan Ada Lewis
Harry Davenport Sam Edwards
Phyllis Rankin Sadie Jansell and Those Stunning Casino Girls.

"Ah, darling," remarked Newed, "I see you have prepared some pudding with your own little hands. What kind is it, pet?"

"T-that," sobbed Mrs. Newed, "is b-bread."—Chicago Daily News.

Railroad Thieves, Beware!

Aroused by the wholesale thefts of copper wire and rail bondings, that have taken place recently in various parts of their systems, the management of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street Ry. Co's. have taken steps of the most vigorous character to put a stop to it. Detectives and local police are busy everywhere that this has been going on.

Seven arrests have already been made and the men arraigned on larceny charges in the Brockton and Taunton District courts and their cases are now pending. It is expected that more will follow and it is stated by the management that they will be prosecuted to the fullest possible extent.

In many instances, the rail bondings have been torn right from the tracks which has caused a great impairment in the service, as well as the financial loss. This is considered a crime, not only against the company, but against the travelling public and calls for the most energetic action.

Over 2500 pounds of the valuable metal have already been unearthed in various junk shops and the detectives and local police who are busy on the cases believe that gangs have been committing these depredations in various parts of the systems. The entire theft has been carried on in a wholesale manner and the amount of copper recovered is but a small part of what is missing.

A young student lately presented himself for examination, and ignominiously failed. To his family, anxious to hear of his success, he telegraphed thus: "Examinations splendid, professors enthusiastic. They wish for a second in October."—Tit-Bits.

When it is anything which calls for

Plumbing and Heating the House

let us know. We can give you prompt and
up-to-date service at reasonable prices.

When you have heat-
ing or plumbing under consideration let us
give you a figure on
the work.

J. F. MORGAN & SON

66 Munroe St. Tel. 535-4

A Progressive Lynn Institution.

THE Central National Bank, located at Central avenue, Willow and Blake streets, is among the sound financial institutions of our city as well as the oldest bank in Lynn now operating under a government charter, and has shown in the last decade a phenomenal growth in those things pertaining to success.

During this time its deposits have increased from about $250,000 to upwards of $1,200,000, a gain of over 300 per cent. Its loan account has shown a corresponding increase, while its working force has been doubled.

To meet these new conditions, and to guard the bank against the dangers of burglary, which have greatly increased in the last few years, the bank is now installing a modern up-to-date chest, containing all the new appliances now in use to make such a safe absolutely impregnable. This chest weighs about eight tons, is of the Damon make, and stands six feet high. The door is four inches thick and the surrounding walls of the safe are three inches thick. To lock the safe is a train of heavy round steel bolts, working toward a common centre, being checked by two Sargent four-wheel bank locks, either of which will permit the safe to be opened so as to avoid a possible lockout. The bolt frames holding this large train of bolts are bound to the door with steel conical bolts and nuts in the most secure fashion. Inside for convenience are three large boxes with separate locks for the use of the tellers. The finish is gun-metal paint and the bolt frames are polished and nicked. Altogether it is a worthy representative of modern methods as applied to burglar-proof construction, giving a maximum of strength at all points.

The officers of the bank are: Henry B. Sprague, president; Charles H. Newhall, vice-president; Warren M. Breed, cashier, and Louis H. Attwill, assistant cashier; the board of directors consisting of President Sprague, Vice-President Newhall, Joseph B. Breed, B. P. Chick, Melville L. Cobb, John H. Cross, James S. Newhall, Thomas A. Kelley, Charles E. Rolfe, Henry F. Tapley and Johnson L. Walker.

The bank is a depository of the United States government, and its latest published report showed total assets above $1,700,000.

A Literary Curiosity.

The following remarkable composition evinces an ingenuity of arrangement peculiarly its own. Explanation: The initial capitals spell "My boast is in the glorious cross of Christ." The words in bold-face type, when read from top to bottom and bottom to top, forms the Lord's Prayer complete:

Make known the Gospel Truths, our Father king,
Yield up Thy grace, dear Father, from above,
Bless us with hearts which feelingly can sing,
"Our life Thou art for-ever, God of love."
Assuage our grief in love for Christ we pray,
Since the bright Prince of Heaven and glory
died,

Took all our sins and hallowed the display, Infant be-ing, first a man, and then was crucified.

Stupendous God! Thy grace and power make known;

In Jesus's name let all the world rejoice.
Now labor in Thy Heavenly kingdom own—
That blessed kingdom for Thy saints the choice.

How vile to come to Thee is all our cry,
Enemies of Thy-self and all that's Thine:
Graceless our will we live for vanity,

Loathing Thy be-ing, evil in design,
O God, Thy will be done, from earth to heaven;
Reclining on the Gospel let us live,

In earth from sin deliver-ed and forgiven,
Oh! as Thyself but teach us to forgive,
Unless it-s power temptation doth destroy,

Sure is our fall into the depths o' woe,
Carnal in mind, we've not a glimpse of joy:
Raised against Heaven, in us no hope can flow.

Oh, give us grace and lead us in Thy way;
Shine on us with Thy love and give us peace;
Self and this sin that rise against us slay.

Oh, grant each day our trespass-es may cease;
Forgive our evil deeds that oft we do,
Convince us daily of them to our shame;

Help us with Heavenly bread, forgive us, too,
Recurrent lusts and we-ll adore Thy name.
In Thy forgive-ness we as saints can die,

Since for us and our trespasses so high,
Thy Son, our Saviour, bled on Calvary.

Hannibal Hamlin once won a case, suing the city of Bangor for $1,000 for an Englishman who had stepped in a hole on the sidewalk and broken his leg. The city appealed to the Supreme Court with the same decision. After settling the claim, Hamlin sent for his client and gave him $1. "What's this?" asked the Englishman. "That's your damages after taking out my fee, the cost of appeal, and other expenses." The Englishman looked at the dollar and then at Hamlin. "What's the matter with this?" he said. "Is it bad?"

"Why, Mary," said her mistress, "I told you to tidy up my room an hour ago and here it is in terrible disorder."

"Yes mum, and I did," said Mary, "but the master came in to put on a clean collar, mum, and he lost the stud."—London Tatler.

The "Lid" is off in Lynn especially that
"Straw Lid."

Autumn Styles

the best ever, now ready

Sole Agent for Dunlap Hats.

Silk, Opera and Coachman's Hats.

AMOS B. CHASE

123 Munroe Street

Bring in Fur Repairs Early

TREMONT THEATRE

Klaw & Erlanger, Lessees. John B. Schoeffel, Mgr.

Watch Your Vaudeville Improve.

The Brilliant Opening is MONDAY, SEPT. 2

KLAW and ERLANGER'S ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE

Every Act a Special Feature.
Real Metropolitan Vaudeville for the First Time in Boston.

*PRESENTING THE MOST PRETENTIOUS
SERIES OF COMPOSITE BILLS EVER SEEN IN THE HISTORY OF THE STAGE*

We sell Coal as Low as the Lowest.

We always carry large stock of FRANKLIN COAL, all sizes.

If you want the best GEORGIA CREEK COAL don't fail to place your order with us.

Masons' supplies delivered at short notice.

Best quality oats and hay that can be found on the market, especially adapted for private stable use.

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Wharves and Office, Sea Street Extension.

Tel. 1094-2 Branch Offices, 305 Union Street,
167 Market Street.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager.

Housekeepers' Accounts

There is much talk about business women in these days, but women have always been in business and have conducted the largest business in the country, that of housekeeping. More than that, in their housekeeping transactions, women are counted among the shrewdest of business men.

Being in business, why should they not have bank accounts, place their money in safe keeping, and draw their checks the same as business men?

We especially invite housekeepers to employ the facilities of this bank. The number of our women depositors is constantly increasing, and they find their relations with this bank very pleasant and agreeable.

Manufacturers National Bank

Resources $1,497,526.40. Capital and Surplus $207,000.

BENJ. W. CURRIER,
President

WM. B. LITTLEFIELD,
Vice President

CLIFTON COLBURN,
Cashier

BENJAMIN W. CURRIER,
WILLIAM LACROIX,
FRED E. BAKER,
CHARLES ORRIN BREED,
P. J. HARNEY,
GEORGE A. BREED,
GEORGE H. ALLEN,
FRANK HILLIARD,

FRANK J. FAULKNER,
ARTHUR G. WALTON,
CLIFTON COLBURN,
W. B. LITTLEFIELD,
A. JUS JOHNSON,
W. M. LIBBEY,
GEORGE H. PLUMMER,

J. T. LENNOX,
W. H. NILES,
JOSEPH M. HOYT,
WARREN S. HIXON,
JOSEPH W. HARDING,
EDWARD W. LACROIX,
EDWIN C. LEWIS.

Moon Changes.

New Moon, September 7.
First Quarter, September 14.
Full Moon, September 21.
Last Quarter, September 29.

"Plundering The Unfortunate."

There are reputable men conducting a credit business on an honest plan—that I know because I have traded with some of them, and know that they allow a discount for cash. There are also men plundering the unfortunate by tricky methods of weekly and monthly payments. The law does not uphold such acts, and if those given to them were brought up sharply honesty would become more general. A reasonable profit is all honest dealers expect, and that can be secured by using people in a decent, straightforward fashion, for everybody expects to allow that.—Boston Traveller.

'Tis the same in Lynn. So-called "credit houses" are allowed to plunder the public, and to kill legitimate business.

Oh, the rain and the sun, and the sun and the rain!
When the tempest is done, then the sunshine again;
And in rapture we'll ride through the stormiest gales,
For God's hand's on the helm, and his breath in the sails,
Then murmur no more,
In lull or in roar,
But smile and be brave till the voyage is o'er.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

A young lady, nursing and talking to a pet dog on an electric car, had asked the conductor to stop at a certain point. When he did so, she went to the platform, and there stood gesticulating with the dog on her arm. "Hurry up, miss, hurry up!" "You want to get out here, don't you?" "Oh, dear, no thank you! I only wished to show Fido where her mother lives."

In Huntingburg, Ind., Mrs. August Henke, wife of a farmer, presented her husband with triplets, making five births in thirteen months. Twins were born to Mrs. Henke a little over a year ago and both are living. The three born recently are all well developed and hearty.

He (after introduction)—Allow me to inform you that I am the last of the great family of the Van Siltons.

She (thoughtlessly)—Delighted to hear it, I'm sure.—Tales from Le Roire.

You May Think

YOU have saved money by buying cheap Water Bottles, Syringes, Rubbers, etc., but when they go to pieces you find you made a mistake. Why not buy the reliable kind, sold at Howe's Rubber Store, 52 Central Sq.

At No Season of the Year is there more occasion for consideration of House Furnishings than in the Fall.

Then it is that the housekeeper is preparing for the long Fall and Winter months, when one secures the most benefit from the home.

With our line of Furniture, Carpets, Wall Papers, Window Curtains, etc., we can do much at a reasonable figure toward making your home attractive during the long Fall and Winter months. If there are rooms to paper, new carpets to be secured, or anything desired in Draperies, Furniture, Window Curtains, etc., let us give you an estimate. Carpets taken up and cleaned.

Telephone 819-1

W. B. GIFFORD

97-99 MARKET STREET

Greatest Gift of All.

An angel came to me one day and said:
"Choose and thou must, what thou wouldst have instead

Of things now granted; if thy choice shouldst be
What wouldst thou have for all eternity?"

Prone fell I on my face in greatest fear.
The angel raised me with a gentle hand.
"Long have I known the struggles of thy soul,
What thou hast longed for, and I understand."

Thus couraged by his voice I humbly said:
"Tis not for riches nor for power I crave
Nor worldly fame nor social prestige great;
All these must end—are no more at the grave.

"But this I ask and crave for, O my king—
It is the power which rules the worlds above
And compasseth all else." "I know, and grant it," Soft the angel said. "The greatest gift—'tis love."

—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

P. T. Barnum was in the habit of having his press agent invent many stories. At one time one of the fairy tales was about the Bishop of London, whom he met at some public function when the following dialogue was supposed to have taken place:

"Well, good-by, Mr. Barnum, I hope I'll see you in Heaven," said the reverend gentlemen.

"You will if you are there," replied the veteran showman.

A New Peril.

PSYCHOLOGY is being badly overworked in these days. In the sphere of education it has become ridiculous, and in the sphere of criminal law it is now becoming perilous. This thought is suggested by the appearance of Professor Hugo Munsterberg as a "psychological expert" in the Haywood trial at Boise City.

The astonishing testimony of Thomas Hogan alias Harry Orchard naturally made one doubt whether such a tale could possibly be true. But, of course, the only sane and sensible way of testing its truth lay in the comparison of it with the other testimony given in the trial.

Professor Munsterberg, however, was called in to determine the veracity of Orchard by psychological formulas and psychopathic lore. Had the case not been so shocking the professor's methods would have had a purely comic aspect. He did not hear Orchard give his testimony. He conferred only with persons engaged in the prosecution. He saw the prisoner for only a short time. Then he went off and wrote a sort of horoscopic screed to the effect that Orchard was undoubtedly telling the exact truth.

Such, to be sure, is the opinion of a great many others; but their belief will not be strengthened by anything that Professor Munsterberg can say about the lobes of Orchard's ears. Here comes in the peril. Already the swift and orderly course of criminal justice has been grievously impeded by hand-writing experts and insanity experts and chemical experts.

If to this tribe there are now to be added psychological experts, it is not likely any one will ever be convicted of anything or that any important trial will ever be concluded. When it comes to passing on the testimony of witnesses by the methods of Lombroso, most persons will consider that this sort of thing is going too far.

Then will come a reaction, so that, after the old English fashion, twelve good men and true in a jury box and a judge who knows the law and is not afraid of the lawyers will try cases on the basis of common sense. If this should really happen, it may be that, after all, Professor Munsterberg's somewhat undignified excursion into the field of criminology will not prove to have been ultimately unprofitable.—The Bookman.

The Shut-Eye Train.

Come, my little one, with me!
There are wondrous sights to see
As the evening shadows fall;
In your pretty cap and gown,
Don't detain
The Shut-Eye train—
"Ting-a-ling!" the bell it goeth,
"Toot-toot!" the whistle bloweth,
And we hear the warning call:
"All aboard for Shut-Eye Town!"
Over hill and over plain
Soon will speed the Shut-Eye train!
Through the blue where bloom the stars
And the Mother Moon looks down
We'll away
To land of Fay—
Oh, the sights that we shall see there!
Come, my little one, with me there—
'Tis a goodly train of cars—
All aboard for Shut-Eye Town!
Swifter than a wild bird's flight,
Through the realms of fleecy light
We shall speed and speed away!
Let the Night in envy frown—
What care we
How wroth she be!
To the Balow-land above us,
To the Balow folk who love us,
Let us hasten while we may—
All aboard for Shut-Eye Town!
Shut-Eye Town is passing fair—
Golden dreams await us there;
We shall dream those dreams, my dear,
Till the Mother Moon goes down—
See unfold
Delights untold!
And in those mysterious places
We shall see beloved faces
And beloved voices hear
In the grace of Shut-Eye Town.
Heavy are your eyes, my sweet,
Weary are your little feet—
Nestle closer up to me
In your pretty cap and gown;
Don't detain
The Shut-Eye train!
"Ting-a-ling!" the bell it goeth,
"Toot-toot!" the whistle bloweth
Oh, the sights that we shall see!
All aboard for Shut-Eye Town!

—Eugene Field.

Thomas Campbell 2d, as president of the public water board, should be a success. A long business experience well fits him for the position.

The Lady of the Decoration

THE STORY OF ITS SUCCESS

reads like a bit of fiction. The Century Co. issued it in April, 1906, and the sale during the first month was only 800 copies. It moved slowly for six months, but in November, 1906, it took a start, and in December three editions were needed to supply the demand. Within a year of issue eleven printings were needed, and the fifteenth is now selling, the sixteenth is on press. THE BOOK TELLS the absorbing story of a young woman's life in a series of remarkably clever letters. Through it all runs a tender love story. There is a "Jack" at home, and while "the lady" tries not to think of him, yet it is evident that he is uppermost in her thoughts. "It's all right to love humanity," she reflects sometimes, "but I was born a specialist." At all booksellers.

THE CENTURY CO. Union Square NEW YORK

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

GREEN & SON

PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
30 Market Street

The Auditorium

Opening Season 1907-8

Commencing Labor Day Week SEPT. 2

Direct from All Summer Engagement, New York
Roof Gardens

Gus Edwards Rubes

In a Musical Comedy.

Ryan and White, Novelty and Dancing Comedians.
Drury Lane Opera Trio, "A Forced Rehearsal."
Alf-Grant and Hoag-Ethel, In a Merry-Go-Round.
Chas. B. Carter, Gussie Taylor and Company, Original Comedy Sketch, "At Camp Rest."
Willie Weston, Character and Parody Singing Comedian.

Lambert's Auction Rooms

151 OXFORD STREET

Cash paid for Second-Hand Furniture and
Books of all kinds

Send postal and our buyer will call

The Line to the West

BOSTON
and MAINE
RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

DISTINCTIVE PRINTING

P RINTING that will attract attention and put the customer's advertising literature in a class by itself—printing that contains originality in conception and the highest degree of excellence in execution—this is the quality of distinctive printing which characterizes the work of

The Merrill-Hancock Press
of Lynn

The LYNN REVIEW

By EDWIN W. INGALLS

50 cents per Year
Single Copies 5 cents

OCTOBER, 1907

Ninth Year
No. 12

BURROWS & SANBORN

DEPARTMENT STORE

UNION AND SILSBEE STREETS

Fall and Winter Fashions

THE new merchandise exhibits, complete to every detail, will be ready between the 10th and 20th of this month. The date of our Formal Opening will be announced later in the daily papers.

Watch for the Opening Announcement

Boys' Wearables

☞ We are headquarters for everything in the line of Boys' Wearables. Whether you want a Suit of Clothes, Top Coat, Overcoat or a pair of Odd Trousers, Collars, Caps, Sweaters, etc., for your boy, we are at your service.

☞ Everything for the boy except shoes.

Alfred Cross & Co.
21-23 Market St.
LYNN.

Geo. C. Melville & Co.

For FALL and WINTER

We have the LATEST

Fancy Evening Gowns
Tailored Street Suits, Silk and Cloth Coats Separate Skirts, Waists and
Silk Petticoats

The most exclusive styles east of Boston

Lynn Gas & Electric Company

To Users of Prepayment Meters
(Quarter Meters, So Called)

¶Owing to the large number of these meters being broken into in the past, we have uniformed all our men who make collections or attend to Prepayment Meters, for protection to the users of the same.

¶In addition to being uniformed, all men are provided with credentials from the Company.

¶Remember, we assume no responsibility, holding all users of P. P. Meters responsible for damage, tampering or theft, etc.

¶Parties desiring to use P. P. Meters must sign contract at the office before using the same.

(Have you seen the Gas Water Still and the Electric Washing Machine?)

The Lynn Review

A MONTHLY EPITOME OF
LYNN AFFAIRS

PUBLISHED BY

Edwin W. Ingalls, 333 Union Street, Lynn

Five cents per copy. Fifty cents per year.
Telephone Lynn 1026.

OCTOBER, 1907

NINTH YEAR
No. 12

Separate the grades.

There is plenty of prosperity, but not much confidence.

It is costing about $200,000 per year to run the Lynn public schools.

We do not blame the residents of Lynnfield for wanting better street car service to Lynn.

Systematic and prompt work should be done in connection with the development of Lynn's harbor front.

They talk about a "busier Lynn." It needs to be in some directions. You cannot get a trunk transferred on Sundays, except at double price, as the regular baggage transfer does not work.

The Boston & Eastern Railroad fell down exactly where we predicted—on the absurd proposition to dump passengers at Sullivan Square, Charlestown. Too silly for grown-ups to think of for one moment.

Medical inspection in the public schools should be more thorough. Mr. George H. Martin of the State Board of Education, recently in attendance upon the European Educational Congress, stated that Japan and Sweden lead the world in medical inspection of schools.

Typhoid fever is beginning to rage in this city, and as usual the board of health officials attribute the cause to milk. Probably no one article in the diet causes more trouble than milk, and there should the utmost scrutiny given to the Lynn milk supply. One of the best articles to omit in anybody's diet is milk, especially when they are not certain of the conditions surrounding its distribution.

Lieutenant-Governor Draper will secure a much larger vote in this vicinity than one year ago. Many commendatory words are heard concerning Mr. Draper. His broad-gauge business principles are just what is needed in public life today. Lawyers are all right, and very necessary, in public place, but more trained business men are absolutely necessary. In past years Massachusetts has had fine service from its "Business Men" Governors, and we hope that the great ability of Lieut. Gov. Draper will be recognized by his being promoted to first place.

Certainly people traveling through Myrtle street where they use the roadway, have a rough road to travel. There may be something like it this side of the Klondike, but it would be difficult to locate. It would be a service to the horses if they were requested to keep off Myrtle street.

It really seems as if the city fathers had lost their heads completely when they are considering certain municipal questions, and if they are not certain that they have lost their most important appendage, the voters should make it a certainty at the next election, and try, through organized effort, to secure men of sufficient caliber and strength to meet municipal questions and settle them upon a rational business basis.

Before you are through looking for wretched thoroughfares in Lynn just take a peep at Alley street. As a correspondent of a local paper says:—"One of the worst, if not the worst in Lynn." The News recently remarked: "Alley street is one of the examples of the present methods of doing business. Everybody will agree that for traffic purposes this street is quite an important thoroughfare, and the need of thorough and permanent repairs was last year recognized by the city government. Work was started and upon one side of the car tracks pavement was laid. Then it suddenly ceased, and the street department transferred its energies to a location in another part of the city. As a result Alley street presents a most ridiculous appearance. The unimproved side is in such poor condition that it ought to be fenced in and danger signals put out."

GROVER'S

SOFT SHOES for TENDER FEET

FOR WOMEN'S WEAR

Sample Shoes at Retail

23 Oxford St., Lynn

We sell Coal as Low as the Lowest.

We always carry large stock of FRANKLIN COAL, all sizes.

If you want the best GEORGIA CREEK COAL don't fail to place your order with us.

Masons' supplies delivered at short notice.
Best quality oats and hay that can be found on the market, especially adapted for private stable use.

J. B. & W. A. LAMPER

Wharves and Office, Sea Street Extension.

Tel. 1094-2 Branch Offices, 305 Union Street,
167 Market Street.

AMOS S. BROWN, Manager.

Remember to telephone number 28 or 29 when you want anything in

FISH

Best appointed Fish Market east of Boston

WILLIAMS BROS.

215-217 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

On $1000 INSURANCE on a Dwelling

The premium for a five year policy is $12.55

Dividend at expiration at 70 per cent 8.75

Net cost for five years $3.70

This is an actual transaction. See me on mutual insurance.

I. A. NEWHALL
112 Market Street

Everything

YOU wish in Meats,
Fowl, Canned Goods,
Groceries, Provisions.

A BOSTON
VARIETY
AT
LYNN PRICES

See our stock of Fancy Crackers, Fruits, Nuts, Raisins, etc.

EVERYTHING for the TABLE

Porter, Pearson & Co.
Essex and Sutton Sts., Lynn

Come to the NEW Jewelry store

NEW in Stock
in Furnishings

A real treat to see the ALL-NEW store and stock

WATCHES CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CUT GLASS

Our Optical Department is growing every day, owing to the great pains taken in examining the eyes, and giving the proper glasses required.

J. H. CONNER

Telephone 518-1.

81 Pearl Street

Harvest Slumber Song.

Sleep, little baby, sleep, sleep, sleep,
 Red is the moon in the night's still deep,
 White are the stars with their silver wings
 Folded in dreamings of beautiful things,
 And over their cradle the night wind sings,
 Sleep little baby, sleep, sleep, sleep.

Soft in the lap of the mother night
 The wee baby stars, all glowing and bright,
 Flutter their silver wings and crow
 To the watchful winds that kiss as they blow
 Round the air-cradle that swings so low
 Down in the lap of the mother night.

Sleep, little baby, sleep, sleep, sleep,
 Red is the moon in the night's still deep,
 And the wee baby stars are all folded and kissed
 In a luminous cradle of silver mist;
 And if ever they waken the winds cry, whist,
 Sleep, little baby, sleep, sleep, sleep.

—Wilfred Campbell.

The Improving of Lynnfield Street.

THE railroad commissioners should be appealed to by Lynnfield residents who are so much interested in having a proper thoroughfare between that town and Lynn. A long time ago the Boston & Northern Railroad Co. agreed to construct a railroad between Lynn and Lynnfield and put up a $5000 bond that the work would be done within a stated time. The time has lapsed, the bond has been forfeited, and the Lynnfield people have not secured the railroad facilities promised. By enforcing this agreement a more desirable roadway might be secured between Lynn and Lynnfield and the railroad service provided.

For many years the thoroughfare, called a roadway, between Lynn and Lynnfield, has been in very poor condition, and it has been difficult to secure any work thereon either on the part of the cities and towns interested or of the county commissioners.

The residents of Lynnfield deserve better treatment, and it would be for the best interests of Lynn for the roadway to be put in first class condition, and the railroad service provided. It is hoped that this municipality will do everything possible to bring about this condition of affairs.

The record was broken last month in an automobile mile, being done at Readville in 54½ seconds.

BAKER, GEER & INGALLS

Insurance, Real Estate

341 Union St., Lynn. Bergengren Bldg.

Just Arrived

A Whole Carload of the FAMOUS

Quaker Ranges

EVERY YEAR IN THE PAST HALF-CENTURY

has marked an improvement in Quaker Range construction, and the Quaker line to-day represents all that's newest and best in good range making. Beautiful in design, original in construction, and economically run.

Come and see them

W. B. GIFFORD

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

97-99 Market St.

How Speed is Advancing.

Think of breakfast in London on Friday and in Milwaukee the Friday following. It was actually done last month. The party made a record run home leaving London on Friday, the 16th, at 11 a. m., to cross the channel via Southampton and catch the "Deutschland" leaving Cherbourg at 6 p. m. The run to New York harbor was made in five days and eighteen hours, where they had one hour and ten minutes to clear the customs and drive from Hoboken to Jersey City and take the Special (eighteen hours to Chicago), arriving in Chicago. 8.55 a. m. with five minutes to transfer to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train, which arrived in Milwaukee on time—precisely one week to a minute from the time of leaving London.

Harvard College has the largest enrollment in America, being 5,343. You never could guess in a hundred years the American college having the second largest enrollment. It is the Valparaiso University, located in Indiana, which is a non-sectarian and co-educational institution, founded in 1873, having 155 instructors and a library of 12,000 volumes.

EARLY LYNN HISTORY

THE proceedings at the Commemoration of the 275th Anniversary of the First Congregational Church of Lynn, which is the oldest church in the United States retaining the site and denominational faith, are to be published in an illustrated memorial volume of 150 pages, bound in cloth, which is now in press.

Subscriptions will be received at one dollar a volume, delivered in Lynn, for any copies which may not be previously subscribed for by members of the parish, up to the edition of 200 copies. Copies will be sent outside of Lynn for one dollar and twenty-five cents, postpaid, per volume.

This volume contains hitherto unpublished material of value to those interested in colonial history.

1. A full account of the separation of town and parish, March 5, 1721-22, with many citations of the action taken by both parties at the time, which is believed to be the first instance of such separation in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and of historical importance as the initiative of the separation of church and state.

2. An illustrated description and critique of the communion set which is one of the best examples of colonial silver, being composed of many bequests, whose details are given.

3. A list of ministers from 1632 with their colleges, dates of ordination (or installation) dismissal by council and death. Also, the election and necrology of church and parish officers to date. This has never been published.

4. There is further historical information especially bearing upon the growth of religious thought, contained in the various addresses made at the different services.

5. The full programme including the names of those taking part in the religious, historical or musical portions of the services.

Address:

FREEMAN H. NEWHALL, Treasurer
39 Commercial Street
Lynn, Mass.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

AUTUMN STYLES IN

Hats

The New Soft Telescope

All Colors

Prices $2.00, $2.50, $3.00

Young Men's Stiff Hats

Colors and Black

Prices $2.00, $2.50, $3.00

Sole Agent for

DUNLAP HATS

AMOS B. CHASE

123 Munroe Street

ASK US ABOUT OUR Safety Razor

The Best in its Line
Reasonable in Price

JOS. W. HARDING & Co.

32-34 Central Sq., Lynn

OCTOBER

suggests getting the house ready for the long fall and winter evenings. When you USE the house you want it inviting.

Let us help you on CARPETS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, SOFA PILLOWS, etc.

We will take up and clean that carpet at a day's notice.

ALBION K. HALL

39 Market Street

RUGS MADE FROM OLD CARPETING

WE WANT

your electric work, and will guarantee best materials and workmanship. Let us give you an estimate.

CHAS. C. PHILLIPS

GAS AND ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

74 Exchange Street,

Tel. 469

The Lennox Assignment.

Lynn feels the effects of "the rich man's panic." The assignment of Patrick Lennox created genuine surprise, but there is no cause for alarm because those conversant with the situation believe that Mr. Lennox has two dollars for every one he owes. Being spread out with so many enterprises, the market being glutted with glazed kid, and the call for ready money being so universal, Mr. Lennox was temporarily embarrassed, but that he will emerge all right everybody hopes and believes. Patrick Lennox is a strong type of a man. Nobody ever did more for the building up of the city of Lynn than has Mr. Lennox. He has aided Lynn wonderfully from a business point of view, and always did it without "playing to the galleries." He has never sought public favor, but his example always exerted a wonderful influence for the best interests of Lynn. All concerned should exercise the utmost patience and consideration, and by so doing they will find that this will be the best solution of the difficulty.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

What Shall We Do To-Day?

O the deeds we will do in the days to come
And the words that we mean to say
Will lighten the hearts of the sin-sick souls,
But what shall we do to-day?
O the burdens we'll lift from the hearts of men,
O the tears we will wipe away,
And the songs we will sing to the faltering ones—
But what shall we do to-day?
To-day is the span of our life, no more
Can we measure or clasp or mould,
There may be no morrow for us, dear heart,
No future to use or hold.
O let us give from our store at dawn,
Give 'till the gloaming fades away,
All we may do for the sons of men
Is the good we can do to-day.

—Ruth Sterry.

The new law firm of Wadleigh & Shaw, of which city solicitor Wadleigh is a member, brings together two young men who attended at the same time the Boston University Law School, and who were both admitted to the bar in 1901. They should make a success in their new relations because they have made a reputation for thoroughness and close attention to the work entrusted to them in their profession.

As foretold in Vogue several months ago, long sleeves are coming in. They are now being worn quite largely in Paris.

THE BANK HABIT

POSSIBLY you who read this, have never kept a bank account. If not, let us suggest that you try the experiment. You will find it helpful in many ways. Aside from the fact that your money will be safe from theft and fire, such a habit tends to thrift, economy, discipline and a general understanding of business principles, all of which are essential to success. It also affords a convenient method for the payment of bills; and, as the checks are always preserved and returned to you, they serve as receipts for the amounts paid. Come in and let us talk it over.

Security Safe Deposit and Trust Co.

Bergengren Bldg., Central Square. Branch Office, 25 Market Sq., West Lynn

BENJAMIN F. SPINNEY, President
LUTHER S. JOHNSON, SAMUEL J. HOLLIS, Vice Presidents
HARRISON P. BURRILL, Treasurer

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review

GREEN & SON
PIANOS NO BETTER MADE
 AT ANY PRICE

E. A. GREEN, The Piano Man
 30 Market Street

This is the most economical period of the year to put in

NEXT WINTER'S COAL SUPPLY

Now being unloaded, clean and without any dust. Coal is

AT THE LOWEST PRICE TO-DAY

— Telephone 568 —

Stevens & Newhall
 Sea Street, Lynn

The publisher of the REVIEW will be thankful if all instances of improper delivery by carriers of the REVIEW are brought to his attention. Send postal card to publication office, 333 Union street, Lynn, or telephone 1026.

Have you read Richard Harding
 Davis' new story

The Scarlet Car

Illustrated, $1.25

"All the qualities that made "Gallegher,"
 "Captain Macklin," "Soldiers of Fortune" and
 "Van Bibber" so immensely popular are at their best in this story.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.
 Mr. Davis has not told better stories than these.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

THE AUDITORIUM

ALWAYS A HIGH CLASS
VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Booked by the KEITH CIRCUIT

Metropolitan Favorites—Large City
 Attractions—All at Popular Prices

Evenings at 8. Matinees every day at 2. Seats may be booked for the season by applying at the box office

See the Eye

PROFANITY is never excusa-
 ble, but with a
 "hard - to - button "
 collar the provocation
 is great. Buy only collars that are furnished with the

EYELET-END
 BUTTON-HOLE

This is the only button-hole that can be buttoned without breaking the finger
 nails and spoiling your temper. It outwears
 the collar or cuff, and gives ease and comfort to the user. Insist on the three-
 thread Eyelet - End
 Button-Hole. Do not take the old style
 straight button-hole.

!Little Nut People.

Old Mistress Chestnut once lived in a burr,
Padded and lined with the softest of fur.
Jack Frost split it wide with his keen silver knife,
And tumbled her out at the risk of her life.

Here is Don Almond, a grandee from Spain,
Some raisins from Malaga came in his train:
He has a twin brother a shade or two leaner,
When both come together we shout "Philopena!"

This is Sir Walnut; he's English, you know,
A friend of my Lady and Lord So-and-So.
Whenever you ask old Sir Walnut to dinner,
Be sure and have wine for the gouty old sinner.

Little Miss Peanut, from North Carolina,
She's not 'ristocratic but no nut is finer.
Sometimes she is roasted and burned to a cinder,
In Georgia they call her Miss Goober, or Pinder.

Little Miss Hazelnut, in her best bonnet,
Is lovely enough to be put in a sonnet;
And young Mr. Filbert has journeyed from Kent,
To ask her to marry him soon after Lent.

This is old Hickory; look at him well,
A general was named for him, so I've heard tell.
Take care how you hit him. He sometimes hits back!

This stolid old chap is a hard nut to crack.
Old Mr. Butternut just from Brazil,
Is rugged and rough as the side of a hill;
But, like many a countenance quite as ill-flavored,
His covers a kernel deliciously flavored.

Here is a Southerner, graceful and slim,
In flavor no nut is quite equal to him.
Ha, Monsieur Pecan, you know what it means
To be served with black coffee in French New Orleans.

Dear little Chinquapin, modest and neat,
Isn't she cunning and isn't she sweet?
Her skin is as smooth as a little boy's chin,
And the squirrels all chatter of Miss Chinquapin.
And now, my dear children, I'm sure I have told
All the queer rhymes that a nutshell can hold.
—E. J. Nicholson.

The appointment of George Everett Lane as Superintendent of Pine Grove Cemetery gives general satisfaction. Fourteen years' experience in cemetery work well fits Mr. Lane for his new duties. He has been a student of forestry and floriculture, and as foreman at the cemetery secured a most practical and desirable experience.

It is a pretty good trolley ride from Beach Bluff to Revere for five cents. Probably the longest trolley ride for a nickel in this vicinity is from South Boston to Malden.

Jones—And why is a motorman like a woman?

Smith—Both have trouble at the switch.

A Doctor on Unnecessary Noises.

A LYNN doctor says to the REVIEW:—"There should be some action on the part of the authorities tending to reduce unnecessary noises about the city, especially in the early morning when invalids and elderly people are much annoyed.

"I can cite instances where some of my patients have suffered from the thoughtlessness of those people whose business it is to work about the streets in the early morning. Dealers in ice, milk, and other commodities, are very unreasonable in this respect, and they should show more judgment and consideration for the sake of common humanity.

"On Sunday mornings the streets are filled with irresponsible newsboys who do not know their business. There is not much trouble with the regularly established paper carriers, but so many small boys, who have no common sense to waste on their job, are allowed to go shouting about the streets, that the peace and quietness of many neighborhoods is much interfered with.

"I have a patient who counted twelve newsboys within one hour passing by her house and shouting the various Sunday papers at the tops of their voices. This does not interfere to any great extent with the average person, but there are times when it is a serious matter for sick and elderly people. Why the authorities do not interest themselves more in making the streets quiet, especially on Sunday mornings, I do not see, and sometimes I wonder if the time will ever come when those who have to do with enforcing the laws in Lynn will walk anywhere outside of a rut.

"I have stopped in the heart of London for many weeks and at no time have I heard the noises that prevail in Lynn, and I am quite outside of the center. The noises are regulated in the larger cities and traffic is supervised, and why this rule cannot be applied in a city like Lynn I do not understand, if there is anybody who has sufficient interest to thus render a public service."

Have you ever bumped up against the American Express Company and its charges? If you have, do you wonder that Roosevelt is doing business? This express extortion is only one chapter in the railroad business, and putting the latter on a desirable basis will, in a measure, it is hoped, relieve the express company robbery.

It's Quality and Fit that makes the

"Marshal"

Shirt what it is—the best.

DOWNING

Shirt Maker

LYNN

Fashion Echoes from Abroad.

Drecol, Francis and Paquin are showing the seven-eighths length sleeve for street wear.

Evening gowns are being cut with a five-inch tight-fitting sleeve.

The Kimono sleeve is the sleeve for coats. Fitted coats are dictated for street wear and full, loose backs for evening wear.

The ultra style in skirts is very tight-fitting, with habit back. Silk "bloomers" are worn instead of underskirts to get the extreme form-fitting effect.

The Alice blue has given place to the new Copenhagen blue. Royal (or navy) blue and green shades are also favored. The academie shade is now very much in vogue in Paris.

In millinery the season will start with small shapes, a diminutive "mushroom" is selling well abroad now. Turbans are returning, but larger shapes are forecasted later in the season.

It is the day of extravagant trimming in the millinery world of Paris. Paradise, gaura and the fluffy naggoire are used largely. Prices are soaring—even startling the Parisians.

In silks the marquissette and filmy chiffon cloths predominate, in the heavier weights the mode trends toward satin faced weaves.

Fancy broadcloths are the dress goods de luxe. Monotone effects and indistinct herringbone patterns are favored.

Filet laces are the lace—real filet, or filet and cluny and filet and Irish. Laces promise to continue in popularity.

Eight, twelve and sixteen-button dog-skin gloves, in tan shades, will be the popular heavy glove for fall and winter. Navy blue and green shades to match the new gowns have arrived.

The 1906 report by the park commissioners is the usual complete document, the best in the municipal series. Hon. N. M. Hawkes is in his element when preparing this report, and he has never done better work than for 1906. John F. McCarty did some tasty printing of the report, the "de luxe" edition being a splendid specimen of the printing art.

"Have Mercy! Have Mercy!!" and after we heard the soprano in a Lynn church end a selection with the above exclamation, we were inclined to grant the pardon.

Be unselfish.

Back Yonder.

When the time of toil is ended and the stars begin to show
And the firelight fades and flickers and the shadows come and go;
When the present day is fading through the portals of the past
To join the other days that made the journey all too fast,
You can't help going with it far enough to say
"good-by."
And maybe it will take your hand and lead you;
and you try
To laugh and hope, just as you did when everything was new
And you were living in the land of things you meant to do.

It takes you to the rainbow which showed treas-
ure's hiding place;
It shows youth's starting point, where all were equal in the race.
The winter's fierceness there was all forgotten
in a day,
For nothing was so real as the blossoming of
May.
The stars that shine afar then seemed so radiantly near
That one might pluck them from the sky, should we but persevere.
Life's fairest, truest joys are those too fair to e'er be true.
They dwell back yonder in the land of things we meant to do.

—Washington Star.

What the Puritans Did.

At the celebration of its 275th Anniversary by the First Congregational Society of Lynn, which is the oldest of the Puritan churches remaining in America with the same denominational faith, the Chairman of the Committee, Dr. C. J. H. Woodbury, in his address of welcome, as given in the memorial volume just issued, thus sums the achievements of the Puritans:

Their intellectual force is shown by the successful manner in which they applied the principles of law developed under generations of monarchies, to the solution of problems of local self-government, and beyond that they initiated new functions of government, especially the written ballot, trade schools, free public education, town government, the separation of church and state, citizen militia, paper money, and the record of deeds and mortgages, all of which has contributed to the establishment of this Republic as the most potent nation in the world.

The death of the Right Rev. John Williams, Archbishop of Massachusetts, removes from active life in Boston a citizen of renown and an ecclesiastic whose pure spirit and blameless life were examples to all men.

The Sorosis, of New York, is the oldest women's club in the country, having been organized in 1868.

When the North Pole is discovered what will some people do for advertising material?

INDOLENT MUNICIPAL WORK.

ONE cannot help feeling that a large amount of money is lost by the city by reason of the unbusiness-like procedure in many of the departments.

The failure to collect personal taxes in past years, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars, is one case in point.

Look at the purchase of the Aldworth land in West Lynn as a business proposition! Those conversant with the area say if $1000 per acre was paid, the city was stuck by fifty per cent. Said to be bought for a gravel pit, it is more than one-half ledge.

Another incident is the method adopted in so-called repairing of streets. A few crushed stones are allowed to percolate on a thoroughfare, they are watered, the steam roller is put at work, and another "street repaired" is put to the credit of the street department.

If such methods were followed in a private business it would be only a few days before the tap of the sheriff would be heard on the door. It is no less than criminal to observe the manner in which money is wasted by the city, and it should be brought to the attention of the public in such a strong manner that something effectual be done to stem the tide.

Referring to street work in Lynn, the News well covers the situation in the following:—"From present indications the dawn of the millenium will surely be here when the people of this city look upon no wretchedly cared for streets. While some effort is undoubtedly being put forth in the direction of first-class street surfaces there are public thoroughfares in this city that would put to shame the poorest, most dilapidated and least travelled backwoods country village in New England. Under present conditions it is doubtful if a consistent and continuous plan of street improvements is ever carried forward in this city. It may be that the methods now in use will ultimately result in good street surfaces throughout the city, but the work proceeds so slowly and the various projects have so little relationship to each other that there is little hope of gaining the desired object before the forces of decay have made serious inroads upon the rear of the movement."

Mediocrity, inefficiency, and lack of business ability stand out most prominently, and the only relief the public gets is spasmodic talk like this, calling attention to the situation.

We should have an expert come to Lynn, look through all of the departments, unmask them, and show the public exactly how the business has been done, and what it is necessary to do in order to bring Lynn municipal departments to a proper business basis.

We have the Cobbet School work in mind. Probably quite a sum of money could have been saved had this work been done altogether instead of by piecemeal. The yard had to be excavated a second time for the work, and to the layman it looks as if the city had botched this job to a considerable extent, especially when it is remembered the disagreeable odors which prevailed in the building during the past school year, seriously interfering with the health and comfort of teachers and pupils, not to say anything about their loss of school days, owing to delay in doing the work.

And then we have that manual training school! There is a nice piece of work! Medals galore should be issued to everybody who has had anything to do with it. It is a travesty on municipal work, and ought to be written up from the beginning to the present time and put into the municipal joke book, so that future generations might understand how little some city officials know about business methods.

Finally, we have the new classical high school lot on North Common street. The city proceeds to buy this lot of land, and has absolutely no idea whatever what it will cost. They go ahead blindfolded, order the land to be purchased, and the first knowledge that action has been taken is when the city solicitor waits upon the land-owners and asks them for their price. The official states that he is surprised that they have not before learned that the city has decided to buy the land. For a city like Lynn to indulge in a transaction of this character seems utterly absurd, and if the town of Boxford was guilty of such work, rather than a city the size of Lynn, it might not excite so much surprise.

Give All A Fair Show.

The Pittsfield Eagle brings forward the right idea in a short editorial headed "A crusade against Draper." The Eagle announces that the publicity being given the Drapers and Hopedale at the present time is probably prompted by the misrepresentations of the Drapers and their shops by a number of articles that have appeared in a Boston newspaper, the object of which was apparently to prejudice the future political chances of Lieutenant Governor Draper. One of the articles states that employes in the Draper shops who get but $9 a week are obliged to pay the company $3.75 a week for house rent, but this is absolutely without foundation. Only men who work at a trade and get from $2.50 a day upwards are allowed to pay that sum for any of the company houses. It is further stated that employes of the Drapers have to buy coal and ice of the Draper concern, but this report also is without foundation. The Eagle declares that whatever may be the claims of the lieutenant governor for promotion to the governorship, it is no more than fair that the public be made acquainted with the exact social and business conditions at Hopedale, and all fair-minded people will agree with the paper in this statement.—North Adams Herald.

Satan Sanderson

BY

Hallie Erminie Rives

Author of "The Castaway," "Hearts Courageous."

The Bobbs-Merrill CompanyPUBLISHERS
INDIANAPOLISREAL ESTATE

If you are contemplating purchasing a home or property for investment, it will pay you to call and see me. I have many desirable estates for sale.

GEORGE W. BREED, Item Bldg.

Patronize the merchants who advertise in THE REVIEW.

Once More
The Warning!

Typhoid fever increases and the people are advised to use every precaution to prevent the spread of this dread disease. Keep your health good by drinking LOVER'S LEAP SPRING WATER.

This spring water is absolutely pure. No pollution. No disease germs. Have a supply of the finest drinking water in the country served right at your door.

In lots of five gallons, 6 cents a gallon delivered.

Telephone 1675

LOVER'S LEAP SPRING WATER COMPANY

17 Forest Street

CITY OF LYNN.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

MILK REGULATION.

Regulation 43.—In all cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever or typhoid fever, immediately on notification all milkmen shall discontinue leaving milk jars and cans of any description at the house where said disease exists and shall notify the family that they must furnish their own receptacles for milk.

Adopted by the Board of Health Sept. 4, 1907.

G. A. BADGER, Clerk.

Man Proposes

About this season of the year—look out for wedding gifts.

Suggestions for Souvenirs, Bridesmaids, Best Man, Ushers.

W. F. NEWHALL & SON
JEWELERS AND SILVERSMITHS
52 Market Street, Lynn

Navel Rupture, Tendency to Corpulency or any Abdominal Weakness demands the use of an

All Elastic Abdominal Belt

We manufacture all to special measure which insures a perfect fit and most efficient support.
Send for catalogue No. 2.

CURTIS & SPINDELL CO., 7 Munroe St., Lynn

In the Field of "Vaudeville."

"Advanced" vaudeville sounds well, but it is not accompanied by the atmosphere which has so long prevailed in Boston's leading home of vaudeville, where women and children can always be certain to find an entertainment of the most wholesome description. They are taking chances when they attend the average vaudeville show. This style of entertainment has been brought to its present high state of excellence almost solely through the ability and business acumen of Mr. B. F. Keith. The observant individual may readily notice the difference between the Keith and other houses, and as the life-blood of entertainments rests with the support of women and children it can be safely predicted that however "advanced" the vaudeville proposition, it will take an extraordinary amount of time and effort to reach the eminence attained by Mr. Keith.

According to the Bookman the six books which sold the best in the order of demand during the past month were: The Lady of the Decoration, The Brass Bowl, The Scarlet Car, Alice-for-Short, The Mayor's Wife and Beatrix of Clare.

Will the person who remitted for Lynn Review subscription last month and failed to turn in their bill please send the same so that it may be received and they secure proper credit for the payment.

Fall Opening

All the Latest Styles in Trimmed Hats
and Bonnets.

A larger and more complete display than ever before, having completely looked over New York styles

A. M. WRIGHT, 121 Chestnut St.

The Ruling Fashion.

You read in the papers just now
That fashions are ready for fall,
And one is expected to bow
To things that completely appall.
For man can't acknowledge somehow
The grace in what woman's allowed,
But he's bound to look happy, though inwardly snappy.
And go with the rest of the crowd.
The hat that is mushroom in shape
Is apt to reduce us to tears,
That dress with accompanying cape,
With the collar right up to the ears,
Is enough to make anyone gape
With wide open mouth at the style,
And those things that are fluffy and so to speak ruffy
Are sure to elicit a smile.

The feathers that hang down the back
Recall some queer bird at the Zoo,
Chapeau on one side, and a stack
Of hair on the other is new;
That frogged and splendidous sack
Reminds one of Jeanes and his plush,
Still they're all Parisian, and being Elysian
To buy them you've got to be flush.

No doubt to these glories we're blind,
What use is a masculine glance?
Some eminent masterly mind
Conceived all these dainties in France,
And we shall most certainly find
Each stylish society queen
Will say they are sweeter and better and neater
Than ever before has been seen!

—La Touche Hancock.

A Lowell paper calls attention to the light material which is being sent to the legislature from that locality. Other places are suffering in the same direction. The small caliber of the candidates for the house of representatives causes comment all over the state, and when the fool legislation at recent sessions of the general court is taken into consideration it sufficiently well sizes up the weight of the men who are sent to the state house each year. Business men of recognized ability feel that they cannot spare the time to attend to legislative business and about all of the ability in the halls of legislation at the present time is that of lawyers, who are using public office as a sort of kindergarten to strengthen them in their profession—and the public pays the bills.

"Draper's strength is increasing," says Practical Politics. Mr. Draper is one of the sort that always grows the better he is known. And he is planning to enlarge his acquaintanceship in every possible way.—Haverhill Criterion.

All infractions of love and equity in our social relations are speedily punished. They are punished by Fear.
—Emerson.

VISIT

HALL'S MILLINERY STORE

17 Market Street, Lynn,

Before buying your Fall Hat

You will find the LARGEST STOCK in LYNN to select from."Nothing Succeeds Like Success."The Lynn Mutual Fire Insurance Co. has been doing business since 1828

About 80 Years of Success.

Get our rate on a policy.

LYNN MUTUAL FIRE INS. CO.
112 MARKET STREET

A New Yorker was visiting in Boston. Seeing a parrot in a cage, he asked: "Does Polly want a cracker?" "I require no sustenance from you whatever," replied the Back Bay bird, with hauteur. — Yonkers Statesman.

Orders by Telephone Promptly Attended To

ANDREW SCHLEHUBERBaker, Caterer
Confectioner

78 EXCHANGE STREET

All kinds of Catering in First-Class Style.
Special Prices to Churches and Large Parties
of all kinds.

Orders for Sunday should be given Saturday
before to insure prompt delivery.

LYNN THEATREFRANK G. HARRISON - - - Manager

Oct. 1—One night. "Coming Thro' the Rye."

Oct. 2—One night, one matinee. Al Leech in "Happy Days."

Oct. 3—One night. "The Mayor of Laughland."

Oct. 4—One night. "Girl From Broadway."

Oct. 5—One night. "At Yale."

Oct. 7—One week. Bennett-Moulton Co.

Oct. 14—One week. James Kennedy Co.

Oct. 22—One night. Florence Roberts in "The Struggle Everlasting."

Oct. 28—One week. Leigh De Lacy.

VICTOR

$10.00 to $100.00

"Easy Payments"
is the Modern Way of Doing Business.

Many people amply able to pay cash prefer to avail themselves of the easy-payment plan. We are glad to sell you a Victor in that way. Come and see us about it to-day.

D. B. H. POWER, Central Square, Lynn

How Soon Will Our Coal Beds Give Out?

ACCORDING to the estimate made, the total tonnage of coal in the United States, exclusive of Alaska, is approximately 2,200,000,000,000 short tons (a short ton of coal is 2000 pounds). If this amount of coal were molded into a single block, it would form a cube seven and one-half miles high, seven and one-half miles long, and seven and one-half miles broad; expressed in another way, it would form a layer of coal six and one-half feet thick over the entire area of the coal fields of the United States, 400,000 square miles in extent.

Surely such an amount of coal seems inexhaustible. A block seven and one-half miles high would tower above the highest mountain on the earth. This is an enormous amount of coal. It represents the nation's reserve of power. It would be majestic to look upon; but at the rate at which the consumption of coal is increasing in the United States, it does not appear that it will last for many centuries. The rate of increase is enormous. When the Geological Survey experts concluded their calculations, and realized the extent of the present supply, they were appalled at the problem that confronts the United States.

The consumption of coal by decades is as follows:

	Short tons.
1816 to 1825	331,356
1826 to 1835	4,168,149
1836 to 1845	23,177,637
1846 to 1855	83,417,825
1856 to 1865	173,735,014
1866 to 1875	419,425,104
1876 to 1885	847,760,319
1886 to 1895	1,586,098,641
1896 to 1905	2,832,599,452

As shown by the figures, the amount produced in any one decade is equal to the entire previous production. The rate if continued means an increased production that no supply, however great, can withstand for many years.

If the rate of consumption of 1905 were maintained indefinitely, without change our coal would last approximately 4000 years, but if the constantly increasing rate which has marked the consumption during the past ninety years be maintained, our coal will practically be exhausted within 100 years.

Mr. Campbell, the expert who gives these figures, sums up the situation by declaring that the real life of our coal-fields probably will be somewhere between these extremes, and it seems probable that it may be about 200 years. —From "How Long Will Our Coal Supply Last?" by John Llewellyn Cochrane, in the American Review of Reviews for September.

So The Old Folks Say.

The old folks say, the times are changing,

The bygone years were surely best;

O'er land and sea, forever ranging,

Men wander now in vague unrest;

And faded are the green romances,

The morning light has died away,

The world has lost its golden chances!

So the old folks say.

The old folks say, the days are duller,

The sweetest songs are left unsung,

The spring was full of scent and color,

Long, long ago, when we were young.

Above our heads the sky was clearer,

And warmer was the sunlight ray;

Yet heaven is now a little nearer,

So the old folks say.

The old folks say, 'tis Maytime weather,

Play, children, to your heart's desire,

But leave us hand in hand together,

Beside the swiftly failing fire,

For earthly chains are near their breaking,

And eyes are dim, and locks are gray,

But Love's a dream that knows no waking,

So the old folks say.—Fall Mall Gazette.

The largest owners of real estate in Lynn report to the Review that it is not true, as stated in a local paper, that, generally speaking, rents are being reduced in Lynn. The new building has not by any means kept up with the demand for desirable tenements. It may be true that in the very lowest class of tenements there has been a reduction, but it has been slight wherever noted, and this comes about by a reduction all around in the working forces of the cheapest labor.

Francis V. McCarthy and Roy F. Bergengren constitute the new law firm of McCarthy & Bergengren who are located in the Bergengren Building. Mr. McCarthy was formerly of the firm of McCarthy & Wadleigh. Mr. Bergengren is a graduate of Harvard, is at present a member of the school board, and has had a fine training for his chosen profession.

Teacher. — "A rich man dies and leaves $1,000,000 to eight nephews and nieces. What does each one get?"

Scholar — "Automobiles, ancestors and appendicitis."—Life.

RUBBERS

will be needed soon and we wish to say that our new goods have arrived, and to suggest that in fair weather you prepare for storms. "GOLD SEAL" RUBBERS are the best in the world.

HOWE'S RUBBER STORE, 52 Central Sq.

Might Have!

I have lived my life, and I face the end.
 But that other life I might have led—
 Where lay the road, and who was its friend,
 And what was the goal when the years were fled?

Where lay the road? Did I miss the turn?
 The friend unknown? Our greetings unsaid?
 And the goal unsought? Shall I never learn
 What was that life I might have led?

As the spring's last look for one dear day
 From skies autumnal on earth may bend,
 So lures me that other life—but, nay!
 I have lived my life, and I face the end.
 —Edith M. Thomas.

In the early years of his ministry Bishop Bascomb, of the Southern Methodist Church, was considered "too much of a dandy," and was sent on mountain circuits to bring him down to the level of old-fashioned Methodism. One of his mountain members persuaded the minister to wear a suit of homespun, that he might be more in harmony with his listeners. When Mr. Bascomb appeared as trig in homespun as he had been in broadcloth, the mountaineer's chagrin was intense. "Well I declare!" he exclaimed, "Go it your own way Brother Bascomb. I give it up. It ain't your clothes that's so pretty, it's just you."

A London fashion authority makes the startling affirmation that women know nothing about beauty and nothing about dress. He asserts that men know far more about dress than women do, and says it is because they consider women in perspective. Woman, he continues, considers herself in a series of bits, never as a whole or individual. The result is there are no female individuals in dress, only a number of sticks dressed up according to fashion, each as much like the other as possible. The streets used to be filled with Du Maurier girls. Now it is Gibson girls. Whatever their figures, they must be squeezed, elongated, pulled and pinched until each one resembles every other. This is probably due to the fact that women are not sure of their own beauty. They are afraid of it, of themselves and of each other. This is absurd, for there are no ugly women. A few, a very few, may be plain. The rest are beautiful. It lies within the power of a plain woman to become beautiful, and of a beautiful woman to become more beautiful by emphasizing her individuality and special features concludes this English authority in form and dress.

Subscribe for the REVIEW.

Young Men of To-day

This bank is not inclined to agree with many people in comparing the young men of the past with the young men of to-day, to the disadvantage of the latter.

Our experience leads us to have a very high opinion of the young men of to-day, and our books show that very many of them are well dowered with prudence, industry, sagacity and foresight, living within their incomes and looking keenly ahead for a chance to better their condition.

We know this because these young men have bank accounts and transact their business, however small, in accordance with business methods and principles. Nothing so helps a young man to regulate his expenditures and to inaugurate him into business ways as a bank account.

We make it a point to encourage the deposits of young men. There is the element of growth in their business and their friendship is a good asset. They are assured of a welcome here, and the strength of this bank commends it to their prudence.

Manufacturers National Bank.

Resources, $1,514,580.00

B. W. CURRIER, President,
 W. B. LITTLEFIELD, Vice President,
 CLIFTON COLBURN, Cashier.

When dealing with advertisers please mention The Lynn Review.

October.

The sweet calm sunshine of October, now
 Warms the low spot; upon its grassy mould
 The purple oak leaf falls; the birchen bough
 Drops its bright spoil like arrow heads of gold.
 —Bryant.

Non-Partisan Opinions.

The Milford papers, irrespective of their political affiliations, are united in the defence of the Draper company and their employes from the vicious and unwarranted attacks of the Hearst papers.

It is a peculiar situation when a whole community is maligned simply because one of its citizens is occupying an important position in the public service. The indecent attacks upon Lieut. Gov. Draper reflect no credit upon American journalism, and the infamous assault upon the people of Milford and Hopedale who happen to be employed by the Draper company for a livelihood is an assault upon the dignity of American citizenship.

The fact that in Hopedale only 40 votes out of a voting population of 592 were cast against Lieut. Gov. Draper last fall, indicates the high regard in which he is held by his townspeople, and is a fitting rebuke to Hearst and Hearstism.

The additional fact that on the two occasions Gen. William F. Draper was elected to congress, and the two elections in which Eben S. Draper has been elected lieutenant-governor, Milford, while being overwhelmingly Democratic, gave them handsome pluralities. This is not only a complete answer to the Hearst diatribes, but shows that Democracy is not an impediment to the proper recognition of the real value of substantial citizenship. —Haverhill Record.

"You have a model husband," said the lady who was congratulating the bride. The next day the bride bethought her to look up the word, "model" in the dictionary, and this is what she found: MODEL: A small imitation of the real thing. —Philistine.

LYNN FIVE CENTS SAV-
 INGS BANK HAS MONEY
TO LOAN ON MORTGAGES
 OF REAL ESTATE. . . .

Sometimes it seems as if the gate tenders at Central Square lowered the gates when the train left Boston. This induces people to take more chances than they naturally would with the train coming at a reasonable distance. There are times when the gates are lowered that it is impossible to see a train coming in either direction, and the pedestrian wonders if the gate tenders are working through subterranean information.

There never was a time when the attractions in Keith's New Theatre were so strong as at present. The foreign stage is sending to the Keith circuit many novel and high class attractions. The merging of the more important vaudeville interests brings to the Keith circuit a much stronger and better class of attractions than ever before. Such great faith is placed by the public in the Keith show that probably three fourths of the patrons visit the Keith playhouse regardless of the particular attractions. It is always felt that there will be "a good show at Keith's."

The citron is a native of Greece.

25 EXCHANGE ST.
 LYNN

PRESIDENT. . . CHARLES S. PURINTON
 TREASURER. . . FREDERICK L. BUBIER

MONEY DEPOSITED IN OCTOBER
GOES UPON INTEREST
 NOVEMBER FIRST

Open Every Business Day, from 9 to 1 o'clock
 Also SATURDAYS, from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.

A Manly Course.

Whether or not a person agrees with the politics of Lt. Gov. Draper, he must admit that Mr. Draper is adopting a manly course in putting himself right before the people of the Commonwealth through the newspapers. Just why the attacks were made on Hopedale and the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, last year, is not apparent, but as is frequently the case some one began to find fault with the industrial situation there, charging it to the Lieutenant Governor, and without any investigation the charges were taken up and made a campaign rallying cry. That comparatively few people really believed them was soon apparent, and Mr. Draper has early taken occasion this year to place the facts before the people. There was really no cause for attacking Hopedale, which so far as one can learn, from other sources than the Drapers, is an ideal manufacturing community and has a population which is law abiding and satisfied. Whatever Mr. Draper's faults may be, it is evident from his active interest in public affairs that he is candid and honest in his conduct of them, and in whatever position he is placed, whether as the head of the Republican campaign committee or as Lieutenant Governor, he does not shirk his duty and does what he believes is for the public good, undisturbed by critic or fault-finders. His course is a manly one and is winning him hosts of friends all over the state. — Salem Register (Dem.)

It is hard work for the suburban land sellers to tell the truth. One Swampscott area was prominently advertised as being located "within fifteen minutes from Central Square," presumably by the electric cars, when the actual running time to the land is twenty-five minutes. Still, when there is land for sale probably it would be well to give a leeway of ten minutes to the auctioneer.

Scarcely any attempt is entirely a failure, scarcely any theory the result of steady thought, is altogether false, and no tempting form of error is without some charm of truth. Not only so, but every failure is a step to success, every detection of what is false directs to the truth, and every trial abates some tempting form of error. — Mary A. Livermore.

Moon Changes.

New Moon, Oct. 7.
First Quarter, Oct. 14.
Full Moon, Oct. 21.
Last Quarter, Oct. 29.

Fan Baths for Typhoid.

Fan baths are the latest remedy used by the Boston City Hospital physicians in the treatment of typhoid fever. Heretofore the ice plunge was used, and a patient whose temperature had reached the danger point was soused in a bathtub filled with broken ice until his teeth rattled. This treatment after a time was found to be too heroic, as the shock was too severe and pneumonia sometimes developed. Then ice water sponge baths were substituted, but the fan baths, the doctors declare, are just the thing. The patient is sponged off with ice water first, then a sheet that has been soaked in ice water is wrapped about the body and more ice water is sprinkled on the sheet. The current of an electric fan is then turned on him so that he is chilled by the rapid evaporation caused by the breeze. Recent experiments have proved this measure highly successful.

A prisoner was arraigned before the criminal court. Present in court room were Lawyers Smith, Brown and Greer. "Where is your lawyer?" inquired the judge. "I have none," responded prisoner. "Haven't any money." "Do you want a lawyer?" asked the judge. "Yes, your honor." "There is Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown and Mr. Greer," said the judge, pointing to the young attorneys awaiting briefless and breathless for something to turn up, "and Mr. Alexander is out in the corridor." The prisoner eyed the budding attorneys in the court-room, and after a critical survey stroked his chin and said, "Well, I guess I will take Mr. Alexander." — St. Paul Pioneer Post.

"This picture is not complete, my boy."

"Oh, yes, it is, pop."

"Why, you have drawn the horse, but where is the wagon?"

"Oh, I'm going to let the horse draw the wagon." — Yonkers Statesman.

To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: Are Haile & Rainwater of Athens, Ga., and Love & Sunshine of Johnstown, Pa., entitled to a niche in the Hall of Fame? — W. L. D.

Spalding Dry Goods Co.

11 AND 13 MARKET STREET

Good Things in Good Season

Right at the very beginning of the season we offer
the following specials:

LADIES' FALL SUITS

Made of an all-wool Cheviot, any color, full 30 inches long, square or cutaway style, folds on skirt. Value $20.00.

SPECIAL $15.00

BLACK SILK WAISTS

Ten dozen each of a nice tailored Waist, made of good quality Black Taffeta. Value $5.00.

SPECIAL for this lot $3.98

NET WAISTS

In White and Arabian Net, handsomely trimmed. A splendid value at $6.50.

OUR PRICE $5.00

THE NEW WOOL DRESS GOODS

When you read this ad. we will be ready to show you the finest assortment of black and colored Dress
Goods ever displayed in this store.
We cordially invite you to inspect the line while the assortment is at its best.

The Line to the West

BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

Through Sleeping Cars
Excellent Dining-Car Service
Tourist Cars

*Tickets, Time-Tables and detailed information at Boston
City Ticket Office, 322 Washington Street.*

D. J. FLANDERS
Pass. Traf. Mgr.

C. M. BURT
Gen'l Pass. Agt.

Fast Through Trains to

Chicago
St. Louis
Minneapolis
St. Paul
Kansas City
Cleveland
Buffalo

from
BOSTON

No Guessing
in your cooking
when you have a standard range

That's a

MAGEE RANGE

SAVES COAL BILLS

Titus
&
Buckley
Co.

Union Street, Lynn

A Superb Showing of Fall Gloves

For Particular Women

We now have our complete lines of Fall Gloves ready for your inspection and criticism. Every desirable length and every fashionable color and shade of color are here.

ONE-CLASP CAPE GLOVES, in the new fall shades of tan; made of soft cape skins; extra values at $1.00

PERRIN'S IMPORTED DOGSKIN GLOVES, in the fall tans and English reds; very nobby for street wear; unusual values at $1.50

P. K. GLOVES, made of medium weight skins; one clasp; in the autumn shades of tan, mode, red, brown and gray; easily a $1.50 value $1.15

PERRIN'S LONG KID GLOVES, the choicest long glove in the market; in white, tan, black, navy, gray, red and green.

	Boston Prices	Our Prices
8-Button Lengths	$2.50	$1.98
12-Button Lengths	$3.50	$3.00
16-Button Lengths	$4.00	$3.50

PERRIN'S DOGSKIN GLOVES for children; sizes from 2 to 14 years; tan shades; splendid values at $1.00 and $1.25

GODDARD BROS., 84-92 Market Street

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 014 069 771 0